

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 70

"Melinda, don't try to slander me," Yulia growled.

"Yulia, can't we get along well?"

Melinda asked, ignoring Yulia's words. Yulia was always causing trouble and Melinda didn't bother listening to her.

Melinda had tolerated a lot of humiliation and pain for Jonas. But she wasn't ready to endure it anymore. She wanted to teach a lesson to everyone who was trying to rub her the wrong way.

"Get along well?" Yulia asked, cackling like a maniac.

"Are you fucking kidding me? Melinda, you can't be my brother's wife forever. I don't have to get along with you."

Yulia believed that Jonas despised Melinda and he was pretending to get along with her because of Nelson. Nelson was already old and wouldn't be around for too long. With him gone, Melinda's life would be pitiful as Jonas would chuck her out of the house.

"Yulia, that's enough."

Melinda turned around angrily and was about to leave. But she bumped heavily into Yulia's arm, causing her phone to fall on the carpet.

"Your phone."

Melinda picked up the phone and handed it to Yulia, while her fingers were firmly clasping it. She had an identical phone in her hand.

Yulia pulled the phone angrily. The screen was blank and she couldn't turn it on.

"Damn it, how did it break?"

"Your phone is too old. It's time to buy a new one," Melinda said guiltily.

That was not Yulia's phone because Melinda had intentionally switched phones. She had taken Yulia's phone and replaced it with an old, damaged one.

However, Yulia was gullible. She thought that her phone was broken for real. Melinda breathed a sigh of relief and left.

Melinda had flicked Yulia's phone to find out her plans. Although she could decipher Yulia's password, she had overestimated the quality of her phone.

The phone had collided with the furniture, causing the screen to shatter. Melinda couldn't turn it on.

Fortunately, the damage wasn't serious. Melinda went to the store to repair it. The phone was fixed in no time and Melinda immediately unlocked the phone. As expected, the password was Yulia's date of birth.

Melinda was aware that Yulia leaked information about her whereabouts to others. So she quickly opened her WeChat.

Yulia had added many rich society gals in her WeChat and it was flooding with messages. As she scrolled down the contact list, a particular picture caught her attention.

quickly recognized that it

"What the hell!"

anger. She scrolled down and read the entire conversation. All her doubts were cleared as she worked together to fool Jonas. Melinda felt WeChat number and used Yulia's identity to buy a new

a notification that Emily happened to your previous account?"

It will be easy for him to find out. Moreover, my phone broke this morning, so instant as a smile tugged at the corners of her lips. The man who had repaired the is anything wrong with the phone?" he

"No, thank you, sir."

Jonas had planned to have dinner at the fish farm tonight but Yulia had informed Emily about it. Melinda knew that Emily

she quickly called don't want to go to the fish farm tonight. Do you mind changing made any request, so me about a good restaurant. We can William is omnipotent and I think it's time for you to give him a raise." Melinda chuckled, oblivious to what grudgingly deducted William's bonus. William felt dejected because his bonus was higher didn't dare to ask Jonas about it. So he promised to work harder and impress Jonas to get a nine in the evening. But Jonas and Nelson's request and decided to go on a date. They informed everyone in the family that they you afraid of anything?" Melinda asked, cocking her

"No," he answered coldly.

was taken aback by Jonas's response. But she quickly ignored him and flashed a smile. She had come to the amusement park to have that case, let's start with the haunted house, followed by a roller coaster ride, adventurous person and enjoyed the adrenaline rush. She had been waiting to rolled his eyes. "You are allowed to play only one adventurous ride. So

Melinda's smile was wiped

you can only go on joking. But his serious expression told but he didn't seem to compromise. Melinda just got better and he knew that the rides would take a toll on her body. He agreed to let disturbing and unearthly. Although Melinda constantly said that everything was fake, she clung on to Jonas for dear life. She almost hugged Jonas and nestled her face into the crook of glared at the actor who was playing ghost, so he never witnessed the bubbly side of Melinda. She was giggling like a little girl. His heart melted into a puddle and he couldn't take his eyes still holding Jonas's arms tightly as they walked out of the haunted house. She listened to Jonas and took had been incredibly sweet and protective of Melinda and she ended up having the best day of her life. Moreover, she had managed to get rid of Emily and everything seemed better without