

Chapter 351 A Sealing Formation

This deep canyon was about 600 to 800 kilometers deep. Han Fei sat on the lotus seat and watched the Worm Fish retreat from him, none of which dared to step forward. Seeing this scene, he couldn't help but be surprised.

"Hey! Little cute lotus, can you understand my words?"

The Lotus Fish was swimming around Han Fei. It looked a little weak at the moment, just occasionally sprinkling its colored mist.

Han Fei had a guess in his heart, it seemed that it was not as easy as he imagined to cross the Worm Sea. This Lotus Fish seemed to have paid some sort of price...

But Han Fei didn't understand why the Lotus Fish behaved like this.

Since he entered the Sea Grassland, he had been through many dangers. Especially in the seaweed city wall, he was almost killed in that damn place. He couldn't imagine what would have happened to him if he hadn't prepared in advance!

After that, he met the Lotus Fishes. But after that, he entered this Worm Fish abyss. It happened to be that the Lotus Fish could help him get through this abyss. Was this a coincidence or deliberately designed? Why were the two completely mutually exclusive species living next to one another? Han Fei could only attribute it to the magic of nature. Thousands of species could live in an ocean area, so it was a natural thing that they reinforced and restricted each other.

Just like submarine volcanic craters, geothermal springs, coral bushes, deep-sea jungles... These places actually had their own complete ecological chain.

Maybe the fish here were too strange, so he felt strange. After all, the Lotus Fishes were really cute!

After crossing the Worm Fish abyss, Han Fei saw a seashell beach similar to the Lotus Fish sea area. On the ground, there were also many Color Crystal Mussels. The seaweed and rocks were also covered with various shells and snails. Occasionally, crabs crawled past and then got into the soil.

To Han Fei's surprise, there were Lotus Fish here too!

When the Lotus Fishes here saw Han Fei coming over on a lotus seat, large swarms of the fish surrounded him.

For a time, the sea waters were filled with colorful stardust, which made this sea area like a fairyland under the sea.

Han Fei was very surprised. Huh? Why are there Lotus Fish on both sides? It seems as though the Worm Fish were sealed in this abyss. But how was the Worm Fish abyss formed?

Han Fei smiled and shook his head. What does this have to do with me? With my current strength, I might be swallowed by the fish within a second if I go down to the abyss...

Han Fei teased the Lotus Fishes for a while, then stroked the head of the Lotus Fish that had just sent him over and said, "Thank you for sending me here. I'm leaving!"

This time, the Lotus Fish seemed to know that the danger had passed and didn't stop him but sprinkled a colorful mist on Han Fei.

Han Fei swam forward. He guessed that Yang Ruoyun must have been here. That woman was very foxy but still dared to come here alone. She must have a big secret.

He swam more than five hundred kilometers and the scenery at his feet kept changing. After passing the Lotus Fish area, everything was no longer so peaceful and harmonious... Along the way, he encountered crabs, piranhas, Mess Swallowing Worms, and creepy seaweed forests...

"Huh? This place is full of spiritual energy."

Han Fei stopped here. The spiritual energy levels here were more than twice as high as other places.

He couldn't remember how many different scenes he had seen. Anyway, within this huge Sea Grassland, there were hundreds or even thousands of ecological systems.

Right now, this was a colorful space. The place where the Lotus Fish lived was elegant and tranquil, while this place was brightly-colored and magnificent.

On the water plants, dozens of sea urchins of different colors were gnawing on plants.

On the ground, he saw four or five snails digging at a single glance.

In cracks in the stones, claws stuck out from time to time. Seeing the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers floating beside Han Fei, however, those sharp claws retracted.

There were also some Pearl Fishes that swam past, above Han Fei's head in groups, but they did not attack him.

Of course, these creatures were of no threat to Han Fei at all. Besides, what dominated this area was not sea urchins, snails, or crabs... But starfish...

There were a lot of starfish here.

On the sand, starfish were everywhere.

Some starfish were as big as a palm, but their tentacles could be several meters long. Some starfish had carapace on their backs, and their tentacles were like sharp blades or darts. Of course, more starfish were common species, but they were very large and of various colors.

It appeared that this was simply a gathering place of starfish as it was full of them.

The only thing that made Han Fei thankful was that there was no Dead Leaf Starfish here. That thing was literally a cancer of the level-three fishery. Like Dead Leaf Worms, they could also absorb the vitality of others.

Among these starfishes right now, not only were there no cancer-like starfish like Dead Leaf Starfish, but this place was even full of tonic starfish.

For example, Han Fei saw a furry starfish named Star Sunflower. Eating it could make the blood boil, so as to promote physical tempering and get twice the result with half the effort.

If it were before, Han Fei would have caught all these Star Sunflower starfish right away. But now, he was more cautious and didn't act rashly.

Since he came here, he had not found any particularly powerful creatures in this place. But was this possible? No! In places like the Sea Grassland, there could be dangers everywhere. Without the protection of powerful creatures, a place couldn't develop so safely to this day...

The Lotus Fishes were different because their color mist seemed to be able to purify the soul and even Worm Fishes would retreat when they met them. That was their talent! But if there was no creature that could protect this starfish gathering place, it was really strange!

With this in mind, Han Fei did not touch any starfish here. Of course, when a tentacle starfish crawled over and strangled his ankle, he still cut off its claw mercilessly.

Swish...

The starfish whose paw was cut off ran away swiftly with a speed that common starfish wouldn't have at all.

Han Fei snorted. He really hated creatures with tentacles. The soft and sticky tentacles were so gross. But Of course, the squid was different, whose tentacles were so delicious after being grilled.

After Han Fei chopped off the starfish's claw, many creatures here began to flee, including the dumb snails.

In the ordinary fishery, those snails wouldn't be so smart as to know to run for their lives.

Han Fei couldn't help exclaiming. The level-three fishery was indeed a place where wisdom was born. Even though most of the creatures were not yet truly conscious, they still could perceive danger and knew the preciousness of life...

Han Fei gradually sped up. This place was beautiful, but not safe. He was not going to stay here long

However, Han Fei had only swum for less than a few minutes when the place he just passed by suddenly gave off a dazzling light.

Han Fei was vigilant and hurriedly evaded. However, before running 100 meters away, he hit an invisible shield with a "boom".

"F*ck... I knew it wouldn't be that simple."

Han Fei grabbed the Water Dividing Seal and hit the invisible energy shield.

Boom...

Crack...

The force of the blow, weighing more than ten thousand catties, directly blasted the invisible energy shield to pieces.

“Huh! Is this sealing power so weak?”

Han Fei was a little surprised. According to his experiences, this land of starfish couldn't be so simple!

As he was thinking, Han Fei swam a hundred meters away, but with another “boom”, he bumped into another invisible seal.

“Ooff... Another one? Let me hit it again.” Boom...

In this way, Han Fei swam less than 2 kilometers, but had broken five seals.

“Who the hell is so crazy as to set so many seals in this damn place?”

Han Fei was speechless. Shit! This kind of seal was neither strong nor weak. Why did that guy bother to set so many of these seals here...

With Han Fei's current strength, even the seals that could trap peak-level Dangling Fishers couldn't necessarily trap him.

“No, it is impossible for anyone to set so many seals here... Is this a formation?” Han Fei landed. This must be a certain formation. Whenever an enemy invaded, it would automatically set a seal.

Han Fei couldn't help swallowing. This was amazing! If what he guessed was right, it meant that he had to break through thousands of seals if he wanted to cross this land of starfish...

If there were only three or five seals, it was all right. But if there were really thousands of seals, he might not be able to get through this formation even if he consumed all his spiritual energy.

Chapter 352 Master Hexagon... Again

Having figured this out, Han Fei didn't hit the seal again because no matter how many times it was smashed, it might not work.

“A good formation is invisible and formed naturally by the heavens and the earth. However, since the formation is formed naturally, there must be a way to break it.”

This was the first sentence in the “Spirit Gathering Scripture” left by Old Jiang, which meant that a good formation was not necessarily made but naturally formed by the heavens and the earth. Only this way could the formation be invisible.

However, it also explained that any formation had a way to be broken.

Han Fei had studied formations for a year. Although his knowledge about formations was not profound enough, he knew the basics.

For this kind of formation that was naturally formed, in many cases, the formation eyes were not fixed. It was possible that an inconspicuous little thing was the formation eye. This was also the most terrifying part of a naturally formed formation! You couldn't even find the formation eye at all. How could you break it?

Han Fei's feet fell on the ground and began to move forward step by step. Wherever he went, the starfish ran away.

After walking about 120 meters, Han Fei encountered a barrier. Han Fei did not stop, but turned sideways and walked to the side.

After a while, Han Fei stood in this small seal and muttered to himself.

“It’s 600 meters wide and 600 meters long. If a single seal is so small, it’s not so difficult to crack it!”

After pondering for a while, Han Fei swam to a height of about 20 meters and wandered around in this area. After a while, when he found a stone several meters high, he smiled.

Stones on the bottom of the sea usually have a long history, so they were either covered with seaweed or moss or had shellfish inhabit them... But this stone was so smooth!

Han Fei took out the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Bow, shot the stone to pieces with an arrow, and swam out quickly.

Sure enough, the limits of the seal were gone, and Han Fei successfully broke through the seal just now.

Of course, every few hundred meters, Han Fei would enter a new sealed area. But he didn’t panic. It didn’t take him long to break them. According to his experience in formations, however, these small formations shouldn’t be underestimated.

The reason that being in the formation could be dangerous was that many small formations were interlocked. But once the formation eyes of the small formations were destroyed, the large formation would be damaged as well.

Fortunately, the person who arranged this formation was not very clever. If Han Fei had such a great formation setting ability, he would definitely hide the small formations’ eyes well. At least, he would bury them under the sand! How could that person just expose the formation eyes on the sand?

At first, Han Fei tried to find the formations’ eyes. But when he broke through ten or so small formations in a row, he found that the guy who set this formation was lazy, very lazy.

All the small formations’ eyes were relatively new, which either had been moved or conspicuous.

Thus, it was very easy for Han Fei to break the formations! In just one hour, he broke nearly 50 small formations.

