

Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx Chapter 301

Chapter 301 Call It a Day

She was desperate to know how Kingston was.

If he was alive, then Lance would be less guilty and she would also be relieved that she did not contribute to his death.

But if he died, it would be different.

She would be haunted by the fact that Lance was a murderer, just like he always suspected that she had lost her virginity to Kingston.

Then Lance and she would end up breaking up.

Thinking of this, she immediately braced herself and struggled to stand up.

She opened the door and looked at Lance with a pale face.

She did not say anything and just stared at him.

Seeing her injured feet, Lance's heart ached slightly.

"Go to bed, I'll help you bandage it."

He put down the things, was about to carry her to the bed but was avoided by Krista.

She spread out her hands, signaling him to give her the phone.

Lance had to hand it to her and she immediately called Aracely.

When she waited patiently for it to be answered, Lance didn't intend to leave. She knew that he wanted to know what they were going to talk about.

She was a little nervous lest that he would lose his temper because of this.

She was tired and scared of it.

Soon, Aracely picked it up and Krista immediately screamed before Aracely could say anything.

"Jesus, don't be so loud. You are scaring and deafening me. Lower your voice. I know you miss me."

Aracely immediately realized that something was wrong. After all, she spent more time with Krista than Lance.

"Are you... unavailable?"

Aracely asked in a low voice.

"Aracely, I miss you too. As soon as you are available, come to me. Then let's enjoy delicious food and beer, shall we?"

Aracely verified her guess that she wasn't available, so she should be implicit in something.

However, she knew what Krista was thinking and said, "I've been to the hospital to see Kingston. He has revived and been out of danger. The bullet grazed his temple, causing him to bleed a lot, so he's still very weak. But fortunately, he's still alive. Don't worry."

Hearing this, Krista almost cried.

She tried to hold it back and finally heaved a sign of relief.

She clenched her fists and tried not to show her joy.

Anyway, Kingston was alive. Although she and Lance were still guilty, at the very least, they didn't contribute to Kingston's death.

She used to hate Sandra the most who even had the heart to kill benevolent Brittany to attain her goal.

But now, she almost acted like Sandra, becoming an accomplice in such a murder. Then how could she have a clear conscience?

If it did happen, she would be haunted by guilt since she wasn't as mentally strong as Lance.

"Aracely..."

She had a lump in her throat which made Aracely's heart ache.

"I'll be available soon and then I will come to you. Take care and wait for me."

"Yes, I will."

She hung up the phone, wiped her tears, and exhaled deeply.

By sheer luck Kingston was alive.

She knew Lance made a mistake, so did Kingston.

It was selfish of Kingston to lock himself in and make no contact with anyone.

That was why Lance burst into angry and even wanted to kill him on impulse.

Moreover, he schemed to stir up trouble between Lance and her!

Now that he was out of danger, the two of them evened the score.

Her top priority now was to make Lance believe that she had nothing to do with Kingston.

She knew Lance had sacrificed a lot for her over the past four years.

With him, she was better off like this.

She had been asking about Kingston and thus hurt Lance. She would apologize to him and excuse his pardon.

It was time to call it a day and then her life would return to normal! Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx Chapter 302

Chapter 302 Focus On Their Happy Life

Lance felt bad when he saw Krista crying so hard.

He gently wiped her tears and whispered, "I will go to the airport with you."

"Mr. Hamm, I'm sorry ... I am not the only good person here. I shouldn't have argued with you for another man. There is nothing between us. You have to trust me. Otherwise, my words meant nothing."

“I kept bringing him up because I didn’t want my fiancé to be a murderer. I hated Sandra. She ruined lives to satisfy her selfish needs. So, I don’t want you to be the next Sandra. He isn’t even my friend. Grandmother used to set us together, but now she has gone. We are clear.”

“He holds a grudge against me because of Sandra. That’s why he imprisoned me. Can we ... end it here. Let’s focus on our lives. It will get better.”

