Chapter 1071 Mom, You're Saved!

Carlos did not respond directly. Gloria turned to look at him, "It's not perfect, but it can delay the patient's pain and lifespan. If it's harmful or observing the patient's body, maybe it's possible."

Gloria lowered his voice as if he was unsure when he said the last three words.

After all, she really couldn't be sure about such things, but she still wanted to tell Jordy something, so she didn't want him to think or worry.

Carlos glanced at Jordy and said, "Don't worry. I'm sure I'll succeed this time. I've done so many experiments, but nothing has gone wrong. I'll succeed again and again, so I'm sure I'll succeed next."

Harold was still driving when he subconsciously glanced at the rearview mirror.

He noticed Jordy and Gloria sitting in the back seats with solemn expressions.

Harold was quite shocked by the topic of their discussion.

Grandma's eyelashes moved again. She wanted to say, "Don't waste your energy. Just let her go. Now she has had enough of this kind of torture. She doesn't want to keep lying in bed and dragging others down."

Let her go.

Carlo's uncle seemed to know what she was thinking, so he did not try to persuade her anymore. He knew it would be useless to say too much, so he took a deep breath and said, "You... Go ahead!"

After speaking, he looked towards Carlos, but when he realized that Gloria had walked over and was preparing to perform acupuncture on his mother, his eyes trembled slightly. Why was it this young girl?

He turned to look at Carlos, only to find that he was only doing the disinfection. Why did it seem like he was the assistant?

The man was confused for a moment but didn't ask about his good manners.

Because Carlos would not assist an ordinary person, since he was willing to help, it meant that the girl in front of him was more powerful than him.

Carlos nodded. "Okay."

Carlos' uncle quickly asked Someone to bring a few chairs over.

They sat down together.

No one wanted to say anything more.

They kept staring at the person in front of them to see what Old Madam would do.

Another hour passed, and Carlos finally couldn't wait any longer.

He looked at Gloria and inquired, "We can try this time."

Gloria looked at the time on his phone and nodded thoughtfully, "It's ready."

Carlos did not want to wait, so he immediately got up and left all the blood drawing work to him.

Gloria stood at the side without saying a word. Jordy did not stand up from his chair the whole time. He was staring intently in the direction of Carlos and Old Madam.

Upon hearing his words, everyone turned to look at Gloria.

There were only three of them in the room. However, not only the people in the room were paying attention to them.

The uncle's family members were guarding outside. They were afraid of disturbing them, so they did not dare to come in.

None of them dared to take a deep breath for fear of missing Gloria's response.

Even though they could only see her back now, they were unwilling to give up even the slightest bit.

Gloria looked at the situation before her and took a deep breath. Her gaze fell on Carlos, and she nodded thoughtfully, "We can proceed to the next step."

Carlos' eyes lit up. He immediately walked over and looked at Gloria. Looking at the qualified situation in front of him, he excitedly looked at his uncle, "Uncle, Second Grandmother's situation can be examined in the next step. It seems effective from the current situation, and we can proceed with the next examination step! But..."

When he spoke up to her, he paused as if he felt helpless.

Jordy had been waiting by the side all this time, and he felt a little miserable at this moment.

Gloria participated in the entire process and did not bother with Jordy.

When all the examinations were over, shock flashed across Carlos' eyes.

"This...!"

Bill looked at him worriedly. "What's wrong?"

Why didn't Carlos say anything after saying that?

He suddenly uttered those words with such a complicated expression on his face. For a moment, everyone was really at a loss.

Bill didn't even dare to breathe heavily now. To not let his mother know the situation, he asked someone to push his mother to the lounge outside.

Carlos was his junior. Otherwise, he might have knelt and thanked everyone!

After all, they had fought for another two months!

“Don’t say that. It is what we should do.”

Furthermore, he did not contribute to this matter. However, Gloria had only exposed her identity now, which proved that she wanted to keep a low profile. He could not say anything if she did not want others to know her identity.

“No, Without you, my mother would not be here today. I will remember your kindness. If you anything from me in the future, tell me!” Bill almost patted his chest and promised.

After a pause, Bill looked at him and asked tentatively, “What should we do next?”

Harold silently looked away with a complicated expression.

Although he didn’t know much, he had guessed a part of it. “Miss White... used to be Mrs. Collins! She’s amazing!”

He was so powerful that he was still shocked and didn’t even dare to guess.

After all, just now, even Carlos had to listen to Gloria. What level had her medical skills reached?

Or what was her other identity?

Harold's curiosity was amplified.

In next to no time, they'd set out. This time, they weren't taking the initiative to head to another's house, and they'd gathered together instead.

Carlos' eyes flickered. He opened his mouth to say something, but before he could speak, Jordy said indifferently, "Let's begin."

Gloria did not say anything. She disinfected herself once again and took out a series of medical tools.

Jordy walked up to Gloria with a calm expression. He could see what Gloria wanted to do. He also knew that he would begin the treatment after his series of examinations the night before.

Gloria did not say anything and waited for him to do it himself.

Jordy took off his suit jacket, raised his hand, undid the cuff of his shirt, and slowly rolled it up.

The man's firm and perfect arm were revealed to Gloria very quickly.

Gloria nodded at him as a form of greeting.

Doubt flashed across George's eyes. Why was Gloria here?

But the next moment, he looked at Carlos again. This time, he seemed to be unable to say anything. He felt that something was wrong, but he couldn't tell.

Gloria still did not know about Jordy's illness. Something did not seem right when he asked earlier.

Harold's eyes flickered. "I don't know the details, but Miss White has always been the director today. Carlos has been assisting her."

George, "what the fuck?"

George widened his eyes and looked over in disbelief. He noticed that Gloria had already taken the initiative to start a series of examinations with a severe expression on her face. The machine had already begun to operate while she recited many technical terms. Carlos was recording by the side.

George was shocked. What the fuck is going on?