Not surprisingly, 50 small formations were nothing but a drop in the bucket in this area. To Han Fei’s surprise, among the nearly 50 small formations, there were as many as 20 small spirit gathering formations. Although the spirit gathering formation had a sealing effect, their essence was still gathering spiritual energy. “Could it be that the guy setting the formation lacks spiritual energy?” Han Fei had guessed why the guy who arranged the formation was so lazy!

Because this area was too big and was probably circular, just like the seaweed city wall, encircling the heartland inside circle by circle.

According to the method of setting this formation, these formations were likely to be made by the same person. This person must have waved his hand casually and arranged this formation as he swam past this huge area. He didn’t even bother to think about how to hide the formation eyes. That would be such a waste of time!

Han Fei grinned because he felt that he had guessed what that guy was thinking. That guy set up the formation at will, which showed that he was very strong, but the strength of the formation was not enough, so on the whole, he was not unimaginably strong.

And to arrange such a formation, it must have consumed a lot of spiritual energy. Therefore, the guy who set up the formation also arranged a large number of spirit gathering formations in this formation, which indirectly led to the enriched spiritual energy here.

“Hehe, you can arrange a formation, but I can do it too!”

Han Fei smiled mysteriously. Instead of breaking the small formations one by one, he might as well break them as a whole.

When Han Fei found a formation eye of a small formation again, he didn’t touch it but moved it. Then, overlooking from a height, he rearranged many places in the formation.

Repeating this process, Han Fei spent more than three hours transforming seven or eight small formations, which covered several kilometers.

Han Fei threw a piece of white coral under his feet. Then, he clapped his hands and chuckled. “It’s done.”

Han Fei suddenly sat on the ground and began to draw a formation under his bum. In a moment, a small spirit gathering formation appeared.

There was a formation at the place where he sat and he replaced it with a small spirit gathering formation.

When this small spirit gathering formation appeared, in an instant, with Han Fei as the center, nine sealing formations illuminated at the same time, and billowing spiritual energy surged.

Han Fei smiled. I may not be good at arranging other kinds of formations, but making a spirit gathering formation is too easy for me!

Yes, Han Fei had transformed the nine formations, just like the plantation circle at the entrance of the Thug Academy, Han Fei just reproduced it.

However, unlike the plantation circle, the spiritual energy contained in it was natural spiritual energy, which was much less than in the ocean. Therefore, it couldn’t set off a spiritual energy storm.

However, it was different here. The seabed, especially places like the seabed forest, had a lot of spiritual energy. And in this land of starfish, spiritual energy was more than double that of other places. At this moment, coupled with this serial spirit gathering formations, almost in the blink of an eye, a spiritual energy storm was set off. “Hum...”

One after another spiritual energy tornadoes formed underwater. And these spiritual energy tornadoes converged right under Han Fei!

For a time, the billowing spiritual energy was like a raging wave and came straight at Han Fei.

Han Fei was not afraid at all and even began to practice the Void Fishing Art.

At this moment, Han Fei was enjoying a gluttonous feast. At the right time and place, the massive amount of spiritual energy poured into his body, and it only took half a moment for him to absorb nearly ten thousand points of spiritual energy. Cultivating here for an hour was equivalent to swallowing a spiritual fruit from the level-three fishery. Han Fei was overjoyed.

Half an hour later...

Somewhere in the land of the starfish, a voice said depressedly, "Who is snatching my spiritual energy?"

Yang Ruoyun was trapped in another place in the land of starfish. She was really annoyed. According to her information, there weren't so many formations in this place! She suspected if she went the wrong way! However, seeing the starfish all over the ground, she knew she was right. But, why were there so many sealing formations here?

A large spirit gathering formation could collect spiritual energy in a wide range, so not only in the land of starfish, its existence could also be sensed in many other places.

Above the Worm Fish Abyss, eight Lotus Fish were carrying eight people to the other side of the abyss.

"Young Master, there seems to be a spiritual energy wave."

A young man with his eyes closed, stroking the Lotus Fish with one hand, lightly said, "In the ocean, a spiritual energy wave is common. What surprises me is that Han Fei is so fast! How could he surpass us so much?"

Beside the young man, someone said, "Young Master Mu, that guy is so weird, it's hard to imagine that he can walk through the seaweed wall alone."

The young man nodded slightly. "Yes. If Han Fei has no means, how could he have snatched the Sea Token? Father said he even has a legendary contractual spiritual beast! Anyway, catch up with him first."

Although the young man called "Young Master Mu" looked calm, he frowned. There were a lot of dangers along the way. Especially that seaweed monster even tried to lock him a soul lock. If they hadn't fought desperately together, that monster would have succeeded.

However, even so, they had lost 6 peak-level Dangling Fishers along the way. This cost was not small. If anything happened again, he was not sure whether he should continue chasing him or not... Of course, they had also gained things too. The seaweed monster told them that Han Fei had come there.

Han Fei was overjoyed at the moment.

Only an hour later, he had absorbed 80,000 points of spiritual energy. If he could, he felt that he should cultivate for two months here, and then he would get 100 million points of spiritual energy. Bam! Bam! Bam!

However, at this time, the spiritual vortex in the sea suddenly collapsed, replaced by purple light beams.

"F*ck... Who is it?"

Han Fei lunged to his feet, only to see a huge starfish.

There was a sudden silence.

He and the starfish stared at each other silently and the anger on their faces was replaced with embarrassment. Han Fei shouted in surprise, "Master Hexagon?"

Chapter 353 Caught Up

Han Fei himself had never expected to see the Hexagon Starfish again.

At this point, the barrier around this place was laden with starfish, crabs, and conchs...

However, as if time had stopped, the Hexagon Starfish opened its six big eyes and stared at Han Fei in shock.

"You've mistaken me for another starfish!"

The Hexagon Starfish was rather panicked. It had only been free for two years. Why had it run into this wicked human being again?

Seeing that the Hexagon Starfish was about to run, Han Fei shivered and took out the white stone that he had never squeezed so far.

He shouted quickly, "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, I'm going to squeeze this if you run!"

Han Fei was amused. Back when he was a fishing master, he couldn't take reaction in time when the Hexagon Starfish fled, but now that he was a Dangling Fisher, he could squeeze the stone before the starfish ran a hundred meters.

He felt lucky that he didn't abandon the stone, and he decided that he would never give anybody else his essence, or it would be terrible if someone else squeezed him like this too!

"Mr. Hexagon Starfish, it's been a while. Why don't we have a talk?"

The Hexagon Starfish was almost weeping, feeling that its life was full of difficulties and bad guys. However, since its essence blood was under Han Fei's control, it dare not flee at all.

The Hexagon Starfish shrank into the size of a pot cover, before it floated to Han Fei.

Human being, how have you grown so fast?

The Hexagon Starfish was rather speechless. After only two years, this man had turned into a Dangling Fisher?

Han Fei spoke telepathically with a smile, Ah, the cultivation of human beings is always fast! Huh, you've surpassed level-40 too, haven't you?

In Han Fei's eyes, this Hexagon Starfish was level-42. He remembered that it was only level-36 when he first met the starfish.

But Han Fei wasn't really surprised. After all, the general fishery had much fewer resources than the level-three fishery had, and the Hexagon Starfish was starving back then. At this point, it looked perfectly healthy.

Han Fei looked around and asked, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, you didn't set up those arrays, did you?

The six big eyes of the Hexagon Starfish were full of helplessness. I was caged for three hundred years, and you stole half of my spiritual energy. I'm only trying to absorb some for myself. It's only been a year. Why are you here again?

Han Fei said, Hey, hey, hey. Mr. Hexagon Starfish, I'd like to point out that I'm really a passer-by this time. I was going to the depths of the Seaborne Prairie, and I didn't expect to see you. The Hexagon Starfish said quickly, Then off you go. I'll clear a path for you. You go there and do your business. Han Fei was briefly stunned. This starfish had turned smarter after two years and wasn't as stupid as they first met anymore.

He suddenly remembered the seaweed monster's remark that something with a similar vibe to him passed the wall of seaweed a few years earlier. Could it have been the Hexagon Starfish?

Han Fei asked tentatively, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, did you pass the wall of seaweed when you came here? One of the seaweed monsters can talk.

The Hexagon Starfish was still considering how to make Han Fei leave. It didn't think too much about what Han Fei said but simply replied, That was a vicious seaweed. I would've been caught if I hadn't run fast enough.

Han Fei was rather surprised. The Hexagon Starfish indeed had been the stranger!

In the meantime, he realized that the Hexagon Starfish couldn't have been more than level-40 a couple of years earlier. So to speak, this Hexagon Starfish was quite awesome in that it escaped the seaweed monster as a Dangling Fisher.

Han Fei immediately had other plans. The Hexagon Starfish was definitely an expert in arrays, not to mention its other shining points, such as how gullible it was and how great it was at escaping...

More importantly, he didn't think that the Hexagon Starfish wasn't here for treasures... Why would this guy come here if nothing was attractive?

He even suspected that the Hexagon Starfish was here for treasure hunting when he accidentally spotted the land of starfish. Since it had abundant spiritual energy, the Hexagon Starfish decided to cultivate here for a while.

Han Fei couldn't help but grab one of the Hexagon Starfish's tentacles, but the Hexagon Starfish swooshed dozens of meters away before he said anything.

The Hexagon Starfish said, with wariness in his six big eyes, What are you doing?

Han Fei smiled bitterly. Mr. Hexagon Starfish, I'm just catching up on you. Why are you dodging me?

The Hexagon Starfish revolved and kept a distance from Han Fei. Just talk from there. I will not give you any treasure.

Han Fei was lost for words. Who's asking for treasures? I guarantee that I won't ask you for treasures...

Hearing that Han Fei was not here for treasure, the Hexagon Starfish was relaxed. It stopped revolving and simply waited for Han Fei to talk.

Han Fei said with a smile, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, there is an area of Big Red Trunk in the depths of the jungle behind you. Did you know that?

The six eyes of the Hexagon Starfish constricted. That's a dangerous place.

Han Fei asked in surprise, So you've already been there?

