

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 711

Chapter 711 What if They Try a Second Time?

Jordy did this to keep Bryson busy so that he could not be the first to learn the news and contact Gloria.

“When he knows, it’ll be too late. I already found it out late. He’ll feel guilty about not being there to protect you and consider himself a terrible boyfriend.”

Just after Nydia finished, Jennifer joined the video call.

It was in a chat group of three that Nydia initiated a video call.

Jennifer said, “What are you two talking about?”

“Go check Twitter,” Nydia said quietly.

Jennifer chuckled, “What? Is Gloria a trending topic on Twitter again?”

With that, Jennifer got on her Twitter account. Her face changed when she saw the hashtag!

“What’s going on?”

Jennifer clicked the hashtag and saw the news and the picture.

Gloria told her what had just happened while downplaying the danger.

Jennifer and Nydia were both a little startled.

Jennifer just found it out, while Nydia already processed it for a while.

Jennifer was absolutely furious!

“How could this happen? Bastards! How dare they!

Don't they know Jordy, Jonathan, and Bryson all care about you? How dare they!”

Suddenly, Nydia seemed to realize something and said in a panic, “This may not pure sexual harassment but a frame-up! Someone hired them to insult you!”

Gloria looked calm and fell silent, which suggested her acquiescence.

“Bastards! Is it Angela again?” Jennifer's voice dripped fury. Even if she had just checked Twitter and heard Gloria's understatement, she thought it was dangerous!

Jennifer added, “It's a good thing that you were able to fight back, otherwise...”

She shrank from the thought.

Gloria chuckled, “I'm fine. Don't worry about me.”

Jennifer sighed, and her anger seemed to grow stronger.

“I want to kill them all!” Jennifer couldn't help cursing.

Nydia was angry too, but Jennifer's reaction made her laugh.

Jennifer immediately asked, “What are you laughing at?”

“I’m laughing at you. Acting on impulse does you no good.”

“Humph! I just want to get them punished! Bastards! I can’t contain myself!” Jennifer was getting cranky. She hated those thugs the most, for they tried to hurt her best friend.

Gloria smiled, “Cool down, Jennifer. I’m alright. The police are investigating the case. Everything will be fine.”

“I know, but I’m still worried! What if they try to hurt you again?”

Gloria said, “I already got people checking.”

Jennifer and Nydia let out a sigh together and looked concerned.

Gloria said, “I’m gonna go and follow it up. Bye.”

“Alright, but honey, you have to be careful, especially at night. Try not to go out a lot.”

“OK.”

They exchanged a few more words before hanging

Then Gloria’s phone buzzed.

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 712

Chapter 712 It’s Still Her

Gloria picked up the phone.

Before she could speak, Jonathan said, “Are you alright?”

“Yeah, I’m fine.”

Jonathan frowned, “I had someone inquire about you.”

“There’s no need to bother.” Gloria’s voice sounded calm.

Jonathan sighed helplessly, “You always think I’m using you and everything I do has a purpose.”

Gloria’s lips compressed into a thin line. She didn’t want to say anything, but she had to.

After a while, she sighed, “You’re overthinking this.”

Jonathan knew what Gloria was thinking, so he didn’t bring up the subject again. Instead, he spoke quietly.

“Jordy got me in some trouble, or I would have called you in the first place.” This was a statement.

Gloria was a little surprised.

But she didn’t suspect him of lying.

To the extent that Jonathan desired to use her, he would come to her as soon as he could.

But he didn’t show up today. Something must have happened.

Jordy created problems for Jonathan.

How could Gloria know that Jonathan wasn’t the only one who was in trouble? Bryson was too busy to call her. Something kept him distracted.

Gloria said quietly, “I’m fine.”

“Well, I’m so relieved to hear that. I’ve got some business to take care of. I’ll catch up with you later.”

“OK.”

Gloria wanted to say no, but on second thought, she didn't think it necessary to say so. Jonathan could do whatever he wanted. She might as well say nothing to avoid any argument.

After hanging up, Gloria turned on her laptop. Although Gloria was not very suspicious of Angela, she thought it necessary to look into her. Gloria started checking on Angela and her family.

Start with their recent phone calls.

Gloria found something wrong. Angela's phone records showed that two calls lasted more than a minute.

Gloria then tried to find out who called Angela, but there was no information about it.

The color drained a little from Gloria's face.

At first, she thought Angela had nothing to do with

But now it turned out that Angela was involved in this.

Gloria rubbed her knitted brows.

After trying hard, she still found nothing and then shut down the laptop.

Who did Angela meet recently?

