Chapter 331 Journal of Death

Han Fei bombarded the forest at the bottom of the ocean with his long bow. His attacks were not exactly powerful. By his estimation, each attack cost him about 800 points of spiritual energy, which was something that Han Fei could bear.

Han Fei had a high capacity of spiritual energy and a well-tempered body, but for this Millennium Snapper, it only had 2,500 points of spiritual energy in total. It did not seem very good in terms of both defense and speed.

Bam! Bam! Bam!

The spiritual plants all exploded, and tremendous leaves from the tree were shredded. But to Han Fei's surprise, the branches of the tree were absolutely fine.

In the chaos, Han Fei glanced at the tree and checked its data.

<Name> Big Red Trunk

<Introduction> This is a strange wood that is from the ocean forest but has been growing here for unknown reasons. Because of malnutrition, it only has half its previous power. It's capable of sending forth a storm of swords. Its red leaves can unleash tremendous heat.

<Level> 38

<Quality> Mutated

<Spiritual Energy> 6,668 Points

<Effect> Inedible

<Collectible> Big Red Wood

<Absorbable>

Han Fei suddenly remembered that it was the material for the main keel of the boat on the list that the old man gave him.

Then, Han Fei immediately realized that this Big Red Trunk was a mutated version that was of a worse quality. Would it really be suitable as the main keel?

"Wait. While it can't serve as the main keel, it can definitely work as the side keel."

Han Fei was rather delighted. He had found one of the key materials for the boat even though he hadn't been to the Seaborne Prairie yet.

"Hyah..."

Han Fei came back to himself because of the singing. He saw that the Millennium Snapper flapped its fins and raised weird sound waves towards Han Fei.

“Humph! Break!” The fourth move of the War Soul Art was activated, and the soundwaves were immediately shattered. The Millennium Snapper was blown away by the brunt force and broke a tree into halves.

The moment the fish was blown away, the attacks of the plants all came to a stop.

Creak...

Smack...

Han Fei dashed to the Millennium Snapper, which was still trying to run and sing. But Han Fei simply took out his Water Dividing Seal and slapped it over.

This time, the fish had no strength to make a sound anymore. Han Fei even saw that some of its intestines were flowing out.

Like a demon, Han Fei stood before the Millennium Snapper and declared, “Bend or die... Demon Purification Pot, take it.”

Seeing that nothing happened, Han Fei slapped the fish again and threw it away.

“Collect it!”

“You’re still refusing? Would you rather be killed?”

BAM...

“Collect...”

BAM...

After repeating many times, the previously charming Millennium Snapper had been disfigured into an Iron-Head Fish, with broken fins, tail, intestines, and a mouth...

At this point, Han Fei had stuck the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Dagger in the belly of the fish and shouted, “If you can understand me, this is your last chance. Go in...”

Han Fei never expected that he would threaten a fish someday! When he ran into the Dragon Eel, it struggled too but gave up when it was exhausted.

But this Millennium Snapper was rather weird. It was weak and could only control the spiritual plants, but it was unwilling to surrender when it couldn’t make a sound anymore.

Thankfully, it finally yielded in the end.

However, after the Millennium Snapper gave up and was absorbed into the Demon Purification Pot, a shadow was left outside.

Han Fei was rather dumbfounded.

“Shoot... Who are you?”

Han Fei thought that he was having an illusion. He saw the fuzzy image of a human being. He could tell that it was a woman with a rather pretty face.

“Thank you...”

A weird voice popped up in Han Fei’s head.

Han Fei was greatly shocked. “Who are you?”

The image did not reply to Han Fei but simply went on, “Don’t... Eat the fruits...” “Huh? What fruits? Hey, who are you?”

Her voice was rather intermittent. “Don’t eat the fruits, or...”

“Or what? Please make yourself clear! Hey, can you hear me? Is the signal bad over there?”

However, the image grew dimmer and dimmer. “Don’t... Eat the fish.”

Han Fei almost burst into tears. “Wait... Sister, are you telling me not to eat the fruits or fish? What’s that supposed to mean? And who are you?”

But the image got vaguer and vaguer before Han Fei’s eyes, until he couldn’t hear her voice anymore. The forest fell into silence.

“Where was she from? How is she related to the Millennium Snapper?”

Regretfully, nobody could answer Han Fei’s question anymore. It was a mystery! But Han Fei remembered the woman’s warning not to eat the fruits or fish.

Han Fei did not quite understand why. What was wrong with having fish? He had fish every day back when he was in the Thug Academy, but nothing happened!

After collecting the Millennium Snapper, Han Fei turned to the tree and chopped it.

The moment Han Fei took action, red leaves were already falling.

However, a lot of red leaves on the tree had been consumed earlier, and its branches were getting bare.

It took Han Fei more than four hours to chop the wood. He separated the trunk from the branches and then threw all of them into Forge the Universe, which took up quite some space.

Even the root had been dug out by Han Fei. It seemed like a perfect material to make a sculpture and definitely shouldn’t be wasted!

After it was done, Han Fei felt that his trip was totally worth it. Not only had he collected a Millennium Snapper, but he had also found a side keel for his boat.

However, this place hadn’t been fully explored yet. While the Millennium Snapper had been gathered, there could be more treasures here.

After pressing forward for a thousand meters, Han Fei was rather scared to see a few tombs.

Those tombs had no tombstones or epitaphs. They were just seven piles of broken stones.

Han Fei was slightly surprised. Were they established by the woman he saw just now?

Seven tombs meant seven dead people, but there should be another person who buried them!

Han Fei looked around and saw a stone table and a stone chair not far away. Someone seemed to have lived here a long time ago.

He was rather surprised. Who would live in the ocean? Did they not need to breathe?

He approached the table and found that it was covered in mud. However, there seemed to be a fish skin under the mud.

Han Fei wiped the mud, and his eyes cramped. It really was a fish skin! However, this fish skin was ragged and mostly lost. Only a few words had been left on it. "Half a month ago, the eight of us entered the Seaborne Prairie. It's said that the extraordinary spiritual fruits here can change people's Spiritual Heritage. It's a miracle that I became a Dangling Fisher with level-one Spiritual Heritage, but it's too hard for me to make further progress! However, if I can change my Spiritual Heritage, everything will be changed..."

Han Fei was greatly surprised after just reading the first paragraph.

How persistent must the man have been to become a Dangling Fisher with level-one Spiritual Heritage?

Han Fei couldn't help but sigh. It seemed that a lot of people in this world didn't succumb to their fate. The man was indeed extraordinary.

Han Fei continued reading.

The man wrote, "While the Seaborne Prairie is dangerous, the forest below the prairie is even more so. One of us died before he was able to fight. There were terrifying octopi, black lobsters that were heavily armored, and appalling shellfish... Until we ran into the Big Red Trunk."

Han Fei's eyes glittered. Big Red Trunk? Was the Big Red Trunk in this place brought from the Seaborne Prairie?

But then Han Fei realized that this place must be twenty hundred kilometers from the Seaborne Prairie, which would take a whole day even if they were at full speed on a boat... Why did all of them die in this place?

Chapter 332 The Seaborne Prairie

The story continued on the fish skin. "Those Big Red Trunk seemed to be under the control of a certain mysterious power. We didn't break in until we ran out of our spiritual energy. Then, we saw the greatest wonder in this world..."

"It was a branch which seemed to have stretched out from the starry sky and covered almost ten thousand square meters. Full moons were dangling from the branch, and goddesses were singing in the shadows of the moon. The branch did not attack us but offered us its fruits..."

The rest of the fish skin was too broken to be read. Han Fei could clearly see the holes caused by sharp swords and the burns caused by fire.

Then, Han Fei saw familiar words again at the end of the fish skin.

“You must not eat the fruits... Those fruits were too delicious and improved my Spiritual Heritage easily. I felt that I was cleansed, and a strange power melted with me.. When I turned around, they tried to kill me...”

What came next was illegible. Obviously, whoever wrote the journal was beaten up. The fish skin was dyed red by his blood. There was no more content.

Han Fei grew wary. In any case, he bore it in his mind that there seemed to be a strange tree in the forest of Big Red Trunk below the Seaborne Prairie, and that the fruits of the tree were highly alluring but must not be eaten.

Han Fei collected the fish skin and searched for more leads, only to find nothing.

“This doesn’t make sense! How can those spiritual plants be flourishing without the support of enough spiritual energy?”

But after swimming around the place several times, which only had a coverage of five square kilometers, Han Fei found nothing but only several holes that connected to the outside world. It seemed that this place was based on nothing.

In the end, Han Fei could only regard it as a wonder of nature, like the ever-sprawling corals that seemed to contain all the colors in the world. They were simply there, even though people didn’t know why. Han Fei stopped wasting his time now that he didn’t find any treasure. Nothing here was valuable except for the Millennium Snapper and the mutated Big Red Trunk. This was not so much a treasure trove as an undersea wonder.

Han Fei did not think too much, as there were too many undersea wonders, such as the cliffs at the bottom of the ocean or the coral reefs.

Five days passed.

Han Fei finally came to the edge of the Seaborne Prairie according to the map.

He was relieved to see more and more plants in the water. Protruding his fishing hook out of the surface of the ocean and observing for a moment, he quietly ascended.

If his guess was correct, somebody must be hunting him on the surface of the ocean.

Two days earlier, he had run into a peak Dangling Fisher at the bottom of the ocean who charged at him without saying anything. Unintimidated, Han Fei summoned the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp, and the man immediately fled.

