Chapter 786 Don't Want to Waste Any Minute Staying with You

Gloria didn't want to sit in the back seat this time. She went directly to the front seat and got seated.

Jordy's face turned dark and gloomy again.

It was going to be a long journey to go to the next destination. After she got in the car, she closed her eyes and prepared to take a nap.

But suddenly her phone vibrated. Gloria checked out her messages received on WhatsApp.

It was a message from a group chat that included Nydia, Jennifer and her.

Nydia asked, "Gloria, are you with Jordy right now?"

Gloria was surprised to see this message. Did anyone see us together again and tweeted about it?

Gloria replied, "Yes."

Jennifer asked, "What are you doing together? Work?"

Gloria, "Yes, I'm going to the Nossel Scenic Area today. We have some things to deal with."

Jennifer typed, "That far? Is there only you and Jordy?"

Nydia, "OMG! So, it's true! That bastard didn't lie."

Later, Nydia sent an emoji, expressing her dissatisfaction.

Jennifer typed,“??”

Gloria, not knowing what happened, also followed, “???”

Then Gloria added, “Harold is with us as well.”

Gloria had been typing with her mobile phone. Yet Jordy could see the content clearly on her mobile phone, sitting in the back Jordy raised his hand to massage his temples.

Finally, he leaned back and closed his eyes for a rest.

But.... Harold could notice Jordy was in a bad mood, since he could feel a minor change in the atmosphere in the car when Jordy changed his mood.

Gloria continued to type.

Gloria, “Are you with George?”

Nydia, “Yes, it’s him. Anyway, I have to go to my work now.”

Jennifer typed, “Sure. Gloria, can’t you come back today?”

Gloria replied, “Probably. It should be dark when we get there. And we can’t do the inspection at night. We have to wait until tomorrow.”

Jennifer added, “Pity! It is such a nice resort there, you could have enjoyed yourself on a good tour around there. But now you have to be with another man for business... Anyway, you should take care of yourself. It’s not quite safe there.”

Gloria replied, “Sure, I know. Don’t worry. I’ll take a nap for a while, and you can have a rest as well.”

Jenniter typed, "Okay."

Soon, no one talked in the chap group. Gloria put down her mobile phone and started to take a rest.

Since George wasn't in the car, it was very quiet. Gloria fell asleep without noticing.

When Harold stopped for gasoline, Gloria woke up.

She took a look at the surroundings and checked her mobile phone. It was already four o'clock in the afternoon. There should be another hour before they arrived.

After Harold came back into the car, he buckled up his seat belt and continued driving.

The car sank into extreme silence. But Gloria couldn't sleep any more since she had slept deep for several hours.

She turned on her mobile phone and checked out what was new on twitter. Nothing big on Twitter. She was still traumatized by the last sensation somebody made about her on twitter, which she didn't want to go through again.

As soon as Jordy felt the tiny movements of Gloria, he opened his eyes.

Watching her playing with her mobile phone, he seemed to frown again.

Just at that moment, Gloria turned her head and looked at him.

Jordy held her gaze.

Gloria was stunned, but the next moment she calmed down and asked, "Can we go back tomorrow?"

Jordy was turning more aloof and dominating. His cold voice sounded stern in her ears. "Sure. I don't want to waste any more minutes with you after finishing the work."

Gloria was speechless.

But she had grown used to Jordy's frivolous temperament after she had married him for three years.

Chapter 787 It Recurred

She didn't bother herself to argue with him. She put her phone aside and kept her eyes closed.

Her indifference made Jordy look even grimmer.

sitting on tenterhooks, Harold thought if the atmosphere continued to be so strained like that in the car, he wouldn't no longer bear it

Why haven't we arrived yet?

When will we arrive?

Spontaneously, he stepped on the accelerator

Finally, they had arrived at the spot as Harold expected.

At that moment when they arrived, Harold was very excited. He could finally flee from this torturing atmosphere in the car.

Gloria got out of the car and inhaled the sweet air outside. She was in a good mood. Only that Jordy was there with her made her perfect mood less perfect.

Harold got the car parked in the courtyard of the hotel.

