Chapter 111 The Next Step

The White's Villa.

Angela was lolling on the sofa swiping her phone and humming softly to herself. Martha walked over to Angela, sat down beside her, and asked in surprise, "Why are you in such a good mood?"

"Mom, I bought a very nice present for Jordy's grandma."

Martha felt frustrated. 'Look at you. You're happy because you bought a nice gift for her?'

"Certainly not because of that!"

"Because of what?"

Angela showed Martha the photo of the gift and said with a smile, "How about this gift?"

"Well, it's nice!" Martha nodded with satisfaction. 'It's classy and fancy. I heard Jordy's grandma prefers jade.'

Angela smiled, 'I don't know what she likes. I bought it thanks to Gloria.'

'What do you mean?' There was a suspicious look in Martha's eyes.

Angela put her phone away and laughed, "I met Gloria at the mall today and heard that she wanted to buy a gift for Jordy's grandma. They've spent a lot of time together, so she must know what she likes. She bought something made of jade, and I followed suit." Martha smiled and nodded. "Smart girl!"

Angela chuckled, "Many people compare me with Gloria. My reputation is better than hers of course, but I want more. I want the Collins family to know I'm more qualified to be Jordy's wife."

Martha nodded approvingly. Angela smiled triumphantly. 'Gloria picked a plain bracelet worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, but I chose the one a thousand times better than hers.'

"So you..." something went through Martha's mind, and she paused for a moment.

Angela nodded, "Gloria is definitely going to old Mrs. Collins' birthday party. I'll show my gift and she'll show hers. Then everyone will know I have very good taste while Gloria doesn't."

Martha laughed heartily and patted Angela indulgently on the forehead. "That's brilliant! You are so smart!"

Angela leaned back on the couch with her eyes closed and a half-smile on her lips. "Just wait and see, Mom. I'm gonna bring Gloria down, and she'll never be back on top again! She used to be a fine lady from the White family. But now things have changed. Her dad is dead, while my dad has everything. She can't play Miss High-and-Mighty anymore!" Martha nodded and smiled contentedly. 'That's true! Good girl. There's no one better than you!'

Angela smiled and said nothing. Martha continued, "But it's just a gift. It makes you look good, but it can't push things forward."

Angela's eyelids fluttered and opened as she said resignedly, "I know, but... there is no better way."

"Who says that?"

Angela looked at Martha suspiciously. "Mom, can you help?"

"Of course, I have a better idea that the Collins family can't reject."

Angela's face brightened. "Say it."

Martha leaned in closer and whispered in Angela's ear.

Chapter 112 A Look of Bewilderment

Time passed by

Gloria and her friends were getting on with what they had to do.

They kept in contact with each other in a group chat.

Nydia said, 'I talked to Wayne and told him everything. He was happy and wanted me to ask Jennifer out.'

Jennifer said briskly, 'Thank you! I've talked things through with my family. My dad is happy because I agree to get married, and my mom is nicer to me. I hope we can keep on going like this.'

Nydia said, "Don't be sad! Sometimes we have no choice. Maybe your parents have their crosses to bear. We just need to think about ourselves. Things are going well."

Jennifer said, "Yup, you're right."

Gloria said, 'Rebecca and I have already met. I'm waiting for her to call me this evening.'

Jennifer said, 'I'm a little worried. Will she call? She's the key.'

Gloria said, "Don't worry, she will. She won't give in. She didn't know the truth, but now she does. She will not let him go away with it. I gave her choices. It's up to her to decide whether she should work with us."

Jennifer said, "I hope so. I suddenly feel sorry for her."

Nydia said, 'Don't say that. Knowing the truth is good for her. Otherwise, she could only be a secret lover. The longer he keeps this from her, the more miserable she'll become.'

Gloria agreed, "Nydia is right."

Jennifer said, "Hmm.."

Bryson asked, "What's going on? What are you talking about?"

Bryson sent them a picture, which indicated he was in the dark on everything.

