Chapter 796 Mr. Collins Is Calculous

Come on I can't let you sit there and watch me cry. I have to drag you down. And this is what we call brotherhood, isn't it?

George continued after seeing Jordy drinking in silence, "I think Gloria is completely over you now."

Jordy looked at him with bitterness.

George was even more excited by the scene. "To be honest, she appeared with Jonathan at the banquet and had proposed a divorce with you in public. So, she totally gave up on you."

Jordy drank and said nothing.

George cheered with him and continued, "The things she'd done later on shows that she did not need you anymore. And she wouldn't even go near you. If you did not take the initiative to see her, I'm afraid they would utterly disappear from your life."

Jordy remained silent, but George felt that the glass held in Jordy's hand was about to squeeze into pieces.

"Well, look at you. You still don't want to admit that you are still in love with her, do you?"

Jordy suddenly sneered, "She doesn't deserve my love."

"Doesn't deserve? If you think she doesn't deserve it, why do you still take her out here and be so hospitable? Do you do this only because of work?"

"Or what else?" Jordy glared at George with his cold eyes.

"Oh, to hell with work. You just enjoy being alone with her! You pick roses for her, even though you do so because you are forced by Karen. But even without Karen, I know you would still do so for her judging from your personality. No one could force you to do what you don't want to do."

Jordy frowned, and George continued, "You still prepared testimony for her. You still want to prove to all the staff in the company that you are ready to confess your love for her. And you let the media hype wantonly about it, in order to daunt any love rival. Mr. Collins, you are really calculous."

"Don't you know how to talk reasonable." Jordy drank again. He didn't even bother to deny it.

George was amused by his reaction. "And remember how you've prepared a surprise for her. A pair of delicate, exquisite shoes. Oh, it really took you a lot of trouble to please her! Mr. Collins. But you still can't be allowed to touch her."

Jordy's face sank dark quickly at the mention of the shoes. This time, he didn't intend to hide his emotions. He seemed to grow more and more domineering and bitter, as if his heart was completely frozen and bitten by a blast cold wind.

George also noticed the changes in Jordy. His curiosity was aroused by Jordy again. He looked at Jordy and asked, "Can you tell me what exactly happened that day? Why did Gloria break down in front of Karen?"

Jordy just kept drinking. He didn't say a word. He just drank and drank until the bottle was empty.

George could feel that there was something wrong with Jordy. Or otherwise, he would not have to get himself drunk like that.

At that moment, George felt that he must not stimulate him any more. He asked in a different way, "Talk about it. I don't think it will do you good if you keep holding it back for yourself. Besides, don't you want to remarry her? Whether you still have feelings for her or not, she is still a perfect candidate as a wife. You can tell me. I'll help you get her back."

Jordy pressed his lips tightly and said nothing.

George continued, "I know you don't want to talk about it, but if you continue this way, you will never win back her heart. Is this what you want?"

Jordy looked at him faintly, "Are you done?"

“No!” George knew that Jordy wasn’t persuaded so he decided to try again, “Gloria refuses to get close to you right now. And the crystal-shoe incident was never a trivial matter. Do you know about it at all? Tell me if you do. If you don’t want to tell me about it, I can still help you explain it to her, telling her that you didn’t mean it.”

Chapter 797 A Thousand Times of Crack-downs

Looking at Jordy’s aloof face, he continued, “So you must tell me exactly what happened at that time.”

“There is nothing to say.” Jordy laid down his glass. It seemed that he was completely done with his drinking and lost his appetite for it.

He didn’t want to tell anyone what happened that day. It was not because he didn’t want to let others know about how Gloria had humiliated him, but that he didn’t want others to know about their past.

George sank into silence.

He couldn’t believe he still could not fish the secret out of Jordy after all this harangue. He was so uncomfortable that he failed. Suddenly, he snapped, “Alright, damn it! I shouldn’t worry about you. I have things to deal with myself.”

Jordy gave him an indifferent look. George had already tried his best. And it was futile to continue his try.

The two men began to drink in silence.

Until the last glass was empty, George started again, “I will let this woman learn a lesson sooner or later!”

