Chapter 10: We Broke Up

Qing Ye High School. Class three of 11th grade.

The morning study period had not officially started. Everyone was chatting, and the class was very noisy.

Suddenly, the class fell silent, and everyone turned their heads to look at the door.

A slender figure walked in the door.

After seeing the girl clearly, everyone couldn't resist staring.

Some boys couldn't help but whistle.

"A new transfer student?"

"Wow, she's a beauty!"

But some girls recognized the identity of the person.

"Xia Xibei?"

"No way! She can't be!"

Everyone looked at Xia Xibei in surprise as she was coming in, showing expressions of astonishment.

‘—This is Xia Xibei?!’

The old Xia Xibei had long bangs and always liked to lower her head. She didn't dare to show her face, and her personality was a bit gloomy.

Her body looked thin and weak, and everyone felt that she was malnourished.

Moreover, she always liked to wear loose-fitting clothes. From a distance, she looked like a walking cloth sack.

Coupled with her reticence, not many people liked to be close to her.

But today, her bangs, which almost covered her eyes, were clipped, revealing her delicate pale face.

Her hair, which was usually scattered, was tied into a ponytail, making her look full of youth and vitality.

Everyone realized that she was actually really beautiful!

Big eyes, straight nose, pink mouth, fair skin... What a perfect beauty!

Moreover, her clothes today fit very well. They were no longer the loose school uniform, but simple jeans and a T-shirt, showing off her long, straight, and slender legs.

Everyone discovered that she has amazing body proportions!

While she was only 170 cm, she gave people the illusion that she was 180 cm and that she was all legs below the neck!

Most importantly, the gloominess on her face was all gone!

After confirming her identity, everyone was shocked!

Did she get plastic surgery!?

But plastic surgery would not change your personality after just a few days!

Xia Xibei elegantly walked to her seat with pride under everyone's impressed gaze without being disturbed.

Sharing her desk was a thin boy named Tang Luo.

Tang Luo was about as tall as her. He had a dull personality, but he treated her well. He had at least helped her when other people bullied her.

Otherwise, Xia Xibei's life here would have been more difficult.

Tang Luo looked at the new Xia Xibei, and he was also very surprised. It made him talk, which was rare, "What did you do?"

"Nothing. I just figured out something."

Xia Xibei showed him a bright smile; it was intoxicating like a rainbow after the rain.

"As long as you figured it out." Tang Luo was startled, then he nodded and looked down at his book again.

"Thank you." Xia Xibei smiled sweetly at him, mesmerizing the boys next to him.

This scene caused several girls nearby to grind their teeth so hard they could have been crushed.

One of the girls had mean eyes, and she gazed at Xia Xibei with envy and hatred.

She then took out her phone and sent out a few messages.

After putting away her phone, a sullen smile appeared on her face.

Her phone vibrated while she was taking out her book.

She took out her phone and smiled sarcastically when she saw the name on it.

Her smile turned colder when she saw the message.

She hadn't even gone to find him, and he was already coming here. Fantastic!

Tang Luo could see Xia Xibei out of the corner of his eye, and he was amazed. She was really different today!

Xia Xibei sent a message.

“Let's break up.”

As soon as the end-of-class bell sounded, a male student showed up at the door, his face looking angry.

“Xia Xibei, get your ass out here!”