Because of that, Han Fei had been hunted for three consecutive days. He couldn’t have dodged those guys if Little Gold weren’t as fast.

At this point, Han Fei did not enter the Seaborne Prairie directly. While the bottom of the Seaborne Prairie was often explored, this place was famous not because of the bottom but because of its surface.

He thought that it would be a shame if he couldn't appreciate the Seaborne Prairie. He didn't think that the Sun Family could discover him. After all, the Seaborne Prairie was really huge.

On the surface of the ocean... The plants were less dense at the bottom of the ocean, but when Han Fei left the water, more and more seaweed covered the area.

The boat ascended to the sky.

Han Fei took a deep breath greedily and looked at the ocean that really looked like a prairie.

The surface of the ocean was a combination of seaweed and algae that was almost half a meter thick, enough for a human to walk on.

But of course, walking there could be as dangerous as walking in a swamp. One would never know what they would step on next.

The seaweed puffs were full of barnacles. Above the seaweed, the high reeds rose in clusters everywhere.

Han Fei finally knew why this place was dangerous. If a person walked on the seaweed around the reeds, it meant that they would see absolutely nothing except the sky above them.

There was no telling if a sea serpent would suddenly jerk from the bottom of the ocean, or if daggers would be darted to them from somewhere nearby.

Han Fei realized that the Seaborne Prairie was terrifying probably also because the Dangling Fishers' range of mental perception was not huge.

At this point, Han Fei looked at the distance and found that the reeds spread to a hundred kilometers away.

There were only two ways to enter the Seaborne Prairie: from the surface, and from the bottom.

Undoubtedly, certain special creatures must be hiding among the reeds. They might be less dangerous than those in the water, but Han Fei had never been there so he couldn't really tell. When he briefly stopped in the sky, someone flew a boat dozens of kilometers away.

"Shoot! Really? How can it be so coincidental?"

Han Fei was about to run, but that boat simply changed its course and flew away.

"Hu! How scary... Damn it. It's just a badge. What exactly is this Sea Token? Why are the people from the Thousand Star City trying to catch me in the level-three fishery? Is it really worth it?"

Han Fei was relieved knowing that the stranger was not from the Sun Family.

It was the tradition in the level-three fishery that most people were unwilling to have any sort of communication with others, unless they were pirates on ghost boats, because they couldn't tell if others were friendly or not. But of course, the rule did not apply to the strongest experts.

Eventually, Han Fei decided to land.

He thought that, since he was merely at the periphery of the Seaborne Prairie, it couldn't be too dangerous.

Besides, he had seen people around here, which meant that there must be plenty of adventurers at the edge of the Seaborne Prairie. After all, he could only see dozens of kilometers, and the Seaborne Prairie was much bigger. There must be people in other areas too.

When he was fifty meters from the surface, Han Fei began to perceive. He found a turtle hiding among the algae and some common fish that were of no threat to him.

So, he collected his boat and landed on the reeds softly.

After he landed, he was mired in the algae after only two steps.

"Hey! This road is rather tricky."

After that, Han Fei moved agilely and cleared the path with multiple Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers. The reeds on his way were all cut apart.

He had already examined those reeds with his perception, but it was possible that there might be hidden dangers.

After several hundred meters, Han Fei suddenly looked down, only to see a few Sea Stars which had climbed to his legs and were trying to penetrate their tentacles into Han Fei's skin.

"Hum..."

He unleashed his spiritual energy and shattered the Sea Stars into pieces.

Apart from the Sea Stars, several creatures that looked like tiny snakes suddenly lunged at Han Fei.

They were not really slow, but they were regular creatures after all, and they had been chopped into pieces before they could bite Han Fei.

"Huh? Should I go from the bottom? There does not seem to be any treasures here!"

After another couple of kilometers, Han Fei frowned. It was obviously unrealistic to travel on the Seaborne Prairie on foot, as the reeds were even denser than the algae in the water. Han Fei decided to give up.

When Han Fei was about to take out his boat, he had a strong sense of crisis and stepped aside subconsciously.

At that moment, Han Fei peeped at one side, only to see a flashing tongue that was thin and long like a noodle.

Hiu! Hiu! Hiu!

Han Fei was greatly shocked. How could a creature have sneaked up on him when he had been on full alert?

He had already slashed out with his Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers, but he missed his target. A gigantic creature jerked and rolled its tongue at Han Fei again.

Han Fei was not exactly scared with his two daggers, but the moment he saw the information, he trembled and fell back.

<Name> Green Arrow Venomous Frog <Introduction> This is an aggressive frog that lives in the Seaborne Prairie. They can kill beginner Dangling Fishers easily. They're good at disguises and live among the algae most of the time.

<Level> 35

<Spiritual Energy> 1,620 Points

<Effect> Inedible

<Collectible> Green Arrow Venom

<Absorbable>

Han Fei swallowed. A frog that could kill a beginner Dangling Fisher easily? He was slightly shocked, knowing that he probably couldn't resist the poison. The anti-poison fruits he had were only helpful when he was a great fishing master, but now that the venom had reached a new level, those fruits probably wouldn't help.

Immediately, Han Fei raised his hand and established water shields. Seeing that the Green Arrow Venomous Frog quickly disappeared into the reeds, Han Fei darted out thirty Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers and blocked its retreat.

"Puchi..."

The Green Arrow Venomous Frog was killed after it had just jumped into the algae. Its stomach was cut open, and three daggers were left in its head.

After clearing the reeds within thirty meters with the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers, Han Fei finally pulled the frog out carefully.

When he saw the patterns on the back of the Green Arrow Venomous Frog that were identical to the algae, he couldn't have looked more awful.

This creature had clearly fooled his senses earlier when he reached out with his perception.

"What a remarkable disguise, and it's just a rare creature."

"Huh? Is this the poison sac?"

Chapter 333 Unexpected Encounter In Water

When Han Fei plucked one of the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers from the back of the frog, he saw that its edge was green and knew that it had cut the poison sac.

Oddly enough, the back of the frog was in different shades, so it was hard to tell it from the algae, but the parts with a deeper color were where the venom was stored.

Han Fei had an idea when he saw the venom. Wouldn't it be easy and convenient to deal with strong enemies with venom?

Immediately, Han Fei took out several vials and carefully stored the venom of the frog.

After some hard work, Han Fei gathered about fifty ounces of venom.

Then, he sat on his boat and flew out of the Seaborne Prairie, ready to submerge where the seaweed was less dense.

A moment later, Han Fei appeared at the bottom of the sea. He was more or less scared by the dim creepy plants.

Back when he and his teammates explored the Deep-Sea Jungle in the level-two fishery, Wenren Yu came to their rescue many times.

This time, he didn't have any teammates, so he made a plan for himself. He could explore this place, but for no more than a thousand kilometers. He wouldn't press further until he confirmed that the creatures behind that boundary weren't too dangerous for him.

At the bottom of the ocean...

Han Fei swam forward silently and steadily.

He could see nothing but algae and seaweed that was slightly floating along with the water current.

He felt that his blood was freezing after a quick glance. He saw that much of the algae had been nibbled on by Spirit Devouring Bugs.

Those bugs were not horrifying when they were alone, but there were too many of them.

Han Fei kept a distance from the algae that were haunted by the Spirit Devouring Bugs. Although those insects were only level-three, anyone who approached a swarm of them would have no chance to regret it.

Thankfully, the algae weren't so dense at the edge of the Seaborne Prairie, and Han Fei could still avoid the Spirit Devouring Bugs. After about twenty kilometers, the algae grew intense, and Han Fei saw plenty of Ponytail Algae, which floated in the water like long snakes. Han Fei would've attacked them if he hadn't seen their roots.

But Han Fei was shocked when he entered the jungle of those Ponytail Algae as they trembled all of a sudden.

To Han Fei's shock, creatures that looked like lines extended from the inside of the Ponytail Algae.

<Name> Beauty's Beard

<Introduction> This is a bloodthirsty parasite that lives inside Ponytail Algae. They can be a hundred meters long and can suck their enemy's blood after entangling with them. They can be used to weave fishing nets.

<Level>33

<Quality> Rare

<Spiritual Energy> 516 Points

<Effect> Inedible

<Collectible> Vine Vein

<Absorbable>

Han Fei was slightly stunned. Those insects could be weaved into a fishing net? He had never seen such a material before.

Fishing nets were not a new concept, but there were no suitable materials for a fishing net in the level-one or level-two fisheries. The Blood Spider Silk was too thin to make a net. Han Fei did not expect to see a suitable material in the level-three fishery.

However, Han Fei was in no mood to weave a fishing net now, because he had been surrounded by Beauty's Beards and had to survive first.

Han Fei tried to cut the Beauty's Beards with the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers, but then he realized that those insects were smart enough to dodge his attacks.

After two attacks, Han Fei cut one of them, but when he turned around, he was surrounded by hundreds more.

"Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp, come out and dig holes."

Having no choices, Han Fei could only dig down. He had estimated that he would be tied up by the Beauty's Beards soon considering how slowly he was cutting them.

But out of Han Fei's expectation, roots of plants attacked him after he had just dug dozens of meters into the soil with the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp. "Huh? Are those plants all crazy?"

Han Fei cut them with the daggers and found that there were no Beauty's Beards so they could be chopped easily, so he asked the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp to continue.

Han Fei knew that the soil could be dangerous too, but it would still be much safer than the Beauty's Beards and the Spirit Devouring Bugs up above.