The Hexagon Starfish waved its tentacles and said, I only paid a visit to it. There are a lot of annoying and bad fish in that place.

Fish?

Han Fei was briefly stunned. The Hexagon Starfish described them as "a lot" and "bad"? It meant that the fish near the Big Red Trunk were so tough that even the Hexagon Starfish had to keep a distance.

Han Fei asked again, Do you know what those fish are?

The Hexagon Starfish rolled its eyes and said, No. I've never seen them. They hid themselves at the center, but can control those trees.

They can control the trees?

Han Fei was rather surprised. He had seen fish that could control trees before. The Millennium Snapper, for one, could control all kinds of spiritual plants.

Han Fei asked, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, do those fish sing?

The Hexagon Starfish was confused. What is 'sing'?

BAM, BAM, BAM...

Right when Han Fei was about to explain, a blue gigantic electric arc glittered in the water at a distance and broke a hundred arrays in the blink of an eye.

Both Han Fei and the Hexagon Starfish were greatly shocked.

The Hexagon Starfish complained, Why did you bring so many people here?

Han Fei blinked his eyes and said, I didn't! You can perceive them?

Staring at Han Fei, the Hexagon Starfish said, Those guys have broken into my spiritual energy absorption arrays. They're too strong for me... Enough chit-chatting. I have to run.

The Hexagon Starfish was about to run, when it found that Han Fei had grabbed its tentacles. He said gloomily, I'm going to squeeze your essence blood if you run! Tell me, how many people have come, and how strong are they?

The Hexagon Starfish was dumbfounded. Having no choice, it said unhappily, I think there are seven or eight. All of them seem stronger than you...

Damn it... How can they be so fast?

Han Fei asked, his face changing greatly, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, are you aware of any fatal arrays?

The Hexagon Starfish replied in a stun, No. The starfish are not murderers!

Han Fei almost vomited blood. The starfish are not murderers? You don't know any fatal arrays when you have established such a huge barrier?

Han Fei was shocked that the guys from the Sun Family had somehow broken hundreds of arrays. They were much faster than himself. If they kept blowing through them, the barriers that the Hexagon Starfish set up would be weakened, and there would be no stopping them. Han Fei gritted his teeth and said, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, wait a moment while I set up a fatal array. If you dare to run, I will crumble your essence blood immediately... The Hexagon Starfish rolled its eyes, almost determined to slap Han Fei with its tentacles. It complained that it was so unlucky as to run into this jerk so often!

With the Spirit Gathering Array before him as the pivot, Han Fei started carving quickly.

As a matter of fact, he didn't really know any fatal arrays.

Since he received the "Spirit Gathering Scripture", he had only grasped one array, which was the Spirit Gathering Array. He learned the other arrays as ways to save his life, and he never really grasped them. The fatal arrays were much more complicated than the Spirit Gathering Array. A perfect fatal array would be the most difficult to carve of all arrays. Han Fei didn't have the time even if he wanted to learn...

What Han Fei was capable of was the simplest Spirit Explosion Array, which was essentially a huge landmine that would blow up any enemy who accidentally stepped on it.

The problem was that the array was too simple.

The Hexagon Starfish remarked, That won't do. You will be discovered very easily.

Han Fei was lost for words. Why don't you do it if you think you're good? I'm going to add a Stealth Array to it. Do you want to help me?

Chapter 354 Killing the Enemy With Fake Arrays

The Hexagon Starfish might seem stupid, but it wasn't really an idiot. Since it had been forced to stay here, it was possible that those strangers could catch it later. After all, those people were too strong for it.

The Hexagon Starfish proposed, Why don't I fabricate a pivot for you?

Han Fei's hand paused while he was setting up the array, and the half-drawn Stealth Array simply collapsed.

Han Fei couldn't help but look at the Hexagon Starfish in shock. It was really a sound plan! He shouted in delight, Hurry up, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, let's get it done and flee...

The Hexagon Starfish snorted. Can I flee on my own?

Han Fei rolled his eyes. What are you thinking? You're still hoping to run on your own at a moment like this?

Han Fei said with a smile, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, I'm here for treasures. Don't you like glittering stuff the best? Why don't we work together as allies to search for treasures? You'll have all the glittering items, and I'll have those which don't glitter. How does that sound?

The Hexagon Starfish was still rolling its eyes, and Han Fei said, Stop hesitating. If anyone else were here, they could've signed a contract with you with your essence blood, alright? How about this... I'm going to stay in the level-three fishery for a year. We'll work as allies during this year, and I'll return your essence blood to you a year later. Do you like that?

Seriously?

Boom...

Another electric arc burst out a hundred kilometers away, and the barriers were exploding like pieces of paper.

Having no time to think, Han Fei grabbed the Hexagon Starfish's tentacles and said, Set up the array now, or we will both die! Eight peak-level Dangling Fishers will be too strong for us even if we have a mutated creature to help us.

The Hexagon Starfish was panicked too, as the intruders were indeed too fast. The barriers on the land of starfish would be further weakened after another few electric shocks, and it wouldn't be able to resist their attack.

The six tentacles of the Hexagon Starfish emitted purple brilliance, which left circuits one after another on the ground like lasers.

"Huh?"

Han Fei found it odd. This array was carved in a different way from what the Spirit Gathering Scripture described, but it wasn't any simpler.

Immediately, he guessed that the Hexagon Starfish had found an array book that was as good as the "Spirit Gathering Scripture" during its treasure hunting.

A moment later, a fake pivot took shape, covering the Spirit Gathering Array that Han Fei set up earlier, but spiritual energy was still being concentrated here.

Han Fei gritted his teeth and stabbed a Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Dagger into the soil at the pivot. Mr. Hexagon Starfish, let's drop some spiritual energy here and blow them up later.

The Hexagon Starfish patted water with its tentacles and said, I don't have any spiritual energy. I've used it up during my advancement.

Han Fei grabbed the white stone and said, I've contributed a spiritual weapon and a conductor and dropped 50,000 points of spiritual energy. You have to at least invest a 100,000, don't you? You can get plenty of spiritual energy later.

As he spoke, Han Fei did toss out 50,000 points of spiritual energy, which stunned the Hexagon Starfish. It never knew that Han Fei could be so generous. It rolled its big eyes for a long time and finally spewed out 100,000 points of spiritual energy. Like Han Fei said, its essence blood was still under his control, and those people behind were obviously his enemy. If they weren't blown up, it would be impossible for the starfish to beat them...

On the other hand, after the Hexagon Starfish threw the spiritual energy out, it asked in surprise, How can a human being store so much spiritual energy?

Han Fei replied without even blushing, There are spiritual springs in my Sea Swallowing Seashells!

The Hexagon Starfish considered a moment and felt that that made sense.

When the third electric arc glittered, both Han Fei and the Hexagon Starfish were shocked, as the guys from the Sun Family were moving towards this place, which was now a hot spot of spiritual energy.

Han Fei jumped to the Hexagon Starfish's back and said, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, let's run!

...Can you come down?

Han Fei shook his head. This is your home. You're more familiar with the terrain. Also, I'm not very heavy.

The Hexagon Starfish: "..."

Han Fei didn't really care how traumatized the Hexagon Starfish was... After all, it would be too much a waste if he did not put such a super laborer to good use.

After another moment, another electric arc struck, and the guys from the Sun Family had finally arrived at the fake pivot.

"Young Master, we've found the pivot."

Two subordinates quickly stepped forward and smashed the obstacles.

The obstacles were roaring, triggering all kinds of ripples.

Sun Mu frowned and asked those around him, "Why is the spiritual energy so dense in here?"

Someone thought carefully and replied, "Young Master, the Seaborne Prairie is a dangerous place. The barriers that have been blocking our way cannot function without the support of spiritual energy..." Sun Mu nodded. But he frowned and asked again, "But Han Fei is just a beginner Dangling Fisher. How did he pass this place without being stopped by the barriers?"

Everybody was shocked. They were wondering the same thing, but they knew that Han Fei must have a lot of tricks, considering that he had killed almost ten peak-level Dangling Fishers.

Crack! When the fake array was broken, Sun Mu felt needles stinging his back. He bellowed, "Back off!"

As he spoke, he cast his hook as fast as lightning and pulled back one of the two subordinates who were breaking the array.

Boom...

The explosion echoed throughout the bottom of the ocean within hundreds of kilometers, raising enormous waves.

Sun Mu had only retreated several hundred meters when the overwhelming waves came at him. They were so powerful that one of the two guys who broke the array was torn into shreds.

“Protect Young Master!” “Go away!”

Instantly, Sun Mu took off a jade pendant and crumbled it, and a dragon shadow showed up before him.

The dragon roared for more than a hundred seconds, blocking the horrifying blast.

Of course, Sun Mu was still vomiting blood despite the protection.

“Young Master.” The peak-level Dangling Fishers gathered before Sun Mu and blocked the aftermath of the explosion for him.

“Cough...” Coughing out the blood, Sun Mu wiped the stains on his lips and even smiled. “Everybody who has obtained the Sea Token is extraordinary, and it seems that Han Fei is not an exception. Interesting! I’m going to find out what else he has.”

Though one of his subordinates had died, Sun Mu simply turned a blind eye to it because the victim was too stupid. At this point, all he could think of was to beat Han Fei.

At this point, Han Fei was sensing the waves in the water on the back of the Hexagon Starfish. He asked, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, how many people do you think we blew up? With so much spiritual energy and even one of my spiritual weapons, I’m sure we’ve blown up a handful of them, right?

The Hexagon Starfish’s big eyes were still rolling. It sensed for a moment and said, I can’t perceive anything. The barriers there have been too greatly ruined. But I think a couple of guys have been killed...

Proud of his smart move, Han Fei said in delight, Okay, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, let’s go deeper! Let me tell you, cultivating spiritual energy is useless. You need to search for opportunities and treasures. As a sea creature, you should know it better than I do.

The Hexagon Starfish replied, Human beings cultivate too fast, and it’s bad for your foundation. It’s also why the sea creatures are usually stronger than human beings of the same level...

Han Fei asked in surprise, Seriously? I never feel that sea creatures of the same level as me are stronger than me!

The Hexagon Starfish tilted its head, unwilling to talk to Han Fei anymore.