She looked lovingly at him.

Lance’s heart raced, and a twinge of joy seeps into his mind.

That was what Lance wished her to do.

Kingston wasn’t related to either of them, so they had to focus on their own.

He lifted Krista delightedly and turned around and around.

“Really? Did you mean it? Then can we stop quarreling over another person from now on? Krista, am I dreaming?”

Krista nodded, and Kingston was as thrilled as a child.

Since he entered the Lamb family, Lance trudged along his way up like he was carrying a heavy shackle on the shoulder.

He had to take care of the big picture most of the time. It seemed to be selfish if he had preferences.

Selfishness lived in human genes, but it was an extravagant hope for Lance.

So, Lance couldn’t rush to City D in time and put Krista in a suffering whirlpool.

'The guilty person here is me, not Krista. How can I vent my anger on Krista?' Lance thought.

He blamed himself for his irritable behavior, and now he wanted to make up for her.

"Krista, I will always be there for you. I want you to become the most beautiful bride in the world and give you a life that anyone would envy."

"Thank you."

She said softly without any rise or fall in her heart.

That wasn't what Krista wanted the most.

She knew it would please Lance and that was enough.

She always put her thoughts aside. Krista felt she was part of Lance since he saved her four years ago. It was an undeniable fact, and she had never wanted to change it. Lance had sacrificed so much for her.

The marriage was the best way Krista could think of to repay Lance.

She rested at home for a few days, and she almost recovered.

Lance took her to buy a wedding ring and dress because the wedding was imminent. She didn't have time to design one for herself.

But he did not expect Lance to prepare it for her. His right hand could not hold a pen for a long time. Otherwise, it would be extremely painful.

But he had made a fabulous design draft. Every part of it was perfect, and he had sent it to the tailor store. It would be back in a few days.

Once she received Krista's wedding invitation, Aracely had quickly finished her family affairs and rushed over. Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx Chapter 303

Chapter 303 Come to Stay With Me

They went to the airport to pick up Aracely.

Aracely noticed that Krista had lost some pounds. Krista looked delicate and fragile in the elegant woolen dress.

"Krista..."

Aracely gave her a tight cuddle.

"How are things at home? How're your parents?"

"Everything's fine. King ... His public relations team has settled all the problems."

Aracely whispered in Krista's ear to avoid Lance's attention because she knew it would upset Lance.

Whenever people mentioned Kingston, Krista felt a stabbing pain in her chest. But she quickly returned to normal.

"Good to hear that. Let's go. Your schedule is tight. The wedding dress comes back today, so I have to try the dress and buy a ring: You have to be there with me."

"Oh no, the flight has been killing me. How can you torture me like this? You're going to be pissed."

They then arrived at Krista's boutique. Her brand only occupied a small place of the building located in the golden business area.

But Lance was rich and influential, so it was not a problem to have a place here, even if her profit couldn't cover the rent,

Recently, Krista's business was booming and had more guests.

The shop only located the customers who were interested in chic fashion.

Lance named the shop Stacey after Krista's English name, implying a rebirth.

The wedding dress had been delivered and placed in a prime location. It was a white muslin dress with sparkling diamonds on it.

The dress was perfect.

The customers stopped to appreciate the wedding dress for a while, and they offered to try it, but the shop assistant politely refused and explained to them. They were all envious of Krista.

Lance sized up the dress with satisfaction, imagining how it would look like on Krista,

He heaved a sigh and said, "Oh, my poor hand problems. Otherwise, I would have personally inlaid every diamond on the dress."

"It's good now. Nothing is important than your hands. Don't push too hard. I will try the dress. Please wait a minute..."

Before she finished her words, Lance's phone rang.

It was from Ryan.

“Where are you? Get back to the company. Princess Catherine is here. She wants to see you.”

His forehead creased into a deep frown when he heard this.

