

The Girl He Craves by Demiah13

Chapter 81: What kind of bullshit destiny!

Emptying all her messages, Vivienne went downstairs happily and then saw a very cool Wrangler in front of the hotel.

She was so excited, especially when Louis was sitting in the car waiting for her.

Thinking about how much he was worth, coming to pick herself up like this, she instantly felt like her value had gone up along with it.

“Where did this car come from.

I remember the company arranged not this car ah.” She pressed down her little leap and asked with a smile.

“That little company of yours?” The words were full of disdain.

Vivienne was not angry, now in her heart, V.L was indeed very insignificant, although it was indeed a bit of a pity, after all, at the beginning was also hesitant to make a listed company to, but now, long ago had given up.

With Louis’ price and status, it’s only natural that he can’t look at it.

“Well.” She nodded.

Louis said, “To be honest, I would not have taken your car from the airport if I didn’t give you a favor.”

Who knows how much of that was true and how much was not, but it still sounded good to her ears anyway.

“Where are we going?” she looked to Louis, full of anticipation.

“When we go, we’ll know.” The car sped along and soon, they arrived at their destination.

Vivienne’s girlish heart was so excited, “Wow, so many flowers! It’s so beautiful! How can there be such a beautiful place? Louis, how did you find it? You’re really good!” Driving, Louis smiled faintly and leaned a little in her direction, “What are you talking about, which aspect was awesome?” “Nasty!” she punched him lightly with a hot face and laughed along with him.

The sun was getting hotter and hotter, it was really quite hot, Stella was a bit overwhelmed, looking up at Silvia again, her face was also slightly flushed, but her expression was still very focused.

“Silvia, how about we go back to the lobby first and then later if you’re looking for it?”

Stopping in her tracks, Silvia looked over at Stella, who was panting heavily and already dripping with sweat and nodded, “Okay.” Stella had already gone quite far, Stella called the people at the base and they would drive over to pick her up soon, so it would be good to wait in place.

Stella took off her hat to Ian Liersell, Stella saw that she was still walking unhurriedly, her mask had been taken off when she entered the flower field, her cheeks were slightly red on both sides because of the sun exposure, but miraculously, her skin was so tanned, but whiter.

The sun was blinding, Stella slightly squinted her eyes, watching her standing in the middle of a field of flowers, both sides are brilliantly colored flowers, but none of them are more brilliant than her, she was in the midst of this boundless beauty, not at all interior, even slightly messed up hair, even down the cheeks of the beads of sweat, are so beautiful.

This girl, really beautiful by nature, it was no wonder that she was quite prejudiced against her, thinking that she was relying on improper relationships to get to the top.

But just by the fact that she was able to complete her two exams with flying colors and pass even with that kind of difficulty, it was clear that she was not at all a false appearance.

“Silvia, can you tell me what exactly you’re looking for?” She had traveled so many times and had taken many colleagues with her and none of them had ever been as persistent as she was.

“An ingredient that will refine the kind of flavor I want.” Silvia stopped and thought for a moment.

“What ingredient?” Stella pursued.

“I don’t know.”

“ . . .

“Stella asked in a different way.

“So, what flavor do you want?” “The feeling, indescribable.” Well! As much as it sounded like a no-brainer, she could probably understand it.

It was a job that she couldn’t help with at all and she could only stare,

The base car soon arrived, but not the young man who received them, the visitor was also very enthusiastic, “exhausted, right? I didn’t expect you to walk so far and for so long, generally to here, at most walk an hour or so, also came back.” “In fact, ah, we have all the best samples, our side of the flowers are picked the same day delivery, even if the samples, are updated daily, do not worry about not fresh affect the judgment.

If you want to find something, just tell us directly.” While driving the car, said enthusiastically.

Silvia quietly looked at the roadside flowers, the air was floating the most natural flower fragrance, a lot of fragrances are mixed together, she closed her eyes and breathed deeply, can distinguish what flowers are there, but it seems that, still a little short of what she wanted.

“You have such a big flower field, it’s hard to take care of it, right? It must take a lot of hands, right?” Stella asked.

“It must be hard work, but it’s work! And it’s fun to see so many beautiful flowers every day and watch them grow out of your own hands, isn’t it?” He said with a smile, “The manpower is definitely needed, but there is always a shortage, So you see, my brother went to pick up the guests, so I have to pick you up and when I send you there, I still have to go to dispense the insect repellent.” “I’m really sorry to trouble you.” Silvia spoke up.

