

Guardians 781

Chapter 781

The room was silent.

Sean looked calm as he played with his teacup.

Zander and Harry stared at Jason's palm.

Jason had moved a cup of tea from the left to the right.

The teacup formation, which used to be three on the left and two on the right became two on the left and three on the right.

However, Jason stopped.

Anyone could see how complicated he felt.

He hesitated as if he were making a difficult decision.

As time ticked by, countless thoughts flashed across Jason's mind.

Finally, there was a flicker of determination in his eyes.

Then he raised the teacup without hesitation and prepared to drink it.

"You can't drink the tea that easily.

"Once you made certain choices, you have no chance of starting over."

Sean looked down as he continued playing with his teacup.

Jason paused for a second before lifting his head and finishing the tea.

Ding!

The teacup clinked on the table, and the sound was melodious.

"No regrets?"

Sean asked softly as he stopped playing with his teacup.

"There are things you can do and not do.

"Soldiers keep their word. There's nothing to regret."

Jason's tone and eyes were full of determination.

"Okay!"

Sean got up slowly and said nothing.

Jason had given his answer, so he would not stay around any longer.

After all, Jason's identity was sensitive, so he still needed to stay on guard.

"I know you miss your mother.

"Go home. I'll call you if anything happens."

Sean turned around and left the private room after he finished speaking.

Jason nodded and walked Sean to the door before leaving down the other end of the hall.

Downstairs.

Sean led the way with his phone in his hand as he looked through it.

Zander was smiling and happy.

"The Zimmer family's dead meat!"

Zander mumbled something under his breath that Harry did not understand.

How could one cup of tea ruin the Zimmer family?

Jason said nothing about taking Sean's side.

"Get in the car first. I want to make a phone call."

Sean pointed to the car before walking away.

"Yes."

Zander nodded and led Harry to the car.

"Brother Zander, Jason didn't say he'll help us take on the Zimmer family.

"The commander asked him if he would regret his decision in the end. What decision? Why didn't I hear the decision he made?

"Or have I lost my memory?"

Harry felt like a cat's paw was scratching in his heart, leaving him eager to know the answer.

Zander smiled and said two words.

"Quintuple Formation."

"What... what Quintuple Formation?"

Harry was more confused than ever.

"Five cups in two rows with three on the left and two on the right is called Quintuple Formation.

"The tea formation was designed to test the enemy, and Commander used it to give Jason a choice."

Zander looked into the distance. Jason had driven off by now..

"What choice did Jason make?"

Harry was deep in thought, trying to understand what Sean meant by setting up five cups of tea.

“Changing from three on the left to three on the right means he wants to be one of us.

“Of course, he chose to be on Commander’s side.”

Zander could not help feeling emotional as he spoke of it.

He had been in a state of great worry all day.

Sean’s identity was strictly confidential.

He could die if he blew his identity.

Therefore, Zander never took it lightly.

He would not expose him to members of the army even if he had no choice.

Everyone in the army knew Commander Lennon.

Sean not only met a member of the army today, but he also met a big shot like Jason.

Who was Jason?

According to Zander and Harry’s research, Jason had a bigwig in the army behind him.

The bigwig in the army was Blaze’s direct subordinate.

Therefore, if Jason knew about Sean, that meant Blaze would know too.

It was why Zander had no idea why Sean did that.

It turned out that Sean was in control once again.

Old Madam Yeast played a crucial role.

“I see.”

Harry nodded in admiration.

“Let’s go.”

Sean walked toward them, holding his phone.

“Commander, what are we going to do next?”

Zander deliberately asked with a chuckle.

“We’re beating up hooligans.”

Sean said and stepped into the car.

Zander and Harry laughed.

As the saying went, pay regard to the boss before beating up someone.

Now that the hooligans’ boss was out of the way, no one would get in their way anymore.

The Zimmer family was going to be ruined.

Chapter 782

In the hospital ward.

Old Madam Yeast was already awake.

The specialists gave Old Madam Yeast a thorough checkup.

The more they checked, the more amazed they were.

“Miracle Doctor Lennon’s medical skills are legendary. He’s basically a god!”

“If Miracle Doctor Lennon can give consultations in our clinic, then...”

The specialists sighed as they left the ward.

Jason and Talia took care of Old Madam Yeast in the ward.

“I thought I wasn’t going to make it this time.”

Old Madam Yeast looked at her son and daughter and smiled.

She looked as if she had seen through life and death. She had no tension or fear.

“Mom, you’ll be fine with Miracle Doctor Lennon around.”

