

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 566

Chapter 566 Recording

Angela frowned. "If you don't give me my phone, I'm not going anywhere."

Martha sighed helplessly and showed Angela the picture the assistant had given her. "Look at it, but keep yourself under control. Their evidence won't affect us. Your dad is already dealing with it."

Ignoring Martha's words, Angela focused on her phone.

When she saw that tweet, Angela's body kept shaking.

"Jordy! Jordy! Jordy!"

She roared!

Her anger was like magma flying out of a volcano.

Martha immediately grabbed Angela's hand. "Angela, calm down!"

Angela's body was still shaking. She held her phone tightly with tears streaming down.

Knowing the truth, she cried for a while but then calmed down. But now, she was out of control again.

"Why? I love him so much, but why does he do this to me? Does he want to send me to prison himself? Why does he do this to me? Why is Jordy so ruthless?"

She kept shaking as if she would go crazy the next moment.

Her bloodshot eyes were filled with hatred. She felt her heart being trampled by Jordy.

"Jordy! Jordy!"

Her hysterical roars spread throughout the hospital.

Martha was extremely worried. "Angela!"

Angela took a deep breath to control herself and looked at Martha. "So where do I need to go next?"

Martha took a deep breath and said, "Asylum."

Angela smiled bitterly. She knew what Martha meant. Her father was dealing with it. If he failed and the police tried to arrest her, they could claim she was mentally ill and deny everything while they wouldn't be convicted.

However, she now needed to pretend to be a lunatic, which was pathetic and sarcastic.

Angela laughed self-deprecatingly.

Martha was worried and said firmly, "Angela, we can only do this now. I'll fix this for you and won't let them go! Even if we lose in the end, we won't make it easier for them!"

Angela glanced at Martha after getting up and changing clothes. "Now, we're clowns. I even need to disguise myself as a lunatic. If you really had the means, I wouldn't be like this."

Martha calmly helped her get dressed and said firmly, "They have evidence, and that's what we've done. They've got something on us, so we can't fight the police. We need to deal with the Collins Group after getting you out of the guilt. My informant was in their house, and I got a recording."

Angela looked at her with her hand paused. "What recording?"

Martha put away her phone and whispered, "Go. I'll explain it to you on the way."

This time, Angela stopped talking and got into the car with Martha, but just as they closed the car door, Angela's phone rang.

Chapter 567 Unforgettable

This was an unfamiliar number.

Angela's expression changed slightly while Martha grabbed the phone immediately. "Let me answer the phone. My assistant has done all the formalities for you, so I can even deal with the police, but you have to remember that you are a mentally ill person from now on.”

Angela nodded.

Martha also nodded and answered the phone.

“Hello, I’m Angela’s mother. You are…”

After a pause, that guy said, “Hello, Ms. White. We are the police. The police have begun to verify the evidence provided by the Collins Group. We need Miss White’s assistance in the meantime. Can I talk to her?”

Martha frowned and said, “Sorry, my daughter has nothing to do with this. Also, she’s mentally ill now, so I took her to another hospital. We want to assist you, but her current state of mind. We want to assist you, but her current state of mind does not allow us to. If you don’t believe me, you can go to the hospital to confirm it. I’ll send you my location now.”

After a pause, that guy said, “Okay. I’ll talk to you later.”

“Okay, thank you. Also, I have to say that this is a lie of the Collins family, so I hope you can focus on investigating the Collins family.”

“OK”

After hanging up, Martha looked at Angela. “Angela, don’t worry. Everything can be resolved. No one can hurt you! Even if I go to prison, I won’t let you get any hurt!”

Angela blinked and clenched her fists silently.

She didn’t want to say or dare to think too much.

Her mind was full of hate. She hated Jordy and didn’t know why he did it while she was so nice to him.

Angela didn’t know what she did wrong. She was even nicer to Jordy than to his parents, but Jordy still treated her like this, which confused her.

Before, Jordy cared about her and felt guilty for her, but now...

Angela closed her eyes to control herself.

At this point, Martha messaged her assistant.

Martha: (Release more news!)

It wasn't long before social media was in chaos again.

Looking at the crashed website, the administrators didn't know what to say.

They just wish they could stop it immediately, or they might die.

Everyone started a crazy discussion again!

