

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 451

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 451

Chapter 451 You Are My Boyfriend

Angela's eyelashes twitched slightly. She did not truly want anything. Did he want her back now?

Well, if she did not wait here at the intersection, this scene would not have happened. She shouldn't have been so greedy.

Angela nodded obediently and said, "Okay, but I have something to tell you. It's about the company and business."

Jordy turned to her and asked, "Do you wanna talk about it here?"

"Let's go to the car," Angela responded, looking a bit embarrassed.

Jordy led the way without saying a word.

Gloria turned to Jonathan with her doubtful eyes fixed on his face. Was this the show you wanted me to see? They both got into the car. What was there to be seen now?

"It's Angela White's car," Jonathan whispered with a slight smile on his lips.

Angela's eyelashes twitched. Jonathan might not be able to do anything to Jordy's car without being noticed, but he could to Angela's.

Jordy wasn't driving today?

Jordy did get into Angela's car despite Gloria's confusion. Gloria suddenly realized that Jordy intended to drive Angela's car so that he would give her a ride home while his assistant would drive him and follow him to Angela's house to pick him up after.

Soon, Jordy took the driver's seat with Angela taking the passenger seat.

Led by Jonathan, Gloria got into the van in front of them.

Gloria's eyes flickered. The car turned out to be his.

Jonathan turned his eyes to Gloria with a half-smile, but Gloria remained cold and indifferent.

11

“You know what they’ll talk about?”

Gloria looked at him with puzzlement and said nothing.

Jonathan took out his mobile phone and pressed a few buttons. The roar of the engine started to get their attention. Angela’s earnest voice sounded, “Jordy, wait a second. I will show you an important project. Read it before we go.”

Project?

Gloria’s brow furrowed slightly as she looked to Jonathan, who sneered and said, “Keep listening.”

“Huh...”

Gloria chuckled and guessed what this was about.

It was a moment of silence, but Gloria heard the sound of the pen scratching on the paper. Obviously, Jordy was reading the project.

Gloria could see the light in Angela’s car. Jordy was reading carefully.

Twenty minutes later, Jordy had read through the whole project.

Angela bit her lip and said awkwardly, “This project is actually the plan that Mr. Brown and Gloria talked about earlier.”

Jordy looked up at her and said in a calm voice, “What are you trying to say?”

Jonathan looked at Gloria with a smile tinged with sarcasm.

Gloria did not speak. She could feel Angela’s mental struggle at the moment.

“It... It’s hard for me to tell you this, but... You are my, my... boyfriend, I need to be honest with you.”

Jordy’s eyes dimmed when she said the word “boyfriend”, but he didn’t interrupt her.

Soon Angela told him the whole story.

As always, she was the perfect girl in her narration while Gloria was an idiot.

Throughout, she made no mention of the fact that it was Gloria who had drafted and written the project.

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 452

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 452

Chapter 452 The Power Transfer

It did not mean he would be kept in ignorance.

Among the words and between the lines of the project, Jordy knew this project was Gloria's work.

He was shocked and found it unbelievable.

Angela breathed a sigh of relief after telling the whole story.

She scrutinized Jordy's expression warily and whispered, "There is nothing I can do about it. The top management felt Gloria was too young to take on the project, but Mr. Brown... He likes Gloria a lot. Maybe he wants to take this chance to please her and pursue her, but the company cannot allow Gloria to ruin its reputation. In this case, I just want to ask, will, will you..."

For a moment, Angela felt a little choked up.

Why did her father want her to talk to Jordy about it?!

Why did he give her the project?!

Her father's assistant found her and gave her this project while telling her exactly what to do just before she came out.

She wanted to turn down this task at that time, but her father's assistant had been very persuasive. It may work out. She could always have someone else to do the job for her while she took the credit as the person in charge. She thought. Moreover, she had more time to spend with Jordy!

But now!

She felt somewhat self-conscious as it sounded that Jordy was a reluctant option after the talk with the Browns broke. She hastened to explain again,

“Jordy, don’t get us wrong. In fact these projects are...”

Angela closed her eyes and tried to explain in a better way, afraid that she would leave Jordy a worse impression.

“Because Gloria wants to take back the Whites, after all, the company used to be her father’s. My father did not argue, after all, Gloria is a white and his niece. But everyone in the White family has dedicated themselves to the company. Father was afraid that the power transfer would cause instability in the company. So he wants Gloria to take her time and get more training to deal with some tough projects. She is, after all, too young.”

Jordy did not speak. Compared with driving her home now, he was apparently more interested in hearing out her story.

With her mind in turmoil, Angela continued to explain, “The projects she was given were actually... We thought these projects, which were almost impossible to finish, would frustrate her and dampen her spirits so that in the future, she could go further in her career.”