“Be careful not to make it backfire.” After saying this, Jordy got up and added, “It’s quite late. Let’s go back.”

They had both drunk a lot, but none of them felt drunk. They were both quite sober.

George didn’t say anything, and the two of them walked back to their rooms together.

Both of their suites were constructed according to the same layout. After the two men entered their rooms, they found the living rooms empty, lit by the gorgeous light. Both of them spontaneously looked at the smaller bedrooms and found the doors shut. There was no sound coming from the bedrooms. So, they reckoned the women must have gone to bed.

Neither Jordy nor George said anything more. They went directly into their bedrooms, took a bath and then lay down.

But...

Both of them were quite sober. Probably because of alcohol, it seemed that slumber had slid away from both of them.

They were both thinking of their beloved.

Soon it was the next day.

Gloria got up early, and Harold brought her breakfast to her.

She had already dressed up. Seeing that Jordy also came out of the bedroom, she opened the breakfast boxes one by one.

Jordy and Gloria were both in their pajamas. Then they sat opposite each other at the table.

Gloria ate silently and did not intend to talk to Jordy.

And Jordy only ate a little. He seemed to have lost his appetite.

Gloria glanced at him and concentrated on her own meal. She always had a good appetite and never treated her meals casually, unless she was in a bad mood.

During her three-year marriage, she had really cracked down many times.

After breakfast, Gloria went back to her bedroom to tidy it and left the bedroom after she got changed.

Jordy was no longer there in the suite.

Just as she opened the door and went downstairs, her cellphone rang.

"Miss White, are you ready? We can go now."

"Sure, I'm going downstairs."

After hanging up the phone, Gloria walked out and saw Jordy’s car. She walked over and decided to sit in the front seat as she did. She didn’t want to have too much contact with that man in the back seat.

But... when she discovered the front seat was already taken by a middle-aged fat man, Gloria was quite surprised. In the end, she had no choice but to sit in the back beside Jordy.

Harold immediately introduced the man to Glori, “Miss White, this is the person in charge of the Nossel Scenic Area, Mr. Caleb Saunders.”

Caleb immediately looked at Gloria politely and smiled courteously at her, “Hello, Miss White.”

Gloria nodded and smiled, “Hello, Mr. Saunders.”

She was quite gentle to him, and she looked elegant and calm. Jordy suddenly glanced at her.

Chapter 798 I’m Such a Fool to Fall for You

Gloria sat quietly in her seat and didn’t say anything to the man.

The man on the front seat doesn’t look like a hypocrite. He was very modest. Knowing the subtle relationship between Gloria and Jordy, the man remained quiet about it and didn’t talk too much with Gloria.

Gloria took out her cellphone to brow the news. There were four people in the car, but it was quiet as if there was no one in it.

Soon, they arrived at their destination.

Caleb looked at Jordy and Gloria. Then he said politely, “The project has developed quite well here. But the security is not quite satisfactory. There is still turmoil around this place. So, you must be careful. I’ve employed several security guards around. If there was any accident, they would come to protect you.”

Gloria did not speak. Nor did Jordy. Harold smiled and started, "Mr. Saunders, thank you for doing so."

"It's my pleasure." Caleb glanced at Gloria and Jordy. Then he smiled and said, "Come on, we shall go investigate the site now."

He ushered them to the site without saying too much.

The three of them followed him and looked around.

The Nossel Scenic Area possessed a very good scenic spot. If their projects managed to be implemented here, it would be a great success.

Besides, the Nossel Scenic Area was under Jordy's management.

Jordy had come to investigate this place a few years ago, but it hadn't changed a lot since it was a long time ago. They should be more careful and cautious if they wanted to develop a new project here. After all, the investment would cost him hundreds of billions of dollars. And the Nossel Scenic Area was in his new plan. He must be cautious about it.

After the investigation, there were still many other projects to attend to. Harold was thinking that if Mr. Collins wanted to stay longer with Gloria, he might have used the excuse that they should go investigate other projects together.

For more than an hour, Caleb had been explaining to them the current conditions of the place.