Rachel also saw the White family's tweet.

Also, she heard the recording of what Martha said and knew it was Old Joseph's voice.

Rachel's mother Darcy smiled at her. "How do you feel?"

Rachel blushed suddenly. "I..."

Normally, she was calm and wise, but when it came to Jordy, she would become nervous.

However, the recording had already been released.

Everyone knew it now.

Rachel was in love with Jordy.

But this recording didn't contain Jordy's denial, which would make the Collins family look more ruthless, but Martha just wanted people to know that they were ruthless guys!

Darcy put the hair on Rachel's forehead behind her ear with a smile. "My daughter is excellent and has a rich family. Now, Old Joseph likes you very much, so you will definitely join the Collins family."

Rachel blushed even more. "But I'm afraid Jordy hasn't forgotten Gloria."

Chapter 568 The Real Purpose

Darcy's smile disappeared instantly and looked at her helplessly. "Do you really love Jordy? Don't forget he's a divorced man."

Darcy liked Jordy very much, but he was divorced, so Darcy was a little hesitant about it.

However, her daughters loved him and they would benefit if they got married, so her family approved of Rachel marrying Jordy.

Darcy was very helpless about this. After all, her daughter really loved this man.

Rachel blushed with a determined gaze. "I don't mind that he was divorced. I don't want to miss out on such a good man."

Darcy sighed and shook her head helplessly.

After reading some other tweets, Rachel put down her phone. Listening to this recording, she strengthened her goal even more.

Seeing this, Darcy sighed helplessly. "Okay. Since you love him, I won't say anything. You don't have to worry about Gloria. She was the one who filed for divorce in the first place, and Jonathan seems to be courting her, so she won't remarry Jordy, and Jordy will not fall in love with Gloria again."

Rachel frowned slightly. Her mother said so, but she still couldn't forget what happened at the banquet, Jordy was very nervous while taking Gloria away, and during this time, the two were in frequent contact...

Sadness flashed across Rachel's eyes.

Social media was in chaos for the next three days.

Many stars who tried to hype all gave up. Some movies even had their release dates changed.

eve

The Collins family and the White family were completely incompatible. Many people had begun to choose a side...

At the moment, Jordy was in a nightclub with Carlos and George.

George looked at Jordy with a cold expression and raised his glass to him. "Recently, you are at odds with the White family, but why are you keeping silent?"

Jordy had a calm expression and didn't seem to want to get involved in it.

But Carlos laughed. "Keep silent? All the evidence comes from him. He's supporting the Collins family."

Jordy clinked glasses with George and said flatly, "The White family deserves it. They don't deserve sympathy."

"Man, it's not like you. The Collins family never talks so much, does it? So what are you guys planning this time?" George narrowed his eyes with an abnormal smile.

He meant more than he said.

Carlos also looked at Jordy and said with a calm expression, "Are you putting pressure on the White family?"

Jordy didn't respond, but that was obviously the acquiescence.

George narrowed his eyes at Jordy and whispered, "So, what are you trying to force the White family to do? Compromise on Gloria's plan?"

Jordy didn't say a word, which was also an acquiescence.

Carlos smiled faintly. "Is Gloria's plan really that good?"

George burst into laughter. "That's not his real purpose. He wants to bring Gloria to his company. Otherwise, she might work with Jonathan, which might last half a year. That's jealousy."

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 569

Jordy looked at George with a sharp gaze.

The air in the house seemed to get cold in an instant, but they had long been used to it and didn't care about it at all with unbridled smiles.

George quipped without fear, "Why are you looking at me like that? Am I right? Man, you exposed. We've been friends since we were kids, but it's so obvious. However, when you're so worried about her, did she forget about you?"

The mutual sarcasm between friends seemed to be the happiest thing.

The air in the room seemed to be cooler, which was thrilling

Jordy's cold voice came.

"Gloria's proposal is the best I've seen. I'm not taking sides."

George laughed immediately. "Denial makes no sense."

Jordy gave him a cold look, ignoring him.

Seeing that Jordy never wanted to speak with a gloomy expression, Carlos narrowed his eyes.

"Your grandpa wants you to be engaged, so what do you think? The recording only contains half the conversation."