Jennifer said, "Men should not butt in when it comes to women."

Nydia said, "Leave the adult problems to the adults."

Bryson was speechless.

Gloria chuckled, put down her phone, and waited for Rebecca's call.

She looked into Rebecca's background and found...

Gloria pressed her lips together. Forget it.

At 8:00 p.m.

Rebecca's call came in, and Gloria answered it. "Where shall we meet?"

Gloria raised her eyebrows. "I'll text you the address. I'll see you at 9."

Since Gloria got Rebecca's address, she didn't have to rush there.

At 8:20 p.m., Gloria set off. Thirty-five minutes later, she arrived at the place.

Rebecca was already there.

Looking at her pretty face, Gloria handed her an individually wrapped mask, sunglasses, and gloves.

Rebecca hesitated to take them. Gloria said quietly, "In case he finds you out"

Rebecca nodded and put them on. In this way, such a beautiful woman became low-key and more mysterious.

"Where are you taking me?"

It was a desolate place, which would be developed soon.

Rebecca knew Gloria wasn't bringing her here for a tour.

Gloria looked calm. "You'll know."

It was an empty field, and the road was not paved with asphalt or cement but sand.

They walked and walked until they found a large board ahead.

Rebecca was puzzled, watching Gloria uncover it.

Rebecca looked suspicious. "Where...?"

"Come with me."

Right in front of them was a stairway going beneath the ground!

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 113

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 113

Chapter 113 She had seen it!

Rebecca found it bizarre for such an abandoned place to hold such secrets.

She could only keep up with Gloria's pace as she went down and said, "Put the leather lid back on."

Rebecca did as she was told.

It was dark inside. Gloria took out her cell phone and turned on her flashlight

At the end of the last step, they went straight ahead, down a long, dark path that allowed only two people to walk side by side.

Rebecca was getting more confused and warier. "Where the hell are you taking me?" she asked.

Gloria said dryly. "I'll show you the real life of Wayne."

Rebecca's face changed slightly, but she didn't ask any more questions, now that she was there

About six or seven hundred meters further, she heard hubbub. It seemed they were getting close.

And the end of the path, she saw a closed door Gloria raised her hands to pull it open

The dark tunnel was suddenly lit up by the light coming out of the door

And the hubbub now became deafening

Rebecca frowned uncomfortably and, even with the sunglasses on, she had to raise a hand to block out most of the light in order to adjust her eyes to the dazzling lights and enabled them to peek inside

There were quite a several tables, about the size of a pool table. Layers of things on top of the table distinguished one from another.

And each table was crowded with people. Their attention was seized by whatever happened on the table. They yelled about what to bet on.

Rebecca was shocked that there was such a big casino here

By the looks of it, it must cover an area of more than ten thousand square meters!

Gloria glanced back at her and bade her to follow, "Come with me"

Rebecca Jackson did not speak but kept up her pace.

Is Wayne here?

Gloria had kept a low profile and everyone was too busy playing cards that they did not notice their arrival.

Rebecca took a light breath. Gloria must have made the arrangement beforehand. That was why they had not been stopped and asked questions.

"This is where Wayne hangs out. He's one of the shareholders, to be precise, Gloria White said dryly.

With a hint of surprise, Rebecca hesitated, "He...!"

How dare he do such a thing!

But before she had solid proof, she did not want to make a fuss or make any accusation.

When they were in the middle of the casino, Gloria raised her finger and pointed in the direction, "Look over there."

She followed her gaze, and there, at the far end of the table, sat five players with cigars in their mouths.

They were all immersed in their cards, with stacks of chips in front of them.

It was obviously not what mattered

What truly mattered to Rebecca was that she found Wayne among those people!!

These people did not seem like little anybody. Each of them had the company of a beautiful lady.

Rebecca gasped at the sight of the woman sitting by Wayne's side. She had seen her before!

She was Wayne's secretary.