Talia quickly grabbed Old Madam Yeast’s hand and spoke earnestly.

“The young man who saved me last time?”

Old Madam Yeast nodded before looking up and asking.

“Yes, the Miracle Doctor Lennon I told you.

“Young as he is, he’s a good doctor.”

Talia nodded and could not stop praising Sean,

“That young man is good indeed.

“The last time I was in a coma, I vaguely heard someone telling me that I should be proud of my son, who gave up his small family to protect everyone and served in the army to protect our country.”

Old Madam Yeast said as she looked slowly at Jason.

“Mom, I’m in this position, so...”

Jason gritted his teeth slightly, his eyes full of guilt.

“I understand.”

Old Madam Yeast was highly principled. Otherwise, she would not have raised such an excellent son.

“But he knew you were in the army. Did you know each other before?”

“Or...”

Old Madam Yeast asked softly as she looked at Jason.

“We didn’t know each other before, but he has something that needs my help.”

Jason did not hide much from his mother.

“He needs your help?”

Old Madam Yeast frowned slightly at that.

“Even if he saved me, you mustn’t violate your conscience and principles.

“You must never do anything that harms others or is against the law.

“If he had threatened you by saving my life, I can give this life back at any time.”

Old Madam Yeast’s voice was firm, and her eyes were serious.

“Mom, no, don’t overthink it.

“I know where to draw the line.”

Jason immediately waved his hand and gently comforted Old Madam Yeast.

Old Madam Yeast nodded gently. She knew her son’s character.

They talked for a while more, and Jason got up and left.

At his position, he could not leave his post even though he had nothing much to do in the army.

The army would be a mess if everyone could go home to visit their families whenever they wanted.

Before leaving, Jason called Talia out to tell her some things.

“If Jon’s looking for me these days, say you can’t reach me.

“Say nothing else.”

Jason looked at Talia and spoke sternly.

“Brother, what happened?”

Talia could not help asking as she was confused.

Jason was silent. More than ten seconds later, he slowly let out a breath.

“They’ve offended the last person they should offend.

“The Zimmer family is finished.

“I don’t want to interfere, and I can’t.”

Jason slowly turned to leave after he finished.

Talia was a little dazed as she kept replaying Jason’s words in her mind.

She could not help thinking about everything that had happened today.

'Did it have something to do with Sean?

'Is Sean the last person they should offend and the one Jason could not interfere with?

The more Talia thought about it, the more she realized Sean was no ordinary man.

After Sean met Jason, all plans against the Zimmer family began to unfold.

Jason had been secretly helping the Zimmer family at first, so Sean had been a little restrained in everything he did.

Besides, he would be countered at every turn.

Now, Sean was finally free to take on the Zimmer family.

Everything the Zimmer family was handling was going smoothly at first.

However, these things were going to get difficult.

It was true that River City was a fat piece of land, but they needed to see if they could take it.

They might choke to death if something went wrong.

Sean drove off from Reach For Will Group alone after giving out his instructions.

River City, Craft Heart Cafe.

Sean was sitting opposite a girl by the window.

The girl had short hair and a well-proportioned figure, making her look dashing.

It was Willow's best friend, Rachel.

Sean had been so busy these days that he had not had much contact with Rachel.

Looking at Rachel, Sean felt guilty.

Chapter 783

Since Rachel's return, he had asked her for useful information whenever they met.

It was as if he treated Rachel as a tool for use.

"Commander, I've heard everything.

"Congratulations on finally getting together with Willow."

With a big smile, Rachel raised her coffee cup at Sean.

However, the smile on her lips was slightly bitter.

Sean nodded slightly and sighed to himself.

He knew nothing about relationships, but that did not mean he did not feel Rachel's feelings for him.

Besides, the night Sean was kicked out of the Quinn family, Rachel went to Sean's place and confessed. her feelings for him.

Her love for Sean was apparent in every word.

Sean was not an idiot. How could he not sense it?

However, he only had eyes for Willow, who had taken care of him.

"Thank you."

Sean thanked her softly.

"You've recovered.

"Have you thought about when you're going back?

"I think I can be of some help to you."

Rachel paused for a few seconds before asking the question.

Sean twiddled his fingers over the coffee cup as he considered the question.

He was going back, of course.

It was not like him to abandon revenge.

Blaze gave him so much trouble and killed so many of his comrades.

It was something no man could swallow.

Blood debts must be paid in blood.

"After I've taken care of everything in River City, I'll start preparing for that.

"Once I got back what I've lost, you can return to be an intelligence agent."

Sean spun his coffee cup and looked at Rachel as he spoke earnestly.