That recording contained only the words of Jordy's grandfather and no one else. If he guessed right, Jordy wouldn't agree. If he did, Martha wouldn't hesitate to make it public.

George laughed before Jordy could speak.

"It's obvious! Mr. Collins can't forget the woman, so of course, he wouldn't agree."

VOM

"Don't you have anything to do?" Jordy's expression darkened even more.

George frowned at him immediately. "What? What are you going to do? I'm your friend."

As if hearing a joke, Jordy asked, "Friend?"

“Of course. I’m your friend who can do anything for you, so what will you do to me?” George took a more and more dissatisfied tone.

Carlos couldn’t help laughing beside them.

As they always did, George kept fussing but was overwhelmed by Jordy in the end.

This happened every few days. Jordy had been very tolerant of him.

“What are you laughing at? Are you watching me make a fool of myself?” George looked at Carlos with a frown, displeased.

Carlos raised his eyebrows. “No. You’re cute.”

“Shit!”

George didn’t want to talk anymore.

Jordy looked at him coldly. “Something happened in the Northwest recently. Fix it.”

“No. Do this yourself! I’m busy!”

George was very upset and unwilling.

But Jordy looked at George calmly. “This time, only you will reassure me.”

He suddenly laughed, “Are you begging me?”

Jordy raised his eyebrows and looked at him without speaking.

But obviously, this was another acquiescence.

George was instantly happy. “Well, since you begged me, I won’t refuse you. Don’t forget to reward me!”

“Harold will send you some documents. Hope you come back alive.”

George’s smile disappeared instantly. His eyes widened. “What do you mean?”

Chapter 570 Go Your Own Way

Carlos snorted coldly. “Use your brain.”

If it was really dangerous, Jordy would definitely go himself instead of asking George.

George reacted and frowned. "Shit! Are you my friend? Why am I being fooled by you guys every day?"

George was like a furious cock at this moment, looking at Jordy angrily. "It makes sense that no woman loves you! Who would fall in love with someone like you who doesn't care about others? Maybe you can only get married in a dream."

With that, George, seemingly afraid of being scolded by Jordy, pretended to go to the bathroom and stood up

Carlos laughed.

Jordy gave him a cold look, ignoring him.

After George entered the bathroom, Carlos looked at Jordy. "When will you do this?"

"Don't worry. It is not the time." Jordy was calm as if it had nothing to do with him.

Carlos raised his eyebrows and said nothing.

There had been an uproar on the Internet for the past two days. After the Collins family rebutted, the White family made another news: Old Joseph wanted to connect the Roberts family by marriage new

But the Collins family then clarified, and every proof suggested that Martha was lying.

The White family tried to deny it many times, but it led to police investigations into Angela. This time, though, Angela was smart, like the White family, and managed to make others think she was a psychopath who was depressed and delirious.

But because of what happened this time, the White family seemed to be collapsing.

Jonathan secretly asked Gloria if she would help them, but Gloria said no.

Of course, neither would the Roberts family.

As for the other companies, it depends, but almost no one wanted to work with the White family.

Now, everyone in the White Group was going crazy, not because of the Collins Group but Claude and his wife and daughter!

At this moment, there was a meeting in the company. Everyone, including those on Claude's side, had gloomy expressions. They were extremely resentful towards Claude at the moment.

Howard couldn't bear it at the moment. "Mr. White, why didn't you talk to us about what happened these days? Why did your wife get into a fight with the Collins Group? Now we've got here, so you still don't want to stop it?"

Claude frowned and whispered, "I've banned her from tweeting after that happened."

After the Collins family responded, Martha was unable to refute, but she needed help with her daughter's disguise.

She was afraid her daughter would go to jail.

People on Ted's side were more outspoken and harsher.

Yvonne had always spoken without mercy. She looked at Claude and said coldly, "You didn't get our consent when you made your rebuttal. This caused the company's stock price to plummet, so how can we restore it now? Mr. White, it's your fault."

Claude had a more ghastly expression.

"It's been done, so you should think about how to solve it instead of criticizing me. Get over the current difficulties first, and then you can discuss the past."

Yvonne was angrier. "Difficulties? What can we do now but apologize to the Collins Group and seek reconciliation? You went your own way and threatened them to cancel the cooperation, but how did they deal with it?"