Gloria didn't go any further. She held Rebecca's hand and kept their distance from Wayne 40 or 50 meters or so away

They couldn't hear what they were talking about, but as Wayne smirked and presented his cards to the others, those people dropped their cards to the table, cursed a bit and gave him some of their chips.

Wayne, delighted, scooped the woman next to him into his arms and kissed her right on the lips!

Chapter 114 The Marriageable Age

Rebecca's face darkened.

Gloria glanced at her and said calmly, 'It is a common occurrence. You can always watch from here He won't notice see us for the time being,'

Rebecca turned livid and walked straight out as the two continued to flirt,

Gloria followed behind her to the open square outside

Rebecca heaved a sigh, and before she could say anything. Gloria spoke up. This is not a good place to talk Come with me.'

Soon they left. Not until they got back into the car did Gloria say in a whisper, "You saw everything you needed to see, so what are you going to do?"

Rebecca closed her eyes for a moment and turned 10 Gloria with a sneer. You must have known how much! hate this, right? That was why you came for me?"

Gloria smiled and did not deny it, 'You are a woman of forthright character, so I'll be straight with you, 100 The only way to get back at him is to get the story out"

Rebecca was shocked by what she said and hesitated

The story would not be persuasive without someone to testify against him

But, a forceful and radical attack might expose her.

Gloria started the car and gave her a ride home

The two didn't speak until they reached Rebecca's house, where Gloria smiled and said, 'Sleep on it and tell me your plan once you figure out what to do. Call me if you need me.'

Rebecca looked calm 'I have my own plan.'

With that, she opened the door and got out.

Gloria watched her leave and said nothing.

She replied to a message from the group chat.

Gloria: [I've got it covered. It's up to Rebecca now.]

Jennifer (Will she... really do it?)

Gloria: (Don't worry. She won't sit by and watch. Besides, she has nothing to fear for Wayne.)

Nydia: "Hahaha, that jerk can never have expected this. If he finds out Rebecca has a better background than him, he is gonna be eaten up by regrets!")

Gloria: (Let's see what will happen tomorrow.)

Bryson (@Jennifer Are you going to break off your engagement?)

Jennifer. (Yes, give me your blessing, will you?)

Bryson: [You knew you would always have my blessings. The way you talk about it... Did you find a way to embarrass him?)

Nydia: (That's right! Just wait and see!)

The next morning.

Everyone just started their busy new days as usual.

So did Angela.

She was preparing breakfast at home. It was for Jordy, who had always skipped breakfast. It was not good!

Packing the food in a box, Angela walked out of the kitchen in a good mood. She stopped when she saw her mother. "Mom, good morning!" she greeted her.

Martha took a look at the food container in her hands and asked, "What have you prepared for him?"

"Just some soup and dishes, a nutrition balanced breakfast," Angela blushed as she answered.

"Go ahead. And ask him when you two are getting married."

Angela nodded shyly. "I know mom. I should get going. I am running late."

'Girl of the marriageable age. Just go," Martha jested.

Angela trotted out and soon arrived at the office area of Collins Group.

Chapter 115

Chapter 115 Right or wrong

Angela was filled with joy and unspeakable anticipation. It was her first time cooking for Jordy. He would love it, right?

The thought made her feel even better.

The receptionist was surprised to see Angela. The thing between her and Gloria was too sensational. So almost everyone in Collins Group knew who she was. The receptionist asked hurriedly before Angela could, "Miss White, are you here to see Mr. Collins?"

"Yes, he has known about my coming. Don't you mind me."

Angela was acting like the future Mrs. Collins. The receptionist did not dare to mess with her. "Yes, come on in, please," she said.

Angela nodded politely and behaved as gracefully as she could, making the receptionist full of jealousy.

After all, Angela was good-looking, physically fit, came from a decent family background and had saved Mr. Collins's life, all of which made her more than eligible to be the future Mrs. Collins.

Ah.. I'll just have to accept my fate, thought the receptionist.