"Okay!"

Rachel nodded earnestly.

She was willing to re-enlist if Sean returned.

Not only her but countless others who had applied for discharge in the past two years would re-enlist in a heartbeat if they heard of Sean's return.

"I've come to say goodbye to you today.

"I want to travel and relax."

Rachel was silent for a moment before chuckling suddenly.

"Okay."

Sean nodded and replied.

“Commander, do you have anything... Do you have any orders for me?”

Rachel looked at the man she had liked for years and felt terrible.

“Be safe.”

Sean moved his mouth and only said two words in the end.

“Roger!”

Rachel rose slowly with tears flickering gently in her eyes.

Sean and Willow had gotten together.

Willow even fell out with the Quinn family for Sean.

It never occurred to Rachel that the man she had fancied for years was her best friend’s fiancé.

It was something she could not accept but had to.

The only thing she could do was silently give them their blessing and choose to leave.

Sean did not see Rachel off. He remained in his seat for five minutes.

He raised his coffee and finished it once it had cooled.

Sean walked out of the cafe, looked up to the northwest, and muttered to himself.

“Blaze Lake, it’s your turn after the Zimmer family.

“Enjoy your last moment of peace.”

At the same time.

Zimmer Corporation chairman’s office.

Jon’s face was grim as he looked at the pile of reports in front of him with a murderous look.

Someone seemed to have slammed on the pause button for everything that had been going smoothly, and no further progress was allowed.

The formalities were stuck in place, while submitted files were rejected.

In short, the formalities that needed to be dealt with before construction were stuck for various reasons.

Swoosh!

Jon immediately grabbed a pile of papers in front of him and slammed them onto the floor.

*B*stard, are we not giving enough money?

‘Do they have such a big appetite?’

“Or are they ignoring Mr. Yeast’s orders?”

“Did Reach For Will Group find another strong backer?”

Jon slammed his hands on the table and yelled at the assistant in front of him.

The assistant was so shaken with fear that they dared not speak.

Jon was no fool. He could tell at a glance that the authorities were deliberately giving them a hard time.

Jason had already talked to them earlier, so the formalities had gone so smoothly.

However, there was a problem with the formalities again after Jason talked to them.

What did that mean?

It meant there was a force Jon did not know about that was challenging them!

It was even stronger than Jason.

Jon suppressed his anger, found Jason’s number, and called.

“Mr. Yeast, I’ve run into trouble on my end.”

Jon did not beat around the bush and went straight to the point.

Jason had helped so many times that it had become a habit.

Habits would change a person’s mindset.

Jon thought Jason was obligated to help them after he had helped him many times.

“I will be leaving River City soon for another mission.

“If you want anything, tell me now.”

Jason was silent for two seconds before asking.

Jon was stunned for a moment before quickly telling him everything about the formalities being stuck.

“I will inquire about it.”

Jason nodded and fobbed him off.

Jon would never have guessed that Jason was no longer the Zimmer family’s backer and protector.

Instead, he had become Sean’s subordinate.

“Old Zimmer, despite everything, we’re relatives.

“I want to give you a word of advice.”

Jason suddenly said before hanging up.

“What is it?”

Jon frowned slightly at that.

“Pack up and get out of River City.

“Move to another city and make a living there.”

Jason’s tone was serious. He was not joking at all.

Chapter 784

Jon was stunned.

“What... what did you say?”

Jon’s eyes widened in shock,

“I’ll only say it once.

“You’ll know if you know. Forget it if you don’t.”

Jason was not interested in repeating himself to Jon.

Jason hung up the phone once he finished.

He had chosen to follow Sean.

Therefore, Sean’s enemies were Jason’s enemies.

Jason had been benevolent by saying that to Jon.

If they ever meet again, they would already be on two opposing teams..

“Well...”

Jon was confused when he heard the busy signal on his phone.

‘What did Jason mean?

‘Why did he tell the Zimmer family to pack up and leave River City?

‘Is something big going to happen in River City?

Jon knew very well that Jason rarely made jokes.

Then what did Jason mean?

“What’s the matter, Dad?”

Quill quickly asked, seeing that Jon did not look right.

“Mr. Yeast’s asking us to leave River City...”

Jon hesitated for a few seconds but did not hide it from Quill.

Quill froze slightly before speaking.

“Leave... What the h*ll? Why should we leave River City?”

He grew up and made so many friends here. He was also famous among River City's heirs.

If he left River City, all of this would be gone.

Besides, the Zimmer family had many properties in River City and had just won two land biddings.

Could they just leave?

"I don't know, but I'm not leaving.

