Chapter 1061 People who haven't seen the world.

However, she thought of something and called Ted Maguire.

He answered quickly.

"Gloria White?"

"Uncle Ted, I'm calling you this time because I want to trouble you with something."

Ted Maguire smiled amiably. "Gloria, if you have something to say, just say it. Why be so polite with me?"

Gloria White was not in the mood at this moment.

But now, she was not in the mood to say so many polite words, so she said directly, "I have a ready-made plan for cooperation with the Brown Group. But sometimes, I can't follow the project all the time. I may have to trouble you during this time."

"What's wrong? Is there anything else recently?" Ted Maguire's voice was full of concern. "What do you need me to do for you?"

Ted Maguire was absolutely not trying to get information out of her. He was genuinely concerned for her.

Gloria White’s expression was cold as she walked to the front desk. She glanced at Carlos Green,

“Tell me about my latest progress.”

Carlos Green was flattered by the sudden favor. Although he knew that she would definitely tell him about the next experiment, he still felt pleasantly surprised.

“Okay.”

Gloria White nodded and pointed at the items placed on the experiment table.

The two of them followed her gaze and saw a round and delicate glass bottle.

Gloria White's gaze paused for a moment. She turned to look at Jordy Collins, only to see that his expression was gentle. Even the voice he had just spoken was mixed with a hint of consolation.

Without denying it, Gloria White seemed to have been consoled.

Carlos Green chimed in. "That's right. We can only leave things to fate at this moment, but I think you'll succeed this time!"

Gloria White had a bitter smile, "If it can be done, it might be because of your luck."

Carlos Green immediately replied, "No, this is yours. Shall we begin?"

At this moment, Jordy Collins also stood up and walked to Gloria White's side. Right now, there was no pressure on him at all. Instead, he spoke in a gentle voice, "No matter what the outcome is, you have to bear it. Furthermore, you failed 17 times in half a year, but you still have, time."

Gloria White took a deep breath as if she was controlling her emotions.

"Let's begin." Jordy Collins said gently, encouraging her once more.

“Hope I can!”

“I hope I can really save grandma!”

Gloria White could not help but pray. The nervousness that had been calmed by Jordy Collins had returned.

Gloria White took another deep breath and carefully observed the effects inside.

From Jordy Collins’ angle, he could see her taut and stiff body.

“How is it?”

Gloria White stared for about two minutes and did not respond.

Carlos Green could not help asking anxiously.

Gloria White did not say anything. She stood up straight and said stiffly, “Take a look.”

At this moment, she seemed to have lost confidence.

She even felt that she might have misread it.

"Where are you?" Carlos Green was driving.

Next to him, he could still hear George talking nonsense, "Do you want to come out and have fun tonight?"

Carlos Green scoffed, "Can't you live without a woman?"

Jordy Collins pursed his lips and said flatly, "I'm at home."

"Okay, I'll be there in 15 minutes."

Jordy Collins didn't reply and hung up the phone. As Carlos Green said, he arrived in 15 minutes.

Carlos Green was a very time-sensitive person. He said how much time, that is how much time. Similarly,

With that, he placed his hand on Jordy's pulse.

Carlos was young and promising. Although he had millions and millions of assets waiting to be taken over, he only liked to engage in medical skills. He opened his private hospital, which was overcrowded.

Jordy didn't move. George's attitude had been so casual, but now it turned severe. He looked straight at Carlos as if he was worried.

Carlos's initially calm eyes darkened at this moment. In the end, he directly let go of his.

Jordy pursed his lips and said nothing.

George couldn't help but say. "You're always so cold. Can't you smile and make me happy??!"

George had investigated all traces of Orycho, but he hadn't found anything!

The hope that had just been ignited was destroyed instantly, and George punched the sofa's armrest decadently.

With a calm expression, Carlos said, "Since you have many things to do, cherish your time. If you don't rest well and your emotions aren't stable, your condition will only worsen, and your death will approach."

He wasn't trying to scare them.

"I see," Jordy replied calmly.

"You know?! I think you know nothing!"

George gets up at once and says in a severe but consultative tone, "Jordy Collins! Drop everything in your hands. You cooperate with Carlos's treatment! I will try to find Orycho and make Orycho cure you!"

Carlos took out a bottle of medicine and handed it to Jordy. "Take this medicine first. Don't stay up late during this time, and don't be tired."

Although Harold was still shocked, he was still a well-educated man. Seeing Jordy enter the car again, he withdrew his gaze and waited in the car.

Time passed by slowly while Jordy stood guard beside them. Gloria and Carlos were performing one experiment after another.

Even though he could not get involved in this matter, he did not dare to look away from Gloria and Carlos.

They were afraid to see even a trace of disappointment or sadness on their faces, but they had no choice but to watch. But

He realized that after completing a project, Carlos heaved a sigh of relief. He looked at Gloria again. Even if she was expressionless the whole time, Jordy could still make a judgment.

From beginning to end, Jordy did not speak, disturbing their thoughts.

After about another three hours, Harold had finished retrieving the specimens.

By now, Harold and the rest were all on guard, awaiting orders.

At this moment, Gloria was genuinely shocked.

Jordy glanced at Gloria and pursed his lips. However, before he could say anything, Carlos looked at Jordy again and said, "No matter what, I will not let you take this risk. Things have already come to this point. If you fail, you will just be making things worse. Even if your grandmother doesn't know what's happening, she will be sad..."

He didn't finish his sentence, but the meaning was clear.

If Jordy were dead, even if Karen didn't know the truth, it would still promote the development of the disease, and she would die.

Gloria furrowed his brows even tighter. Even though she did not say a word, the coldness in her eyes seemed to have deepened a little.

She seemed to have guessed something by now, and her gaze landed on Jordy.

"You..."

It was just one word, but Gloria did not know what to say.

He was his uncle. He was not very old. Thus, his mother was only in her fifties.

“Really? Carlos, you have a solution?!”

Carlos sighed slightly. “The experiments I’ve done have been successful, but I can’t be sure if it’s true.”

“It’s alright. It’s alright!! We have to try to determine whether we can succeed or not. Who knows, we might have a chance!! After all, your grandmother’s condition...”

When he spoke up to her, the uncle couldn’t help but sigh. Carlos hurriedly said, “Then, let’s go there now.”

“Hey, thank you for your hard work, Carlos! Thank you so much!!”

A complicated look flashed through Carlos’ eyes. “Please don’t say that. I just wanted to experiment with grandma this time. I’m grateful you’re willing to give us this chance.”

What if it succeeds? If it succeeds, your grandma will be able to survive if it doesn’t succeed.