Unbeknownst to the receptionist, Angela did not even inform Jordy of her coming. She wanted to surprise him. Even though she was sure Jordy would let her in, she felt it less fun by ringing him beforehand.

Soon she reached the top floor.

The magnificence of Collins Group's office buildings gave her a sense of inferiority...

It was a huge gap between the White Group and the Collins. She was awed by its luxury and gorgeousness, a similar feeling she had when she first entered the buildings of the White Group!

Everything seemed surreal. The “height’ was more than she could ever reach in her life.
O
But now...
She deemed herself a winner.
The White Group was once so out of her league, but now she was the sole heir to the White family, while Gloria was disowned and hated by her own family.
Now she set eyes on Collins Group and soon would become Mrs. Collins. People would start to fawn on her so that they could get to associate themselves with Collins Group.
Everyone thought of her as a promising woman.
She took a deep breath outside Jordy’s office and knocked on the door gently, asking in a sweet voice, “Jordy, you in there?”
No one answered her. Angela blinked her eyes in bewilderment and wondered why hadn’t Jordy come to work yet
Is there something else he has to do?
Un
The footsteps in the hallway caught her attention at the moment. She turned around and saw Harold, Jordy’s assistant. She was even more confused “Miss Ross, Jordy is not in his office?”
Harold nodded politely and replied, “Miss White, Mr. Collins is in a meeting right now. You may have to wait a while.”
Angela nodded understandingly and said, “Well, i’ll go in and wait for him in his office.”
Harold was startled for a moment and hesitated
Angela blinked her eyes and asked, “Is there a problem?”
“Not at all,” said Harold with a smile. “Please come in. It may take Mr. Collins one more hour.”
“Okay.” Angela smiled graciously as Harold opened the door for her. She walked straight in, her eyes looking around the spacious office.
She had been lying in that bed as a vegetative since the project began, and when she recovered, Jordy hadn’t taken her into his office yet.
Now she could finally enter his office!
Harold, however, stole one more glance at Angela as he closed the door, wondering whether he was doing it right or wrong.
With Angela full of anticipation and Harold feeling worried, Jordy finally got out of the meeting.

Chapter 116 Out of Patience

Harold greeted Jordy by saying, “Mr. Collins, Miss White is waiting for you.’
Miss White?

Jordy took a meaningful look at him and Harold understood almost immediately. "Miss Angela White," he said.

Jordy's dark eyes were tinged with coldness. "Tell her I'm not back."

By then he was at the office door.

Harold's face turned pale at what he said. Angela, who had heard the voice of Jordy, stood up with excitement until she heard what he said later!

Her smile froze on her face!

Did I. hear him wrong!

Maybe Jordy has visitors he doesn't wish to see. That is why he said so, right?

She comforted herself Suddenly, Harold's voice came through the door. "Mr Collins, Miss White is waiting for you in your office."

Angela's heart thumped, as if her expectations were about to be devastated.

Awkwardness fell in the room. Angela shivered uncontrollably.

Angela felt flustered and wondered whether she was she the one he didn't want to see?!

And in her panic, the door was pushed open.

Angela White hurriedly collected herself and looked into Jordy's indifferent eyes. She smiled and said, "Jordy. you are back. I have been waiting here for an hour, but I didn't expect you to get 10 work so early, otherwise, you could have breakfast before the meeting.

She had opened her food container and started filling a bowl of soup for him, saying with a big smile on her face, "This container has kept the soup warm Jordy. you.."

Before she could finish, Jordy cut her shon, saying, "I have had breakfast. And, don't do it again.'

Angela paused and her face turned pale. She put the bowl and ladle down and said somewhat sadly, "Jordy. have some faith in me. I am good at cooking!"

Jordy was a little agitated at the bottom of his heart, but considering that long period of vegetative state she was in because of him, he softened his voice in saying, "You have just made a full recovery. You don't need to do this. Besides, you don't know what I like."

Angela felt slightly relieved, "Jordy, it doesn't matter. My body has fully recovered. You don't have to worry about me.