“Hey, what’s the trouble? It’s our job, you’re customers.” This person’s character was very good, had always been lively in talking “So, how many customers do you have here every day “There are many during the peak season, but recently it’s fine.

These two days is not a perfumer tasting? But today you are the earliest, from now until the afternoon, people will start to be more.” As we speak, we also arrived.

Pointing to the hall inside, he said, “Just inside, you guys go in and rest, I will not go in, first go to the shed ah!” “Okay, we’ll go in ourselves.” Silvia readily agreed.

“It seems that a lot of people have come to choose materials in the past two days, we have to hurry up and order the goods in advance, so that they won’t be snatched away first.” Stella said, while walking down the hall with her.

Silvia didn’t really care, not all people needed the same ingredients, so finding the right stuff was the most important thing “I’m dying of thirst, I need to get some ice water to drink and I don’t know if there is any!” Just about to reach out and push the door open, before it even touches the doorknob, it’s opened from the inside.

“Silvia?” Vivienne saw her at first glance, her eyes were wide open, she never expected to meet her here!

What kind of bullshit destiny was this! In the past two days, Stella remembered this brazen woman and looked at her in a way that was not friendly.

Of course, Vivienne didn’t care, after all, her full attention was on Silvia’s body, looked her up and down, saw her head full of sweat, felt really wretched and said disdainfully.

Chapter 82: Bullying her in front of her

Silvia coldly laughed: “oke, here your family opened?”

“You ... ” Vivienne was choked up and was just about to get mad when Louis on the side held out a hand in front of her, “Vivi, I think this is the Miss you once mentioned.

Silvia.” Vivienne Iroze, then nodded, “Yes, it’s her.” “Miss.Silvia, in the recipe of the essential oil minus one ingredient and the other changes do not move, really is not a big deviation, but a world of difference.” Louis paused and slowly said, “You are a little smart.” Raising her eyebrows and looking askance at him, Silvia suddenly realized, “You’re the helper Ladarius found?” No wonder he suddenly stopped rushing and according to the news from LA, V.L’s factory had already gotten back on track and started normal production, which meant that he had solved the problem regarding the essential oil formula.

Of course, with those existing people in V.L, it was absolutely impossible to find the cause, so he must be looking for outside help These days she was here, no time to take into account what Ladarius had found outside help, but unexpectedly, today actually took the initiative to send to the door.

She was not very clear about who Louis was, but from the way he was treated by the organizers last night and the fact that he was able to tell exactly what he was doing with the recipe for the essential oil, it showed that he still had some strength.

But why should such a person help Ladarius.

Facing his sarcasm, Silvia just nodded her head, "Thank you for the compliment."

She had no intention to fight with them here, but Vivienne was not the kind of person who would give up.

Especially, since she had seen her in the first class cabin when she got on the plane in LA, it could be said that Silvia had given her a hard time all the way and now that she felt that she had the upper hand, how could she not take the opportunity to step on her twice.

"You're stupid!" Vivienne pulled her sleeve, she was overbearing, "Who praised you? What do you think you are, worthy of Mr.

Louis' praise? Do you know that in front of Mr.

Louis, you are like a kindergarten child, just your little clever tricks, don't laugh at people!"

"Silvia, let me tell you, don't think that climbing Carmelo, it seems to be so great.

In the end, Carmelo is not Warin!" she ploated.

"Besides, even if it is Warin, why should he protect you, who do you think you are? I advise you to take a good look at yourself and know where you stand, don't always dream unrealistic dreams!" Stella couldn't bear to hear this, she sank her face and stood in front of Silvia, "No matter where Silvia stands, it's all about her, unlike some people, who only do things that are not realistic, Stealing other people's things and still gloating, how shameful! Oh, I forgot, for such people, what is face, may have Long ago not know!" She was originally the type of person with an unforgiving mouth, only she didn't just lash out and now she just couldn't stand to watch.

The bullying of her people in front of her, when she was dead!

She rolled her eyes and looked at Stella, "Who are you to speak here? what I do with her is none of your business!" "Silvia was any colleague, my friend, what's her business was my business." Puffed out her chest, to Sydon to show that she was going to strongly support Silvia to the end.

Stella's action, Silvia see in the eyes, or quite touched.

