

Chapter Thirty Three: I Hate Demons

It's been a week. The Evans and my family are slowly accepting Cezar. He's been helping us a lot, the only thing that sets everyone off is when he calls me 'love.'

"Hey, Ivy, come on! Let's train." Thalia says.

I walk out to the back yard and put Love Money Party on my phone. The Evans back yard is so much nicer than ours, that's why we've been training here.

I take a fighting stance and Thalia makes the first move. She tries to punch me in the face, key word try.

I easily flip her by grabbing her arm.

"Thalia you're too easy." I sigh.

"You haven't turned around sis." Thalia says.

"What?" I ask turning to face her, but in the process getting kicked in the stomach making me topple over. I jump back up and glare at Thalia.

We go on fighting for a little while, before I take Thalia down.

Caine and Natasha come out and Caine smirks.

"My turn." He says.

Caine stands in front of me in a fighting stance. I can feel him poke around in my mind, looking to see what move I'll give him. So, I return the favour. I open my mind up so I can go into his. I see him plan a punch and I easily move out of the way as he tries to land it.

"You're in my head too. Aren't you?" Caine asks.

"Maybe." I smirk. I try to kick him but he dodges.

"This is going to be..." Caine starts.

"Different." I finish for him.

In the end of our fight, I end up winning. At the last moment I had switched my thoughts, I had been thinking of going to the left, but need up actually going to the right. HA CAINE HA!

"I won." I smirk.

"Blah, blah." Caine says getting up. I laugh before walking back inside the house. Cezar and Thalia are talking and Thalia keeps laughing, that's a good sign.

"Hey, Ivy, what do you want for lunch?" Ellie asks as I pass her.

"Pizza!" I squeal.

"Alright." Ellie laughs.

"Hey mom, wanna go shopping with me tomorrow?" I ask her.

"Yeah. That'll be fun." Mom smiles. I can accept her as mom now. My memories have semi returned.

I laugh as Damian comes in and picks me up. He spins me in a circle and kisses me.

"Hello Ivy." He says happily.

"What's got you in such a good mood?" I ask whilst giggling.

"Next week I've got something planned." Damian smiles.

"Oh?" I ask.

"I can't tell you though." Damian says.

"Well dang." I pout. Thalia and Cezar laugh at me from where they are watching us on the couch.

"What should we do after lunch?" Thalia asks.

"What do you want to do?" I ask.

"Oh, I know!" Thalia exclaims.

"What?" Cezar asks.

"Let's play Just Dance! We can have a huge dance battle! I mean, all you guys dance so it'll be intense." Thalia exclaims.

"You're so on." I smirk. "I'm going first."

"I'm going against you." Thalia smirks.

"Ha! I'll beat you to the pulp." I laugh.

"We'll just see about that." Thalia says.

We put the disk in the Wii and instantly get started. I pull the moves off perfectly, we aren't using the remotes, we're using the recording system. It's way harder because you have to use your whole body.

"I won!" I jump as the song ends and I hold winner. "Who am I beating next?" I ask while smirking.

"Me." Cezar says.

Turns out Cezar is an awesome dancer. We literally tie, the exact same score! Is that possible? So we go off again.

On our second song, I beat Cezar by just a little bit. I laugh.

"Ha ha! I am the champion!" I say giving Cezar a hug.

"That you are love." Cezar laughs.

"Me next!" Hazel says.

We dance to probably one of the hardest songs, and I beat Hazel. I don't think I've had this much fun in a while.

"Okay Ivy. I'm next, and I'll beat you." Caine says.

"Good luck with that." I giggle.

Caine starts beating me, making me dance harder. I beat Caine in the end. I jump and laugh in victory.

"Wait, I'll be right back." I say. I sprint upstairs changing into a tank top so my wings can be out and shorts. I pull my hair up and then I head back downstairs.

"Oh Ivy." Devin laughs.

"Okay. Natasha, Shawn, Devin or Damian? Who am I beating next?" I ask.

"I'll go." Shawn says.

We play an intense round, although I still end up winning.

I wiggle my wings a bit happily, even though they are retracted close to my body. A few feathers fall out and I can't help but pick them up and stare.

"It looks like a bird feather." I say poking it with my free hand. The others laugh.

"I'm going against you next Ivy." Devin says.

I drop my feathers and quickly get into place.

We play a quick round which I win.

"Okay Damian, ready to get your ass kicked?" I ask.

"I guess." Damian laughs.

We do a long song, still leading me to a victory. I then easily beat Natasha.

We continue to play until lunch. I winning every single time because I'm just that awesome at this game.