Jordy said calmly, "Go home. I have a lot of work to deal with and I don't have time for you right now."

Angela wanted to stay by his side, but her reason told her not to impose herself on him. She knew in her heart that he was not happy about it.

Is he mad because I intruded his office without his permission?

After all, it was his workplace. And she herself was one of the Whites If she was planning anything against Collins Group, she might get what she wanted and there was no honor in it, right?

Angela heaved a sigh and, afraid of upsetting him by any means, she said, "Well, I will leave you to your work. Why don't we have lunch together?"

"My assistant will prepare lunch for me." Jordy sat at his desk without looking up.

Angela grinned stiffly and, knowing that he was thoroughly pissed off, she added, "Well, remember to take a break from time to time.”

Jordy Collins did not respond, as if he had run out of patience, his handsome cold as marble.

Before walking out of the office, Angela hesitated whether to leave the breakfast she prepared... He can have it when he wants it and he might come around and change his views.

With that, she walked out and closed the door.

But the next second she heard a very cold scolding!

Chapter 117 She is Not Norma

“Get your a*s in here!”

Angela’s body stiffened. He was obviously angered... Who... who is he calling? She hesitated for a moment and decided to hide in the corner and see for herself who Jordy was calling,

A few moments later, Harold showed up at Jordy’s office and knocked on the door.

“Come in

Angela watched Harold walk in anxiously.

She took a deep breath and followed up on tiptoe.

She was smart not to get too close

“Mr Collins, I know I made a mistake ” Harold apologized before Jordy even said anything

Jordy looked at him coldly and threatened, ‘If it happens again, Harold Ross, you would be fired!’

Harold held his breath and answered guiltily. “Yes, I won’t allow anyone to enter your office without your permission again

Angela was so shocked,

Suie enough!

Jordy was so furious because of her!

She looked extremely awkward!

She clutched lightly at the purse in her hands and took a breath.

Why? Why will Jordy do this to me?!

He has been such a gentleman to me and looks after my feelings all the time. Why will he behave so impatiently with me right now?

Jordy spoke up again at this time “What’s going on with Gloria?”

Angela gritted her teeth hard!

He has always hated Gloria White, hasn’t he? What is this about...?!

Angela raised her hand in a fit of anger and punched the wall hard!

Harold heard the noise and came out to check.

Angela realized that she had been indiscreet and fled the scene before anyone saw her. Back in the office, Harold answered respectfully, 'From what I've found out, I don't think she is Norma.'

Jordy looked up at him with a slight frown and echoed, 'No?'

Harold shook his head in puzzlement. "... I'm not sure. The information I gathered shows that Norma is a bit older than Miss White and another source told me that Miss White and Norma were on good terms. She had been helping Gloria for the lawsuit long ago."

Jordy's brow furrowed and remained silent and cold.

Harold coughed softly and added, "Mr. Collins, I'm not sure about this. I'll check again."

Jordy picked up the pen after a moment of thinking and said quietly, "No more checking."

Harold was surprised, but instead of asking questions, he nodded his head and excused himself.

Holding the pen, Jordy sat there all by himself. He did not sign the name. What he was thinking right now was Gloria's behavior in court

She was like an empress, with a commanding manner of her own.

Intelligent and eloquent as George was, he lost in the trial facing Gloria's clear thinking and fluent expression.

He could almost be sure at that moment she was Norma.

He had heard words. That was why he sent people to check on her. And the fake identity confirmed his speculation. He was even more certain that Gloria and Norma were the same person.

One hour later.

Angela got home

Martha was surprised to see her, "Girl, it's not even lunchtime. Why do you come back so early?"

Angela's face grew even more awkward. Martha, who was about to share something with her, noticed something wrong with her and asked, "What's wrong? He's not in the office?"

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 118

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 118

Chapter 118 Important Things

Angela managed to keep her wits about her. "Mom, maybe things aren't quite what I thought they were," she said quietly and awkwardly.