Vivienne, however, snorted, "Oh, I said, so you are Carmelo's people ah, no wonder eyes on the top of the head, so arrogant! I'm telling you, this Silvia, two-faced three swords and a honeyed sword skill was very big.

Don't be insensitive, I'm just reminding you, don't be sold out and count the money for her!"

"Don't bother, my eyes are bright, I can tell who is a human and who is a dog!" "You ...

” she did not expect they was a hard, Silvia did not to say a key word, so she did not have a sense of achievement, angry half dead.

“Don’t think you Carmelo how great, but it’s just a kid company affiliated with Warin, not much better than V.L.

Besides, even if it is Warin, how many perfumers can compare with our Mr. Louis?” She naturally took Louis’ arm, with a proud face.

Watching her movements, Silvia was thoughtful “Well Vivi, don’t waste unnecessary time here, we should spend our time, on more important things.” From the beginning to the end, Louis did not participate in the verbal argument between them, but his contempt and disdain were shown by his trifling words.

“That’s right! Let’s just go, it’s really a pandemonium here!” Waved her hand and covered her nose as if there was really smoke that smoked her.

That pretentious look really made Stella laugh.

“What oddball! Silvia, how come you tised to be friends with such people!”

Yes, she used to be friends with this kind of people.

The first time she was blinded by what, she didn’t see it at all?

“There is no point in bothering with such people.” Silvia said indifferently.

“Let’s go inside, aren’t you thirsty?” “Yes, yes, you do not say I forgot, really, angry!” She hadn’t been this angry for a long time, it’s really odd every year, this year was the oddest.

Although she went with Louis to the flower field, Vivienne’s mind was still thinking about the incident.

Silvia and that obnoxious woman are here, does that mean Carmelo was picking up from here too? I wonder what kind of goods they are going to pick up.

As she walked, she wanted to go back to the lobby to take a look and get a jump on them and monopolize what they wanted It’s really annoywg! Why was it that she, Silvia had been swept out of the game, was still able to climb into Carmelo’s shoes and it seems that she’s still in good hands with Carmelo.

Her lawsuit with V.Land her being hacked on the Internet didn’t affect her at all, she was still like a fish in water and she was still thriving.

Why? Why? She was not willing, she must stand higher than Silvia, more scenic than her, more dazzling than her! “Vivi, what are you thinking?” Louis stopped in his tracks and turned to look at her.

Chapter 83: This was good,

I’ll take it Stella was really thirsty, after filling a large glass of water, only after slowing down, “Your side does live up to its name, the variety of flowers, the fragrance is also very pure.” “How about this, I’ll write down the types and quantities needed, all here, as for the price ...

according to what you provided earlier, 20% off, how about that?” Giving a gesture, Stella skilfully negotiated business.

“This ...

"the stuff was obviously reluctant, "the rule on our side is at most 10% discount, you should know that the prices we give are already the best."

"Frankly speaking, you do not have a great advantage in terms of price, but I do prefer your goods here, we are still looking for long-term cooperation in the future, you give us a little concession, the figure is still the future of the long term, right?" After a pause, she said, "You know, we are not specifically to purchase, I just need to purchase the list to the company, by our company is responsible for the procurement department to talk specifically, by then they want the concessions, may not be more than 1." The purchasing department are a special set of processes and they are professional level, in grinding price cutting, or very experienced "...okay!" A little difficult, but still agreed to the,"Is this all? Are there any other needs for the two of you?" "No..." Stella just wanted to say no, turned her head to see Silvia silent look, "look again, by the way, do you have any more special flowers here, or plants and so on. The aroma is a little more special." "There is, but for connoisseurs like you, it may not be special."

For such a flower garden base, naturally there are some more special types of plants for niche enthusiasts to pick, for most people, it should be quite special, but they are all in the flavor of various spices, perhaps for them, it may not be special "Never mind, it's good for me to see." Silvia said.

Under his leadership, Silvia and Stella together into the trellis flower room, such weather, in which surprisingly not stifling dry heat, can feel that there is still a wind flowing: "Tom, Tom..."

"he called out twice and someone soon answered.