Passers-by would stop and wonder what this group of people were doing when they noticed they were quite elite and noble, unlike ordinary people. Some even stopped and took photos of them secretly.

Soon, they caught everyone's attention on the Internet again.

After seeing this, Mrs. Collins was quite happy. She mistakenly thought that Gloria was getting back together with Jordy.

But...

Joseph looked very uncomfortable when he saw the gossip on the Internet. “What are you laughing at? No decent man would go back to his old lovers. Just look at your grandson. How shameful is he!”

“Nonsense. My grandson is a decent man and Gloria is a nice girl. They are meant to be together. I knew they had some conflicts before, and you, disrespectful old man, had been setting barriers for them. You’ve ruined their relationship. You shouldn’t have done this, to break off their marriage. Do you understand?”

“What does it have to do with me? Don’t try to blame it on me again. ” Joseph’s face was stern with rage. He was talking a little irritably.

Indeed, he didn’t want them to get back together.

“You just wouldn’t admit it, would you? If it were for you, they could have cleared up their misunderstandings against each other. But you went to tell our grandson about all that nonsense, and told him you would give him a plan. It was you who ruined it. You would do anything for the sake of your own interests. I think I can’t tolerate you any longer. We should not get divorced. I don’t know when you will kick me off for the sake of benefits.”

Hearing this, Joseph’s face distorted, “A Divorce? We’ve been married for so many years. And now you are talking about getting a divorce? I’ve never cheated you. Not for once.”

Karen became solemn when she said, “Oh God, you really are not a noble man at all. How would I be such a fool to fall for you at the beginning? How on earth would I even marry you?”

Chapter 799 “Que Sera Sera”

Joseph pointed at Kare, enraged. But seeing that Karen seemed to be firm and stern to fight against him, he laid down his palm and said, “You are so unreasonable!”

After that, he got up and left.

Karen gritted her teeth and said, “If you interfere with the two of them again, I will divorce you.”

“Bang!”

The door was slammed shut by Joseph.

Karen was irritated and roared, "I will never talk with you again!"

Joseph heard her roar outside. Outrageous, he looked at Karen through the window and saw her going up the stairs.

Gloria and her companions were still doing an investigation at the site.

But suddenly, an accident happened.

Just when Caleb was going to introduce the place to them again, passers-by swarmed over to take pictures of them.

But Gloria was so alert that she noticed these people were behaving oddly.

It seemed that they had some ulterior purposes when they kept looking at her so intensively.

She thought if they were only taking pictures of Jordy, then she wouldn't have to doubt their intentions. But when she spotted that they were focusing on her and approaching her, she felt quite uncomfortable.

At that moment, Jordy and Harold also noticed that something was wrong. Jordy subconsciously took a step closer to Gloria.

Harold also stepped closer to Gloria immediately. That way, the two men stood beside Gloria, protecting her from both sides.

But this movement didn't daunt the people who were coming nearer.

There was a handsome man in a white shirt among the crowd. Suddenly, he took out the dagger hidden in his sleeve and took it off the sheath. He ran straight to Gloria and stabbed his dagger at her abdomen.

Gloria's pupils dilated with shock, but before she could do anything, Harold had raised his long legs and kicked the attacker on the wrist.

The man did not expect that he would be stopped by Harold. He felt a sharp pain in his arm, which failed him to hold the dagger. At the next moment, the dagger was kicked out of his grip.

Seeing this, the other on-lookers didn't care to hide their intention any more. They rushed up at them immediately. Each of them carried a weapon with them, but no one had guns.

Gloria frowned at the situation and both Jordy and Harold swiftly joined the guard.

Caleb was also shocked by the current danger. He waved his hand, and all the security guards rushed over to protect them.

But the attackers were crazy. They kicked and stabbed and fought suicidally.

They seemed fearless of the kicks and punches they received. They only grabbed their daggers tightly to dash at Gloria.

These people were really fighters and killers. Some of the bodyguards employed by Caleb couldn't even defeat them. Jordy and Harold could still help to fend off their attacks. But there were too many attackers.

No matter how hard they were protecting Gloria, there were still five or six bandits rushing straight to Gloria.