"What's the matter?" Martha's brow furrowed with a hint of worry.

Angela dragged Martha to her room and told her the in's and outs of the whole story.

Martha frowned and asked, "No, I don't think so Even though Collins Group might have some trade secrets, you two's marriage is a done deal. He shouldn't be upset by your visit."

"I thought I might have offended him by intruding on his private space. But, it turns out that he may have grown tired of me."

"How can you be sure of that?" Surprise filled Martha's eyes!

Martha wasn't there when the two were dating, so it was fair not to know the situation. Angela pursed her lips and complained, "I don't know if that Gloria White was doing it on purpose or it was pure coincidence. Every time I had dinner with Jordy, Gloria would show up, taking Jonathan with her. Mother, I don't think it was a good sign."

Martha's face sank 'You mean...'

"If she continued to be a stay at home wife, loving him, remaining sensible, and showing reluctance when they got the divorce, Jordy would not even feel any difference. But she had changed dramatically

Martha frowned deeply. And obviously, she had also realized that

Angela went on doing the analysis,

"At first, Gloria broke up with Jordy decisively and showed him not any left affection in her eyes, which was a far cry from her earlier attitude and behavior and might upset him a lot."

"With the premise of that, Gloria showed up with Jonathan, who had been a competent rival to Jordy, more than one time. All of these served to intrigue Jordy's desire to be in possession and make him suffer."

'You're right,' Martha brow knitted. "Gloria made a wave in the banquet and declared their divorce in front of everyone. She even confronted him in court, and won the lawsuit for Jonathan just to get his attention back on her."

"Yes!' Angela gritted her teeth. Once she deemed Gloria as a pawn, as a little nobody that did not matter, but now... she had to really take Gloria seriously.

She frowned and thought aloud, 'So is Gloria really giving up on Jordy, or... Is this her strategy to come back?'"

Martha narrowed her eyes and asked. "Girl, anyone can see how Gloria White likes Jordy. Tell me, is she really able to get her feelings out of her head?'"

"But with what she did, even if she did get Jordy's attention back on her, they have no future!" Angela said unwillingly.

Martha shook her head. "Who is Jordy obsessed with now?'"

Angela clenched her fists and said, "What should I do?'"

"Alas..." Martha sighed. "Now let me tell you what I was about to tell you. It might come in handy."

Chapter 119 The Third Woman

"What is it?" Angela looked at her suspiciously.

"I've had the words spread that Gloria is not Norma. People are gonna look into it and they might have dug out something. I guess Jordy will look into it as well."

Angela's eyes sparkled, but the next second she frowned. "Can we count on that?"

"Don't worry. They won't find anything unusual. Even if they do, they won't trace back to us."

Martha raised his hand to smooth Angela's ever-furrowed brow and said, "Think about it, if Jordy finds out that Gloria was pretending to be Norma, he would realize Gloria was doing all of those things simply trying to seek his attention. He is gonna hate her even more."

Angela let out a sigh and said, "I hope so"

Martha patted her on the shoulder. "Don't think too much about it now. Jordy may have been pissed off at the meeting and vented his anger on you because you intruded his office."

If that was the case, he had every reason to be upset.

Angela sighed again "Now...I bet everything on the birthday party of Jordy's grandma"

Martha broke into laughter. "Yeah, have you got everything ready?"

Angela nodded. "I'm going to make Gloria look bad that day."

Martha chuckled, "The old lady's birthday is around the corner. Just do what you have to do with Jordy and try to talk to him these days. If he remains as aloof, don't push it. As long as the old lady changes her attitude towards you, everything would be settled."

Angela White nodded and said expectantly. "Yeah, I will!"

The scandal concerning the Turner Family was all over the Internet.

Gloria, Nydia and Jennifer were watching the news online.

Jennifer was full of excitement and gratitude. "Gloria, Nydia, I can't thank you enough! Were it not for you guys, I am still bound with him by the engagement!" she said.