Then Silvia saw the man who drove the car to the flower field to pick them up. He was wearing only a white undershirt at the moment, looking like he was working, his body was full of sweat and he came out smiling and smiled when he saw them, "It's you guys." These two guests want to see a little special, you take them to see." "Okay, no problem." Tom answered quickly and turned his head to wash his hands at the faucet on the side, "This way, please." The flowers in the flower room are really not the same as the ones outside, the flowers here are more delicate and have Very strict requirements for sunlight and rain, in this case, the ones you can see are some of the more expensive varieties Of course, the price was to comparable to the outside.

As all be Altri ceny a look around, Silvia felt that she still couldn't find her favorite, but Stella had her eye on a few wodels, but the villa had to consider the price a bit more.

"Almost all of them are berel rendering his livad, he thought for a moment and said, "There are still a few small-leaf rosewood plants, do you want to see them?" "You still have this one here, but although it's famous, it's not too rare, right?" Stella said with a twist of her head.

"It's good like this, but the small-leaf rosewood we have here is not quite the same as the ones outside, we try to cultivate it ourselves and it should not be available outside.” This Tom still speaks cautiously and does not say with certainty that it must not be available outside.

“Let’s see.” Silvia came to be interested.

The first time I saw it, it didn’t differ much from what I usually see.

There were still a lot of fakes on the market, but what he had here was a good variety, but in the end, it’s not too rare.

“What’s so special?” Stella came over and looked at the leaves, then twitched her nose and sniffed again.

“You are connoisseurs, you look at it.” The naive Wu sold out and said with a smile.

Silvia looked carefully, stretched out her hand, pinched a little leaf, the fracture layer flowed faint sap, the characteristic aroma overflowed, she put the leaf on the tip of her nose and smelled it and pinched the place of the branch to see, there was a forked fracture on the side, she thought for a moment, “You guys, grafted?” Tom gave her a thumbs up.

“The girl really has a good eye.

Come to us, having seen this small-leaved rosewood, you are the first one to find it.”

“Grafted? What did you graft it with?” As soon as she heard that, Stella also got interested, pinching the pinched leaves and giving them a good sniff.

“I can’t tell you this.” Still laughing, but this smile, more or less a little smug. Probably a little sense of pride in a small achievement, after all, for the breeding of people, spent effort and raise a successful work, as if hard work to raise an excellent child to, pride was a must.

“Mint it.” Silvia said again.

“...” This time, Tom looked at her with more than a little amazement, “How do you know?!”

This matter was the flower garden’s own attempts, one was not yet known to be successful, the second was also a trade secret, so never said to people outside, but she only looked a few times, can immediately judge out, feel their own so long to keep secrets, have become a joke, “Smell out.” Silvia said faintly, “There was the sandalwood fragrance unique to the small-leaf rosewood, but there is a little more coolness, that is the unique smell of mint, the two blend together, seemingly conflicting, but surprisingly clever.” Hearing her say this, Stella also can’t help but bend down and almost stick to it to make a strong smell, “Yes oh, it’s Just now she felt a little strange, but can not say what strange, mainly, she did not think at first this thing can be grafted and can be grafted successfully, can be grafted to what plants, she can not imagine.

At this time, she looked at Silvia’s eyes, in addition to appreciation, more than a few amazed.

“Girl you are really amazing, you can actually smell it with a single sniff.

Let me tell you, we also tried many times and only mint succeeded.

But what do you think, what about the scent, will it make people uncomfortable?" They were also in the experimental stage, so they didn't take it out for exhibition. What's more, not sure of the inarkuri proscis vel.

It was inoteatrald to plant a large number of ah.

"This is very good, I'll take it!" Pointing to the small-leaved rosewood, she said.

Chapter 84: I'll take all of them "I'm afraid this ... won't do.

"Tom rebuffed, "You know this is not easy to cultivate, we are spending a lot of effort and besides, the original quantity is not much and it is not suitable for you to put into use in large quantities, so ...

"I don't need a big batch, I just need what you have here, half." Looking around the circle, Silvia said, "How much you have, give me half first.

But I'll take the other half, too.

I won't take it away first, so I'll send it to you and you take good care of it and don't sell it to anyone else." "Sorry, we can't do that." Tom looked embarrassed and was still refusing.

"Just say how much you want." Stella on the side spoke up, she saw that Silvia was so insistent to ask for it, thinking that it must be of use.

And indeed, this grafted small-leaf rosewood was hard to see and to be able to wrap it all up should be very useful, but this price must be quite a lol.