"The Zimmer family is based in River City. Why should leave?"

Jon narrowed his eyes slightly. His eyes were cold.

Once the Zimmer family left River City, their existing property would have to be sold off, and they would lose a lot of money.

Besides, it would not be easy for the Zimmer family to develop again in other places.

Jon had spent a lot of money and effort over the years to make the Zimmer family what it was now and to have so many connections.

If he left River City, he would have to start all over again. He would not do it even if you killed him.

Therefore, Jon did not even think twice about what Jason said.

"Dad, what does Yeast mean?"

"Did Reach For Will Group bribe him, and now he's got cold feet?"

The more Quill thought about it, the more he thought it was possible.

'No.

"I know Jason.

"In the years we've known each other, he's never taken anything from us.

"How could he accept bribes from Reach For Will Group?"

"So you're overthinking it."

Jon waved his hand slightly. He did not believe that Jason was involved with Reach For Will Group.

He had no reason at all.

They did not even have access to each other, let alone any involvement.

"Why did he do that then? Why did he ask us to leave?"

Quill scratched his head, his tone upset.

"He's probably pissed off because we didn't take good care of Old Madam Yeast.

"Then he did this on purpose."

Jon's eyes narrowed slightly as there was a cold twinkle in them.

"We don't owe them anything."

Quill's eyes grew more disdainful at that..

"It's alright if he doesn't want to help now.

"Does he think the Zimmer family won't survive without him?"

"Handle the formalities as usual. I'll make the arrangements."

Jon waved his hand and started picking up his phone to make a call.

"Got it."

Quill replied and left the office.

River City was a little different than usual these two days.

Sean's forceful appearance and the two lands the Zimmer family had won set off a storm in River City's business circle.

On the day of the auction, many people witnessed how Sean and the Zimmer family went head-to-head with each other.

Therefore, many people knew something was going to happen between Sean and the Zimmer family even though many people were unaware of their conflict.

They only could not understand why it had been so calm.

Sean and the Zimmer family had sent their subordinates to take care of the lands they had won.

It was hard to understand why the two parties were not tearing each other apart.

Sean had been free these days.

Zander and the others took care of everything.

Sean just needed to make some adjustments to his plan based on what the Zimmer family was going to do.

Sean accompanied Willow to shop and eat delicious food in his spare time.

Willow's biggest wish was for Sean to stand up and go shopping with her.

Now, these wishes had finally come true.

Chapter 785

Willow was in a good mood.

She was content and happy.

Kent and his wife had no choice but to accept it since she and Sean were getting along so well.

They still had no idea what Sean did to get so much money.

However, they could only accept it as it was.

River City Watson Business Street.

The street had full international brands for sale as well as various affordable luxury brands.

Sean went shopping in the stores with Willow.

The handsome couple attracted many people's attention.

Of course, more people focused on Willow.

Sean was masculine with firm and manly features.

However, men could not see handsome men. All they could see were beautiful women.

Besides, whether Sean was handsome or ugly, other men would think he did not deserve her.

Sean did not care about their gazes.

All his attention was on Willow.

Also, he did not hesitate to swipe his credit card and buy anything Willow liked.

Such generosity had attracted the attention of many people.

All the men and women were jealous.

Willow felt like she was dreaming again.

Willow could not have these things even before Sean came to the Quinn family.

Her father Kent had always been inarticulate and could not suck up to Old Madam Quinn, which caused their family to get picked on, miss out on the company bonus, and live in poor conditions.

After Sean arrived, the Quinn family made things worse for them, and Willow's family suffered more.

Therefore, luxury items were something out of reach to them.

However, Sean would buy anything she looked at more than a glance.

It made Willow feel like she was dreaming.

"Don't spend your money lavishly. You're wasting it..

"Besides, I don't like these kinds of things."

Willow looked at Sean and spoke in a serious non-joking tone.

"Well..."

Sean scratched his head, embarrassed.

He was once a commander in the army and commanded a million men.

However, it was the first time he had gotten into a relationship, so he did not have much experience in dating.

Sean thought liking someone meant being nice to her.

The way to be nice to her was to give her something she liked. How simple and direct.

Sean did not know if it was the right thing to do.

“Should... should we... forget it then?”

Sean asked tentatively after a few seconds of silence.

His hand had already carried many exquisite paper bags.

“Sean, I’ve been meaning to talk to you.

“If you have any extra money, I want you to invest in projects instead of spending it.

“Even if you have a lot of money, you’ll run out at some point if you keep spending it.”

Willow looked at Sean and scolded him for the first time in days.