“I’m off today. And I’m in the middle of something now.”

“Tell the princess yourself. I’m out of this muddy thing.”

Ryan did not want to get into trouble, so he passed the phone to Catherine

Catherine whined, “Lance, come to stay with me. I have been waiting for you.”

“Sorry, I have something to do. I can’t...”

“What kind of things would be more important than the royal family withdrawing the investment? If the stock market of the Lamb Group collapsed, I think your mother will nag you for the rest of your life.” Catherine threatened.

“I said I have something to do!”

Lance’s voice was frosty.

Catherine was familiar with his temper. Lance looked gentle, but it would be terrible if he got mad.

She pouted and changed her attitude. “I know you’re getting married. You’ve been very busy lately. But ... but I want to see you. If you neglect me because of that woman, Mrs. Carlisle will put her into trouble, not you. I think it will be hard for her to live in peace in the future.”

“Come here. You’ve been there with her all day. Isn’t it enough? I only need one hour, okay?” Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx Chapter 304

Chapter 304 Try on the Wedding Dress

Princess Catherine liked Lance and had been longing for him eagerly.

She had used all the methods, but Lance was unmoved,

Unexpectedly, the sudden wedding this time scared her. Princess Catherine told herself that she had to take some measures, otherwise the man she liked would not belong to her anymore.

Even though she knew that this would make Lance loathe her, she had no other choice. As a princess, Catherine just wanted to rely on her status to pressure Lance.

She had to keep him by his side before she had a chance!

Lance’s face turned even gloomier when he heard this.

Carlisle was a madman. If he really went crazy, there was no end to it.

Just as he kept silent, Krista slightly pushed him with a gentle look.

“Just go. I’m OK. I have Aracely by my side anyway.”

“But...”

“Don’t hesitate. Work is important.”

She understood him well.

Lance nodded and looked at her apologetically.

“Then I’ll be back soon.”

“Okay, Aracely and I will walk around and get the diamond ring.”

When Lance heard this, he quickly left. Aracely immediately came forward with a frown and said with dissatisfaction, “What? He’s leaving just like that? Isn’t he going to see you try on your wedding dress?”

“Lance is busy. I don’t want to disturb him because of such a small matter.”

“Small matter? Is this a small matter?” Aracely rolled her eyes. “Moreover, Catherine’s intention is too obvious. Everyone knows what she wants to do, and you still let Mr. Hamm go? Aren’t you afraid that she will do something to Mr. Hamm?”

“No, I believe in Lance.”

“Krista...”

Aracely furrowed her brows, wanting to say something but hesitating. She really did not know how she should continue the topic.

She just felt that Krista’s reaction was not the kind of reaction a woman who was going to get married should have. Krista could trust Lance, but it was so strange that she wasn’t jealous at all when Lance went to another woman.

Krista never asked for anything from Lance. As long as he gave it to her, she would accept it happily.

She would also not give him any requirements and she would let him do whatever he wanted.

When Lance was not by her side, Krista would quietly draw her manuscript, go out to collect the manifestations of local culture. She also would not call him frequently to see what he was doing. Occasionally, she would send a text message to remind him not to be tired or catch a cold.

In this relationship, Krista had never taken the initiative to do anything for Lance and was always in a passive state. In Aracely's eyes, this was really so strange.

Aracely felt that Lance and Krista were more like friends. Krista wouldn't easily go to Lance for help. As long as she could do it herself, she wouldn't tell it to him. Krista would rather put great effort to do things on her own than ask Lance for help, who could deal with those things easily.

"What's wrong with me?"

Krista looked at Aracely blankly.

Aracely sighed and shook her head. "It's fine. You go and try wedding dresses. I want to see them."

"OK. I can't wait to show them to you."

Krista also wanted to put on her wedding dress and see what it looked like.

Krista went in to change her clothes, and Aracely was so worried.