"It's not a matter of money, we've put so much effort into it, it's not quite a complete success and we're still trying ...

"You can try, all I want, the money can be paid to you all, leaving half, you can boldly try, I will never pursue." This opening conditions, indeed, was very tempting, Tom really also hesitated, "Then ...

I ask" This was not a matter that he alone can decide, but Stella also some hesitation, Silvia this condition open, was a bit unprecedented.

The fact that these small-leaf rosewood was not cheap, coupled with the special varieties, the price had not been negotiated, it was not good to estimate and she opened her mouth and directly rounded up, will only let them constantly raise prices, for them, was very unfavorable.

"Silvia," while Wu turned around to make a phone call, Stella gently tugged her sleeve, "is not it, reconsider, we must want that much? Not to mention the fact that we haven't tried it yet, we don't know what the finished product was really like and even if it does succeed, the finished product that comes out was very satisfying, In fact, she considered not without reason, after all, from the company's point of view, perfumers no matter how arbitrary play, the final blend of essential oils, perfumes, etc., or to serve the interests of the company.

"There will be people willing to pay for this." She was confident.

"Even if there are a few who know how to appreciate it, but such people are not the majority after all, our current research and development, can only hang Carmelo's brand.

For the perfume circle, Carmelo's brand is not quite over the top, at least not yet considered a luxury."

In fact, not to mention Carmelo, there are a few brands in China that can be called luxury brands in the perfume world and most people recognize them, or the most famous ones in the world.

So Stella's concern, was not unreasonable.

"It's because there is none, that's why we should create our own brand!" She said, "If it fails, the money for purchasing raw materials will be deducted from my salary until it's paid off." "Silvia, is this too impulsive ..." I didn't expect her to be so insistent, Stella was surprised and wanted to say something else, Tom had already finished the call, "Well, since you are so sincere, then we can agree, but the price..." "The price is good to say." Seeing that she was sincere, Tom smiled, "Don't worry, you are sincere enough and we won't rip off our customers.

Only the cost of cultivating these small-leaved rosewood is not low, so even if we have the intention, it will not be too cheap.

Just add a little on top of the cost and labor."

With that, he took out a pen and paper, wrote a price on it and handed it over, "Look, guys, is it okay?" Siella glanced at the six figures, the face immediately changed, "This is too" "Yes." Nodded, Silvia just gave a pat on the back to take.

"Silvia, I think we'd better reconsider." As a leader, she felt the need to remind her subordinates, but, Silvia so confident and even willing to do with their own salary against, she was really not good hard to refuse.

"If you really don't think it's appropriate, I can buy it on a private basis, with private money."

Although, she does not have much money on hand now, but, she can find someone to borrow a little bit first.

"Then, okay." The words have already been said, Stella also can not persuade, turn to look at Tom, "you can make sure that the best for us are really the best, do not take the second best ah." "Don't worry, not to mention we won't do it, even if we want to do it, we can't find the second best to impersonate ah." After all, this thing was too special, even if the second best, we must first cultivate the second best.

"That would be best." After signing the contract and paying the deposit to leave the flower garden base, from the door when the car, they saw a car of the same style and color parked on the side, just glanced, pulled open the door to get on the car, Vivienne also took Louis out from inside.

"Silvia get in, close the door, the dog is coming." Stella was already in the car and rushed to her.

Silvia: "... How had she not noticed before that Stella was so funny.

Vivienne naturally saw her too and the resentment in her eyes turned into knives when she glanced at the Shepherd she was getting into as well.

However, the driver started the car quickly and drove away from the parking lot immediately, so there was no head-on confrontation.

Siella glanced back and saw that the woman was still staring at their car as if she had a strong grievance.

She Luched and shook her head, "Silvia, did she steal your boyfriend, or did you steal hers? Why do I feel that you not only stole her boyfriend, but also killed her whole family and dug up her ancestral grave?" bilvia".

I'm not that boring or mean." "Haha, yeah! But that's what she's acting like. Why does she hate you so much, every time she sees you, those eyes can plate out."

bella was of course Jokine, just thinks Vivienne's emotions can be luard to understand.

Sivustook her bead, shir didn't know either.

To be precive, she hadn't found out about Ladarius' cheating, she might never have noticed Vivienne's hostility towards her They were close friends because from college to graduation, Vivienne did not like to socialize, was surrounded by only Ladarius and her.