Suddenly, the Hexagon Starfish sensed something and said, Human, one of your compatriots is hiding there.

Huh? My compatriot? Where?

Han Fei blinked out and looked around, only to see nobody around. He immediately triggered his senses.

He saw human-shaped ripples, as well as a familiar face, in the water. Seeing her, Han Fei burst into fury. “It’s you? Thief, you’ve set me up multiple times. I will not hear another word from you.”

It was none other than Yang Ruoyun who was hiding down below.

Yang Ruoyun was quite shocked that Han Fei passed the wall of seaweed too. She had used almost fifty Flash Stones to teleport herself through the wall, and she had only given Han Fei two of them.

At this point, Han Fei was holding the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Bow and had gathered his spiritual energy into an arrow. He was not going to talk to the woman again in case he was trapped another time.

Han Fei had realized that he wasn't very smart although he had picked up many treasures, as could be seen from the setbacks that he suffered from Yang Ruoyun.

When Han Fei was about to shoot the arrow, a fish skin map appeared in Yang Ruoyun's hand.

Han Fei's determination came to a sudden halt. He was still glaring at Yang Ruoyun, but he did not shoot his arrow.

Chapter 355 Secrets That Are More Important Than Life

Now that the map had been offered to him, how could Han Fei let it go?

Immediately, Han Fei picked up the map, only to discover that it marked a treasure trove near the Seaborne Prairie that he had never explored.

Han Fei cross-checked it with Old Bai's map. He did not find any mark, but there was an underwater mountain on this map. Looking at the quality of the fish skin, Han Fei was more or less convinced.

But he still asked grimly, "How do I know that this map is real? And even if it's real, do you think I'll let go of you?"

Yang Ruoyun looked at the big starfish by Han Fei's side and thought that it was Han Fei's contractual spiritual beast. Though she was surprised that Han Fei had three contractual spiritual beasts, it was not unprecedented. So she did not consider it a big deal.

Yang Ruoyun said casually, "Our first encounter was an accident. In our second encounter, I directed the people from the ghost boat to kill you, so I owe you one. In our third encounter on the Seaborne Prairie, you helped me, and I owe you another one. As for the wall of seaweed, that's not my fault. I had to save myself at the critical moment. Also, I gave you two flash stones. You owe me one for that."

Han Fei was so angry that he laughed. "That's bulls*it. Who cleared the way for you? How could you have escaped from the two hunters without me? I don't owe you a damn thing."

Yang Ruoyun replied casually, "Whatever you think, I never set up any trap against you, and I am not to blame for what happened to you."

Slightly choked, Han Fei said, "No. You knew the wall of seaweed and the pit of the Dry Leaf Worms earlier, so you prepared a lot of flash stones for yourself and fooled me into treasure hunting with you."

Yang Ruoyun stared at Han Fei and said, "Let's make things clear. Firstly, I didn't fool you into treasure hunting with me; you volunteered to join me."

Han Fei narrowed his eyes and said, "Would I have followed you if you had told me the truth?"

Yang Ruoyun nodded. "You would have."

"I..."

Han Fei was choked again, wondering why he had asked such a stupid question.

Yang Ruoyun smiled and said, "Just now, an enormous explosion took place, and I sensed the blast even from here. I don't see why you would make such an explosion unless your enemies have caught up to you. Therefore, you entered the Seaborne Prairie probably because you were chased after, and you had to press on even if the journey ahead was dangerous."

Han Fei's fury was paused. He was surprised that the woman had guessed so many things.

If Han Fei was an unreasonable person, he might have killed Yang Ruoyun. After all, in a world full of cultivators, one did not need a reason to kill someone else.

But not everybody was like that. Most people had their principles. Han Fei, for one, could not kill anyone without a good reason...

However, he would not be bent so easily, either. He said coldly, "Even so, you still owe me two favors, and you should return them with your life."

Raising her head and staring at Han Fei, Yang Ruoyun said, "The fish skin map in your hand was drawn by my father in person nine years ago. You can check the texture of the fish skin to confirm. Does it count as one?"

Han Fei reluctantly nodded his head. The treasure trove definitely counted as one favor.

Yang Ruoyun said again, "You were asking about the Abyssal Chasm earlier, and I know a thing or two about that."

As she spoke, Yang Ruoyun tossed half a book to Han Fei, and Han Fei found that its title was "Records on the Exploration of the Abyssal Chasm".

Having no time to read it, Han Fei asked, "Why is it only half a book?"

Yang Ruoyun said calmly, "The other half is in my hand. I'll give it to you after we get out of here safely."

Han Fei asked further, "Why do you have something that nobody else does?"

Yang Ruoyun replied casually, "Do you have any idea how many people die in this fishery every day? To be honest, this book is not valuable at all, but just because something is cheap doesn't mean it's always available. At least, you might not be able to find a copy of this book at all on the dragon boats..."

Han Fei frowned. Who is this woman exactly?

As if knowing what was on Han Fei's mind, Yang Ruoyun said, "We weren't supposed to be related, but we embarked on the same journey coincidentally. You must've realized that the level-three fishery is not as simple as it seems, and the world we know is only one tiny proportion of it."

Han Fei waved his hand and said, "I can get the other half of the book after I kill you, but it doesn't matter if you don't want to give it to me. We can just go separate ways. Bye bye."

Hardly had Han Fei jumped to the Hexagon Starfish's back when Yang Ruoyun said, "I'm of no threat to you, but your pursuers are outrageously strong. If you take me, I can help you get rid of them."

Han Fei immediately hit the brakes and looked back at Yang Ruoyun.

Yang Ruoyun stared at Han Fei. "If I can't do it, you can kill me."

After a long silence, Han Fei finally said, "Damn it."

Han Fei knew that Yang Ruoyun was not a good person, but she seemed to be very smart, and he could not overlook her declaration to help him get rid of his pursuers.

If he were an ordinary person, he probably would've been killed after following Yang Ruoyun into the Seaborne Prairie. Since he had been trapped by her, the guys of the Sun Family definitely could be too.

The Hexagon Starfish, which had been silent, rolled its six big eyes and said, "I don't think you can beat her in a debate."

Han Fei said angrily, "I can't beat her? I'm just being a gentleman, or I could've slapped her to death easily."

Yang Ruoyun's eyes widened. "This starfish... Can communicate?"

Han Fei suddenly realized that the Hexagon Starfish, just like the Stone Spirit Turtle, spoke with mental waves, and he was not the only one who could hear it. He couldn't help but remark, "Why do you care if it can talk? Come here, but if you show the slightest anomaly, I'll kill you immediately."

Yang Ruoyun ignored what Han Fei said but simply looked at the Hexagon Starfish in shock. A sea creature that could talk? She had met two of them in only one day.

While following Han Fei, Yang Ruoyun stared at the Hexagon Starfish and asked, "Is this the thing in the wall of seaweeds?"

Han Fei shook his head. "Of course not. How can Mr. Hexagon Starfish be the same as that goddamn seaweed monster? I'm going back to it sooner or later."

The Hexagon Starfish said again, "You can't defeat it."

Han Fei said gloomily, "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, shut up! I still have you if I can't defeat it, don't I?"

The Hexagon Starfish constricted its eyes and said, "I can't defeat it either. Besides, the starfish don't fight."

On the back of the starfish, Yang Ruoyun was rather curious. Was this big starfish really a contractual spiritual beast? She never knew a contractual spiritual beast that could talk... She couldn't help but wonder who Han Fei was exactly.

Han Fei, on the other hand, couldn't feel greater now that he didn't have to swim. Besides, the Hexagon Starfish was faster than he expected. When it was on full speed, he couldn't have kept up with it without attaching Little Gold to himself. On the way, Han Fei stared at Yang Ruoyun solemnly and stressed again, "We're cooperating for now, but it doesn't mean you can flee again. Trust me, you won't have another chance to squeeze the flash stones. I'll attack you the moment you show any anomaly."

Yang Ruoyun said expressionlessly, "Our destination is the same. We're both going to the center of the Seaborne Prairie. In such a case, why would I run?"

Han Fei did not trust Yang Ruoyun at all at this point. He simply asked, "What's in the center? I'm not completely ignorant of it, so think carefully before you answer."

Yang Ruoyun considered for a moment and said, "It is said that there is a huge wood of Big Red Trunk at the center of the Seaborne Prairie that has grown for eons."

"What else?"

Yang Ruoyun looked at Han Fei and asked, "Have you ever heard about the Millennium Snapper before?"

Han Fei tilted his head and said, "What if I have, and what if I haven't?"

With sorrow in her eyes, Yang Ruoyun said, "The Millennium Snapper is an alluring fish that can control spiritual plants. It's said that their sounds are the most marvelous music in the ocean."

Of course, Han Fei knew it. He also knew that the Millennium Snapper was almost undying in areas that had abundant spiritual plants.

Seeing that Han Fei was tranquil, Yang Ruoyun was rather surprised. "You knew this?"

Han Fei's lips curled. "Are you surprised? How is the Big Red Trunk related to the Millennium Snapper? Why are you going there if it's so dangerous?"

Yang Ruoyun shook her head. "That's none of your business. My purpose here is different from yours. You're all here to look for treasures and grow stronger, but I'm here to seek an answer. Thirty-two members of the Yang family have died here. I'm the last living person in my family now. But I have to come here too."

Han Fei rolled his eyes. "You think I'm an idiot? Why would you come here to kill yourself if all your family have died here?"

Yang Ruoyun said, "Heavenly Talents like you would never understand. Who would ever dare to come to the level-three fishery without the exploration of the generations of pioneers?"

Han Fei mocked Yang Ruoyun's explanation and did not believe it at all. He didn't think that her family were full of scientists that explored the mysteries of the ocean.

Yang Ruoyun was not bothered by Han Fei's attitude. Staring at the front, she said slowly, "The dragon boats sent a lot of people to places that are too dangerous to visit for other people every year. The places with the most victims are naturally the most dangerous places, and the central area at the Seaborne Prairie is one of them."

Han Fei asked in confusion, "A lot of people are sent each year?" Yang Ruoyun nodded. "Explorers are sent every time the boats drop by. You might not see a lot of people on your way, but that's just because they entered this area from other routes."