She really wanted to ask Krista whether she loved Lance or not. Aracely always heard that love would cause worry and fear. However, Krista seemed to treat Lance as her friend or relative, not a lover at all.

Krista quickly changed into her wedding dress and appeared in front of Aracely.

"Do I look good?"

She spun a little, and her fluffy skirt and long trailing tail made her look like a fairy.

“You are so beautiful! Krista, you are the most beautiful woman in my eyes! Why didn’t you call Luck out? You should have let him have a look.”

“I don’t know what he is doing at home every day. He said he wanted to prepare a gift for me. He is very busy.”

“Will he work and rest irregularly? He doesn’t remember the time once he is busy. No, I have to go and see him next time.”

Aracely was so worried.

Krista smiled and did not say anything else.

Just as she was about to change the wedding dress, she suddenly caught a glimpse of a familiar figure outside the door. Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx Chapter 305

Chapter 305 He Is My Good Brother

Krista’s heart missed a beat with her mind blank.

She immediately lifted her skirt and rushed out.

“Krista...”

Aracely did not understand the reason and immediately followed her out.

Krista looked around but did not see that figure.

“What happened to you?”

"I ... I might be seeing someone."

"Who are you seeing?"

"Just ... just a friend."

She stammered.

She seemed to have seen Kingston just now. At that time, she did not think much about it. She just wanted to appear in front of him and see how he was now. She wondered whether he still felt painful.

However, when she came out, many people were coming and going, but no one was him.

She thought that she made a mistake and returned to the store. For some reason, she felt gloomy.

In the elevator, Quincy looked at Kingston in confusion.

"Sir, why don't you meet Ms. Compton?"

"There are some other things to deal with. It is not a good time to meet her." He replied. He looked slightly pale and was not fully recovered.

What really injured him was that his viscera got hurt when the car had rolled down the hill.

Fortunately, it was not fatal, and he could get well as long as he took care.

Krista then went to pick out a diamond ring. The design was already reserved with a suitable size.

She had been a little restless and often got distracted when Aracely talked to her.

“What’s wrong with you? Why are you easily distracted today?”

“Am I?”

Krista came back to her senses and said with an unnatural expression.

“What are you thinking about?”

“Nothing. I’m just a little tired. Maybe the shopping wears me out after I just recover.”

She didn’t go back to Lance’s place at night and called him that she would stay at Luck’s place for two days. After all, she was going to get married and had less time to be with her brother in the days to come.

Lance was so entangled by Catherine that he could spare no time, so he didn’t say anything.

There were many rooms in Luck’s place, so Aracely also stayed here.

“Krista!”

Luck felt happy with a crescent-shaped smile when he saw Krista.

He was dressed plainly though the clothes on him were worn. His clothes were very clean and tidy.

He was in his early twenties when he was in his prime.

He was a handsome man with fair skin. He looked thin.

In Aracely's words, Luck was loveable.

As soon as Krista returned, he hung her clothes, passed slippers for her, and put on his apron to cook.

He lived alone but kept the house tidy. His clothes were neatly folded. The house was spacious and there were no extra things. He was good at these.

Every time Aracely came over, she would stay here and enjoyed the feeling of being served by Luck. It was too satisfying.

"Aracely is here too."

Luck smiled at Aracely who was behind Krista, revealing a pair of cute white teeth, and also passed Aracely a pair of slippers.

Krista liked slippers with kittens, and Aracely liked ones with spicy rabbit heads.

"Luck, such a good boy. Have you missed me as we haven't seen each other for so long?"

Luck rubbed Luck's naturally curly hair. It felt like touching velvet, so smooth.

"Yes, but I miss Krista more."

Luck looked at Krista tenderly and smiled sweetly.

"You must be hungry. I'll go prepare dinner."

"I wanna eat..." Before Aracely finished, Luck turned around and said, "Aracely wants to eat hot pot."

"Yes, you know me."

