

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 661-665

Chapter 661 An Armchair Strategist

Haley asked such a question merely for better consideration of the carrying out of the plan.

Gloria glanced at Jordy and found that he didn't have any sign of saying something. It seemed he might want Gloria to solve all these things by herself.

If Gloria couldn't convince the people with her capability, there might be more difficulties facing her in the future.

If the plan had nothing to do with her, she could have left it alone. Perhaps she could even have got rid of the responsibilities and handed it over to others. But this time, it was Jordy who asked her to take charge of this. She had no other choice.

If this plan worked out and raked in a lot of money in the future, she would secure her foothold and reputation in the White Group in the future.

Under the gaze of all the attendees, Gloria said calmly, "Haley, I wonder if you doubt my capability to lead the team because you have heard that I am inexperienced?"

"You know how an armchair strategist would talk well but fail in practice. Actually, this plan is going to be a huge investment. If there is a problem, it will bring serious losses to the Collins Group. So I hope that, Miss White, you can understand I am only trying to take the whole group's benefits into consideration at this moment."

Haley was straightforward about it and she didn't feel sorry saying so.

The attendees looked at Gloria again, and some were gloating over her, doubting her capability. Does she really think she could do whatever she wants? How can we let such an inexperienced lady take charge of such an important plan?

If there is really any problem, she couldn't afford the huge loss she brought. And if that really happens, no one would even dare to blame her. Because she has Jordy to back her up, who will wield the final hammer.

At that time, others would only gossip about how Jordy had messed it up, and no one would really doubt Gloria. Worse still, others might only satirize Jordy for all the failures.

How could this woman take up this responsibility?

Gloria nodded and continued, "I understand. But, Haley, you can put forward all the difficulties you think might come up. You can test me and ask me how I will solve them. If I can only offer you some lopsided answers, then I wouldn't protest if you think I am really an armchair strategist."

Gloria looked very calm and did not feel any discomfort when questioned by Haley. Instead, she was facing the challenge rationally.

At that moment, some people who had looked at Gloria with doubts changed their attitudes. They were quite satisfied, including Haley herself.

Then Haley nodded and said, “Miss White, you are right. Okay then, let’s talk about the first process you’ve talked about. I want to know what you will do if there is any accident arising during the production and delay the products from entering the market. If someone causes you any trouble preventing the products from going into the market, what will you do?”

“That depends on how the troublemakers do. I’m good at looking into legal accountability.”

The attendees listened quietly.

All of a sudden, they didn’t know what to say. They guessed what Haley meant by accident was being calculated by others. If the production was suspended by a natural disaster, no one could prevent it from happening. After all, it was hard for anyone to predict the future.

Haley smiled and said, “Well, Miss White, you are right. You are quite well– known in the trade, and no one dares to do anything about you in the open. But what if they plotted against you in secret? What if you can’t find any evidence? If everything is spoiled and you have no evidence, what do you plan to solve it?”

Gloria still looked calm. She continued, “Haley, do you think how many accidents like what you said had happened during the past decades after the Collins Group was founded? In my opinion, the Collins Group is quite alert about such things. I believe the Group has established many methods to avoid anything like that happening. Here in the Group, everyone has confidentiality agreements in his or her hands. As for other prevention, I believe you are totally capable enough to help me handle them pretty well, don’t you think?”

The attendees looked stunned in silence.

Chapter 662 Utter Silence

What a strike!

In terms of project maintenance, it was all Manager Haley’s responsibility.

Haley just wanted to embarrass Gloria as she asked the latter question.

But then Gloria’s retort made it sound like it would be Haley’s own responsibility if the problem occurred like she said. Then it would mean it was Haley herself who was incapable of dealing with the problems.

Haley nodded and said, “Well, you are right, Miss White. Why don’t we move on to the second question?”

The other attendees didn’t speak. They seemed to be looking forward to the next question being put forward.

Gloria was no armchair strategist with a useless pretty face. She then became a talented person in the minds of most of the attendees.

Gloria didn’t say anything. She only nodded.