Han Fei was surprised. "Even if they might be killed here?"

Yang Ruoyun nodded again. "Yes!"

Suddenly, Han Fei thought of something else. "What about the experts on the dragon boats? The Hidden Fishers and the Hanging Fishers?"

Yang Ruoyun said, "Maybe they know it, and maybe they don't. There was a Hidden Fisher who died here. Since then, no experts came here anymore."

Han Fei sneered. "Then why do they keep sending Dangling Fishers here?". Yang Ruoyun said casually, "You don't understand the darkness of this world. Certain secrets are more important than lives."

Chapter 356 The Forest of Big Red Trunk

What Yang Ruoyun said filled Han Fei with suspicion. The dangerous places in the level-three fishery that he knew were already a lot.

But still, people kept exploring those places. Were they idiots?

The Hexagon Starfish remarked gloomily, There's nothing over there except the annoying trees and fish! The tree you mentioned has delicious fruits, but nothing else about it is remarkable.

Yang Ruoyun asked in shock, "You've been there?"

Han Fei was quite surprised too. "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, I didn't know that you visited it before."

The Hexagon Starfish hummed and said, I once dug stones in there, until those fish carried me out of the place.

Looking at its enormous size, Han Fei couldn't help but ask, "How big must the fish have been to carry you out?"

I was digging stones under the trees. Of course I had to shrink my body size.

Han Fei: "..."

Dumbfounded, Yang Ruoyun spoke to Han Fei telepathically, Isn't this your contractual spiritual beast?

The Hexagon Starfish replied, Of course not. I am a free starfish.

Han Fei glanced at Yang Ruoyun and said, "Let me tell you the truth. The creatures with more eyes have greater spiritual power, which means that they can overhear telepathic communications."

Yang Ruoyun pursed her lips, but she wasn't too bothered. She simply looked at the Hexagon Starfish and asked, "Senior, have you taken fruits from the tree?"

The Hexagon Starfish rolled his big eyes, and Han Fei was lost for words. He wondered how this starfish grew eyes everywhere. Its six eyes were aimed at different directions and could almost spin all over its body...

The Hexagon Starfish said, It's partly my fault. I was digging the stones when I found the glittering fruits on the tree. So I had one of them. Then, they drove me out. Han Fei looked at Yang Ruoyun and asked, "Why? Is there something wrong with the fruits?"

Han Fei remembered that the ghost he met last time warned him again and again not to have the fruits.

Not just the fruits, he wasn't supposed to eat the fish either. But he found it quite odd, because the data of the Millennium Snapper suggested that it was edible and could permanently increase recovery abilities by multiple times after it was eaten.

Multiple times!

Han Fei was still tempted when he thought about it. If he hadn't collected the Millennium Snapper with his Demon Purification Pot, he might've eaten it already.

Also, the seaweed monster demanded fruits too. Were they asking for the same thing? But wasn't the Hexagon Starfish fine after having the fruit?

Han Fei asked, "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, was there anything unusual after you ate the fruit?"

nu

The Hexagon Starfish replied, I don't think So... Well, I made a breakthrough after that.

Han Fei: "..."

Yang Ruoyun seemed to be deep in thought, but Han Fei didn't care what was on her mind, because his eyes had been filled with vague redness. "We're here! We're here! The Big Red Trunk forest!"

Han Fei rose from the back of the Hexagon Starfish excitedly.

Yang Ruoyun rose too. She looked at the Big Red Trunk and then at Han Fei. "If you know the Big Red Trunk, you should know that their leaves release scorching energy."

Han Fei said in disdain, "Do you think I'm scared of a few insignificant leaves after traveling so far in the Seaborne Prairie?"

Yang Ruoyun didn't say anything. In her eyes, Han Fei was mysterious too. After all, not everybody was qualified to be hunted by so many experts, and not everybody could be a friend with a starfish that could talk without contracting the creature first... The Hexagon Starfish said, You can do whatever you want now. I'm going to dig some stones for myself.

Han Fei said with a smile, "But don't be too far away, Mr. Hexagon Starfish! I'm going to squeeze it if you're beyond a thousand meters."

The Hexagon Starfish closed its six eyes, too angry to say anything.

Before the forest of the Big Red Trunk, Han Fei vaguely heard singing from the depths of the wood. Yang Ruoyun said gravely, "Millennium Snapper..."

The Hexagon Starfish shrank into the size of a palm, before it dug into the soil and crept into the forest of the Big Red Trunk.

Han Fei said, "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, take it slow in case you're carried out again!"

He waved his hand with a smile, summoning thirty Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers, which immediately cooled the water nearby.

Han Fei shrugged and said, "I said that I'm not scared of it. Let's see whether the tree leaves are hotter, or my daggers are colder."

Yang Ruoyun almost rolled her eyes at the thirty spiritual weapons. That was really extravagant!

She took a pill out of her Sea Swallowing Seashell, and Han Fei noticed that it was a chilling pill too. It seemed that Yang Ruoyun had made a lot of preparations for this place.

Just like that, they went into the wood one after the other. The moment they stepped in, the soil on the ground began to shiver, and the sword-shaped leaves were even redder, unleashing overwhelming heat.

The red leaves began to fall above their head, making the water red and glamorous.

Han Fei had experienced it before, so he simply pressed on fearlessly.

He was as casual as before even though the red leaves were sweeping like swords, because they weren't as crazy as last time without the control of the Millennium Snapper. Even so, Han Fei's spiritual energy protective cover had been broken twice.

Yang Ruoyun was even more weird. There was no telling what pill she had taken, but the red leaves all avoided her when they approached her.

But Han Fei could tell that Yang Ruoyun was not in her best state. While the pill protected her from the red leaves, the side effects were enormous too. At this point, she was pale and unsteady, leaving a trail of ice behind her.

Han Fei looked at Yang Ruoyun weirdly. "You're too weak to bear the pill. How much longer do you think you can endure?"

Yang Ruoyun's lips were quivering as she stared up ahead, as if she were talking to the wood.

She said, "It doesn't matter how much longer you can endure if you don't aim to be a strong cultivator."
Han Fei: "???"

He didn't really understand what the woman was saying, but since the moment she stepped into the forest of the Big Red Trunk, she did not seem to care about her life anymore.

He snorted, "When are you giving me the other half of the "Records on the Exploration of the Abyssal Chasm"?"

Yang Ruoyun replied expressionlessly, "When we reach the real Big Red Trunk..."

Han Fei grinned. "The Big Red Trunk is just a tree. It's those Millennium Snappers that are the real threat here."

While walking, Yang Ruoyun asked, "Do you know how many people are around here?"

Han Fei asked in surprise, "Huh? There are other people here?"

Yang Ruoyun sneered, "As I told you before, many treasure hunters have been coming here though the trip is dangerous. They're still waiting."

Seeing that the spiritual energy protective cover was about to be broken, Han Fei replenished it and asked, "For what?"

Yang Ruoyun sped up, and Han Fei followed her closely in case she played any tricks. Yang Ruoyun said, "For singing... Infinite Millennium Snappers will sing an unparalleled tone at the Big Red Trunk at the center, and every visitor here will be given an opportunity."

Han Fei frowned. "Nonsense. You said yourself that the visitors here were all dead..."

Yang Ruoyun said, "That was an incomplete statement. People only know the victims who are dead, but a lot of visitors walk out of here alive, except that they lost their memories of the day, as if they were never here."

Han Fei's eyes constricted. "They lost their memories? Wait, how did you know that?"

Yang Ruoyun glanced at Han Fei and said, "There are always exceptions." Yang Ruoyun did not continue but walked faster and faster, and Han Fei frowned hard. He had a bad feeling. Certain big secrets seemed to be buried in this place!

What happened next proved Han Fei's speculation. When he moved faster, there were more red leaves, but they weren't any more powerful even though they were almost boiling the water. He didn't see any fish or crabs on his way, but only the flowers and the Big Red Trunks.

After half an hour, Han Fei finally saw the biggest Big Red Trunk. Before Han Fei approached it, he had seen its branches and leaves that stretched five hundred meters away. They were as dazzling as the afterglow. When the water surged, the sword leaves fell and turned into burning flames, disappearing into nothingness before they hit the ground.

Yang Ruoyun said casually, "This is called Falling Flame. It's the original look of the Big Red Trunk."

Han Fei raised his head, only to be shocked. "How tall is this tree exactly?"

Yang Ruoyun suddenly fell on her knees and crossed her hands before her chest. "Do you know why it is impossible to dive down from the sky, or go up in the water, as you press further into the Seaborne Prairie?"

Chapter 357 Fiery Tree

Yang Ruoyun fell on her knees before the Big Red Trunk and paid her tribute. Then she said slowly, "It's because the ocean you see, might not be the ocean you're in."

Han Fei was puzzled. "Please say something I can understand."

Yang Ruoyun, however, bowed at the Big Red Trunk again and said, "Here, the surface of the ocean is not connected to the underwater."

"Not connected?"

Han Fei was shocked. How could they not be connected? Wasn't this place the underwater area of the Seaborne Prairie? How could it not be connected to the surface?

Yang Ruoyun glanced at Han Fei and asked, "Why didn't you come in from the middle?"

Han Fei was stunned. "Because I was worried that someone might be after me!"

Yang Ruoyun said casually, "To be more exact, since the moment we passed the wall of seaweed, the surface is no longer connected to the underwater area. Nobody knows where you will reach if you swim up, but if you come down from the sky, you will end up at the wall of seaweed. That's an unanswered enigma."

Han Fei was dumbfounded. He felt that his brain was crashing! It seemed perplexing even in this world that was full of wonders!

Yang Ruoyun did not explain further. She rose after bowing three times and took out a bell and a wristband.

Cling... Cling...

When Yang Ruoyun rang the bell, a drawing flew out of her into the red leaves on the tree.

His face slightly changing, Han Fei grabbed Yang Ruoyun's neck and asked, "What are you doing?"

In the meantime, Han Fei spoke telepathically, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, come back and let's go!

