

Act 2 ~> It All Collapses

"Sometimes I think about the way we were and it makes me sick because it's not you and I anymore."

"It's you, and I.
Separate, apart, distant.
We were once apart of each other and now we're strangers,"

"back to square one.
And I know things ended badly
but I'd do it all again."

IN WHICH, Pollo does exactly what is expected of him.
And that is being a walking disaster.
But at least being a disaster is what helps him find his way back home.
Because he's quick to find out that home is a person.
And that person is an asshole.