“Then let’s have a mandarin duck pot. Krista can’t eat spicy food.”

When Aracely heard this, she looked at Luck’s back as he left and praised, “Krista, Luck is really amazing. He has no shortcomings except the unsociability.”

Aracely’s eyes shone with a strange light. Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx Chapter 306

Chapter 306 Not Interested at All

Luck also had work to do now. He specially set up firewalls and wrote codes for some big corporations.

He doesn’t care about his salary at all. He kept some for his daily needs and transferred the rest to Krista.

He was also very interested in electronic products, and he was very good at holographic projection, 3D modeling, and so on. He operated the computer so well, but Krista could only open a document and write some financial data for investment.

“Not going out is the biggest problem. I’m afraid he won’t be able to find a girlfriend in the future.”

Krista shook her head and said helplessly.

Aracely rolled her eyes and said, “He is still young, and he is not in a hurry to find a girlfriend. He is quite good now. After you get married and move to live with Lance, Luck and I will live here in the future. It’s...”

Aracely was quite happy!

She was happy in her heart, but she looked very sad.

Krista was also a little sad.

She rarely spent the night at Lance's place and usually stayed at home with Luck.

But it was different this time. She was sick, and she had to prepare for the wedding. Lance did not want her to be so tired going back and forth and asked her to stay.

She lived in the master bedroom, and Lance lived in the second bedroom. They were well-behaved and did not do anything cross the line.

"Girls...have to get married."

"Yes, we have to. But the premise is that it must be the person we love. Do you understand, Krista?"

She always thought that as long as they were together for enough time and Krista had forgotten about Kingston, she would fall in love with Lance.

Lance was almost a perfect lover. Other than being a little busy, he had no flaws.

He had always cared about her and helped her in her career. He had never pushed her too hard and given her enough space.

She liked fashion design and brand investment. He helped her quickly build up connections.

But after four years of getting along, their relationship was exactly the same as four years ago.

They seemed intimate, but there was a bit of alienation.

There was not any substantial change. Aracely was anxious in her heart.

"Love..."

Krista was stunned.

She often asked herself if she loved Lance.

The answer should be yes. When he was sick, she would feel distressed. If he was too tired, she would care about him. When he was out on a business trip, she would be worried at home.

In her heart, Lance was as important as Luck and Aracely. He was the person she wanted to protect.

She did not reject marrying Lance, nor did she reject living with him for the rest of her life.

“I love him. You are all very important to me.”

“Then...you are going to get married, so you have to do that...”

Krista’s face immediately turned red, “Why are you saying this?”

“To let you know in advance. You are husband and wife, and you have to give birth to the next generation. Are you willing to give birth to a child for Mr. Hamm?”

“U...”

Krista fell silent this time.

She had also thought about this. When she thought of doing that kind of thing with Lance, she always felt very uncomfortable and resistant

She seriously doubted whether she was sexless and had no interest in that at all.

“I don’t know, Let’s talk about it in the future... It will be overcome eventually.”

“You want to overcome it? It happens naturally when you are in love with each other. How can you overcome it? Is this a difficult thing?”

Aracely rolled her eyes and felt that she was joking.

“I don’t know what I’m trying to resist.”

She sighed and bit her lip, not knowing how to continue this topic.

Aracely was discouraged, “Forget it. Take it slow. This is something that Mr. Hamm should worry about.”
Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx Chapter 307

Chapter 307 Luck Was Also a Man

Aracely always took Lance’s side. Four years ago, Kingston had deeply hurt Krista. Though the child was not killed by him personally, it was also because of him.

In contrast, Lance was totally different.

His right hand was crippled and gave up the fashion design for Krista. In order to save her, he also entered the Lamb Group.

Due to the past four years of companionship, he should get together with Krista.

The last thing Aracely would like to see happen was Krista to be hurt again, so she hoped that Kingston would stay far away from Krista.

Soon, Luck prepared the hot pot.