As soon as the pizza man comes to the door I run to get it.

BIG mistake. I completely forgot that I had my wings out.

I yank the door open and the pizza dude stares.

"Um... They are for a costume. I'm just trying them on." I say.

"Oh." He says clearly falling for it. Cezar runs over and I slowly walk away and bolt into the kitchen where he can't see me.

"Ivy, you need to be more careful." Mom scolds.

"Sorry mom." I mutter.

Cezar walks in with the pizza and I rip the boxes out of his hands and setting on the counter. With that I shove my face with the first piece.

That makes everyone laugh.

We eat a peaceful lunch before going to hang out on the couch. Greg, Ellie, mom and Ken all join us.

Shawn says he'll be back, he just needs a quick walk so we let him go.

We talk about random crap for a while before Shawn comes bursting into the house.

"Demons." He says. My weapons instantly appear, I had made sure I summoned them. Thalia, Damian, and the rest of the Evans do likewise. Even Devin and Cezar do.

"Take us to them." I growl. We follow Shawn into the forest and find a group of demons. About thirty maybe.

"Let's ambush them." Thalia whispers.

"Everyone spread around them. At my signal attack." I say narrowing my eyes at the demons around the fire.

Once everyone has spread out I step out of my hiding spot, causing the demons to all look at me.

"Hello. Either surrender now, or die." I say, keeping my facial expression neutral.

"Ha, like we would surrender to you." One of the demons snickers.

"Then die." I say, I give a nod telling everyone to come out.

It quickly turns out into an all out battle. I didn't realize killing demons was so easy. I sure felt... Weird... that I was killing. But at the same time my body was telling me it was normal.

An arrow starts to whiz at Thalia, I scream her name and she turns to the arrow. She can't move in time, the arrow flies and hits it's target...

Wait. It doesn't hit Thalia! It hits Cezar. I sprint over and bend down to Cezar. He's on the ground, shallowly breathing. The arrow literally had gone straight through his heart.

"No, Cezar, I'll heal you. Stay with me." I beg. He can't be dying. He can't be...

"Ivy, tell me one thing, then I'll live a happy after life." Cezar says.

"No, you're not going to die." I say, tears over filling and spilling over.

"Say you love me. And say that you'll live a happy life... Say it for me." Cezar says.

"I love you Cezar. And I will live a happy life. I promise." I say through tears.

"Good." Cezar whispers. His hand slips from my grasp and his eyes close.

"NO!" I scream. "CEZAR DON'T LEAVE ME! NOT AFTER WHAT WE'VE BEEN THROUGH!" I shriek.

There's no reply. Cezar looks completely lifeless. And it was all the demons fault.

Anger takes over my sadness. Pure hot anger.

I stand up and the remaining demons are all staring at the scene that happened in front of them. My family had stopped attacking to watch too.

"I hate demons." I say, before all I see is red. I feel my body alight with fire.

The world is mad. Madness.

Life is mad. Why punish me? All I did was try to be happy. All I did was return home and hang out with my family. I never did anything bad. I never hurt life.

I scream whilst killing the remaining demons. I'm still alight with fire, and I still need to burn things to get my anger out.

I fly up and away from my screaming family.

I fly for hours. Finally my fire extinguishes. I feel calm enough to head home.

I land in the same clearing, surprised to see everyone still there.

"Ivy..." Thalia says. They all move away from Cezar's body.

I walk over and fall to my knees crying the whole time.

"I'm sorry I didn't love you like you wanted me to. I'm sorry I wasn't a better person. I'm sorry I let you die. I'm sorry." I cry holding Cezar's body.

"Ivy, it wasn't your fault." Thalia says so ly.

"I'm sorry Cezar. I do love you, please come back." I cry, I rest my head on his chest.

"Ivy, he won't come back." Devin says, rubbing my back. I cry for probably half an hour before sitting up and asking everyone.

"How do I still have clothes on?"

"We fire proofed all your clothes in case an event like this." Ellie explains.

"Let me guess, Greg did it." I say.

"That's right." Greg nods. His power can become really useful sometimes.

"We need to have a proper burial for Cezar." I say looking at his body.

"We will. I promise." Damian says. He comes up and hugs me. I stay in his embrace the whole while, still crying.

Finally I fall asleep.

I was basically crying at Cezar's death.

So I did end up getting the chapter up!!! Haha you're welcome.

Hope you enjoyed!

Love all those supporters of this story <3 it's gotten so many votes already it's incredible! And it has so many reads!!!

Thank you soooooo much!!!! <3 <3 <3

Continue reading next part 