After Han Fei and the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp minced countless roots and killed dozens of Mess Swallowing Worms and sea serpents, he sensed enormous quakes above his head and asked the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp to dig upwards. But before he dug out, he found three people lurking inside the mud.

Han Fei: "???"

The three strangers: “???”

The mud exploded all of a sudden.

The three of them attacked Han Fei simultaneously.

“Great! We didn’t expect to meet someone else here. But you’re by yourself, and you should die.”

All the four of them rushed out of the mud and glared at each other.

Han Fei saw that the three strangers were using a hook, an axe, and a saber respectively. They were all beginner Dangling Fishers and in their fusion state. They seemed determined to kill him.

Han Fei was lost for words. “Hey! Let’s just talk nicely. Who are you people?” “Who are we? Hehe. Stop pretending. You know who we are. Kill him...”

The guy with a saber charged at Han Fei with enormous waves, and his companions covered him.

Han Fei spoke telepathically, Do you really not want to talk?

“You can talk to the Sea God... Die!”

BAM!

Hiu! Hiu! Hiu!

A terrifying power suddenly emerged, and the Water Dividing Seal knocked out the saber guy easily. The outbreak of the nine star chains was so unexpected that the hook guy had been tied up before he could react.

The axe guy was the poorest. He saw nothing but a gold and red flash, before he was blown a hundred meters away into the Ponytail Algae as if he had been hit by a hill.

“No... Help me...”

Han Fei saw that the man was instantly tied up by the Ponytail Algae, and countless tentacles were trying to crawl into his body. But since they couldn’t break his defense, they could only enter his eyes, ears, mouth and nose.

Han Fei was quite appalled by the scene. Was that the outcome of being caught by the Beauty’s Beards? It seemed rather bloody.

The other two strangers weren’t any better. The saber guy had been smashed into the mud by Han Fei’s seal.

But he abandoned his teammate and escaped, because he had recognized the gold and red flash to be a contractual spiritual beast that had wings.

Han Fei didn’t give him a chance at all. He had been too heavily wounded after the strike of the Water Dividing Seal to escape anyway.

Han Fei took out the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Bow and transformed 1,600 points of spiritual energy into an arrow, which rumbled through the running man. The man couldn't understand to his death how this stranger could be so strong when he was a beginner Dangling Fisher too.

The battle was not long or impressive. While Han Fei could hardly defeat a peak Dangling Fisher, he could crush five guys of his level very easily.

The last of them, handcuffed by the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp, was horrified when Han Fei walked to him slowly.

"Don't kill me. I can tell you everything."

Han Fei's lips curled. "Is that so? Someone told me that nobody is to be believed in the level-three fishery. If you want to live, tell me your secrets." The man said in panic, "I have secrets. I have..." Han Fei's eyes glittered. "Oh? Tell me about them. You have only one chance, and you'd better seize it."

The man looked at Han Fei as if he were a devil. "Will you really let go of me?"

Han Fei said impatiently, "If you waste any more of my time, I'll send you to the Sea God."

The man shivered and said, "I know a treasure trove three thousand kilometers into the Seaborne Prairie."

Han Fei stared at the man without blinking. Three thousand kilometers? He had met a lot of dangers after he just traveled a hundred kilometers, and this guy thought he could go three thousand?

Han Fei said, "I said you only had one chance. You're telling me that the three of you could go three thousand kilometers into it? You think I'm an idiot?"

The man shook his head quickly. "No! No! We have a map."

Han Fei was refreshed. "Give me that!"

Chapter 334 Hunting

Han Fei was given not a new map but a well-worn one. The wear and tear on the fish skin suggested that the map was made a long time ago.

He asked curiously, "Where did you get this map?"

The man hesitated and said, "Fr... From someone else."

Han Fei nodded and asked, "You attacked me the moment you saw me, and your teamwork was not bad. It couldn't have been your first time. So, are you in the ghost boat business?"

"Yes."

The man did not deny it. Battles were anything but unusual for the pirates on ghost boats. If Han Fei hadn't killed two of them so quickly, there would have been a lot of ways for them to turn things around.

Han Fei asked in confusion, "Then why were you lurking here? Did you know that someone would drop by?"

The man nodded. "Actually, the Seaborne Prairie is a place where ghost boats are gathered in the level-three fishery, because it's very easy to hide in this place. Anyone who wants to hunt us down might be killed first here."

Han Fei raised his eyebrow. "So, there are a lot of pirates in this place?"

"Yes."

Han Fei asked, "How many are out there exactly?"

The man thought for a moment said, "There's always a pirate team every hundred kilometers. But they never press too deep into the Seaborne Prairie, which would be lethal even for us."

Han Fei realized that the place was much livelier than he had expected.

According to what the man said, Han Fei would be hunted every hundred kilometers if he roamed at the edge of the Seaborne Prairie.

It was only logical. After all, Han Fei was all by himself, and he was perfect prey as a beginner Dangling Fisher.

Han Fei asked, "What's the furthest place you've been to?"

The man replied, "Three hundred kilometers. We lost two men that time."

Han Fei was rather surprised. Two beginner Dangling Fishers were killed after only three hundred kilometers? That was a high casualty rate!

Han Fei recalled the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp and Little Gold.

The man's eyes were cramping. He had never seen a spiritual beast with wings, and he knew that this young man couldn't be anyone ordinary. Those two powerful spiritual beasts told him that this young man was a monster.

When the man thought in fright that he would probably be killed, Han Fei suddenly said, "I said I wouldn't kill you, and I won't. You can go now!"

Stunned and exhilarated, the man crawled into the mud and escaped.

But he was too busy running to see that Han Fei was shaking his head.

Han Fei shattered the treasure map into pieces with his spiritual energy because he knew that it was a fake one. He might've been interested to explore it if the map was authentic.

Han Fei sneered. You may have a chance of survival to run to other places in the forest, but why are you running outwardly?

During these days, Han Fei had been on thin ice himself because he knew that a lot of people must be searching the edge of the Seaborne Prairie. He never showed up on the surface of the water even when he had to breathe.

This man would likely be interrogated when he was caught. He might survive if he hadn't seen Little Gold, but now that he had seen it, it was barely possible for him to survive.

But Han Fei did not consider it a big deal. He dug in the mud and found the Sea Swallowing Seashell of the man his arrow killed.

There wasn't a lot of good stuff in the Sea Swallowing Seashell. Just a boat, a spiritual fruit, twenty thousand mid-quality pearls, and two low-quality spiritual blades. They were not valuable, but Han Fei did not refuse them, not after his huge losses earlier.

Han Fei did not leave immediately. He worked for a long time in a secret corner and established a Spirit Gathering Array as well as a few ancillary arrays.

The moment the Spirit Gathering Array took shape, spiritual energy was already flowing to this place from all directions.

Han Fei nodded in satisfaction. The speed of the Spirit Gathering Array was almost as good as a Dangling Fisher cultivating in this place.

As he expected, after only several seconds, the Ponytail Algae stuck out their tongues, and the Beauty's Beards were gathered. Han Fei saw that crabs, snakes, and conchs were revealing themselves from the mud and the plants too. Many Spirit Devouring Bugs were floating to this place too.

Han Fei casually put a tiny bottle here that contained a drop of the venom from the Green Arrow Venomous Frog.

He sneered and said, "Hey! Sun Family, this will be my gift for you."

At the edge of the Seaborne Prairie...

Zhang Ming escaped crazily and did not stay in the Seaborne Prairie at all, because he would certainly be killed and robbed when he was spotted by other ghost boats in this place.

Ascending in his boat and unleashing his spiritual energy, he was finally relieved when he was hundreds of kilometers away from the Seaborne Prairie. He swore that he would never get off from a dragon boat after he found one.

However, while he was looking forward to the future, three boats suddenly emerged from the clouds.

A moment later...

Zhang Ming almost burst into tears. You're peak Dangling Fishers! Why are you doing the ghost boat business too?

Now, Zhang Ming was on his knees on the deck, and one of the strangers asked him coldly, "Have you ever seen this young man?"

The second group of pirates that Han Fei encountered included five people. Due to the restriction of the terrain, three of them escaped after the battle.

At this point, Han Fei was picking up the two Sea Swallowing Seashells and establishing arrays again. Different from earlier, Han Fei established a stealth array and a spirit explosion array, which could heavily wound a peak Dangling Fisher if not kill them. Han Fei had dropped the idea to save spiritual energy for arts deduction or to reach new levels. This Seaborne Prairie was dangerous, and he should preserve his spiritual energy in case he needed it.

After three hundred kilometers, Han Fei found that a battle once took place here, as indicated by the broken algae and the bodies of the Spirit Devouring Bugs.

Han Fei frowned at the red wood before his eyes. Was this the dangerous place that the people he saw referred to?

Earlier, the journal he retrieved from the Millennium Snapper stated that there was Big Red Trunk in the Seaborne Prairie.

However, he didn’t see any Big Red Trunk but a lot of Sea Red Wood.

The Sea Red Wood was almost an excellent material for boats, but it was definitely not the greatest treasure three hundred kilometers into the Seaborne Prairie could offer.

However, the traces of logging nearby implied that most people wandered in the Seaborne Prairie to chop the Sea Red Wood, which was the easiest thing for most adventurers in the level-three fishery.

Han Fei continued his exploration without staying. When he was five hundred kilometers in, he saw a black fish swallowing the Spirit Devouring Bugs on the algae.