Angela continued the explanation while, in the van, Jonathan’s eyes gaze fell on Gloria as he asked, “Er, do you really have taken on all of these by yourself? With one word, I would get you the Whites.”

Gloria’s eyes glistened as she turned to look at him, smiling, “Thank you, Mr. Brown. I would prefer to take it over myself. It is more meaningful, isn’t it?”

It was her father’s company. She wanted to take it back through her own efforts. She did not want to be the noble lady who inherited it. That being the case, those people in the company would not truly obey her order, just as Angela said.

Jonathan smiled and said, “Well, I’m betting on you.”

Just then, Angela’s voice came over again.

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 453

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 453

Chapter 453 Is She Worthy?

“So... Everyone just took it lightly and allowed her to do whatever she could, but I did not expect Gloria to be so good at it. She has done the job perfectly.”

Despite the fact that she felt reluctant to admit it, she did not think concealing would do her any good for now.

Besides, it wasn't a secret. Jordy would know about it sooner or later.

Still, Jordy did not speak.

Angela said again in a pang of panic, “It was supposed to be a project impossible serving to dampen Gloria's spirits as, according to the contract, it had to be fully financed by the Browns. With such a large investment, there was no way the Browns would agree, but to my surprise...”

At this point, she didn't know what to say.

She did it on purpose. She said everything she had to say.

Jordy would be the one to decide whether he agreed to her proposal and change out Gloria with some veteran.

Jordy squinted his eyes slightly and turned to look at Angela, asking, “So, you want me to take over the project and replace Gloria with someone with experience.”

Angela turned pink on her face. She suddenly found it hard for herself to volunteer for the project.

After all, she and Gloria were both young and inexperienced.

Although everyone thought that she had more experience and higher status than Gloria in the company, but... she has just joined the company not long ago.

People would not truly listen to her if not for the fact that her father was running the company right now.

It fell silent in the car.

Angela wished to say something but stopped on a second thought

In fact, the project was perfect.

Even if she didn't want to admit it, she had to say that Gloria's plan was flawless. And it made her jealous from the bottom of her heart.

For a moment, time seemed to stop.

In the van, Jonathan smiled at Gloria and asked, "Do you think Jordy will take over this project?"

Because they both got into the van from the corner, Jonathan Brown didn't take the driver's seat. They sat side by side in the back seats.

Gloria pursed her lips and answered, "Who knows."

She looked calm and even aloof somehow.

Jonathan smiled and continued, "I bet Jordy would take it over and put you in charge. Do you believe that?"

Gloria chuckled and said, "Hopefully! If that being the case, then our cooperation would be a done deal."

Jordy spoke up at the moment, "It's a good plan, a huge investment. I can afford it too."

Angela's eyes lit up all at once. She looked at Jordy and asked, "Jordy, do you really want to?"

She waited eagerly for Jordy's answer, but what he said next came as a bombard to her.

"The person in charge of the project has to be Gloria White."

Angela looked at him in astonishment. "What..."

What did he just say?

Did she hear him wrong?

Jordy put the documents aside gracefully. Apparently, he was not going to give it back to Angela. "Tomorrow I'll send Harold to see your father."

Angela's eyes widened as she shook her head in disbelief and asked, "Jordy, Are you... Are you trying to get back at Gloria? If something does happen to her, her reputation would be ruined for good..."

Jordy laughed, "Why would I waste billions of dollars just to get back at a ruthless woman?"

'Is she worthy?' Jordy left it unsaid, but Gloria knew what he had to say.

Jonathan simply turned off his phone with one touch on the screen. The conversation in another car was completely shut out.

He turned his eyes slowly to Gloria.

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 454

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 454

Chapter 454 Drunk Driving?!

"Gloria, the choice is yours. We both want you. Who would you choose?" Jonathan smiled widely. His gaze became unprecedentedly meaningful.

Gloria responded with a smirk and said, "Mr. Brown, you know my answer."

Jonathan smiled and pursued, "I just want to hear you say it again, just like..."

He suddenly leaned closer to her, his voice soft. "Just like what you said when you turn down that man's courtship over the call."

Gloria flinched backward somewhat uncomfortably.

She turned her eyes to see the lights in Angela's car being turned off and then the car pulled out. "They're gone," she said. "I should go back too."

"I'll give you a ride."

When Gloria saw that their car was gone out of sight, she opened the door and said softly, "Thank you, but my car is right there."

"I'll pick you up at work tomorrow at noon," said Jonathan, watching her leave and remaining seated.

Gloria paused and turned her eyes back to him helplessly. "Mr. Brown, can you be more dramatic?"