“Here you are. Krista’s sauce dipping sauce and Aracely’s sesame sauce.”

“How thoughtful you are!”

Aracely took the opportunity to pinch Luck’s chubby face. Luck smiled and did not resist.

In his mind, Aracely was as important as Krista, and they were both indispensable in his life.

After dinner, Krista went to bed early.

Aracely was a little sleepless with indigestion, so she planned to walk on the treadmill in the living room. But she did not expect to see Luck standing on the balcony and staring at the sky when she came out.

She quietly walked over and covered his eyes.

“Aracely.”

“So easy to guess?”

“Aracely is wearing a rose perfume. I remember.”

“Are you so insightful? What is Krista’s perfume?”

“Jasmine fragrance, that’s the smell of the shower gel she likes.”

“Then ... what about Luck?”

“Mint, it’s very refreshing.”

Aracely suddenly felt that she was very careless. He always had the mint fragrance on him, but she ignored it.

“Why aren’t you sleeping? What are you thinking about?”

“Krista is going to get married. Is she not having much time with Luck in the days to come?” He said with a bit of sadness.

Luck led a simple life with a small house and two sisters.

“Yes, people will look for a partner at a suitable age. It is a natural thing. Don’t you like Lance?”

“Yes, but I can’t bear to part with Krista.”

“You have to accept it.”

“Then ... Will Aracely leave me in the future and live with others?”

Luck blinked his eyes and looked at her pitifully.

There was grievance and sadness in his voice.

As the night wind blew, his hair was fluffy and soft, and his clothes were gently raised.

Aracely felt as if her heart missed a beat. She stammered, “Yes... yes, I will be with another man in the future.”

“Lucky is also a man.”

“Men... aren’t in mouth...”

As soon as the words came out, Aracely really wanted to dig a hole and bury herself in it.

What was she talking about?

Lucky was so innocent, how could she say that?

He treated her like Krista, so she couldn't do that to him.

"What? Am I not born as a man? Do I have to prove?"

"No, no, no. I was talking nonsense. Not only do I have to find a partner, but Luck will also find a partner in the future, build a small family with your children."

"Luck only likes you and Krista."

"I like you too, but I can't do it. How can I lay my hands on my best friend's younger brother? Don't look at me like that. You're seducing me! Go back to your room and stop thinking nonsense."

Aracely stuffed him into his room, touched her flushed face, and felt that she had done something bad.

She could have a relationship with any man except Luck. Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx
Chapter 308

Chapter 308 The Spring Dream

She could not casually play with Luck and waste his feelings because of her curiosity.

Aracely was sure that if she broke up with Luck and made him heartbroken, Krista would not let her go easily.

Therefore, keeping Luck at a distance was necessary!

In the night, Krista had a dream.

She stood by the bed, surrounded by darkness. Suddenly, she saw that two figures intertwined on the bed.

Her heart trembled slightly. Krista did not understand why she would have this kind of dream. In her dream, the two people were having sex on the bed.

After this, the girl on the bed finally came back to life.

It was almost dawn outside, and Krista was glad that she could finally see their appearances. She was so curious about what kind of people would appear in her dreams.

At this moment, the girl on the bed moved. She wore clothes in a panic, put on a cap, lowered her head, and walked out with difficulty.

She was just about to see the girl's face clearly when she was woken up.

"Krista, wake up! It's almost noon!"

She opened her eyes and felt her head so dizzy. Krista guessed that maybe she had not slept well.

"What happened to you? Why are you sweating? Did you have a nightmare?"

"No..."

"Not a nightmare? So was it a spring dream?" Aracely asked with a smile.

Actually, she was just joking.

“No, no! Don’t talk nonsense.”

Krista was a little excited.

Aracely understood her and knew that this was a sign of guilt.

“You really had a spring dream? Were you with Mr. Hamm in the dream?”

“No, how could it be? I... I just dreamed that two people were having sex on the bed, and I didn’t see who they were.”