Soon, the three of them walked together towards the hotel hall.

It was Harold's task to handle the check-in procedures.

But... when he took the room card to her, Gloria frowned immediately and interrogated, "Why is it a suite for two?"

She remembered that the last time she went on a business trip with Jordy, they had to live in a suite together. And it was the same this time.

Harold didn't seem to be surprised. He said seriously, "Miss White, it's really not safe here. You'd better live with Mr.

Collins."

Gloria frowned, "No, I can protect myself."

Speaking of this, she was about to ask for another room using her own ID card, but Jordy stopped her coldly and said, "Just go upstairs."

Gloria didn't want to talk to him. She addressed the receptionist and said, "Please have another room for me alone."

The receptionist looked at Gloria politely and said, "Sorry, Miss, we're full now. If you hadn't booked in advance, then there would be no extra room for you."

Gloria sank into silence.

Harold looked at Gloria and said, "Miss White, it's going to be a suite. Let's go upstairs first."

Gloria looked at Harold and said, "No, you'll change your room with me."

Harold immediately grasped his own room card in his hand. He could feel someone's glare as sharp as a knife stabbing his back, which made it hard to look back at the person behind him. He said hurriedly, "I can't change the room with you. I've got rashes these days. I'm afraid Mr. Collins will be infected if I live with him."

Gloria, "Can't you come up with a better excuse than that?"

Harold touched the tip of his nose awkwardly. But he decided to repress his embarrassment and looked calm when he said, "I really mean it."

Gloria pressed her lips tightly and said nothing.

The receptionists were examining the three people secretly. They recognized the two handsome men and this beautiful woman with indescribable excitement in their eyes. They recognized that they were President Collins and Miss White! And they reckoned that the other handsome man must be Mr. Collins's assistant Harold!

Harold was quite a famous figure among them as well.

He was handsome and rich, and he was really capable of carrying out business. In every sense, he was an excellent man

There were many women coveting Harold.

As for Jordy, there would be more. But... Jordy's temperament was quite tough and domineering. He carried with him this nobleness that daunted many women. They thought they could not deserve this man at all and some of them had shifted their attention toward Harold.

Gloria was too tired to utter a word. She walked directly into the elevator.

Harold and Jordy followed.

In the elevator, there were only the three of them, and it was extremely quiet.

When they got to the room, Harold opened the door for Gloria and Jordy, inserted the room card in the slot, and left the two alone knowingly. At the same time, he felt quite relieved to leave them alone.

Gloria walked in, changed her shoes and walked into her own room without even talking to Jordy at all.

Jordy looked stern and didn't want to waste his time on Gloria either.

But...

They didn't know that what had happened downstairs at the receptionist was again recurring to another couple right now.

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 788

“Why is it a suite? How can I live in the same room with you?” Nydia’s face distorted with reluctance and anger.

It’s a suite, but it has two rooms.” George looked stern as well. He thought the woman was too straightforward in front of so many people, which made him embarrassed.

The receptionist stood at the counter, looking a little awkward at the scene. But she said nothing.

Nydia didn’t care about George. She looked directly at the receptionist and said, “Please give me another room for myself.”

The receptionist repeated what she told Gloria just now, which was true that they had no extra room.

“I’m sorry, Miss. We can only prepare a room for you if you have made a reservation in advance. There is no room left

now.”

Nydia’s face distorted with rage. She turned to George and snapped, “Did you know you are coming here in advance?”

George sneered. He knew nothing indeed.

Jordy always made decisions out of a whim without telling others in advance.

“Me and Jordy always have a reservation for two suites here, can’t you see? If you don’t want to live with me, you can go find yourself another hotel and live by yourself.”

Nydia gritted her teeth. Gloria is here. How can I stay in another hotel?

Her complexion looked pale at that moment. But then she quickly declined, “No!”

After saying that, she walked into the hall, with an anger–distorted face. And Jordy was cursing in his heart secretly.

Then they got on the elevator together.

After entering the suite, Nydia went directly to the smaller bedroom and didn’t bother to talk to George. They didn’t even have time for dinner, but obviously Nydia had lost her appetite.