Just as she was thinking hard, her phone suddenly rang.

It was a call from Kristina. Gloria picked it up.

"Kristina."

"How are you now? Sorry, I just checked Twitter.

I've been busy with my son all day."

Gloria smiled, "I'm fine, Kristina. You don't have to worry.”

“I saw those thugs limping on the bus. You beat them up?”

“I’m alright with the police there.”

“I’m glad you’re alright.” Kristina sounded relieved.

Something suddenly occurred to Gloria. She hesitated before asking, “Kristina, do you have any connections at Joseph Medical Center?”

“Yes, my sister is the deputy director over there.”

Gloria’s eyes flickered. “Well, I have a favor to ask.”

“Sure, I’ll see if she can help.”

Kristina owed Gloria a favor.

Kristina was very close to her younger sister. They always felt free to ask for help and would never embarrass each other.

And the same went for Gloria.s

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 713

Chapter 713 The Trial Finally Began

“I want her to find me two trustworthy people and let them spy on Angela.”

Kristina looked startled. “Did she do anything to you again?”

Gloria only smiled and didn’t answer.

Kristina hated to be inquisitive and immediately said, “OK, I’ll call her and ask her to find you some trustworthy people and spy on Angela.”

“Maybe we can’t find out anything, but it’s better than doing nothing. Thank you, Kristina.”

“You don’t have to say thanks. You help me too.”

Gloria chuckled, "Alright."

"You're not safe alone. Be careful."

"I will. It's getting late. Kristina, have an early night."

"Good night."

They hung up.

Gloria didn't tell anyone about Angela's phone call with that person.

It was because Gloria sensed the danger. She didn't want to put anyone at risk.

She didn't ask her friends to dig into it, so Angela would not be alert.

The police were very efficient. With the help of the Collins Group, they took those thugs down quickly!

As for who was behind them...

The person behind the curtain might be powerful, but so what?

They deserved this. They were totally defiant.

It served them bloody well right.

Afterward, it was as if peace had returned.

Gloria promised to act as Kristina's counsel. It was about time.

It was said that Kristina's ex-husband got an exceptional lawyer.

Gloria didn't care. She had a realistic chance of winning the case, so she didn't care how tough her opponent was.

Gloria froze for a moment as she sat down and saw the person sitting across from her.

The opposing counsel grinned wickedly at Gloria, as if to say, "Miss White, what a coincidence!"

He should be very clear that he doesn't stand a chance in there, but why does he take this case? Is it because he knows I am Kristina's counsel?

Gloria frowned slightly and said nothing.

Kristina looked surprised and laughed, "George took his case."

Gloria smiled faintly and remained silent.

Kristina, who was sitting next to Gloria, said smilingly, "I remember the last time George lost to you."

"It was because the Collins Group didn't have a leg to stand on when they made a statement," said Gloria calmly.

Kristina smiled, "Maybe George wants to challenge you again, to make a comeback, or to sharpen essential skills every lawyer needs."

With Gloria there, Kristina felt relaxed and was in a good mood to laugh and talk.

But if Gloria hadn't been her counsel today, Kristina would have been devastated and terrified in the face of George.

After all, it was well known that George was a good lawyer.

But with Norma here, Kristina did not find a court hearing scary.

Gloria glanced at George. He was talking to Kristina's ex-husband, who was smiling smarmily.

Gloria speculated that it was George who reached out to Kristina's ex-husband.

Kristina's ex-husband was quite mediocre. He did not dare to ask George for help.

And George looked down upon him.

It was about time that the trial began.

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 714

Chapter 714 He Couldn't Wait!

Everyone was back in their seats, and the judge and jury looked solemn.

Jennifer and Nydia were seated in the gallery.

Nydia found it a great opportunity to learn, especially from Gloria, her best friend, as well as an awesome lawyer.

Jennifer had nothing to do today, so here she was.

When Nydia saw George, her face dropped.

"Darn it! Why is he here?"

Nydia was talking to Jennifer the whole time, and neither of them looked up. They both thought

Gloria was going to win today because no lawyer would dare take the case.

However, Nydia looked up and saw George!

Jennifer was surprised too. "George probably knew Gloria took the case."

"Has he not had enough of it? He lost the last time, but now he's here to do it again."

"How strong he is! Only when he confronts a stronger opponent can he have a chance to win."

"He's nuts! Gloria said earlier that she would definitely win Kristina's case because she found her case could be convincingly argued. And George could see that, too. So how can he improve himself here as a lawyer? He should compete with someone on his level," said Nydia with contempt.

Jennifer chuckled, "Do you know how many cases Gloria has taken during this time?"