<Name> Scavenger

<Introduction> They’re the cleaners in the ocean that eat algae, moss, fish, bodies, and almost everything else. It has hard armor and can barely be killed. Its fins can be made into magic weapons.

<Level> 36

<Quality> Rare

<Spiritual Energy> 1,826 Points

<Effect> It will result in the chaos of spiritual energy when eaten.

<Collectible> Fins

<Absorbable>

Han Fei was rather stunned. It was probably the first fish he had seen to cause negative effects when eaten.

At this point, the Scavenger had already seen Han Fei. Immediately, its fins were opened up, and its head and tail rose like hard bones, making it look like a hedgehog.

Han Fei swam close and planned to observe it more carefully, and it simply crouched in the water without swimming away.

Clang, Clang...

Han Fei tapped it with the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Dagger, and a crisp sound echoed in the sea.

“Interesting. I’ll spare you if you can take a full-strength attack from me.” Han Fei raised his dagger and slashed it down, gathering his spiritual energy and launching an attack.

“Puchi...” “Huh? I didn’t even break its skin?”

Han Fei’s eyes widened. He found that this creature was different from the Scavengers he knew in that it had nothing but skin and bones.

More importantly, its skin was half a foot thick. Han Fei could barely tell whether it was skin or flesh.

He was lost for words, and also shocked, because it was the first fish that could resist a full-strength attack from him. Its defense was unbelievable.

“Huh! Could my Indestructible Body be like this later?”

Han Fei shivered. He decided that he might as well kill himself if his body was going to turn into such a wretched look.

Suddenly, Han Fei’s eyes grew cold. He sensed a vague quake below his feet and dropped his easiness.

“They’re coming faster than I expected, aren’t they?”

Chapter 335 Who’s the Prey?

Zhang Ming was dead.

His eyes were widened before his head. Right in the place where Han Fei just set him free, he was tied up by countless Beauty’s Beards after he broke out of the soil and then was cut into two parts by a pair of gigantic pincers.

The guys who came with Zhang Ming were all shocked to see that.

This place had been enshrouded by the Beauty’s Beards as well as other lurkers. The moment they emerged from the soil, a couple of snakes mauled them.

The few peak Dangling Fishers attacked simultaneously, mincing the Beauty’s Beards and wiping out the conchs, snakes, and crabs. “Humph. It’s definitely that boy.”

Someone said, “That guy is a genius. He set up a Spirit Gathering Array here and attracted a lot of creatures. It seems that he spared that guy intentionally. He knew that we were after him.”

Another person replied, “He’s indeed something, or we wouldn’t have been deployed to catch him. However, he still underestimated the peak-level Dangling Fishers. He really thinks that the Beauty’s Beards and those regular creatures could kill us?”

One of them sneered at the tiny bottle in the Spirit Gathering Array. “The pivot of the array is here. Humph... That little thief can’t be far away.”

He reached his hand for the bottle. In his experience, good stuff was often placed at the pivot of the array to bait other creatures.

“Wait a moment.”

Someone had just reminded him when the bottle as well as the Spirit Gathering Array exploded, turning the whole place into a mess.

A huge crater was left on the ground after the explosion, and the seven people escaped rapidly, covered in dust.

“Fool, do you really think that the boy is an idiot? How could he have not set up traps?”

All of them looked awful. It was really embarrassing that they were tricked by a boy when they were peak-level Dangling Fishers. The guy holding the bottle was about to respond, but his face changed greatly. His hands and his face quickly turned green, with blood of the same color running out.

“Not good! It’s the venom of the Green Arrow Venomous Frog!” The other six people all backed off, their faces changing greatly. “Anti... dote...”

The poisoned man was frightened. The skin all over his body had turned green after only one minute, and green blood was leaking nonstop.

“Who took the antidote for the Green Arrow Venomous Frog?”

One of the six guys asked with an awful expression. However, his companions all shook their heads. The Green Arrow Venomous Frogs lived on the surface of the water. They never thought that the antidote to those frogs would be needed in the water.

One of them said, “Sun Qun, protect your heart with your spiritual energy. Hang in there until we come back...”

Then, the six of them looked at each other and swam to the surface of the ocean simultaneously.

It was not difficult to find the antidote to the Green Arrow Venomous Frogs. If Han Fei had searched the reeds, he would’ve found certain plain-looking fruits.

Though those fruits were unremarkable, they could resolve the venom of the Green Arrow Venomous Frogs.

Of course, the antidote was only needed because the victim was a peak-level Dangling Fisher. If he were a beginner Dangling Fisher, he would’ve died already several seconds after he was poisoned.

After about half an hour, all of them returned, but they all looked very awful, as Sun Qun had already died. He had turned completely green and black. “Damn it!”

They couldn’t be angrier. Sun Qun took the blast of the explosion first. Although the explosion did not hurt him, it stimulated the spiritual energy in his body, and plus with the poison of the Green Arrow Venomous Frog, he had been killed as a peak-level Dangling Fisher.

“Let’s go after him! The boy can’t be far away since he lured us to come here. I’m going to find out what a beginner Dangling Fisher can possibly do.”

Since the moment of the explosion, Han Fei had established a Spirit Gathering Array and a Spirit Explosion Array. They were not meant to kill anyone.

Han Fei knew very well that even ten explosions might not be enough to kill a peak-level Dangling Fisher.

However, Han Fei needed the Spirit Gathering Array and the Spirit Explosion Array to navigate them and show them that he was here.

After setting up the arrays, Han Fei crept into the Sea Red Wood. Starting from this moment, he would play an exciting game with the hunters.

Han Fei did not know what was ahead of him, but he was confident of his agility. The Beauty's Beards and the Spirit Devouring Bugs were no threat for him at all.

Instead of roaming the wood casually, Han Fei sped up.

There were a lot of dangers in the wood. Han Fei personally saw that a long insect opened its mouth widely and bit him when he passed by.

Having seen it coming, Han Fei smashed it with his seal, breaking both the insect and the tree.

Sea spiders were floating among the leaves too. Threads were everywhere when Han Fei passed. He was caught in the spider threads many times and had to cut them with the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers. Thanks to his speed, he avoided many dangers before they burst out.

After every dozen kilometers, Han Fei would drop a pack of spiritual energy behind him.

"Hum..."

The water shivered again, and Han Fei smiled. The second Spirit Explosion Array had been detonated, so the third one must be underway. "Hehe. Game on."

Several hundred kilometers behind Han Fei, the six-man team looked awful as they suffered another explosion.

"Damn it. Did that boy think that he could kill us with such minor arrays? I really don't know what's on his mind."

"Don't be angry, the boy is luring us to go forward. A thousand kilometers far is a boundary. Let's go there first and see if the boy dares to press further."

Someone reminded them, "Be careful. He is a spirit gatherer, and he must've left a lot of arrays on his way. We'll be in trouble if he creates arrays in the Sea Red Wood."

"It doesn't matter. It isn't so easy to create arrays in the Sea Red Wood. The creatures there aren't strong but huge in number. He can't create arrays and fight simultaneously, can he?"

Out of their expectation, that was exactly what Han Fei was doing.

At this point, the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp, Little Gold, and Little Black were slaughtering the spiders in the Sea Red Wood crazily. Those spiders were rare creatures that had extremely tensile threads.

But none of their threads could approach Han Fei. The Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp, on the other hand, had almost been fully tied up. It could not go stealthy, and its chains were not as sharp as Little Gold's wings. So, the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp was quite uncomfortable.

Han Fei said, "Almost there. Don't be hasty. We'll let them be tied up by spider threads.

Half an hour later...

Han Fei was standing outside of a purple bamboo wood. Different from the bamboo wood in the Deep-Sea Jungle in the level-two fishery, this one seemed to be a barrier that separated the inner part of the Seaborne Prairie from the outer part.

Han Fei examined the purple bamboo carefully and found a lot of Walkingsticks that were almost identical to the bamboo.

Below his feet, Han Fei found a few insects that looked like earthworms. They were smooth and footless, but they felt as dangerous as the Mess Swallowing Worms.

Even so, Han Fei did not pass the barrier recklessly, because neither the Walkingsticks nor the weird earthworms were strong, which was weird. At this point, another earthquake came close, and Han Fei was rather surprised. Those people had come to the Sea Red Wood already?

Immediately, Han Fei rushed into the purple bamboo wood without caring about anything else.

He could always hide in Forge the Universe when his life was at risk, but his pursuers certainly couldn't. He had decided to lead them to the most dangerous places.

Right after Han Fei passed the thousand-kilometer boundary, the hunters from the Sun Family were dumbfounded. They had expected another Spirit Explosion Array, but they were caught in a Water Dungeon Array

"Damn it. Break it now!"

Hiu! Hiu! Hiu!

They were truly in a flurry, wondering how the horde of creatures they met every dozens of kilometers were gathered. Here, as long as they were trapped in the Water Dungeon Array for a moment, they would be tied up by spider threads.

More importantly, even if they could break free, the tricks that Han Fei played were consuming too much of their spiritual energy.

Chapter 336 Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus

When there was a forest, there would be insects, whether the forest was above or under water.

Walkingsticks were large insects that were best at disguising themselves. Sometimes, when one stared at a twig for a long time and confirmed that it was a twig, it was actually a Walkingstick.

Han Fei regretted it the moment he barged into the bamboo wood, because he found that the Walkingsticks he perceived were only a tiny proportion of the population.

At this point, he was still moving on rapidly, when one of the purple bamboos suddenly moved.