However, Yang Ruoyun simply shook her head and said casually, "It's too late. Starting from the moment we entered the forest of the Big Red Trunk, there's no way for you to get out."

Han Fei lay the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Dagger on Yang Ruoyun's neck, causing a minor cut. "Make yourself clear."

Ignoring the dagger on her neck, Yang Ruoyun continued ringing the bell with her hands crossed.

Yang Ruoyun said, "You can kill me, but you'd better let me finish. The Millennium Snappers will be out in a minute, and those hiding outside will come in too. Everything that's going to happen here will be kept here. Maybe you can get out a day later. I'm not lying to you. You may be strong enough to survive this..."

Han Fei stared at Yang Ruoyun and asked, "What about you?"

He had always found this woman queer, especially when she made those weird moves. He had absolutely no idea what she was up to.

Yang Ruoyun slowly put her hands down and stopped shaking the bell. Then, she took out half a book.

She said slowly, "Actually, I had prepared this book on the dragon boat. Back then, I planned to invite you to kill those two people with me and attract you to enter the Seaborne Prairie with me with this book. But I had to abort the plan because of the accident that happened to you. I didn't expect to meet you again in the Seaborne Prairie. That may be fate... Here's the other half of the book. We're done here."

Han Fei had a lot of complicated feelings. Yang Ruoyun was definitely a freak, not because she had strange personalities, but because... Han Fei thought that she might be a lunatic.

Hualala...

At this point, the branches of the super Big Red Trunk began to shake, and the infinite sword-shaped red leaves were falling, raising flames one after another in the seawater.

The red leaves were not directed to him, or anyone else. They were just falling. "La, la, la..."

"Heeyah..."

Voices that sounded from the soul echoed in the seawater, pure, indistinct and unworldly...

Han Fei's face changed greatly. He knew what the Millennium Snappers were capable of, and if they were all to attack him crazily, he might not be able to survive it without hiding in Forge the Universe...

"Mr. Hexagon Starfish, I'll give you ten seconds to come back, or I will squeeze the stone."

On the third second, Han Fei saw a palm-sized little starfish emerging from the soil below his feet.

The Hexagon Starfish's voice rang in his head, That's fine! They'll be done soon. I've listened to them many times... Can you not threaten me with my essence blood every time?

Han Fei snorted and said, "It's fine for you, but not necessarily so for me. We have to stick together from now on. Is there anyplace safe? Take me there."

Han Fei did not consider himself smart, but he was definitely not stupid. He knew that Yang Ruoyun couldn't be up to anything good and speculated that she did not plan to go out alive... But he was here for treasures and did not intend to get himself killed in a weird accident yet.

The Hexagon Starfish said, There's no need to hide. Nobody will notice you.

Yang Ruoyun said, "That's right. I didn't lie to you. If so many peak-level Dangling Fishers failed to kill you, they might not be able to do so this time. Your pursuers might get killed first."

Han Fei: "???"

Hiu! Hiu! Hiu!

Suddenly, Han Fei raised his head, only to see Millennium Snappers crawling out of the red leaves of the Big Red Trunk as they began to sing.

More Millennium Snappers were joining them. They surrounded the thick trunk in a circle, which was a rather weird behavior.

Han Fei looked at Yang Ruoyun and asked, "What are they doing?"

Yang Ruoyun said without any hesitation, "They're communicating with the Big Red Trunk. It's like some sort of ritual. I never saw it before either."

"Hum..."

Suddenly, Han Fei turned his head and saw a stranger a thousand meters away. The stranger glanced at Han Fei and Yang Ruoyun and swam to another direction, paying no attention to them at all.

Then, after only a short moment, Han Fei noticed a couple more strangers.

However, none of them talked to Han Fei. They did not seem to know each other either. They simply each found a corner and started to wait in silence.

Hundreds of kilometers away from the wood of the Big Red Trunk, Sun Mu and his team were swimming quickly.

"Young Master Mu, the Millennium Snappers have started chanting. Are we really going in?"

Looking at the crimson water far away, Sun Mu frowned and asked, "Is this wood of Big Red Trunk as wicked as it's said to be?"

A subordinate that was closely behind him replied solemnly, "Yes, Young Master. Everybody who enters the wood will either lose their memories or die there. Some people do return with information on the wood, but they only remembered part of what happened."

Sun Mu asked, "Has the Sun Family ever investigated it?"

"Yes."

Sun Mu nodded and said, "How many lived and how many died?"

The subordinate smiled and said, "Over the past hundreds of years, the Sun Family has sent almost a thousand people to this place. In the past year, twelve people made it here. Five of them died, one went crazy, and six were safe. Among the safe guys, six became Hanging Fishers soon after the journey." Sun Mu glanced at him and asked, "You're very proud of that?"

His subordinate's face immediately changed. "I dare not be, but the casualty rate is very low. If they were intermediate or advanced Dangling Fishers, only ten to twenty percent of them would've survived."

Sun Mu snorted and said, "It's only because our family sent peak-level Dangling Fishers, who had more advantages. But that's enough information. Let's go in. Remember, no treasures, just the Sea Token."

"Yes, sir!"

More than a thousand Millennium Snappers had been gathered on the Big Red Trunk, and thousands more must've been among the red leaves where Han Fei could not see.

Their disorganized singing soon became uniform. Like a group of angels singing in paradise, their melody was breathtaking.

Han Fei was greatly shocked, not by the music but by the number of Millennium Snappers.

Weren't they rare creatures? Was it normal that thousands of them were gathered here? If he were to throw all of them into the Demon Purification Pot, what would he create? Han Fei did not even dare to think about it.

The Hexagon Starfish, however, said, Wait a moment. The petals will be thrown.

Han Fei: "???"

"Pu..."

Han Fei suddenly saw that a leaf was on fire. He was slightly surprised. Could the leaves on the tree be set ablaze too?

But next, the red leaves were ignited one after another, so fast that they seemed to be awash with oil and would be set on fire with a tiny spark.

It was much more magnificent than fireworks. When billions of red leaves on the outer layer of the enormous tree were on fire at the same time, the whole Big Red Trunk turned into a gigantic tree of flames in no more than ten seconds.

"Shoot..."

Chapter 358 Training

"Hyah... Lah, lah, lah..."

The melody was slow, pure, and touching. More and more Millennium Snappers were gathered in the flames without moving at all.

BAM!

Suddenly, an explosion burst out from the tree, and the flames blossomed like fireworks, filling the whole ocean with starry fire.

Yang Ruoyun almost burst into tears when she looked at the infinite flames. Her devoutness stunned Han Fei.

Those flames were falling overwhelming. There was no place to hide at all.

"Han Fei!"

Han Fei sensed danger and lunged forward. In the next moment, a longsword cut where he had been standing.

Before Han Fei's eyes were seven people, led by a young man who couldn't have been more than twenty. He was a peak-level Dangling Fisher.

Looking at the people behind him, Han Fei felt like cursing. He wondered how many people those jerks had sent, and why the super landmine that he planted did not kill them.

The young man was holding his sword with one hand. On the freezing sword, a green serpent was meandering.

"I am Sun Mu. You're qualified to learn my name. After I kill you, I will bury you under the Big Red Trunk. It's a nice graveyard."

Sun Mu spoke with a smile and looked above. "Look at this beautiful place. You're going to appreciate the view forever."

Grabbing two Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers, Han Fei stared at Sun Mu coldly. "Thank you for your kindness, but I think that the view here is more suitable for you. I'll bury you here after you die. How does that sound?"

That being said, Han Fei looked very awful. The number of enemies before him was beyond his estimation. Were they not wounded all at the wall of seaweed? Did they all make it here?

Han Fei spoke to the Hexagon Starfish telepathically, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, do you have more arrays? Set up a few and help me block them!

The Hexagon Starfish naturally realized that it was no good. It wanted to flee, but Han Fei definitely wouldn't allow it.

The Hexagon Starfish replied telepathically, How can arrays be set up so fast? Why don't you hang in there a while longer? The fruits will be out in a minute.

Lost for words, Han Fei cursed, You're still thinking about the fruits at such a moment when you're about to be killed?

Han Fei ran quickly. He couldn't care less if Little Gold would be exposed. Besides, Yang Ruoyun mentioned that everybody would lose their memories of the day, which further reassured him.

Han Fei dashed out and unfolded his wings, going straight at the leaves of the Big Red Trunk.

It was the safest approach that Han Fei could think of. At this point, the leaves and the Millennium Snappers did not seem aggressive. So, he might as well take shelter among the leaves.

Everybody was stunned to see Han Fei's move. Was he an idiot? Why was he running to the tree?

Sun Mu paused and spoke to one of his subordinates, "You will go."

The man was gloomy. I'm going there alone? Though the Big Red Trunk seems peaceful, who knows if dangers are lurking among the lush leaves?

But he sighed, knowing that he could not refuse an order, and so he swooshed into the leaves.

After he dashed into the red leaves, Han Fei sensed overwhelming heat coming at his face. His spiritual energy protective cover was burnt up immediately and again three seconds later.

But Han Fei ignored it and kept ascending until he was a hundred meters high. Then, he stopped at a random branch, and he had been covered with red leaves. Those red leaves were burning hot and enshrouded Han Fei in fire. Han Fei's blood was freezing under the burning sensation. He felt that it was even more scorching than the fish fire.

His skin was cracking. His clothes had been burnt up. His hair could not resist the fire either, and he had turned bald again.

But as Han Fei expected, the Millennium Snappers and the Big Red Trunk simply ignored him as he sat there.

The man who entered the leaves after Han Fei was even more miserable than Han Fei. His spiritual energy protective cover, his clothes and his hair were burnt up after only several seconds. He would've died if he hadn't grabbed a cold stone.

Even so, the stone was dimming at a visible speed.

The man looked around after he came in, only to see nothing but redness. He couldn't locate Han Fei at all.

"No, I have to go out. I'll just say that I lost him."

The man hurried to retreat, but an invisible wall blocked his way when he was about to get out.

"No! Let me out!"

The man was greatly shocked, not expecting a barrier on the tree.

"Help me! Young Master!" Outside, Sun Mu's team were slightly shocked. They had noticed the barrier too, which stopped the subordinate from leaving the red leaves.

