

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 84

Jonas was staying by Melinda's side, intently listening to her as he shared his opinions from time to time.

The two never got the chance to talk about culture and tradition. This enabled Melinda to understand Jonas a lot better than she did in the past.

She started liking him even more. He was no longer the cold, intimidating person that he was once. He was the love of her life.

The thought brought a smile to Melinda's face. She followed Jonas without saying a word.

Although it was fascinating to witness this country's way of living, Melinda felt depressed at times.

Jonas and Melinda spent three days in France. Melinda blindly followed him without questioning about their schedule.

They seemed to be planning to travel all over the world.

Once they went back to the castle, Melinda saw that the servants had prepared all her favorite food. The time Jonas spent with Melinda made him understand what she liked and disliked. He took good care of her and made sure she had a comfortable time. Melinda was very thin in the past but she had gained a lot of weight in the last few days.

"Jonas, I feel like I've put on weight."

Melinda pinched the warm flesh on her cheeks and frowned. She was like every other woman who wanted to maintain a good figure. Everyone lost weight during travel but Melinda became fairer and plumper than before.

"Oh come on, you are still too thin. You need to gain weight," Jonas said, eyeing her bosom.

Melinda's cheeks turned red as she glared at Jonas.

She angrily jabbed the chopsticks on the rice and shoved it into her mouth.

"Mellie, look at you. You are too thin and I sometimes get worried when I look at you," Jonas said guiltily.

Melinda was always thin and she looked weaker than before. Jonas felt that she had lost weight because of him.

Melinda didn't answer and continued to eat what Jonas offered. He breathed a sigh of relief and continued to add more food to her bowl.

Melinda ended up eating a lot and her belly was peeking through her shirt. Jonas took her out for a walk in the garden outside the castle.

"Mellie, where do you want to go next?"

Jonas asked, running his fingers across Melinda's arms, interlacing their fingers. Melinda's fingers were slender and rough at the same time. It was perhaps because she spent a lot of time tapping the keyboard.

"You arranged all of this, didn't you? You tell where we are going next."