Han Fei felt terrible. He had been looking for insects on the bamboo. Little did he anticipate that the bamboo could be insects themselves.

Also, there was more than one of them. When Han Fei stopped briefly, he found that at least five of the ten bamboo shoots were Walkingsticks.

“F*ck...”

Han Fei immediately went in half-stealth mode and quickly cut the insect limbs with two daggers.

“Chila...”

Clink, Clink...

Cl

The limbs were harder than he expected. Han Fei thought that they could be used to build magic weapons.

A moment later, Han Fei’s face changed. Different from other insects, the Walkingsticks had pointy hooks at the front end of their limbs, and those hooks weren’t shown unless they were attacking. What shocked Han Fei was that the hooks were so penetrative that they could stab into his skin!

Thankfully, the Walkingsticks weren’t exotic creatures, or he would’ve been riddled with holes if all of them poked their hooks in him.

Clank, Clank, Clank...

Han Fei swam quickly amidst the noise and ignored the minor injuries. It had occurred to him that earthworms with appalling fangs would emerge from the soil if he slowed down.

Han Fei had been accidentally bitten when he was dodging the Walkingsticks, and hundreds of tentacles stretched out from the big worm and intended to tie him up. Han Fei was so scared that he launched a spiritual energy explosion immediately.

To his astonishment, the big worm kept biting him when it had been half blown up, and it seemed to be planning to attack further.

“I’m going to kill you!”

The big worm was finally cut into pieces by thirty Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers, but when he was delayed, the tentacles of the Walkingsticks and other big worms popped up again.

“Little Gold, attach and retreat...”

Han Fei cast the Divine Healing Technique on himself and fled. He knew that the Water Dungeon Array couldn’t stop the pursuers forever, and he had to find a place more dangerous before they broke free.

In the middle of the Sea Red Wood, one of the guys from the Sun Family gathered half of his spiritual energy and crumbled the Water Dungeon Array.

He launched another attack and cut dozens of spiders apart.

Their leader shouted, "Sun Qi, you will retreat first. Whatever it takes, inform Young Master Sun Mu of what has happened!"

Sun Qi was the guy who broke the Water Dungeon Array. In order to break the array, Sun Qi had not just consumed half of his total spiritual energy but also his mental power. He couldn't be back to his peak state soon after the attack.

Sun Qi nodded and said, "Wait for me."

Sun Qi turned around and left, and the other five didn't look too good. Their leader said, "Don't let the boy weaken us again. We'll circumvent the next Spirit Gathering Array we see."

While the people of the Sun Family were stuck in the array, Han Fei finally passed through the bamboo wood, but he had tiny holes all over him and looked like a beehive.

Han Fei found himself to be in a spacious place with seaweed and reefs everywhere. Above him were entangled algae, and below his feet were countless shells, mostly broken and in various colors.

Not far away, Han Fei saw a huge clam opening and closing, and several Black Moon Sickle Fish were swimming quickly amongst the reef.

Han Fei was slightly relieved. This place seemed much safer than the bamboo wood. He should be safe as long as he stayed away from the algae.

However, when Han Fei was about to press forward, he noticed an enormous eyeball staring at him hundreds of meters away. On a closer look, he found that it was on the head of an enormous dark green snake.

"Shoot..."

Data popped up in his eyes.

<Name> Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus

<Introduction> This is a mutated creature that's developed from a combination of multiple eggs. It's appallingly fast and aggressive. It can swallow creatures ten times its size. It's highly venomous.

<Level> 39

<Quality> Exotic <Spiritual Energy> 4,568 Points

<Effect> Inedible

<Collectible> None

<Absorbable>

"Shoot..."

Han Fei was stunned for a moment. He had thought that it was a snake, but it turned out to be an octopus?

Another seven heads suddenly emerged next to the first snake head, which were gruesome.

Han Fei had goosebumps all over his body. He could accept a three-headed snake, or an eight-headed one, but how could this creature have eight snake heads and a shark head? How did it grow?

Han Fei stepped back when the eight snake heads and the shark one stared at him, knowing that he must've trespassed on the creature's nest.

He had sensed spiritual fruits behind the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus. It was not one of the fruits on trees but growing among bushes.

Those spiritual fruits must be extraordinary since they had such a protector. If it were any other time, Han Fei might've fought this freak and tried to kill it.

But this day was different. He had people chasing him! Now, he had to slip away from this creature, or it would attack him relentlessly if nobody else distracted it.

Han Fei did not intend to enter Forge the Universe here. By his estimation, strong as the creature was, it was only equal to a peak-level Dangling Fisher at best.

If he had more than one hunter, this creature would definitely be killed by them.

He didn't think that this creature was as invincible as it seemed. So, if he were to enter Forge the Universe here, when would he get out?

Han Fei's plan was to consume the spiritual energy of his pursuers without giving them any time to rest. Then, he would attract a lot of creatures to a dangerous place and let them kill the pursuers.

Even if the pursuers weren't killed, it would be very easy for him to finish them off.

But it seemed that he had to give up his plan now. For a moment, Han Fei was in a dilemma.

"Damn it. Let's do this."

The water surged, and the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp and Little Gold were released at the same time.

The moment the two legendary creatures were released, Han Fei saw that the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus retreated its heads.

Han Fei said, "Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp, stay there and watch it. Little Gold, too. Don't attack until I ask you to."

As he spoke, Han Fei carved the mud with three Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers. This time, Han Fei did not create an array with spiritual energy but carved it with daggers, which was much more difficult.

Also, it was not a Spirit Gathering Array but a Stealth Array

The Stealth Arrays that Han Fei had deployed earlier could only hinder other people's senses at best and prevent them from seeing things clearly.

However, Han Fei had to wager on the Stealth Array that he wasn't very familiar with, because the octopus would definitely follow him if he were to leave immediately, and the pursuers would be here in no time if he stayed.

After a minute, a complicated pattern took shape, but it was not enough. Han Fei filled spiritual energy into the lines, and the Stealth Array was finally activated.

When the Stealth Array was filled with spiritual energy, the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus moved again.

“Damn it! Don’t panic! This is not a Spirit Gathering Array! Don’t be excited!”

Han Fei hurried to establish a Spirit Explosion Array outside of the Stealth Array. He had planned to threaten the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus with it, but the creature only got more excited.

Han Fei’s face immediately changed. “Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp, Little Gold, expand to your maximal size.”

Receiving Han Fei’s message, the two contractual spiritual beasts bulged, and a moment later, two monsters thirty meters long appeared.

The Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus was briefly stunned. Though it was opening its mouths nonstop as if it was going to challenge them, it didn’t move in the end. Different creatures could perceive each other. Even though the exotic creature was of a higher level, it was naturally scared of a legendary creature.

Han Fei was slightly relaxed and dug into the mud. He didn’t know if the Stealth Array could trick his pursuers. For his safety, he decided to hide in the soil.

He had made up his mind that he would take shelter in Forge the Universe for a couple of times if he was unfortunately exposed.

He waited half an hour, and his pursuers were still not coming. The Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp’s tails had almost been extended to the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus’s face, and the creature’s snake heads had bared their fangs.

“Hurry up! If you don’t come, I’ll have to fight this creature first!”

While Han Fei waited anxiously, he heard bamboo shoots being broken behind him.

Immediately, Han Fei buried himself in the soil and recalled the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp and Little Gold.

The Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus was stunned. It finally gathered enough courage to fight its enemies, but where had the enemies gone?

Chapter 337 Cunning Villain

Broken Walkingsticks were everywhere in the bamboo wood, and dozens of bamboo shoots were shattered by a cold saber.

The five people of the Sun Family had finally passed through the purple bamboo wood.

They saw the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus the moment they came out. At this point, the creature was about to extend its eight big heads into the Stealth Array that Han Fei set up, when five strangers suddenly showed up. It was rather shocked.

The five people of the Sun Family were taken back too. They hurried to stop their charge.

“H0000000...”

The eight snake heads suddenly roared. The two tough monsters had gone, only to be replaced by another five monsters that were even stronger, so the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus subconsciously decided to flee.

However, the people of the Sun Family didn't know that the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus was running. Usually, an octopus would boost itself with its tentacles when it was running.

But as it happened, this creature's tentacles were snakes, and when it began to flee, all the snakes were straightened and darted at the people of the Sun Family.

“Watch out! Disperse and tame it!”

After an order, the five of them dispersed. One of them raised a bow and shot arrows at it.

One of them went straight at the creature's tongues with a long whip.

As for the remaining three of them, one opened the weapon box and unleashed weapons, one retreated to the rear and injected spiritual energy into his companions, and the last summoned tremendous amounts of algae that rolled towards the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus.

Han Fei secretly sighed after seeing that. They were only short a hunter to make a team of all the five professions. But even so, they were still very strong. That creature could unlikely resist them unless their spirit gatherer and manipulator were down.

Han Fei's first thought was to build hidden weapons, but there was no time for him to craft any in Forge the Universe now. Who knew when the battle would be over?

He had needles, but they were all magic weapons and could barely penetrate through their spiritual energy protective covers.

“No, the spirit gatherer must die.”

The Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus was dumbfounded. I'm already fleeing! What more do you want from me? Aren't you taking advantage of me?

The strange octopus burst into fury when it was hit by Torrents of Knives and Swords, and its eight snake heads roared simultaneously.

However, before it finished its roar, a sharp arrow was shot into one of its heads and blew up the eyeball. Only half of this head remained.