Haley cleared her throat and continued, “I see that this plan needs a large number of talents to support. We might need at least over 200 talents, who must be leaders of all industries to gather together for support. Although I know our company is home to many talents in this field, we also need elites from other areas. I wonder how Miss White wants to deal with this problem.”

“In terms of talent, I will personally recruit people with capabilities that meet our requirements.”

The attendees still listened carefully without speaking.

They could tell Gloria was well prepared for this meeting.

No one had questioned whether she could manage to pass this interrogation.

Haley nodded, and then asked three more targeted questions again. All of the questions were tactfully and easily resolved by Gloria. Haley could only nod to show her satisfaction in the end.

“Alright, I’ve done asking all my questions.”

During the whole process, Jordy was sitting in the central position without any sign of leaving, nor with any sign of helping. Everything was tackled by Gloria herself.

The attendees of the conference started to look at Gloria differently.

But then, there were still some others who were not convinced enough. Yet judging that Gloria didn’t boast about her plan or hyperbole anything, they felt that she was quite reasonable, which made them want to see how far Gloria could go.

Jordy kept looking at Gloria attentively. Even Harold noticed that Mr. Collins’ eyes were burning with desire.

It's kind of...

There are so many attendees here. How come Mr. Collins doesn't even mean controlling himself for a moment?

Not only Harold, but other attendees who don't know much about Jordy have noticed something wrong with Jordy. Why does Mr. Collins keep staring at Gloria? Is he really only interested in listening to how Gloria would solve the problems?

Or is it because Mr. Collins pays special attention to this plan and thinks highly of Gloria that he decides to put down their old enmities?

However, some attendees noticed that Jordy might have feelings for Gloria.

After all, the issue with Jonathan had caused such a sensation recently. It seemed that the two of them were always fighting with each other. Now they were even fighting over a woman.

Guess there will be quite a show if they start to fight over Gloria.

Back then, when Jordy and Jonathan were in a fight, they fought through wielding their power of decision making in their companies and launching various plans to achieve their goals. But the attendees were surprised that another battle was about to begin between the two. And this time, they could be quiet witnesses to the battle without being dragged in.

Isn't it a little interesting to do so?

Facing the problems posed in the following, Gloria reacted with tactics and wits, dispersing everyone's doubts quickly.

There was silence in the conference room for quite a while. Harold looked at all the attendees and smiled faintly.

"No one has said anything. I guess there are no more questions about the plan."

All of them remained silent. Then Harold paused for a few seconds and then nodded.

"Alright, since there is no objection, this plan can be launched by now."

No protest or objection was heard.

Everyone spontaneously looked at Jordy again. After all, it was time for him to speak.

Chapter 663 Come Near Me

It happened as expected.

Jordy had stopped looking at Gloria and turned his glance at everybody

“We will start the plan tomorrow. All of you must listen to Gloria’s command and put your heart in it.”

“Okay.”

Someone responded and others nodded along.

Gloria didn’t add anything. She had just said enough and now she felt thirty after all the talks.

Then, Jordy got up and walked out of the room.

Harold said immediately, “The meeting is over. Now all of you can go back to your work and make some arrangements.”

Without saying anything, they sorted out the materials they had brought and left one after another

Gloria was suddenly a director assigned to the company, and everyone held different attitudes towards her. Some were neutral about her, while some were quite tired of her, thinking that she was putting on air. Some others even looked aside without any intention of joining the board with her.

Gloria didn’t mind what these people would think about her or do to her.

After all, there were always difficulties in doing anything. She thought she was able to solve all the difficulties one by one as long as she calmed down.

After going back to her office, she started to plan for some new tasks.

However...

Just as she rested her hand on the mouse, the telephone beside her rang. Gloria picked it up.

“Hello, Miss White, this is Nicole, Mr. Collins’ secretary. Mr. Collins wants you in his office right now.”

Nicole?

His secretary is a woman?

Gloria was a little surprised. Doesn’t he order Harold to help him with most of the tasks’

Perhaps Harold has his own work to attend to.

Gloria had never heard of Nicole before.

Yet she answered, "Okay."

"Alright, see you."

