

THE GOD VIRUS

Volume 1 - 17 Valentines Day

In the past month since the CEO ugly was ordered to found the company he hasn't rested even for a second, he had bought lots and lots of factories in different places, hired hundreds of thousands of people, gathered and built the technology, etc. And finally today after a month of hardwork, after asking Virus for permission he send them to all around the world.

As different kinds of highly advanced phones was released to the whole world, people from all over the world from different nations were gobsmacked and startled!

This new company named [Virus] which no one knew from where it had popped up all of a sudden had made such an advanced phones which were so much better than the other brands around the world.

The quality of screen display for example was so godly people didn't know how it was possible, like for such a colorful screen to exist in a tech.

What they were used to were phones like Nokia 1100 with screen display like that of a calculator which they thought was the absolute high tech as it was also undestructible!

But now the whole world was suddenly seeing and shown such a screen display which was also a very wide and long screen and the more shocking thing about it was it worked by touching!

The phones they were seeing now though, which were called Virus iPhone 1(Apple iPhone 4), Virus Galaxy S I (Samsung Galaxy S II) , Virus Droid Bionic on Verizon, Virus EVO 3D, Virus ThunderBolt, and Virus Xperia Play, Each and everyone of them were amazing in their own way, they were so thin and chic that anyone who saw it once couldn't pass by it and had to buy it!

Another shocking thing was the camera! the camera was of so much high quality everyone were stunned by the fact that how such a small lens could have such a high quality.

And the most shocking thing was the price which was even less expensive than the most advanced phones of other companies, it was less than half the price of those other phones.

Everyone all around the world in all countries were lining up in this phones representative shops trying to buy one of these phones.

On the back of the phones was the mark of a brain, half of which were drawn like that of the lines on a chip, which could be said to be an artificial brain and the other half was natural brain drawn with lines! {Author: See the brain picture on the cover of the novel, it's like that.}

A boy and a girl had just bought two phones from a shop and came out playing it while exclaiming "Wow!!! playing with this phone is like I've gone to the future! it's so awesome!"

"Amazing! just absolutely amazing, who could have invented such awesome phones!"

Conversations like this were happening everywhere!

Each of these phones features were amazing so much that the other phone companies were despairing, they didn't know what to do anymore as they absolutely could not compete with these phones.

Even the governments like US were shocked by this as even they hadn't seen such technology, they wanted to see the founder and inventor of these phones and company and work with him/her as soon as possible.

After being shocked by the phones everyone's attention was brought to the company which had produced these amazing phones, the name of the company was [Virus], which everyone thought was quite a weird name to choose for a company and it's worth was skyrocketing by the second.

And stunningly owner of this company was only a single person! All hundred percent share of the company belonged to him and only him alone!

Newspapers and news were talking about this gigantic advance in phone technology and they all said only a single person's name as the owner of the company with 100 percent share control over the whole company, his name was Aizen Vee.

The CEO of the company though was a different person called Steven Greg which was said to work for Aizen Vee.

A WEEK LATER

Even a week later the phones were still selling like hot cakes! Everyone with the capability to buy wanted to buy one even if they had to borrow money.

While all these were happening and the world was still amazed by the new phones on the market, the owner of the [Virus] company, which was also named Virus was pondering to himself quietly inside his building thinking about something.

'So today's The Valentine's Day... I should at least go on a date with Ella today... hmmm yeah let's do that...' After thinking to himself he checked where Ella was and after seeing she was at college he started going down the elevator with the golden beauty outside, while they were going down Virus told the golden beauty to follow him from a distance without being seen with his black Lamborghini.

Going outside with a sunglasses, a red 2002 Chevrolet Corvette Convertible was parked outside for him, this was virus' new car.

Getting on it he started the engine and put his feet until the end speeding off to the distance in a moment.

As he was driving the car he thought 'These trashy cars are starting to get boring... maybe I should start a car company too and make better cars... . Yeah, that's a nice idea.'

As he got to the university of Ella, he drifted inside as he went directly to the place Ella was standing with her friends.

As he was going towards her and her friends place everyone were staring at the high class expensive car and the devilishly charming man who was driving it.

All the girls' eyes had turned to hearts either because of the man or because of both the car and the man together. Though it was mostly the latter.

And other than some man whose eyes also had turned to hearts the rest of men's eyes emitting electricity and fires of jealousy, like they had met their worst natural enemy.
.freewebnovel.com

After going closer to Ella's location he parked the car somewhere then got off of it and started walking slowly which with his glasses made him emanate a gentlemanly aura.

As he was slowly walking toward the group of Ella's friends two of them who were at the party the other night recognized him immediately saying "Hey look! It's that night's devilishly handsome man at the party who took away Ella with her!" The one who said this was one of Ella's best friends, her name was Grace Hill but she was not a beauty as she was of medium quality features.

The other girl was also another best friend of Ella name Faith York which was an average hot girl with a fit body, it was obvious she had put a lot time going to gym making that body, she said "yeah it's him! he's so handsome wish I could have him... Wow he seems to be a rich person, seeing him drive that car." She said as she had not seen his lamborghini the other night.