The soul warrior who held the bow said, “It's very sturdy. Surround it and we'll kill it together.”

At this point, the water was overshadowed by algae. Seeing that it could not escape, the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus finally counterattacked.

“Ho000000...”

The eight sneak heads expanded by multiple times and spurted out green stinky puke.

Han Fei, who was hiding in the mud, saw a good chance. Now that the manipulator had blocked everybody's vision with the sea algae, he had a window to take action.

Han Fei immediately summoned Little Black and Little White.

Han Fei said, "Go bite that spirit gatherer." Seeing that Little Black was out, Han Fei pressed Little White, fearing that he might be exposed. But the guys were too occupied in the battle to notice the noises below the ground. They thought that it was only the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus's roar.

The spirit gatherer shouted, "Not good! This monster is venomous! Keep your spiritual energy protective cover on!"

All of them were greatly shocked and hurried to take shelter when the enormous tongues of the monster bit them. Regretfully, they were all on the same level as the monster.

The Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus wouldn't be scared at all to fight any one of them, but now that there were five of them, it couldn't defeat them even if it were legendary. However, since it was a time of life and death, the monster could only try its best. It simply stuck out its tongues.

In the next moment, two waves of air, one freezing and the other scorching, gushed out.

Crack...

The man with the long whip was frozen together with his weapon.

Crack!

The ice was broken, and the man hurried to cut the tongue with his long whip. But suddenly, he felt pain on his calf, as if something just bit him.

"Damn it. Something else is around here. Watch it."

Yes, Han Fei had asked Little Black to change its target. In this fierce battle, everybody had been maintaining their spiritual energy protective cover, and it was definitely the best choice to attack those whose spiritual energy protective cover was broken.

The manipulator asked, "What other things are there here? I've just examined the place. Did you feel something wrong?"

The whip guy frowned. He attacked and looked at his calf, only to see that part of his flesh had been bitten off.

However, he did not consider it a big deal and merely thought that someone's weapon accidentally touched him.

It escaped his attention that a drop of bright green liquid, enshrouded in a water current, was sent into his body.

Han Fei swallowed in delight. One of them was down! Even if the man was not killed, he would be no threat if he lost half of his combat ability.

At this point, the scales on the surface of the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus had been crumbled. Immediately, it was riddled with holes by the overwhelming sea algae.

In the meantime, the five people of the Sun Family were attacked too.

The armorer slashed his saber, and after a flash, one of the snake heads was cut off.

“H0000000...”

The place was a complete mess. The strange octopus burst into a fury when the snake head was cut off, and it darted out its scales, making everybody’s face change.

One of them shouted, “Shield...” The armorer immediately unleashed multiple shields from the weapon box to block the incoming scales.

Hiu...

At this point, the archer shot another arrow and blew up another one of the snake heads.

The Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus had lost two and a half heads. The half head had been broken by the same archer earlier.

Han Fei grew impatient. Monster, work harder! You’ll lose all your heads if you don’t do anything! You look scary, why don’t you do something scarier? While Han Fei was complaining, nobody noticed that the snake head that had been chopped off suddenly bounced and bit through the armorer’s spiritual energy protective cover, before it bit the man’s hand off again.

Han Fei was immediately excited. He didn’t see that coming at all. Good job!

Immediately, drops of venom were delivered into the armorer’s body with the water current.

Exactly at this moment, the whip guy’s face changed. “Not good. I’ve been poisoned.”

The manipulator asked in shock, “Since when?”

Everybody stepped back, only to see that the whip guy’s face had turned green.

The spirit gatherer roared, “Take the antidote now. This is the Green Arrow Frog Venom. That boy is somewhere around here.”

Han Fei realized that he had been exposed. He was surprised that it only took them three seconds to associate him with the poisoning.

He was even more surprised to see that the man took out a fruit. He didn’t know that there was an antidote.

Han Fei couldn’t wait anymore. He could not allow the man to take the antidote even if he had to be exposed.

Hiu! Hiu! Hiu!

Shooting three arrows, Han Fei revealed himself. Although he had only poisoned two people, it shouldn't be a problem for him to resist the remaining soul warrior, the spirit gatherer, and the manipulator.

"Not good!"

"Little thief."

"Get out of the way."

Han Fei's arrows weren't very powerful. Apart from the arrow of 800 points of spiritual energy that was aimed at the whip guy, the other two arrows were fired at the snake heads.

The spiritual fruit that the whip guy was holding was blown up by the unexpected arrow.

Han Fei shouted, "If you want a fight, bring it on! I'm going to crush all of you today!"

However, the spirit gatherer whispered, "Careful! Disperse now!"

As it turned out, the strange octopus had gone crazy after being shot by another two arrows, and it finally opened its shark mouth that had remained closed so far. "H00000000..."

The surging soundwaves trembled the water within thousands of meters. Han Fei felt that his brain almost exploded.

"Soul attack?"

Han Fei was shocked. Even more shockingly, a snake head appeared before Han Fei in the blink of an eye. It was too fast.

It was not until this moment that Han Fei recalled that this creature was described to be extremely fast.

Han Fei launched the Water Dividing Seal immediately, but he had been blown into the purple bamboo wood before he turned his head around.

The other guys were blown back together with him. To Han Fei's shock, he saw one of the snake heads biting the archer and waving him around crazily. Then, the man was easily bitten into halves.

Shoot... Why didn't you go on a rampage sooner, octopus? If you had, I wouldn't have needed to reveal myself!

Chapter 338 Complete Annihilation

It never occurred to Han Fei that someone would be bitten in half directly.

To Han Fei's surprise, he found that the whip guy had taken out another fruit and was sending it to his mouth.

Hiu...

He immediately shot another arrow, but it was too late. Though the man was bleeding because of the poison, he still blocked the attack as a peak-level Dangling Fisher.

Besides, the monstrous octopus seemed to have completely lost interest in him after he was poisoned, and it was attacking the rest of the human beings.

“Attach! Attach!”

Han Fei immediately unfurled his wings and, dodging an enormous snake head, carried a mottled rod on his shoulder.

Seeing that Han Fei was going straight at him, the whip guy roared, “Little thief, you can’t kill me even if I’ve been poisoned!”

“Say that again after you take this attack.”

The iron rod was slashed down and collided with the long whip. Crack! Crack! Crack!

The long whip, which was a spiritual weapon, was broken, and the whip guy vomited green blood, but he evaded Han Fei’s attack.

Sensing something behind him, Han Fei did not even bother to look back. He simply unleashed thirty Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers at the enemy.

The best time to kill an enemy was when he was sick.

Han Fei knew that very well and would certainly not give the man any time to rest. He pressed the Water Dividing Seal down like a hill and stabbed a Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Dagger at him.

The whip guy was very anxious. Everything was happening so fast that he had no time to cry for help. He widened his eyes and glared at Han Fei. “If you want me to die, just die with me.”

His broken whip was straightened like a sword and it stabbed into Han Fei’s body.

Boom...

They crashed and fell on a cluster of purple bamboo. A Walkingstick was about to attack them but was squashed by them.

Han Fei vomited blood as the long whip penetrated through his abdomen, but the whip guy was even poorer. He had been stabbed in the neck by Han Fei, but he stuck the long whip to Han Fei’s abdomen towards his death.

“Ho000000...”

Han Fei sensed a stinky wind without looking back. He hurried to pick up the guy below him and sheltered himself behind the guy, but in the next second, half of the guy’s body was gone.

“Shoot...”

Ignoring the pain, Han Fei drew out the long whip and cast the Divine Healing Technique on himself. He then flapped his wings and flew towards the armorist.

Because everything happened too fast, the armorist hadn’t realized that he was poisoned yet. He had just minced one of the snake heads when Han Fei passed him.

He couldn't have looked more awful when he saw Han Fei swimming to him. His two companions had died in the past ten seconds, and it was all this little thief's fault.

Han Fei smiled bitterly. There were four snake heads left and three guys from the Sun Family. He couldn't defeat them yet.

Han Fei suddenly disappeared, and the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp was detached and started digging

"You want to run?"

After only ten meters deep, Han Fei saw that the enemy's spirit gatherer threw a ball of spiritual energy at him.

"Shoot..."

"Nine-Star Chain..."

Clang...

Nine chains blocked the unexpected snake head, and Han Fei retreated quickly, glaring at the spirit gatherer. The enormous snake head bit the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp and tore it for quite a while. Failing to bite a tail off, it simply threw the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp away.

Han Fei's face greatly changed. He sensed that the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp had been badly hurt.

"You're asking to be killed."

Han Fei recalled the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp and gathered three balls of 1,000 point spiritual energy, before he threw them at the three enemies.

He roared, "Come on! Let's see if your spiritual energy is more than mine!" Han Fei shot 3,200 points of spiritual energy at the shark head of the octopus as an arrow, cursing the creature for biting his shrimp.

Immediately, tremendous scales tried to block that arrow, but they were all pierced through. The snake heads were fine, but a huge hole was left on the shark head.

"H0000000..."

The chaotic battle went on.

All three parties were exhausted. The people from the Sun Family were all shocked, wondering how much spiritual energy Han Fei had, and why he could still throw out 3,000 points so casually at this moment.

The spirit gatherer was rendered speechless. He saw that a spiritual fruit was thrown to him and detonated.

"Thief..."

Han Fei responded, "Thief? Go to hell!"

The monstrous octopus was in dire need of spiritual energy. It was very strong, but it couldn't resist so many people! Seeing the outburst of spiritual energy over there, its four heads all moved there.