When she entered the room, the first thing she did was to put down her luggage and call Glori.

Gloria also took the smaller bedroom and was staying in her room. When she saw it was Nydia's call, she immediately picked it up

"Yes, Nydia?"

"Have you already arrived?"

"Yes."

"At the Suite Young Hotel?" Nydia was still grudging against the fact that she had to live with George in the same suite,

"How do you know?"

"Of course I know. I'm right here at this hotel, which room are you in, can I go meet you?" Nydia said while she got up, but before she could take a step, Gloria continued, surprised, "You are here too? How come?"

"I just came here for a trip. What's your room number?"

"We can go downstairs to meet and have dinner together." Gloria felt that it was inconvenient to talk on the phone, so she might as well sit down and talk with Nydia.

"Alright."

That way, the two of them went downstairs for their appointment.

Gloria had no appetite, but thinking that Nydia might not have eaten yet, she decided to dine with her anvw

Nydia had no appetite either, but she was afraid that Gloria might be hungry and didn't want to disappoint her.

That was how friends accommodated themselves to each other's needs.

Downstairs in the dining hall, they ordered some food and sat down.

Gloria looked at Nydia and discovered that she was not in a good mood. It seemed as if she had been irked by something. So, Gloria asked gently, "Why did you suddenly come here?"

Nydia gritted her teeth because she thought of George. She couldn't help cursing him.

But she held her temper. After pausing for a while, she said, "I heard that you would come, so I just followed. I thought it would be a relaxing trip for me."

Gloria frowned a little. She could see through her that it was a lie that Nydia wanted to take a trip here. She knew Nydia did so because she wanted to accompany her.

Then she quickly disclosed her lie, "George told you, didn't he?"

Nydia nodded obediently. After all, it was not hard for Gloria to guess what actually happened.

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 789

Chapter 789 Why Are We Coming Here?

Gloria sighed with resignation. "You have your own work. You don't have to come company me. Though I am tied to Jordy on this business trip, I'm sure he would protect me because he needs to make sure the company benefits."

"I know. But I really want to come here for a relaxing trip. And it is a coincidence that you are here as well. That way, when you are not busy, we can walk around together."

Nydia talked as if she was enthusiastic about her trip here. But Gloria knew her friend deeply. Even through Nydia's eyes, Gloria could see through her heart, she knew Nydia was quite reluctant to come except that she wanted to accompany her.

She knew that Nydia was reluctant not because of Gloria, but because of something else.

Before Gloria could continue, Nydia looked at her and asked, "Gloria, which room are you in? Can I move in with you?"

Gloria's eyes flickered, "I'm in a suite withi Jordy."

"Damn it! A suite again! How disgusting these men are!" Nydia couldn't help losing her temper. But then she regretted it

Gloria stared at closely her, "Did George ask you to stay in a suite with him too?"

Then she should find out what made Nydia reluctant to come.

Nydia gritted her teeth and was finally honest with Gloria, "Yes! Oh, it's so sick. There is only one suite left when we came here. It is the suite he reserved here every time he comes for many years. The receptionist told us that you have to book in advance. But we just decided to come today without further preparation. It seemed there was indeed no spare room.”

Gloria seemed to hesitate but she didn't speak anything.

It must be a whimsical idea of Jordy to come to this hotel. It was indeed the best hotel in the Nossel Scenic Area Resort. There was no doubt that Jordy would make a reservation for suites here all year round.

George's words sounded quite reasonable.

Gloria sighed, “Though the surroundings here are not quite safe and quite remote, I still think I can protect myself. Jordy won't let anything dangerous happen to me. You can relax and go back to your room now.”

“Why am I going back? It took me quite an effort to leave and come here. I don't want to go back” Nydia shriveled and said again, “You can't drive me away like this. I like this place very much.”

Gloria sighed helplessly. At this time, the waiter served the food they had ordered.

“Let's eat first.”

“Okay.”

At the same time, Angela had just come back home.

Someone told her she could leave the hospital in two hours, and she did. But the mother and daughter were worried that some other problems might arise. So, they decided to stay a while longer in the hospital before they left.