Caleb nearly panicked. Seeing the tourists standing near them and watching this terrible turmoil, he shouted at them, "Hurry up and go call the police! Tell them that Mr. Collins is under attack here!"

Hearing this, someone took out the mobile phone to call the police.

Gloria looked alertly at the people who came to her. They all grabbed their daggers in hands. The sun was shining against the daggers, reflecting the dazzling, golden sunlight.

Some people intentionally used the daggers to reflect lights on Gloria's face in order to distract her.

When Gloria was squinting her eyes, four attackers took the opportunity. They rushed directly towards Gloria and extended their daggers to Gloria's bosom.

Remarriage Never And Go Away Chapter 800

Chapter 800 An Accident Arouse

They intended to kill Gloria directly!

"Watch out!"

Jordy shouted.

Gloria had noticed that they dashed toward her. Just as the first attacker came to her, she ducked sideward and grabbed his arms. Then she lifted her foot and kicked directly into the second attacker who dashed at her.

“Boom!”

The man fell. Gloria didn't have mercy for him. And the next moment, the man was groaning on the ground.

The people who followed to kill Gloria felt shocked. And they subconsciously slower their attacks.

Gloria used her high heels to step on the man's wrist, who was still holding the dagger. The thin heel of her shoes poked into his skin, right at the bulging blue veins on the back of his hand. It killed and made him sweat with pain. In the next moment, Gloria had bowed to pick up his dagger.

Jordy's eyes sparkled with surprise. That was the first time he saw Gloria in a fight.

He quickly tackled the attackers around him and went over to help. But several attackers approached him again.

Caleb was in tremendous panic.

Since he was in charge of this scenic spot, and was responsible for receiving his boss. But he didn't expect such an accident would arise. He worried whether he could still hold this position.

He looked at those on-lookers who were hiding in the distance, waiting to see the good show. Then he shouted at them, “Is any one of you a good fighter? If you can help me defeat them, I would pay you ten thousand dollars if you beat one down.”

Hearing about the good bargain, the onlookers hiding in the distance were instantly anxious to try.

If one defeats one of the attackers, one could get one hundred thousand! If so, they could work together to beat them down.

“Go help them, old chap? We can work in five. And we can beat down five of them bandits. That way, we can get ten thousand if we beat them down! Come on, that’s ten thousand dollars. “Someone was discussing the plan.

And Gloria was dealing with the remaining four attackers, who were dashing toward her. But before they could harm her, she had grabbed the dagger she picked to attack them at the vital part instead.

The person who was stabbed tumbled backward, and Gloria immediately rushed toward another direction, turned her wrist, and stabbed another person following the first man.

Seeing that the dagger was going to strike his face, the man ducked backward immediately, while Gloria lifted her leg to kick him.

“Ouch!”

Gloria was wearing a pair of pointed shoes. As she kicked with tremendous force, the man fell to the ground like the first one did.

It happened that he fell down transversely, which blocked the way where the following two attackers were coming. Gloria didn’t care about them. She looked on the right side, where people who attacked on the right side dashed at her again. But soon the man felt the pain in his crotch after Gloria attacked him. Shamed and enraged, the man felt humiliated to be insulted by a woman like that.

Many of his brothers were maimed by Gloria.

How were they going to manage to face others after such a defeat?

This was not what they expected.

At that moment, some onlookers who were originally hiding in the distance were rushing over for the sake of money.

But...

The attackers were merciless.

Soon, the helpers were kicked down by the attackers. But Gloria was not hurt at all. Anyway, the helpers only had minor injuries since the attackers didn't intend to hurt the irrelevant people.

They were only cruel toward Gloria alone.

And when Gloria was fighting against their attacks, an accident still arose in the end.

A man suddenly rushed from behind Gloria, who was so busy tackling the three attackers in front of her. Seeing this, Jordy snared with a stern face, "Watch out!"

He quickly dashed over to help her.

Harold also hurried to Gloria in an instance.

But the man was faster than both of them. Just after Gloria knocked down two attackers, the man grabbed his dagger to stab Gloria's bosom from behind her back.