“You dreamed about someone else? Why haven’t you dream of yourself?”

“Myself? I have never done that kind of thing!”

Krista rolled her eyes.

Aracely pursed her lips. She couldn’t tell Krista that she had already had sex with Kingston and even given birth to a baby before being killed by his fiancée.

As long as Krista didn’t think about it herself, Aracely, Lance, and Luck would keep this secret forever and not let her return to the pain she had suffered back then.

Lance had something to do today, and Krista planned to go to the church to see the layout.

She had just finished breakfast and was about to leave when Carlisle came over.

Aracely knew what kind of person Carlisle was. She immediately frowned and shielded Krista behind her, looking at Carlisle warily

“Mrs. Hamm, do you have anything to do?”

*The marriage of the Lamb family is such a big thing, so I definitely have to care about it. You grew up in City D and have been influenced by the eastern culture. I should also show some sincerity and buy you some golden jewelry.”

“Well, why do you suddenly become so nice? That’s rare.”

Aracely said with a smile, but her tone was full of ridicule.

She knew well that Carlisle was not a kind woman. Wherever Carlisle was, there would be no peace. That was why the Hamm family was always in a mess.

Carlisle glared at Aracely. She found that every time, Krista was so obedient, while Aracely was shrewd.
Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx Chapter 309

Chapter 309 Mrs. Lamb, You Are Going too Far!

“I’ve already told Lance that we would go to the mall together and buy some jewelry. This is also a little token of my appreciation as a mother-in-law. You won’t refuse it, right?”

“Really? Then I’ll call Lance for a check.”

Aracely didn’t buy her words and was about to call Lance. Carlisle became anxious in an instant. She grabbed Aracely’s phone and threw it away.

Aracely couldn’t dodge in time and was about to be hurled. A tall and thin figure suddenly appeared in front of her.

The phone smashed heavily on the back of his head. Although there was no blood, it was still a heavy hit.

He frowned and let out a muffled groan.

“Luck!”

Aracely was anxious, “Are you alright?”

“I’m fine. What about you?”

“Of course I’m fine. This old woman is going too far! I’m going to kill you!”

Aracely was about to step forward but was stopped by Luck.

“Aracely, I’m fine. Don’t start a fight.”

“But...”

“Aracely, don’t mess around. She is still Lance’s nominal mother and holds shares in the Lamb Group.”

Louis left and Ryan was not her own son. Carlisle was the heir apparent.

Though Lance took charge now, he didn’t hold shares. Many of them were held in Carlisle.

Moreover, the Lamb Group developed on the property of the Carlisle family. Many stockholders supported Carlisle and excluded Lance for his being Chinese identity.

Lance also wanted to control the Lamb Group as soon as possible, so that he would not have to fear Kingston. The most essential step to it was the contract with the royal family.

“But Luck gets hurt.”

Aracely stroked the back of Luck’s head in distress and worriedly found that it was swollen.

He was clearly in pain, but he endured it and smiled at her comfortingly. It made her feel even more distressed.

How could Krista not feel distressed? She also did not believe that Carlisle would be so kind to buy a welcome gift for her. Rather Krista needed to be careful about Carlisle.

“Mrs. Lamb, I don’t need it. Lance had bought it for me. Thank you for your kindness.”

“I heard that a welcome gift was supposed from the mother-in-law in your country. This represents her approval. The meaning of the gift from Lance is different from the one I give. Besides, it’s just shopping. What else can I do?”

“No, we’re not going.”

“How dare you? This house was bought by my son, right? Didn’t you spend the money from the Lamb family?”

Then, Carlisle began to make a fuss, picking up things and smashing them.

Luck clenched his fists and looked at Carlisle furiously.

Every bit in this house was arranged by him, and it was the place where he lived with Krista for four years. This place was important to him!

“Don’t touch them.”