There was indeed evidence for her to clarify the misunderstandings. And the plans had no flaws. After checking out the evidence brought, Angela marvelled at the excellent plan.

But...

After she arrived home, she was suspicious and wondered, “Why am I coming here? Why am I not coming home?”

“This is your home.”

“Did Daddy buy a new house?” Angela looked around with repugnance. “But it's too small here. How can we live here?”

Martha's face distorted, irritated. A fierce look flashed across her eyes as she heard that. If it was a new house. she would have felt a little better, but this was not a new house at all!

It was an old rented house that Claude asked his assistant to arrange for them.

But she didn't dare to tell her daughter about it. She was afraid that Angela might not bear the fact and would be stimulated mentally again.

After pausing for a while, she looked at Angela and said quietly, "Our old place has been fixed up recently. We need to make some rearrangement with our previous house and we will stay here temporarily for a while."

Obviously, Angela didn't buy it. She frowned and looked at Martha with doubts and said, "We don't need any fixing up with our house. What happened? Tell me the truth."

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 790

Chapter 790 Superior Gesture

Angela was a smart girl. Many times, she could notice something was wrong even at a glance.

Martha was most afraid that her daughter was so clever that she was nearly immune to lies. She could only pretend to be calm and said, "Fixing up is always needed. I don't like the layout of our old house. We need to change the layout again. After finishing the decoration, the house needs some time for ventilation. It will take at least a few months. So, we must live here for a while."

Angela frowned as she heard that. "Our house was just finished not long ago. And you are totally satisfied with your own design style. Why do you want to fix it again?"

She stared at Martha and always felt that she was telling a lie.

Martha replied calmly, "It's because of your father's assistant. The decoration team we found was cheating us, using all those poor materials. Although we've just finished the decoration not long ago, the walls were already cracking."

Angela was still suspicious of her words.

But now she couldn't find any loopholes. She just couldn't figure out why they had to stay in such a place for now.

After a pause, she resumed, "Even if we have to live in another house, we can live in a nicer place. How can we live in such a small house then?"

Martha took a deep breath. It's not what I want. I have no choice. But we have no money! Gloria has cheated us out of all of our money! That tramp!

Martha did not dare to tell her daughter all this.

Angela opened her mouth as if she still wanted to add something, but suddenly the phone rang, interrupting her thoughts.

Seeing that it was still the call with virtual numbers again, she was quite excited. "That person called me back. She must have done something to Gloria."

Martha sighed with relief. Fortunately, the call diverted Angela's attention.

"Hello."

Angela picked up the phone, and the person's voice echoed in the receiver.

"Tomorrow, Jordy and Gloria will go out to investigate the site in the Nossel Scenic Area. And there is exactly some turmoil there."

Angela frowned and her excitement was dispelled. She thought she was about to hear some good news, but it turned out to be unimportant news. She asked, "Do you mean that you will start against her tomorrow?"

"Yes."

Angela was a little disappointed, but she had no choice but to listen to that person. She felt that the person was about to hang up the phone, so she quickly added, "Can you give me your contact? You can always get in touch with me, but I can't call you at all since I don't have your number."

"You don't need to contact me. I will contact you if there is anything I want to tell you." The person sounded like a lovely girl on the phone, but her voice was cold and people might not feel that she was a nice girl.

Angela didn't want to give up and continued, "It's alright. But I have ideas to share with you as well. I hate Gloria to the guts, you know. If I really have a good idea and I can't contact you and do nothing, it would be a pity to miss the best opportunity to retaliate against her."

The person on the phone paused for a while before saying, "I'll send my contact to your mobile phone later."

Angela was relieved and said, "Okay, how are you going to deal with Gloria tomorrow?"

"I'll see tomorrow."

After saying that, she immediately hung up the phone, and Angela was totally stunned by the snap shut of the line. "What a boast! She still refuses to reveal her true identity and tell me the truth!"

"But you think she is a powerful woman who can help you." Martha did not hesitate to satirize her.

Angela bit her lip and retorted gloomily, "I was right. She is powerful. If she wasn't powerful, how could I leave the hospital so quickly? But I just don't fancy her superior gesture."