“No! Sun Qi, give me a hand...”

The manipulator of the Sun Family was quickly swimming to the sea algae, but he was too late. The four snakeheads bit him from multiple directions and tore him into shreds in the blink of an eye. He died the most miserable death.

“Puchi...”

Han Fei was feeling great when he suddenly felt a strong sense of crisis. He tried to swim away, but a saber was slashed on his back when he was one meter away.

At that moment, Han Fei felt that he was dying. He had been hit hard and sure by the enemy’s armorist from his shoulder to his waist.

“Ah!”

When Han Fei was hit, Little Black, eager to protect him, bit the armorist crazily.

“Little Black, come back!”

Han Fei was lost for words. That guy is poisoned! Don’t you see that he never took an antidote? Why did you bite him?

Han Fei flew back with the counterforce and dissolved all the remaining Green Arrow Frog Venom in the water current towards the armorist.

On the other side, he grabbed the half body of the dead archer and searched his Sea Swallowing Seashell.

Thankfully, he had seen the fruit earlier, so he soon found what he wanted. Holding back the agony, he stuffed the fruit into Little Black’s mouth. “Remember not to bite until I tell you to.”

Not far away, the manipulator of the Sun Family looked at him in shock. In his eyes, Han Fei inserted an antidote fruit into some empty water.

“Wait. Something is here, and it’s stealthy.”

But it was too late. The manipulator, after discovering that, was about to break away from the battlefield and escape.

However, there was no way that Han Fei could let him run away even at the cost of his own life. He darted out the nine chains again, cutting through the sea algae and blocking the man.

Han Fei unfolded his wings and simply threw two spiritual fruits towards the armorist who was taking the antidote.

The armorist was already dying. He was already hopeless when he found he was poisoned. There was no telling how much Green Arrow Frog Venom Han Fei had filled him with, but he was bleeding after he took three antidote fruits.

At this point, seeing that Han Fei threw two spiritual fruits at him, he simply cursed, “Damn it!”

In the next second, the armorist was surrounded by snake heads.

What about Han Fei? He had raised his bow and gathered his magnificent spiritual energy as an arrow. The muscles, bones, and veins on his right arm were stretched out again.

Hiu...

Activating the sixth arrow of the War Soul Art again, Han Fei vomited blood, but he grinned. This battle was definitely worth it. He had annihilated all five of the peak-level Dangling Fishers.

Looking at the manipulator who was trying to protect himself with the sea algae, Han Fei sneered. Do you think you can block my tracking arrow with your algae?

Boom...

Tremendous amounts of purple bamboo was razed to the ground. Han Fei recalled Little Black and Little White and stood quietly while the monstrous octopus had the spiritual fruits.

Three seconds later, the monstrous octopus's four heads bit Han Fei simultaneously, but Han Fei's lips curled. "Goodbye, my weird friend." By the time the four heads reached Han Fei, Han Fei had already been gone, leaving the crazy monstrous octopus turning the purple bamboo wood upside down.

Han Fei had to thank the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus, which was more ferocious than he expected. Who could've thought that an exotic creature could kill three human experts on the same level as itself?

Even though Han Fei had also played a part, the biting force and the astonishing speed of the monster were still remarkable.

Inside Forge the Universe, Han Fei cast the Divine Healing Technique on himself now and then went in the spiritual spring.

He was quite lucky this time to be helped by the monstrous octopus, or he might've only been able to kill one of the five peak-level Dangling Fishers at the cost of his own life. There was no way that he could've killed all of them.

"Pu..."

Han Fei vomited blood and smiled bitterly at his right arm which was bloody and deformed.

"It seems that I have to make a breakthrough!"

Chapter 339 Troubles of a Breakthrough

It occurred to Han Fei that the body he had been proud of was no longer invulnerable in the level-three fishery.

The peak-level Dangling Fishers caused wounds on him easily earlier, and just now, he had been stabbed twice and almost chopped into two parts. Everything indicated that his body had fewer advantages now.

Han Fei sensed that the Indestructible Body Art he cultivated had shortcomings that originated from his own body. They seemed to be restricting the power of the Indestructible Body.

But of course, the more important reason was that the enemy was two levels above him and had spiritual weapons. It was only logical that he was wounded.

Though the War Soul Bow was great, Han Fei could only shoot six arrows at this point, and his right arm would almost be wasted after that. The explosive power was too much for Han Fei.

Han Fei hesitated, as he did not have much spiritual energy left.

Now that he did not have an energy source, he could only polish his body with the spiritual energy in his storage. Based on the previous demands for a breakthrough, his spiritual energy would probably be used up after the recovery and the breakthrough. However, Han Fei didn't have a choice. He wondered if more people were after him, and he knew that he would be wounded again if he went out and fought the monstrous octopus.

"Let's do it."

Suddenly, Han Fei gritted his teeth and made the determination. He had only pressed a thousand kilometers into the Seaborne Prairie, and he had already run into such a powerful creature as the monstrous octopus. More challenging creatures must be awaiting him on his way to the Big Red Trunk.

A day later, Han Fei's body was mostly recovered, but his spiritual energy had mostly run dry too. Han Fei estimated that there were no more than 300,000 points left.

Plus the 4,200,000 points of spiritual energy in his Demon Purification Pot, he only had 4,500,000 points of spiritual energy in total.

Han Fei gritted his teeth. "Break!"

Immediately, Han Fei was enshrouded in a storm of spiritual energy.

The spiritual pool below Han Fei's butt was instantly dried without any sign, and the storage inside the Demon Purification Pot was declining at a horrifying speed too.

In the meantime, a torrent of spiritual energy flooded inside Han Fei's body, expanding his veins and polishing his flesh and bones.

100,000 points...

200,000 points...

500,000 points...

It was not until one million points of spiritual energy were consumed that Han Fei finally felt that he was making a breakthrough.

Half an hour later...

A crack burst out, indicating that Han Fei had risen from a beginner Dangling Fisher to an intermediate Dangling Fisher.

After another hour, Han Fei sweated and frowned hard. He had a terrible feeling.

He only had 500,000 points of spiritual energy, but his body was still consuming it crazily, showing no sign to stop.

500,000 points...

300,000 points...

100,000 points... Han Fei grew even more anxious. No! Although he still had two spiritual fruits, they might still not be enough!

When the spiritual energy was finally used up, two spiritual fruits flew towards Han Fei from Forge the Universe, before they imploded and flowed into Han Fei's body as surging spiritual energy. Alas, the two spiritual fruits were also consumed after only a second.

"Damn it..."

"Pu..."

Han Fei vomited blood and stopped the physical polishing.

The spiritual energy required for this breakthrough was completely beyond his expectation. He had spent almost five million points of spiritual energy, but he still hadn't achieved perfection.

At this point, Han Fei was starving, and he was much thinner than before.

Gritting his teeth, he looked at the data.

<Owner> Han Fei

<Level> 36 (Intermediate Dangling Fisher)

Spiritual Energy: 0 (4,502)

<Spiritual Heritage> Level-Four, High-Quality (Damaged)

Spiritual Beast: Twin Yin-Yang Spirit Swallowing Fish (level 15)

<Weapon> Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers

<Main Art> Water Vein Technique, Volume Three of Void Fishing (Spirit-Level, Divine-Quality)

Han Fei's eyes cramped, and he took a deep breath. His Spiritual Heritage was damaged?

He suddenly remembered that he had almost been killed twice in a row. His body was stabbed multiple times, and several spiritual weapons had consumed him in their self-explosions.

"Did all those things affect my Spiritual Heritage?"

Han Fei's eyes grew cold. He didn't know that so much spiritual energy was consumed because his Spiritual Heritage was damaged.

That wouldn't do. His Spiritual Heritage wasn't as good as other people's in the first place. Now that it was damaged too, he wouldn't be able to defeat the Sun Family's reinforcements if they came.

Han Fei suddenly reappeared in the purple bamboo wood, not to look for the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus but to swim to where the people from the Sun Family died.

He had taken one of their Sea Swallowing Seashells, and there should be another four.

He was in dire need of spiritual energy. It was unrealistic to steal the spiritual fruit that the octopus was protecting. After all, it remained to be seen if he could defeat the monster without spiritual energy.

No, it was certain that he could not defeat the monster if he didn't summon the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp and Little Gold.

Soon, Han Fei found the manipulator's Sea Swallowing Seashell. He scanned it, only to be lost for words, as there were no spiritual fruits inside.

"Damn it... You were a peak-level Dangling Fisher! It's not right that you don't have a single spiritual fruit in your Sea Swallowing Seashell?"

Han Fei turned back, only to see a snake head among the seaweed not far away. Han Fei was rendered speechless. Why was this monster haunting him? Had he got in its way again?

Next to Han Fei, Little Gold and the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp both appeared, except that the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp seemed lackluster after being bitten by the octopus on the previous day.

But when the two legendary creatures popped up, the Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus grew vigilant again. It was not stupid. Now that it had lost four of its eight snake heads, it did not want to fight either!

However, this thief was the one who blew an enormous hole on its head. It was certainly not going to forget that.

More importantly, the octopus was determined to protect the spiritual fruit that he had been guarding, unwilling to let it go.

Han Fei simply ignored that and soon picked up another two Sea Swallowing Seashells. This time, he found three spiritual fruits.

Delighted, Han Fei searched for the fourth Sea Swallowing Seashell, only to no avail. He examined more carefully and found a calf of the last victim, whose torso must've been eaten.