Han Fei, on the other hand, was rather stunned. He did not expect the barrier either.

Sun Mu said to the people around him, "Attack together."

The six of them attacked at the same time, launching an enormous wave, but the barrier was undamaged.

Sun Mu looked awful. It was the Sea Token that he was after, but if Han Fei was imprisoned in the tree, wouldn't the Sea Token be left there forever? While everybody was grim, Yang Ruoyun said casually not far away, "It's useless! When the Millennium Snappers are chanting, this Big Red Trunk will be an invulnerable array of fire that is not to be broken."

One of the guys from the Sun family suddenly strangled Yang Ruoyun and said, "Speak. How can we get Han Fei out?"

Yang Ruoyun smiled and said, "The array will be gone when the chanting is over."

Sun Mu looked at Yang Ruoyun intimidatingly. "How long will that take?"

Yang Ruoyun replied casually, "About an hour."

Everybody was shocked to hear the length. An hour in the fire? Their man was crying for help after only one minute in it. Any person who stayed an hour inside would be incinerated, wouldn't they?

The guy from the Sun Family who cried for help was weaker and weaker. Knowing that his fellows had fruitlessly tried to save him, he returned and searched for Han Fei again, determined to accomplish his mission.

At this moment, Han Fei was resisting the fire the best he could. The Indestructible Body was absorbing his spiritual energy quickly.

More importantly, Han Fei found that he could not even sense half a meter away.

“Damn it. I could’ve swindled Mr. Hexagon Starfish out of some spiritual energy if I had seen this coming. What I have might not be enough!”

Han Fei was rather anxious. He had only no more than 1,000,000 points of spiritual energy in total. Earlier, he had spent 50,000 of them on the arrays, and he only had about 900,000 left. He must use them judiciously.

A moment later, Han Fei felt that he was dizzy. Even his skin had been burnt through many times.

About three hundred seconds later, Han Fei heard a scream not far away from him.

“Huh? Someone else is here?”

Han Fei grinned. He wished that all the guys from the Sun Family had come in, in which case they could barely survive without the Indestructible Body or millions of points of spiritual energy.

He was bold enough to break in because of his sturdy body. He did not expect that someone else would come in with him.

“Hula...”

Soon, Han Fei could not laugh anymore, as his new skin had been ripped again.

Anybody who saw it would’ve been so shocked that their eyes would have popped out. At this moment, Han Fei looked like a porcelain doll that was full of cracks, and he seemed to be falling apart after a slight poke.

Half an hour later, Han Fei became grim. The fire was more powerful than he thought, and the cultivation with the Indestructible Body had been fast. The short while he spent here equaled half a day in the fish fire. He had spent almost 300,000 points of spiritual energy on fixing his body.

But Han Fei did not stop his training. He seemed to have sensed the bottleneck of his body.

For all the time, his Indestructible Body had been stuck by an invisible obstacle. As a result, though his body was sturdy, it was not as unbelievable as Ren Tianfei’s.

This time, Han Fei vividly sensed that the obstacle was the restrictions in his own body.

After the polishing with fish fire in the Fiery Mountain, because of the disunity of his level, his strength and the enemy in his body, he was not as sturdy as he appeared. After the training and digestion in the following year, he improved his sturdiness to a new height, and he would reach higher peaks today.

An hour later, Han Fei’s skin, flesh and bone showed crystal colors.

Han Fei was hesitating. He had consumed almost 600,000 points of spiritual energy, but he was still not there yet! He sensed that he was only one step away from a whole new level of sturdiness.

At this point, Han Fei sensed that his body temperature was declining, and the furious flames outside were weakened into small ones.

“Huh? You’re gone? Please give me some more! I’m about to make a breakthrough!”

Han Fei almost vomited blood. He sensed that he was about to surpass the limits of his body, but the feeling was gone because of the declination of the fire. It was really annoying.

Exactly at this point, an arrow was shot right towards Han Fei’s face.

Chapter 359 Come Again If You Think You’re Good

The moment he saw the arrow, Han Fei knew that he wasn’t safe anymore. The barrier seemed gone now.

The arrow left a hole in the barrier when it penetrated through the fire. Sensing the danger, Han Fei launched the Water Dividing Seal immediately.

BAM!

Han Fei was pushed back by the arrow. His arm was slightly uncomfortable. He sensed that he seemed to be much stronger and sturdier than before.

Theoretically speaking, he was even better than the so-called peak-level Dangling Fishers in terms of defense.

Earlier, Old Jiang had said that all that mattered in a fight was who had bigger and harder fists. Han Fei believed that it shouldn’t be a problem for him to bash a high-level Dangling Fisher with his fists now.

However, he still hadn’t made the breakthrough on the Indestructible Body yet.

Get out.

Receiving the Hexagon Starfish’s message, Han Fei was slightly shocked. Going out right now? Wouldn’t he be killed?

Han Fei asked, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, what’s going on out there?

The Hexagon Starfish replied, Two more groups of people are here.

“Huh?”

Han Fei put on some clothes and craned his head from the leaves. In the next moment, an arrow was fired at him again.

But when the arrow was a hundred meters away from Han Fei, a woman had chopped it into pieces with her sword.

Then, a young man around eighteen appeared with two black crystal axes. He smiled and asked, “Sun Mu, is he the man the Sun Family is looking for?”

Han Fei asked, Mr. Hexagon Starfish, where are you? And who are they?

Han Fei looked aside, only to see a starfish that was smaller than a hand on a leaf right next to his head. It said, They're new here. They seem to be in conflict with your pursuers.

Han Fei was lost for words. Mr. Hexagon Starfish, when did you come here?

The Hexagon Starfish climbed on Han Fei's shoulder and said, I was scared that they would beat me! So I came in too.

Han Fei: "..."

The young man holding axes smiled at Han Fei and said, "You're Han Fei? I'm told that you've got the Sea Token, right?"

The woman who used a sword turned around and smiled at Han Fei too. "We would've still been ignorant of the matter if the Sun Family hadn't searched for you so vehemently."

Han Fei asked timidly, "Who are you?"

The woman blinked her eyes and said, "I'm from the Thousand Star City, of course! I'll sleep with you if you give the Sea Token to me. How does that sound?"

Han Fei immediately trembled. Wasn't it too blunt? He didn't know that the Sea Token had such a usage.

The young man with axes said, "Mo Feiyan, you can't find another man who is better than this bumpkin?"

Mo Feiyan giggled and said, "Yang Deyu, he is much better than you. He killed multiple peak-level Dangling Fishers of the Sun Family on his own. He's definitely a genius!"

Sun Mu approached them step to step and glanced at them coldly, "Mo Feiyan, Yang Deyu, are you determined to challenge the Sun Family?" "Haha!"

Yang Deyu laughed and pointed the black crystal axes at Sun Mu. "Have we ever not challenged the Sun Family? The Sea Token is for whoever is lucky enough to have it. You want to claim it for yourself? Have you asked for the permission of my axes?"

Mo Feiyan said with a smile too, "Sun Mu, you're overestimating yourself. I'm told that the Sun Family has failed two hunts. It's our turn now."

Then, the girl turned back at Han Fei and chuckled. "My offer still stands! I don't think I'm an ugly woman, am I? You're in for a treat."

Han Fei felt goosebumps all over his body. This woman was really pretty, but he couldn't stand her way of talking. Different from Xia Xiaochan, who often tried to play cute but always remained a violent girl, this woman was really an alluring minx.

Han Fei extended his hand and said, "Hey, gorgeous, you want the Sea Token? Fine! Help me take down that Sun... Sun Mu, right? You'll have the Sea Token if you kill Sun Mu for me." Mo Feiyan grinned and said, "I'll help you kill him if you give it to me first. As it happens, nobody will trouble you anymore after you give it to me. What do you think of that?"

Seeing that his trick didn't work out, Han Fei chuckled and said, "That won't do. Why don't you come here and take it yourself?"

"Okay!"

Out of Han Fei's expectation, Mo Feiyan, Sun Mu and Yang Deyu did not attack. They all just looked at Han Fei with a smile.

Immediately, Han Fei felt that it was not good.

"Attach."

"Nine-Star Chain..."

Han Fei thought he was buying time for himself. Little did he know that his enemies were doing the same. Behind him was a weird web.

Han Fei recognized the web to be made of the same rope with which Sun Ye caught Luo Xiaobai back in the Fiery Mountain earlier. He still had one of those ropes in Forge the Universe! He did not expect to meet it again today.

Earlier, his enemy had secretly deployed people to attack him from his back, hoping to hunt him down.

The Nine-Star Chains were stabbed down into the soil and pulled, giving Han Fei a boost. But he was faced with Sun Mu, Mo Feiyan and Yang Deyu immediately. "Damn it. Let's die together!"

Hiu! Hiu! Hiu!

Three Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Daggers were darted towards them.

"Explode now..." Greatly shocked, all the three of them stepped back.

They activated their own techniques. A shield of ice appeared before Sun Mu, Mo Feiyan vanished into mist, and Yang Deyu protected his chest with his axes as well as the shell of a spiritual turtle.

Bam! Bam! Bam!

Han Fei ferociously charged at Mo Feiyan. He was blown up by his own Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Dagger. The pieces of the dagger pierced into his body, resulting in blood on his arms and his abdomen.

BAM...

Han Fei pushed the shrapnel out of his body with spiritual energy and cast the Divine Healing Technique on himself.

Sun Mu yelled coldly, "Let's see how many spiritual weapons you have to detonate."

Silently, Han Fei swam up.

Mo Feiyan reappeared palely. Looking at Han Fei who was ascending quickly, she frowned and said, "What an intimidating man. He didn't even hesitate to blow himself up. However... Is he going to the Millennium Snappers?"

Yang Deyu spat on the ground and said, "Thank god that everything that happened here will be forgotten, or it would be too humiliating that this man escaped our joint hunt."

Han Fei felt that his heart was bleeding. He had lost three spiritual weapons in the blink of an eye. He was determined to get back at them someday, or he would be too sorry for himself.

Don't swim up anymore. The fruits are coming. Those fish can be brutal.

The Hexagon Starfish emerged from Han Fei's shoulder and reminded him.

