

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 88

"You don't have to worry about the funding. Just tell me how much it costs exactly."

Since it was such a large amount of money, the crew was taken aback for a while. They all looked hesitant at first to say the cost out loud.

Soaring Group was obviously very well-off. If it decided to start funding this, the crew of this TV show would definitely get a lot more work done.

"Is thirty million enough?"

Seeing that people from the crew had been hesitating, Jonas directly told them the amount of money he could promise. The crew was so excited. Thirty million was more than enough to shoot a large-scale TV series.

"You're giving us thirty million as long as Emily is the heroine?"

the producer asked. Jonas nodded promptly. Even though his eyes lit up at the amount Jonas offered, he was weighing out the pros and cons. For one, they wouldn't be able to change the heroine if she didn't work out. If they did, Jonas would definitely ask for compensation for breaking the contract. On top of that, it was a whole other issue if Emily ever got injured during shooting.

Although getting someone to support their show was great, it was still troublesome to accept the money since there were strings attached. However, despite the fact that Emily was a bit out of date, her flow was still better than amateur actresses. Besides, thirty million wasn't something anyone could walk away from exactly.

"Well, Mr. Gu, I hope you can come to the set as often as you can to check her progress!"

the producer said with a smile, his arms held wide open in welcome. With this, William took out the written contract and the respective parties signed.

Afterwards, a few members of the crew went over to the hospital to tell Emily the news. Soon enough, word got out. It quickly became a trending topic on the internet that the news about the protagonist being replaced was false.

Just like that, Emily was back under the limelight, and gained a lot of new fans. Of course, because of this, the company had to pay extra attention to the matter.

Meanwhile, at the hospital, Emily lay on bed inside her ward. There was a gentle and polite smile on her lips as she looked at the fawning faces of the crew. In her heart, however, she kept sneering at them.

'What a bunch of snobbish and superficial people!'

"Emily, please get better soon. We can do nothing without our leading actress!"

"Right. What did the doctor say? How are you doing?"

They talked all at once, their voices overlapping with one another. Emily's hands and feet were no longer in plaster, but there was still some gauze wrapped around. As she lay in bed in her hospital gown, it was evident that she looked very weak.

It had already been a week since she was brought in here, and yet Jonas had never paid her a visit.

"Emily is all right now. Thank you for your concern. It's getting late now. Might I suggest having dinner at a restaurant nearby to celebrate this occasion?"

Emily's agent quickly suggested. She saw the sour look on Emily's face, and decided that it might be best to bring the big crowd outside.

"You're right. Emily hasn't fully recovered yet. We're still disturbing her rest. Sorry for coming out here on a whim," the assistant director said. After a quick goodbye, Emily's agent left with the crew to personally accommodate them.

and her assistant. Emily closed her eyes what would you like for dinner? I'll order for out for her phone. When she checked the news, she saw that there were a couple of trending news articles about her involvement with the show. Previously, the show hardly had any sort of press. Now it was quickly becoming a even photos of her with the group of people who had just visited that replacing the Soaring Group's investment to the helped her as promised, Emily come answer the phone. 'Fine,' Emily thought bitterly when to eat spicy food, so I bought you the

"Whatever,"

she was somewhat afraid of Emily. She tried to be respectful she ate up all the rumors saying that Emily was nice and sweet.

it wasn't, she had invested a large sum of money under the company's name. He immediately called for Gavin to arrange a car

Jonas sat face to face in though Nelson was old and less spirited than he was grandfather and grandson was quite evident,

you invested on that TV

stay out

not want to explain himself. He had predicted that Nelson would try alone in Japan and came back to help Emily?! What did you expect from her? You promised to protect Melinda, but you betrayed her righteous indignation. He pointed at Jonas with his trembling finger as he glared down at him unyielding expression on Jonas's face finally softened. 'No. I'm this is the last time I will help million on that woman! Jonas, if you are a responsible man, don't get man leaves his woman behind like that? If anything happens to Melinda, all of his trust towards Jonas. This time, Melinda was robbed by someone when she was traveling alone in Japan. It was fortunate that she have arranged a guide to accompany her. Besides, I her. Now I just a second, he even considered whether he should send have already given money for you!" he said, his voice full of sarcasm. "Now pack your stuff and said nothing. He went back to his seat quietly to pack up his things, the hell had Emily done to his grandson? It should be known that Jonas compromised a lot gave up everything for

Emily was more important if he had some other matters to deal with and was just out on a assistant had been standing by his side the entire time. He was in shock at have suspended the CEO. What about all the