Han Fei immediately looked at the monstrous octopus. It went without saying that the octopus had devoured both the victim and his Sea Swallowing Seashell.

After staring at the octopus for a while, Han Fei suddenly disappeared, which stunned the octopus. Where is he? Why is he gone again? Inside Forge the Universe, Han Fei swallowed three spiritual fruits, and spiritual energy flowed again in his body. His slim body was finally more or less restored because of the nutrition of spiritual energy. Han Fei was finally eased after seeing that. "Hu..."

Han Fei took a long breath of relief. Seeing that his spiritual energy was restored to 238,242 points, he grew confident again.

However, when he looked at his body, he found that his body was still slim due to the lack of spiritual energy. He had to find a way to return to his peak state!

He had some spiritual energy now, but he dare not use it. It was all the spiritual energy he had, and it was not enough for him to fix his damaged Spiritual Heritage.

But of course, despite the damages and the slimness, his capabilities had been greatly improved.

In terms of physical strength, Han Fei felt that he could heave ten thousand kilograms easily.

He grabbed the heavy rod and found it much more convenient. It was no longer so burdensome that he had to carry it on his shoulder. It could serve as a weapon now, except that the rod still felt rather heavy and was not very handy yet.

“Hehe! It’s good enough that I can use it now. When I return to my peak state, it will definitely be handy...”

Chapter 340 Subdue the Monster

The monstrous octopus was rather speechless. It had never been more annoyed by a human being. The guy just appeared and disappeared without any pattern.

Because of Han Fei, it dare not sleep again.

Yes, Han Fei was out again. This time, his target was very clear. He was going to kill the monstrous octopus or subdue it.

As for the spiritual fruit, it was already Han Fei’s possession. Little Black had already sneaked to it and could steal it if Han Fei distracted the octopus.

Han Fei looked at the four heads of the octopus that were shivering and looking at himself, knowing that it wouldn’t be easy to defeat this one. He wondered if he could afford being bitten by the creature with his current body.

Grabbing his rod, Han Fei commanded Little Gold and the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp, “Let’s go and kill it together!”

When Han Fei suddenly took action, the octopus was stunned at first, before it burst into rage and aimed its remaining four snake heads at Han Fei, roaring.

A stink of poison was flowing alongside the waves, but it was much weaker than the Green Arrow Frog Venom.

Of course, Han Fei wouldn’t let it reach him. He protected himself with a spiritual energy protective cover.

The snake heads were extremely fast. Two of them bit Han Fei relentlessly.

“Shoot... Are you sure you’re overestimating me? You think you can take care of the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp and Little Gold with each of your heads?”

Han Fei hurried to wave the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers. Boosted by the Saber Manipulation Art, the effect of the Million Knife Art was doubled. At this point, the daggers launched at one of the heads like dancing dragons.

In the meantime, Han Fei aimed his rod at the other head and dealt a Spiritual Energy Explosion on it.

The octopus didn't know how good the rod was, but it knew that the human being was dangerous, and that it would win the battle if it killed him.

BAM...

Boom...

Han Fei was blown backwards, and half of the snake head had been squashed by him.

Han Fei warmed up his body. His strength had been increased by about three thousand kilograms, and he was sturdier than before, or he would at least vomit blood after the previous blow.

Han Fei stomped and charged again, but after suffering a setback, the octopus refused another head-on clash and simply spurted a cold stream of water at Han Fei.

After the blink of an eye, Han Fei had been frozen in ice.

Crack!

Breaking the ice with his spiritual energy, Han Fei was very cold. He had always been curious how creatures acquired these weird abilities. Did it have ice in its stomach? Or was it one of its skills?

On the other hand, after being bitten by the octopus last time, the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp dare not whip it with its tails anymore. At this point, it picked up its nature as a shrimp and punched the snake head that was swimming towards it into the mud. Han Fei grinned. If the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp hadn't punched, he might've forgotten that it was a Mantis Shrimp.

Maybe the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp was no match for the octopus in other aspects, but in terms of punching, the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp was much better.

After the punch, Han Fei couldn't see the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp clearly anymore. He could only see that its feet and its limbs were fluttering quickly. Then, the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp swam to the shark head, only to be scared back when the shark head roared.

Han Fei's face was bleeding after the soul attack. His soul hardness was not good enough anymore! The Soul Resistance Pearl seemed less effective now.

"No, it seems that I have to put the cultivation of the God Scaring Painting on my agenda now."

Hiu...

Han Fei put his rod down and took out the Sea Wandering Dragon Bow, before he shot arrows at the shark head.

"Keep screaming! Keep screaming! Don't stop!"

Han Fei shot a dozen arrows that each cost 800 points of spiritual energy. Explosions were bursting out on the octopus's head as if it were being struck by lightning.

"Hyah..."

Little Gold folded its wings and simply crashed at the shark head.

Boom...

Smoke and dust were rising within a hundred meters. When Han Fei could see things clearly again, he found an enormous hole in the octopus's head.

Little Black returned at this point, with a green vine where a scarlet fruit was hanging in its mouth.

Han Fei looked at it and felt awful.

<Name> Angry Spirit Fruit

<Introduction> This is a spiritual fruit that grows where anger and hate gather. It contains a lot of irritating spiritual energy and may likely trigger mutations.

<Level> Spiritual

<Quality> High

<Spiritual Energy> 210,564 Points

<Note> This must not be eaten, or it may lead to unexpected consequences.

"F*ck..."

Han Fei almost vomited blood. The spiritual fruit protected by such a powerful monstrous octopus turned out to be something full of negative effects? Did this octopus become this after having the fruit?

Han Fei burst into rage and shot an arrow worth 3,200 points of spiritual energy.

"You lying son of a bi*ch... I thought that you were protecting something good... But it's only a garbage spiritual fruit?"

Boom...

The arrow failed to blow up the shark head, because one of the snake heads took the attack for it.

BAM!

The snake head exploded, and the octopus furiously launched another soul attack, but Han Fei fired another arrow worth 3,200 points of spiritual energy, determined to kill it.

The tentacles that had lost the heads rose together, trying to block Han Fei's arrow, but after an explosion, the octopus's body was full of wounds.

"Chila..."

When Han Fei was about to shoot the third arrow, a snake head drifted by before Han Fei's eyes. He turned around, only to see that Little Gold had cut a snake head off with its sharp wings. "Huh! Good job, Little Gold..."

The octopus, which only had two snake heads left, immediately attempted to run now that it had lost its spiritual fruit and it was about to be killed.

Nobody could deny that the octopus was a very smart creature. Han Fei shouted, "Where are you going? Little Black, bite it. Little Gold, cut another snake head..."

Seeing that only two snake heads were left, and one of them had been half squashed by the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp, Han Fei was no longer scared and quickly swam to the octopus.

"Collect the demon!"

While the octopus looked at it in fright, the Demon Purification Pot flashed, and the enormous monster disappeared.

Han Fei saw that the Nine-Tailed Mantis Shrimp was still punching when the target was suddenly gone. It looked at Han Fei stunned.

Han Fei was stunned as well. He had to try many times to collect other creatures, but this one did not put up any resistance at all.

Han Fei was lost for words. If he had known that it would be so easy to do so, he would've collected it a long time ago!

Han Fei snorted. "Humph! Did you think that you would be my contractual spiritual beast? You wish! I would never have such a hideous contractual spiritual beast."

At this point, there were four creatures in Han Fei's Demon Purification Pot, namely an exotic Iron-Armed Lobster, a mysterious Mutant Devil Fish, an exotic Millennium Snapper, and an exotic Snake-Tentacled Shark-Faced Octopus.

Han Fei realized that, if he collected another exotic creature, he would be able to combine them into a contractual spiritual beast.

But he had his doubts. Up until now, nobody had a third contractual spiritual beast. He had never asked about it before. It seemed that he had to later.

Han Fei couldn't help but imagine what a splendid scene it would be if he went treasure hunting with a bunch of legendary sea monsters.

In that way, would he be able to explore all the dangerous treasure troves without doing anything himself?

But on second thought, Han Fei became gloomy again, as he had consumed tremendous amounts of spiritual energy.

The battle just now cost Han Fei 30,00 points of spiritual energy, and he only had 208,016 points left, which would be used up after another two battles of the previous day's size.

Han Fei looked at the Angry Spirit Fruit in his hand sadly. It was really the most helplessly thing to look at a spiritual fruit without being able to enjoy it.

Right when Han Fei was about to store the spiritual fruit, Little White suddenly leaned close and bit the spiritual fruit.

“Hey... Little White, spit it out. You can’t eat that, not unless you want to become like the monster just now...” However, Little White simply looked at Han Fei innocently and swam to Han Fei’s hand that had been moved away.

Han Fei was briefly stunned, as Little White was brimming with spiritual energy, and so was Little Black. Those two little fish expanded a little bit.

“Really? You’ve leveled up?”.

Han Fei was dazed. They leveled up so easily? Han Fei asked quickly, “Good girl, do you feel anything wrong? You can really take it?” Little White suddenly spewed out a mass of pure spiritual energy. Dumbfounded, Han Fei swallowed the spiritual energy.

The storage of the Demon Purification Pot was immediately increased by 8,000 points, and Han Fei’s body was filled with spiritual energy.

“Hiss...”

Puzzled, Han Fei looked at the Angry Spirit Fruit and then at Little White. He suddenly had a speculation.

Was it possible that Little White could overcome its negative effects?