"If this case was that simple, how was it possible that it gave Kristina a headache? It's just that Gloria considers it a piece of cake."

Nydia thought Jennifer got a point there.

Nydia pursed her lips and fell silent. Her reaction was a tacit acknowledgment that Jennifer was right.

"I will now hear testimony from the plaintiffs."

The plaintiff was Kristina's ex-husband.

Kristina kept her son with her, and her ex-husband tried to take him away from her long ago.

He even caused her a lot of trouble.

Ordinary lawyers might think George would win. Even Kristina didn't think she could win the case.

Gloria had a keen mind and was able to find some strong arguments that no one could refute.

Thus, she was confident that she would win.

George spoke, "My client is seeking custody of the child for three reasons. First, Ms. Hayes is too busy to look after the child, so she's unable to ensure his happy childhood. Second, there is some news about Ms. Hayes' new relationship. If she finds a new husband, the child will inevitably suffer. My client promises not to marry again. Third, the child had a phone call with my client and said he was not happy with his mother and that he wanted to live with his father. I rest my case, your honor."

Kristina frowned. She wanted to retort, but with Gloria by her side, she chose to keep her mouth closed. She trusted Gloria.

The judge looked at Gloria. "I will now hear testimony from the defendant."

All eyes were on Gloria.

There was nothing on the table as usual. Those who didn't know her might consider her unprofessional.

But Gloria was different.

Everyone subconsciously cast her an admiring glance.

Gloria said calmly, "Let me refute the plaintiff's statement first."

George looked excited as if he had no real interest in litigation.

He just wanted to challenge Gloria.

When he heard that Gloria took Kristina's case, he reached out to Kristina's ex-husband without a second thought.

Now he couldn't wait!

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 715

Chapter 715 Why Do You Ask?

As Kristina and Jennifer probably guessed, George just wanted to improve himself as a lawyer. Only by dealing with stronger opponents could he make it happen. Otherwise, there would be little hope that he could be an exceptional lawyer in this life.

Under everyone's expectant gaze, Gloria spoke slowly.

"First of all, Ms. Hayes is not too busy to take care of her child. Instead, she spends time with her child every day. She does everything she has to do as a mom."

"Second, Ms. Hayes has told me that she will not marry again and will bring her son up. And she's not starting a new relationship. Please show us evidence, Counsel."

"Third, Ms. Hayes will raise a successful son, not a spoiled one. If a mother spoils her son, he possibly cannot succeed. I think Mr. Brooks may have heard this. The child doesn't understand this at this age, so he complains to you sometimes. Is this the way you try to win him over?"

Brooks Brandon was Kristina's ex-husband.

George was calm and silent.

Brandon was worried. He wanted to retort, but he didn't dare to say anything after taking a furtive glance at George sitting next to him.

Gloria spoke again.

"Mr. Brooks, is it true that during your marriage, you drank often and even beat your family members and neglected your child?"

'Of course not!" Brandon retorted.

Gloria looked at the judge. "Your Honor, I have evidence, including the video and the recording."

Brandon screamed in his head.

Since you've got evidence, why do you ask?

Gloria submitted the evidence to the court and said, "He drank, gambled, slept with prostitutes, and beat his family members. I can't believe he can take good care of his child."

"What did you say? Miss White, you must not tell lies in court!" Brandon's face blanched.

Gloria didn't even look at him but stared at the judge. "Your Honor, I also have evidence about Mr. Brooks' marital infidelity."

Brandon was aghast.

What?

VV

Kristina found so much joy in seeing Brandon like this!

She had thought it would be really hard to win the case!

But... Gloria stepped in and helped her find the evidence!

That really surprised Kristina. She was thrilled to learn that and didn't even know how to thank Gloria.

George's face dropped. He turned his eyes to Brandon sitting next to him. "Did you cheat on her?"

George didn't speak into the microphone but muttered under his breath to Brandon.

Brandon changed color and opened his mouth to retort.

George went on coldly, "If you want to lie to me now, I'll step out."

"Yes... I did."

"So Gloria was telling the truth?"

Brandon turned even paler, and his lips quivered. He fell silent, but the look on his face said it all.

George's face hardened. He hated it when his client told lies, which caused problems for him in court!

Gloria said, "That's all about their private lives. I would like to say that Mr. Brooks has never been a good father. The child is not always with his mother, but sometimes he stays with his father for a few days. Mr. Brooks once left the child to the servant and went out for a drink. Mr. Brooks, why do you fight for custody of the child? Is it to make sure that you'll be looked after when you get old?"