Gloria put down the phone, got up and walked to Jordy's office.

Soon she knocked at his door and said, "Mr. Collins, it's Gloria."

"Come in."

It was a cold voice with not much emotion. Gloria opened the door naturally, but as soon as she looked into the room, she saw a tall and gorgeous woman standing to the left of Jordy.

They were probably flirting with each other.

While Gloria gazed at her, the woman looked back at her. But the next moment, she smiled and nodded at Gloria to greet her.

Gloria also nodded back at her politely and then looked at Jordy.

"Mr. Collins, what can I do for you?"

Gloria was standing opposite Collins.

In fact, the girl behind Jordy was Nicole.

She opened a document on the desk and put it in front of Jordy. "Mr. Collins, I also need you to sign here."

Jordy looked through the file quickly and signed the document without hesitation.

. Then Nicole put the documents away and asked Jordy, "Mr. Collins, do you have anything else for me?"

"No. You may leave." Jordy said indifferently.

"Yes, sir."

Nicole smiled at Gloria again and walked out.

Gloria bit her lips and stood where she was.

Jordy raised his head to look at her and said, "sit down."

Gloria did as he said and sat opposite Jordy.

"Come near me."

Jordy frowned slightly, and inserted the USB drive into his computer. Seeing this, Gloria immediately understood his intention. So she moved her chair closer to Jordy and sat down near him.

The atmosphere in the office was quite peaceful.

Originally, the two had been husband and wife, but Jordy hated her to the guts.

Later, after their divorce, they were still enemies in every sense.

But at that moment, they could sit down there, facing each other peacefully, and could even help each other in their work.

Chapter 664 Who Is the More Ferocious One?

Jordy opened the file. It contained a series of data.

This was...

Gloria immediately found that it was beyond her scope of work.

And it made her feel a little speechless.

"Look at the data. I need two people to decode them. Can you do me a favor?" Jordy's voice sounded very calm. Even if he was asking for a favor, he sounded as if he was making an order rather than a plead.

At the moment when she was hesitating, Jordy had already taken the laptop out of the drawer and handed it to her.

Gloria was stunned and speechless. Gloria had cracked into Jordy's company system. Seeing Jordy didn't blame her for this, Gloria opened her notebook with composure.

Jordy handed her the USB drive, and Gloria opened it quickly. The two of them started to decode the data immediately.

In the office, there were no other sounds except the tapping sound of their keyboards.

The two of them were focusing on their computers attentively. As they were decoding the data, they could also see each other's progress during the process.

It took them more than three hours to finish the job.

They even skipped their lunch for this.

It was not until they pressed the "Enter" button that they finally finished. Gloria rubbed her arms which were already numb after all the typing.

Jordy looked at her and said, "Are you feeling well?"

"Yes."

Gloria looked at him and said, "Is there anything else to do?"

"Temporarily no."

Just after she finished the decoding, Gloria didn't hesitate. She switched off her laptop and got up to leave.

She said, "I'll leave now."

"Harold has bought us food. You can eat here before you leave." Jordy looked indifferent when he said so.

Gloria obviously didn't want to be with him in the same room. She just said, "No, thanks."

After that, Gloria went out.

Jordy grabbed her arms quickly.

She failed to pull her hand out of his grip. She just looked at him, frowning.

Jordy behaved so strangely. Gloria started to feel uncertain about his personality again.

"Let go of me, will you?"

However...

Just after she said so, Jordy had pulled her to his side and pressed her to sit down in a chair. Before Gloria could struggle, Harold's voice echoed from outside the door.

"Mr. Collins."

“Come in.”

Gloria sat up right away. Because she didn't want Harold to see them like this.

As soon as Jordy withdrew his hand, Harold pushed the door and entered as if giving them time to be prepared.

He came in with two meal boxes and put them on the desk .

“I still have some things else to attend to. I'll leave you alone.” Harold was very tactful not to disturb the two of them.

Of course...

Harold didn't want to see Mr. Collins being bullied by Miss White in person.

Jordy did not speak, nor did Gloria.

Harold walked out of the room naturally.

Then there was only Jordy and Gloria left in the office.

