

Gary Stu 521

Chapter 521

Armand's eyes darkened at her words. "Therefore, you returned and got in touch with me just for the sake of vengeance?"

"Yes."

"You're lying" He lowered his gaze to look at her. "Genevieve, when you lie, you avert your gaze and bite your lip in reflex"

He proceeded to confess, "I, too, was lying that night. Over the last four years, I have been waiting for you to return, and every moment passed by without me longing for you."

He just hadn't had the courage to express it to her.

After he swallowed. Armand continued in a raspy voice, "I was worried that you would have to go soon, and I just couldn't bear to watch you leave with another man."

Due to his love for her, Armand respected Genevieve and refrained from trying to win her back aggressively "Genevieve, you love me too, don't you?" Closing the distance between them, he asked, "Or else, why would you have put in so much effort to prepare such a special birthday gift for me? On that fateful day, you told me that you would stay by my side for the rest of my life so that I would never be lonely again. On top of that, I recently found out that you were the girl I met in the hospital back then."

Raising his hand, Armand stroked Genevieve's flawless, fair cheeks. "Genevieve, let's not delude each other anymore."

His confession shook Genevieve to the in her expression quickly disappeared as she back and raised her gaze to stare at him. "Armand, I

by the sudden you should be good at reading people." Genevieve asserted, "I'm

In fact, they were so calm that he was sense her feelings for him behind the repressed rage in her eyes. But now, her eyes were devoid sudden, he was filled with asked him if he loved her

ITUD TI/UCI DUV