Han Fei had swum up by five hundred meters and was only several hundred meters away from the Millennium Snappers. But how could he stop when five peak-level Dangling Fishers were hunting him down?

"Humph. Mr. Hexagon Starfish, hold on!"

"Hooo..."

When he was several hundred meters away from the Millennium Snappers, Han Fei opened his hand and took out the Blue Sea Wandering Dragon Bow.

Hiu...

An arrow of thousands of points of spiritual energy was shot at the Millennium Snappers, causing a huge explosion.

Behind them, all the five people who were chasing Han Fei were shocked by Han Fei's craziness. They had been trying to corner Han Fei with the fish and did not expect the man to attack the fish voluntarily.

"Hyah..."

The singing of the Millennium Snappers was interrupted, which seemed to have infuriated them.

"Hyah... Hyah..."

Under the watch of hundreds of the fish, the red sword leaves were launched overwhelmingly at the intruders.

His eyelids cramping, Han Fei immediately turned back and ran the opposite way. The five people who had chased Han Fei turned back even faster. They had started fleeing since the moment Han Fei attacked the Millennium Snappers.

But the wood of the Big Red Trunk was only so spacious. Where could they possibly run to?

Han Fei launched another arrow at those Millennium Snappers.

In the meantime, Han Fei announced, "Come on! Try again! Aren't you good? Come and kill me now!"

Sun Mu's face changed. Han Fei was crazy enough to start a war voluntarily. At this point, he was almost completely buried by sword leaves. Opening his wings, Han Fei charged at one of the Dangling Fishers of the Sun Family with the overwhelming red leaves.

The man's head was dizzy. Why had Han Fei chosen him as a target of all the people here?

All the other people who had come to the Big Red Trunk were lost for words, wondering why Han Fei and Sun Mu's team were fighting so hard when treasures hadn't been revealed yet.

Han Fei was faster than common peak-level Dangling Fishers when he opened his wings. He was about to grab one of them, when the man suddenly disappeared.

"Shoot..."

Han Fei was speechless. It seemed not easy to kill a peak-level Dangling Fisher! They could just crush a flash stone and escape.

But Han Fei didn't give up. He turned around and chased another person.

Chapter 360 Red Ball

The situation outside of the Big Red Trunk became very weird. The dragon-like chain of red leaves was chasing Han Fei, and Han Fei was chasing the peak-level Dangling Fishers.

At this point, Han Fei had caught another person. The man was about to escape, when he sensed that his spiritual energy was frozen, and he had been tied up by a golden rope.

"The Spirit Forbidding Rope. No..."

Han Fei grabbed the captive and dove into the sword leaves.

"Ahhhhh..."

After only several seconds, the man dropped from the leaves, with his chest stabbed and his internal organs churned.

Sun Mu's face slightly changed. "Mo Feiyan, Yang Deyu, ask your men to take action if you want the Sea Token."

The two people who had been enjoying the drama shrugged, but they didn't argue and simply waved their hand.

Twelve peak-level Dangling Fishers attacked Han Fei at the same time, blowing him and the sword leaves away with a dazzling light.

"Shoot. So many?"

Han Fei was dumbfounded. Were peak-level Dangling Fishers so cheap? There were a dozen of them here, and their bosses were even standing by and watching the show.

"Chiliu..."

In case they attacked him again, Han Fei ran to the Millennium Snappers again.

However, none of the twelve people turned back. They simply watched him and waited, as if they were telling him to either confront the fish, or go back down and be captured.

Han Fei shouted, "You're forcing me to do this."

"Pu..."

Han Fei broke into the leaves of the Big Red Trunk that was five hundred meters tall. The moment he broke in, he tossed out the Hexagon Starfish.

Han Fei said, "Mr. Hexagon Starfish, set up a Stealth Array right now." The Hexagon Starfish said, A Stealth Array cannot fool twelve people! Someone will notice it!

Han Fei said, "Three seconds! It will be enough if you can stall them for three seconds."

The Hexagon Starfish said, That's much easier.

Among the red leaves, the twelve people were still chasing after Han Fei. But they stopped the red leaves from burning them by releasing their spiritual energy together. It wasn't so easy for Han Fei. He was burnt while he fled. Even his brain almost exploded.

"Mr. Hexagon Starfish, are you done?"

The Hexagon Starfish said, Okay. You can come here.

A moment later...

"Huh? Where is he?"

Someone was confused. "He was almost blocked by us just now. Did he escape with a flash stone?"

Someone shook his head. "No. We would've sensed it if he used a flash stone. Besides, Young Master and other people are back there. He can't get past them."

"Wait, there is a Stealth Array here."

Immediately, they took action simultaneously and blew up the Stealth Array, but they found nobody.

Inside Forge the Universe, Han Fei kept casting the Divine Healing Technique on himself.

He was truly unlucky! He had thought that the super landmine he planted in the land of starfish could've blown up the guys from the Sun Family... He didn't expect so many of them to make it through to him.

He could even defeat one peak-level Dangling Fisher. How could he defeat so many of them?

Truth be told, Han Fei believed that three of them were enough to suppress him in a head-on clash, four could crush him like an Iron-Headed Fish, and five could beat him up like a sandbag.

Han Fei was rather gloomy. You want the Sea Token? Fine. I'll make one for you here and now.

Han Fei had plenty of materials, including the spiritual weapons that he looted. He simply threw a mid-quality spiritual sword into the calabash.

Reforging did not require other materials, or a mid-quality spiritual weapon would've consumed a lot of spiritual energy.

Han Fei didn't have much spiritual energy in the first place. After an hour of training with the Indestructible Body, he didn't even have 300,000 points of spiritual energy left. Seeing that it was further reduced to 240,163, he almost shed tears. He had to cultivate in a place after this trip, or he would probably run out of spiritual energy next time he met an enemy. In that case, he would really have to cry.

However, what Han Fei did not know that reforging could take a while even though it was not slow, and in the meantime, something great was going on outside.

Yang Ruoyun had never helped Han Fei since the beginning. Because she was weak, Sun Mu only asked one of his subordinates to watch over her.

At this moment, when everybody's attention was focused on Han Fei, a circle of ancient characters popped up on the Big Red Trunk. If Han Fei were here, he would've recognized them to be the drawing that Yang Ruoyun tossed in earlier. But nobody else knew what it was.

Cling... Cling...

Yang Ruoyun suddenly crossed her hands and shook them, ringing the bell on her wrists.

"What are you doing?"

The subordinate of the Sun Family scolded her.

Yang Ruoyun lowered her head with a smile. "Father, it's been nine years, but I'm here again. If it doesn't work this time, I will sacrifice myself for it."

The subordinate of the Sun Family was somewhat frightened to hear that.

He grabbed Yang Ruoyun's neck and shouted, "What did you say? What are you sacrificing for?"

On the other hand, Sun Mu noticed the anomaly and approached her. "What's going on?!"

There was no fear on Yang Ruoyun's face at all. She smiled and said, "The Red Ball. The Red Ball is here."

Yang Deyu, cranky enough, kicked Yang Ruoyun and yelled, "Red Ball? What's that?"

Before Yang Deyu asked further, everybody had seen a red haze that was emanating from the leaves of the Big Red Trunk. In the red haze were starry glittering spots that darted towards everyone.

Mo Feiyan raised her hand, and the green ring on her hand established a barrier that protected her.

Yang Deyu and Sun Mu made similar reactions. Same as Mo Feiyan, they were protected by some sort of barrier.

But the rest were not as noble as they were, and were immediately covered by the red haze. All thirty people near the Big Red Trunk were petrified and could not move anymore.

Yang Deyu shouted angrily, "What's that? I feel that my protective jade is breaking."

Mo Feiyan was no longer as graceful as before. She said awfully, "Mine too."

Sun Mu looked at the other people and considered the moment. Then, he recalled the protective jade that was about to crack.

The moment the barrier around Sun Mu disappeared, he was petrified. Yang Deyu and Mo Feiyan looked at each other. They both recalled their protective jade and entered the petrification state too.

Yang Ruoyun, who had been ignored by everyone, opened her eyes. She unleashed her spiritual energy and shattered her clothes, revealing dense creepy tattoos that were emitting gold colors brilliantly.

She extended her hand and reached for what seemed to be a crimson spiritual fruit.

She put the red spiritual fruit in her mouth without hesitation. After a long time, she suddenly craned her head and made a “hyah” sound at the Big Red Trunk.

If everybody weren’t petrified at this point, they would’ve been too shocked to say anything, as the sound she made was the same sound as the Millennium Snappers.

At this point, Han Fei had recovered, and he was holding two identical tokens.

“Tsk, tsk. I am truly a master forger. Why didn’t I make a fake one sooner?”

Han Fei looked at the counterfeit Sea Token in his hand. It was a mid-quality spiritual weapon anyway! He was rather reluctant to give it away even though it was fake... “Fine. It will be worth it as long as they stop being a pain in my ass.”

Han Fei disappeared from Forge the Universe in the blink of an eye.

“Mr. Hexagon Starfish? Mr. Hexagon Starfish? Where are you? I...”

Before Han Fei could finish, he sensed that a weird power was attached to himself. He felt that his limbs were numb, and that his head was indescribably drowsy. “Chi...”

Han Fei sensed that his Demon Purification Pot was flashing. In the next second, he was surrounded by spiritual energy, which had been deployed by the Demon Purification Pot. It was not unusual.

Even so, Han Fei found that his limbs were heavier and heavier, and he couldn’t move anymore.

“Not good. I can’t stay on the tree.”

Han Fei bit the tip of his tongue and jumped out. He had a free fall among the leaves. When he occasionally hit the branches, he had to move his butt so that he could keep falling.

He didn’t have a choice. If he were to stay on the tree, he would probably be roasted by the leaves of the Big Red Trunk. His current spiritual energy couldn’t even sustain him for half an hour.

BAM...

When Han Fei felt that he was about to fall asleep, he was finally out of the leaves of the Big Red Trunk.

But the moment his back hit the soil, he was stunned, as he caught a fruit floating before him in the middle of the glittering redness. He saw that it was a Red Ball, before he passed out.