Gloria glared at Jordy and asked, “Don't you think you are behaving quite strangely now? Since I already know you want to remarry me, why bothers to be so pretentious?”

Jordy's face turned grim. But Gloria continued to satirize him, “I've finally got rid of my affection for you and finally got over my misery. Are you going to make me repeat my miseries? How could I not know that you are such a cruel and ferocious man?”

Previously, Jordy had criticized her for being ruthless. But then she thought Jordy, in turn, was way more ruthless than she was. She thought he was nearly ferocious.

Jordy's fierce glare fell on Gloria's delicate face. Got rid of your affection over me?

So you are treating me like a stranger now, aren't you?

There was endless anger flashing across his eyes. “Ferocious? Who is more ferocious?”

After the divorce, Gloria had resorted to ferocious plots step by step. She even did things that neglected Karen's feelings and attacked the Collins Group. No one would deny that Gloria was indeed a ferocious woman.

Chapter 665 Isn't He Ashamed About This?

Gloria said nothing, only making a face by pursing her lips.

This time, she didn't even look at Jordy. She merely got up and went out.

Jordy sat in his seat in stillness. His ferocious glance was firmly fixed on Gloria's back as if he could penetrate it with his glare at the next moment.

If it were someone else, that person might have already given in under such a stare. He or she might even start to tremble and shiver.

But Gloria was not scared of him. Instead, she walked away with anger.

She couldn't stand this man for a second.

Back then, she would be sad if he revealed that he didn't like her.

But now when she saw that he was a man driven only by interest and money, she was so disappointed by him.

She even regretted the fact that she had fallen in love with such a man.

But if it were Jonathan, Gloria would not have been so angry like this.

Although Jonathan was more of a utilitarian than Jordy, Gloria would still think Jonathan behaved more normally than Jordy.

TO

Maybe it was because she had once loved Jordy, which had made her expectations for him totally different.

. Knowing that the person she once loved became so horrible, Gloria felt so complicated and annoyed.

After returning to her own office, Gloria had no appetite. She began to process her work. She wanted to finish her work earlier so that she could leave this place full of conflicts earlier. She couldn't wait to stay away from the man who disgusted her just now.

She was not the only one who lost her appetite.

Jordy didn't touch the food in the meal box at all.

Sitting at his desk, he was nearly shedding tears with gloominess.

Three days had passed,

Gloria and Jordy didn't talk to each other because they were still mad at each other. They didn't attend the meeting either.

Even if there were no conflicts between them before, Gloria still wouldn't bother to talk to him.

Most of the meetings were then hosted by Gloria alone, and Jordy would not be present until it was necessary.

This had made it a lot easier for Gloria though. But without Jordy, many attendees had changed their attitudes toward her.

Just then, when Gloria was presenting the situation of the first step of her plan, someone pointed out dissatisfaction in front of her.

It made many of them start to complain.

At that moment, someone began to raise discontent.

"Miss White, although we have promised to do as you command, you still need to prove that what you say is right. Or otherwise, how could we trust you?"

The meeting was held by fifteen people, who were all from the human resources department which was home to many elites.

Everyone at the meeting was very experienced in the workplace.

Naturally, they had their own predilections at work since they were all leaders in the company.

In front of Jordy, they didn't dare to challenge him. They would be as meek as sheep in front of him. But when there was only Gloria, they were not meek anymore. They wouldn't want to be too kind, which would make them feel humiliated.

They couldn't afford losing face in front of a woman.

The person who raised his discontent was Darren, the vice director of the human resources department.

His had quite a prestige in his department. Most people would be very polite to him when they met him. Even the top leader who was supposed to be his boss would respect him.

But Gloria had challenged him earlier that day. During the interview, Gloria had criticized him that what he said in the interview was inappropriate and that he should not put the interviewees in trouble.

Worse still, she criticized him in front of many other people.

Wasn't that a huge humiliation for a man like Darren?

Besides, he never thought there was anything wrong with him. Because he had interviewed many people these years and it proved that he did have a keen eye for elites.

Gloria's criticism was quite hurtful to him.
