The God Of Medicine Son-in-law Chapter 18

The law enforcement officer was speechless by Xiao Chen. Finally, he could only say and act sternly: “tell the judge what’s wrong. I’m only responsible for law enforcement.”

“I warn you again that you will bear the consequences.”

Law enforcement officers warned.

“Seal up the hospital and take everyone away.”

He should start to catch people and take out the seal to stick it.

Xiao Chen had already seen the wrongness of these law enforcement officers. He said, “please show me your certificates. I suspect you pretend to be law enforcement officers.”

Law enforcement officers directly took out their certificates and threw them on Xiao Chen, “see for yourself.”

The certificate fell at his feet, and Xiao Chen didn’t even look at it. Light tone, “as a law enforcement officer, how do you treat taxpayers?”

“What?” The law enforcement officer held his chest with both hands and said with a condescending attitude, “is it difficult that you still want me to treat you as a father? Do you think you deserve it?”

“That’s your attitude. If you don’t apologize, I’ll complain to you now.”

The law enforcement officer’s face changed slightly.

But Xiao Chen has taken out his mobile phone and is ready to make a complaint call.

Wu Yaqing was surprised by Xiao Chen's performance. Unexpectedly, he wanted to bow his head to the arrogant law enforcement officers in just a few words. The impression of Xiao Chen in my heart changed for the first time.

"Pick up my papers by myself. I don't have the habit of bowing down to people."

At this time, some curious passers-by had already picked up their mobile phone, turned on the video function and began to take photos. In their lens, the law enforcement officers bent 90 degrees towards Xiao Chen, as if they were bowing.

"This is my certificate. You can see it clearly." The law enforcement officer's tone was blunt and his eyes showed fierce light.

The hatred in the eyes of law enforcement officers naturally could not escape Xiao Chen's eyes, but he did not take the other party's hand to his heart. In his opinion, the other party was just a small mole ant, which was not worth his heart at all.

Xiao Chen glanced casually. "Well, the certificate is true."

"Then get in the car." Law enforcement officers take out handcuffs and go to lock Xiao Chen.

"Although the certificate is true, it doesn't mean you can arrest people at will. Is there a royal law or a law?"

"What are you talking about?" The law enforcement officer said impatiently, "I am the king's law, and we are the law. Accept the sanctions."

"Wait a minute. What's your reason for arresting us?" Xiao Chen asked.

Law enforcement officers sneered, "the crime of causing blindness in an unscrupulous medical school is enough for you to spend more than ten years in prison."

“Really? What if he’s not blind?”

Xiao Chen walked to the couple with a knife.

“Keep your eyes wide open. I’ll cure his eyes right away.” This knife is used for processing medicinal materials, so it is small and convenient, so it has been carried with him. At this time, it is in use.

“What do you want?” The woman is a little nervous. Anyone who sees the other party coming towards him with a knife will inevitably be frightened.

“Xiao Chen, stop! Don’t do anything stupid.” Even Wu Yaqing thought that Xiao Chen wanted to be bad for the couple and immediately stopped in front of her. As long as Li Yan kept watching quietly.

As an old Chinese doctor who has been wandering in the Jianghu for many years. Liyan is not stupid. When he saw the conversation between Xiao Chen and law enforcement officials just now, he was vaguely aware of a trace of fishiness.

But the blind patient had been examined by himself. Although the pulse was normal, then the eyes seemed to be really blind, although he didn’t know why this strange phenomenon occurred, so he was very curious about what Xiao Chen would do.

Xiao Chen patted Wu Yaqing on the shoulder. He smiled softly, “I won’t do anything stupid. Don’t worry. Everything will be fine with me.”

Wu Yaqing was stunned. Unexpectedly, Xiao Chen dared to touch her.

Just as she was about to get angry, Xiao Chen had bypassed her and walked to the couple.

Xiao Chen stretched out his hand and waved in front of the man. The man didn’t respond at all, as if he really couldn’t see at all.

"I have to say you are really great." Xiao Chen praised him, and then said surprisingly, "it's quite similar. Even Yaqing and Liyan old traditional Chinese medicine were cheated by you."

The woman around her looked flustered. "We don't understand what you're talking about. Your hospital blinded my husband's eyes. I won't make you feel better."

Xiao Chen ignored the woman. He raised his knife and shook it in front of the man. The other party still didn't respond.

Xiao Chen smiled, not surprisingly, the next moment. His face became cold and ruthless, and a trace of poison flashed in his eyes. He directly inserted the knife into the man's palm.

"Ah, my hand." The man uttered a scream, raised his knife and pierced his palm, with blood flowing.

Wu Yaqing's face turned white.

"How dare you hurt people!" Law enforcement officers pulled out their batons and rushed up immediately.

"Ah, look, the man's eyes move."

"He's not blind."

The passers-by around made a cry of surprise. The blind man covered his palm and his eyes were not blind at all.

"Wow, miracle doctor, just one knife can make the blind patient recover."

At this time, if others don't understand that this man is pretending, they are really blind.

"Look, he's back to light."

Xiao Chen smiled proudly. He looked at the law enforcement officers vaguely and wanted to know what they would do next.

“Deliberately hurt people. Put down the murder weapon in your hand quickly.”

Law enforcement officers did not want Xiao Chen to be disappointed. As soon as they turned their eyes, they immediately found a reasonable excuse.

“Catch the gangster for me.”

Xiao Chen innocently spread out his empty hands. There was a murder weapon in his hands, and the knife was still inserted into the man’s palm.

“Comrade, you are also blind. I’m not committing murder, but treating patients. That knife is not a murder weapon. It’s just a prop for me to treat patients.”

“Don’t talk nonsense. I haven’t seen the doctor insert a knife into the patient.” law enforcement officers surrounded Xiao Chen.

“But I cured his eyes.” Xiao Chen pretended to be innocent. “Doctors in the operating room operate on patients and open their stomachs. What circumcision and caesarean section are normal medical means.”

“Don’t listen to his nonsense and take people down directly.”

Law enforcement officers have long been impatient, so they use it directly.

Xiao Chen didn’t expect these law enforcers to be so bold and enforce the law in broad daylight.

After the law enforcement officers were shameless and serious, Xiao Chen quickly picked up his mobile phone and dialed Zhang Xian.

“Zhang Bureau, I’m at the gate of the Spring Festival Hall now. Several law enforcement officers plan to take me away by tough means.”

Zhang Xian, who received Xiao Chen’s call, was surprised and hurriedly said, “is there any misunderstanding in this? Give them the call and I’ll talk to them in person.”