The smile in Jonathan's eyes was even wilder as he made eyes at her, "You like it sensational, don't you, Gloria? You shall have it tomorrow at noon."

Gloria was a bit shocked. Afraid that Jonathan would do something crazy, she said in a tone of begging, "Please, be reasonable and don't even come tomorrow! Bye!"

Gloria did not want to say another word to Jonathan. She quickly walked to her car, started the engine and sped away.

She had left without a pause.

Jonathan squinted his eyes and felt surprised by her smooth driving skills. Rare women drove the car as well as she did.

She was full of surprises

Jonathan couldn't help but let out a sigh, wondering how long it would take to get the woman.

It was past nine when Gloria got home, but...

Before she could change out of her high heels, her phone rang again.

Jennifer Thomas?

Gloria put it through. "Jennifer?"

"Bryson had a car accident!"

Gloria's face turned pale and her pupils shrank at what she heard. "Where is he?" asked Gloria.

"In the Central Hospital, come here now!" Jennifer sounded worried and somewhat angry.

Gloria looked pale. Was it because of what she said to him earlier over the phone?

Without a second thought, she rushed out.

She hit the accelerator and arrived at the hospital soon enough.

By calling Jennifer again, she knew which ward he was in.

In the hallway outside the ICU, Jennifer and several other young men were waiting.

She could tell they were friends who had been drinking with Bryson.

Gloria stepped up to meet Jennifer and asked, "What the heck is going on?"

A burst of steps in the corridor seized everyone's attention suddenly. They turned around just to see Nydia storming toward them and panting. "What happened!? Why would Bryson get into a car accident!" she asked nervously.

Gloria looked a bit awkward!

"He was driving?!"

Drunk driving?!

Someone corrected her by saying, "No, he didn't drive. He was walking and was hit by a car."

Gloria opened her mouth and did not know what to say.

But the next moment, Jennifer suddenly grabbed Gloria's right wrist in a fit of anger.

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 455

Remarriage Never And Go Away

Chapter 455

Chapter 455 A Car Accident

"What exactly did you say to him? Why did you upset him?"

Gloria opened her mouth to speak, but no words came out.

Nydia sensed something wrong and hurriedly walked up several steps to get Jennifer away from Gloria. "Jennifer, calm down. What happened?"

Gloria closed her eyes, full of remorse. "It's my fault."

Nydia was confused. "Gloria?"

Instead of responding to her, Gloria turned to Bryson's friends and asked anxiously, "How is he doing?"

One of them sighed, "We were drinking together and talking about the girls we liked. Bryson didn't say anything but swigged his beer. We sensed that something was not quite right, so we stopped talking. Bryson suddenly got up and said he needed to make a phone call."

Gloria clenched her fists and turned a little pale.

Nydia's eyes dilated slightly. Gloria rejected Bryson; otherwise, he would not be so sad... He went out in a drunken state and then ended up... getting knocked over by a car?

"We guessed he must have called you, but after a long time, he didn't come back. We went out to look for him and saw he had been hit by a car. It was too late..."

Gloria drew a shallow breath and asked, "Is... he alright?"

"His head is bleeding. The doctor inside is doing the best he can to save him and says there is hope."

Gloria stood outside the operating room and breathed a sigh of relief, unable to say a word.

Feelings of guilt began to gnaw away at her heart. If he had been more careless, he would have been dead.

Gloria's heart throbbed painfully.

T

Jennifer lost her cool and snarled, "What exactly did you say to him on the phone? You hurt his feelings and made him like this!"

Gloria opened her mouth to speak, but she just couldn't repeat the exact words she had said to Bryson on the phone.

Nydia chimed in, "Let's not fight. The doctor is doing his job inside."

Jennifer turned her head away without another word.

Nydia held Gloria's hand and whispered, "Don't think too much. Let's wait for him to come out."

Gloria nodded silently. Tons of guilt and worry filled her heart.

Another hour passed and the red light finally turned green.

Everyone was completely relieved, and one by one, they stood at the door.

They were all nervous about the results. One of the men said, in a panic, "Uh, we haven't told Bryson's family about this. We only called you guys. Should we call them now?"

Gloria's brow furrowed. Of course, they had to call Bryson's family, but it seemed that they couldn't help even if they were there. The hospital would naturally take good care of Bryson.

They could just wait for Bryson to wake up and ask him about this, but they had no idea when he would wake up.

After a pause, Gloria spoke, "Let's wait a little longer."

Jennifer didn't say a word. Her eyes were swollen from crying, and tears ran down her cheeks.

About twenty minutes later, the door to the operating room was finally opened. Everyone gathered around, with great concern and fear in their eyes.

The doctor took off his mask and looked very serious.