Nydia laughed. "I'm just an errand girl. The last time I had dinner with Mr Turner, I saw the way he looked at me. What a playboy he is!"

Gloria curled her lips slightly as she looked at a series of photos on Twitter. In the photos, it could be seen clear and distinct that Wayne was holding a woman in his arms. And woman's features difference almost immediately ruled out that she was Rebecca.

Jennifer had a relatively round face while the woman had an oval one. And to prove her innocence and that she was not with Wayne, Jennifer posted online about her fun time with friends just during the exact same time

This so-called Rebecca girl is a smart one."

"Hah... tell me about it. You are both smart"

Gloria's smile turned somewhat awkward, "Smart?"

Yeah, we have both been cheated on. She thought bitterly, Wayne was a womanizer and Jordy was having an affair with Angela.

Gloria felt that she and Rebecca were the really third women.

So, to some extent, they were both smart”.

Nydia giggled. “Yeah, smart girls! Now that this matter has been settled, shall we celebrate tonight? Call Bryson and ask him to join us!”

Gloria’s eyes glistened. Jennifer smiled and said, ‘Ok! Bring him over. Gloria, the treat is on me tonight. Let’s hang out! I have thought of what to post on my Twitter: A broken heart needs alcohol to numb the pain.’

Gloria felt speechless.

Nydia laughed out loudly and applauded, “Good idea! It will serve them right given what the Turner family did!”

Jennifer smiled and said. “Till call my parents and cry for a bit Excuse me for a few minutes!”

“Such a drama queen!’ Nydia laughed

“Drama queen? Watch me!!” Jennifer pursed her lips and went to make a phone call.

In Jennifer’s wailing, her father agreed to annul the engagement,

‘Okay, enough is enough. With such a scandal like that, I won’t allow you to marry him You don’t need to do this on purpose, either”

With that, he hung up on her Jennifer burst into laughter almost immediately!

She knew her father would soon start taking care of the rest

Actually

Wayne may be notorious in the upper class, but as long as those were not exposed, he would remain a decent gentleman

As a businessman who sought cooperation with the Turner family. Jennifer’s father might not care about Wayne’s reputation But under the current situation, he cannot risk being finger pointed and called a snobbish man.

After taking care of these trifles, they went out for fun. Bryson also joined them.

Nydia tried to set up Bryson with Gloria so she put them to sit next to each other. After everyone was seated, Nydia took out her cell phone and beckoned them to look at the camera, ‘Everyone, look at the camera Jennifer, sad face. Gloria and Bryson, you should make a toast to her and try to comfort our sad girl.”

Jennifer’s eyes lit up at her suggestion, “Yes! Let’s do it

With a tap on the bluetooth button, they snapped several photos of them three drinking a toast to Jennifer while she was crying

Done! Three in a row!” Nydia took the cell phone off the cradle and had a look at it ‘Not bad! I'll post it on another social media said Nydia complacently

Jennifer laughed, "I don't think the Turner family has the nerves to show up in front of your door after this!"
Bryson looked at Jennifer and said somewhat helplessly, "Typical you."
Jennifer pouted her mouth, saying, "Am I wrong?"
"Would that be too much?" Bryson seemed worried. I'm afraid the Turner family will vent their anger on you."
Jennifer shrugged and said, "Whatever! They cannot be sure it is me!"
Gloria said after a moment of hesitation. "Leave it to me. I have a way to keep our IP address from being traced."
"How nice! I will send it to you now!" Nydia did what she said.
Bryson frowned slightly when she saw Gloria pick up her phone Subconsciously, he grabbed her wrist and said, "Gloria."
He looked disapproving and worried. Gloria was still smiling when she looked up at him. Nydia happened to capture that moment with her camera.
She post it on Twitter right away.
Nydia: (They should have been together, shouldn't they? Image)
She felt satisfied with her post! As her friend, she wished the happiness of the world for her!
The divorce had devastated Gloria and she wondered when would she get over it and move on.