Luck rushed over like an angry beast, pushing Carlisle heavily on the sofa, picking up the fragments of a mug on the ground.

This was the birthday present from Aracely. She said that he was especially like a cute dog, so she bought him this mug.

Now, it shattered

“Mrs. Lamb, you are going too far, Isn’t it just buying a gift? If it means your recognition, I will be happier than anyone.”

“Why didn’t you do this earlier?”

*Can we leave now?”

“Of course.”

“Krista, I will go with you.”

Aracely said worriedly.

“What does it have to do with you as I take my daughter-in-law to go shopping?”

I’m Krista’s best friend, why can’t I go?”

“If you dare to go, I will let you regret it!”

Carlisle said arrogantly. Found Pregnant After Divorce by Emiissmx Chapter 310

Chapter 310 Can You Protect My Sister?

“Why don’t you give it a try? I have no relationship with you. I’m not afraid of you.”

“Alright, Aracely. You take care of Luck at home. I’ll be back soon.”

“But...”

Krista knew what Aracely wanted to say and directly stopped her.

She gave Aracely a look and followed Carlisle.

Aracely suppressed her anger and called Lance immediately.

But Lance did not pick up the phone, she immediately understood that Lance was still busy.

She becomes even angrier. Lance did a good job all these years except that he totally forgot Krista when busy.

She could understand that he was in a dilemma now that he was being pressed down by Carlisle and he needed to take power from Carlisle.

But it wasn’t a good reason for him to ignore Krista.

She called him again and this time, Lance picked up.

“What’s the matter? I’m busy.”

“How can you be busy all day! Do you have any idea that your fiancée was taken away by your adopted mother? She smashed the house and hurt Luck. She said that she would take Krista to buy a welcome gift. God knows what is in her mind!”

“Lance, I have always taken your side. If you continue like this, what is the difference between you and Kingston? You are all selfish and Krista is always the victim.”

When Lance heard this, he pursed his lips and tightened his jaw.

After a long time, he replied with a gloomy voice, “I got it. I’ll deal with it right away.”

Aracely heaved a sigh of relief when she heard that. She hoped that Lance would understand the severity of the situation and didn’t lose Krista after obtaining power.

After hanging up, she noticed that Luck was quietly cleaning up the house.

He looked quiet and well-behaved, making Aracely heartbreaking.

She immediately stepped forward to help but was stopped by him.

“Let me do it. Don’t let it hurt you.”

The ground was full of fragments.

“Sorry, you treat me as a sister, but I can’t protect you.”

“But I’m a man. A man has to protect a woman.”

He said with a smile. He let her sit down and quickly cleaned up the mess. Finally, he stared blankly at the broken cup. He was unwilling to wrap it with tape, afraid of getting the sanitation worker hurt.

He was innocent and flawless. That was the reason why Aracely wouldn’t have an affair with him.

Luck was too good, but she was too playful.

“I will buy it for you later, okay?”

“OK.”

“Does your head still hurt?”

“It doesn’t hurt. I’m just worried about Krista.”

He looked at Aracely worriedly, “Aracely, can Lance protect Krista?”

His question stumped Aracely.

She sighed and said, “Probably.”

Meanwhile, Carlisle took Krista to the mall.

It was just that along the way, Carlisle had been saying that Krista had a humble background, knew little about how to dance ballet or play the piano. Carlisle added that Krista literally had none merit. It would be a disgrace to the Lamb family when Krista married Lance.

She also said that for the sake of Lance, Krista could not be so selfish and would not let go of Lance.

Krista felt boring along the way to the mall.

.

Carlisle didn’t have so many opinions in the past. But things went different ever since the royal Princess, Catherine, accidentally came into contact with Lance and fell in love with him.

In the past, Carlisle wasn't welcomed by distinguished ladies for her bad temper.

Carlisle also felt quite embarrassed before. But things changed after Catherine would take her to many parties to please her.