“Run out at some point? That happens when you don’t have enough money.

“If we have enough money, there’s no way we’ll run out of them.”

Sean thought about the question carefully before replying with a straight face.

“You!”

Sean rendered Willow speechless. ‘He’s only a veteran. How much money does he have?’

Willow already found it incredulous that he could spend tens of millions of dollars on houses and cars.

“Don’t argue with me. Anyway, I hope you’ll find something serious to do.

“The Quinn family looks down on us, but we can’t look down on ourselves.

“If we keep muddle through life like this, well be looked down upon more and more by the Quinn family.”

Willow gritted her teeth slightly. She had been thinking about it for two days.

Sean understood what Willow was thinking.

Willow had fallen out with the Quinn family.

There was no doubt that the Quinn family was waiting to see Willow make a fool of herself.

Willow also wanted to impress the Quinn family too.

However, Sean had no business and was idle all day like a hobo.

How could the Quinn family respect such a person?

As soon as Sean's money ran out, they would return to their old miserable life.

Willow could already imagine Simon laughing at them.

"I'm already working on it."

Sean looked at Willow and muttered to himself.

There were many things that he did not need to tell Willow right now.

"I heard that the Zimmer family has acquired two more pieces of land and is planning to join River City's real estate industry.

"I heard they have a land that is said to be the best in River City."

Willow let out a sigh, a complicated look in her eyes.

Chapter 786

She had been trying to prove that Sean would not lose to Quill.

However, Sean could not compete with Quill's background.

Quill had the Zimmer family supporting him. Their businesses brought in a lot of money every day.

Sean was idle and seemed to have no ambition.

The gap between Sean and Quill was only going to grow if this went on.

"I heard that Zimmer Corporation's stock has skyrocketed. They are getting stronger."

Willow paused for two seconds before speaking again.

She did not envy Zimmer Corporation's strength but was worried that the narrow-minded Quill would give Sean trouble once Zimmer Corporation got stronger.

Would there still be a place for them in River City?

"The best land will only end up being mine.

"Also, Zimmer Corporation's stock went up because I..."

Sean hesitated for two seconds but chose to tell Willow the truth after all.

However, he saw out of the corner of his eye that nearly ten cars were approaching quickly outside the store.

The car doors opened, and one after another thuggish-looking young men stepped out.

Sean's voice broke off, and he narrowed his eyes as he looked outside.

"What best land will be yours? What are you talking about?"

Willow frowned slightly, not understanding what Sean meant.

Bang!

Suddenly, the store door was violently pushed open, and a large crowd surged in.

Five. Ten. Twenty people.

Nearly 30 young men walked into the store instantly.

Several young men in sleeveless stretch vests and dragons and tigers tattooed on their arms led the group. They looked terrifying.

There were mostly female customers in the cosmetics store.

They turned pale with fear and hid in the corner when they saw the men enter.

“Sean, we... we...”

Willow was also nervous as she grabbed Sean’s arm.

Sean’s tone was steady as he stood there, narrowing his eyes slightly.

He had no idea that they were looking for him yet.

A sneer flickered deep in Sean’s eyes when he saw a familiar face.

A young man dressed in luxury brands walked out of the crowd with a sneer

It was none other than Felix, whom Sean had taught a lesson to, twice.

Nearly 30 young men blocked the store entrance.

Felix made his way through the crowd to the front.

“Felix?”

Willow frowned slightly as she recognized him.

“Yo, what an honor to have the beautiful Willow remember me!”

Felix chuckled as he unscrupulously sized up Willow.

“What do you want to do?”

Willow also realized that something was wrong.

These guys seemed to be after them.

“What do I want to do? Ask the loser next to you, of course.”

Felix looked at Sean with anger in his eyes.

Sean cost him the chance to work for Reach For Will Group.

Besides, he ran into Sean at Supreme Business Club a few days ago and wanted to humiliate him.

However, he ended up getting kicked out.

A rich heir like Felix had always been the bully. When was he ever bullied by others?

Therefore, these things had been bottled up in his heart.

How could he let this chance pass when he finally saw Sean alone today?

“Sean, you and him...”

Willow looked at Sean in confusion.

“He doesn’t remember his lessons. He’s just like Quill. No wonder he’s his lackey.”

Sean shook his head slightly. Felix had brought these people here, but Sean showed no sign of fear.

“Haha, how dare you still behave arrogantly?”

“I know that Young around you is a good fighter.

“But he’s not here today. How dare you behave so arrogantly in front of me?”

“I tell you what. I’ll make you crawl out of here today!”

Felix sneered and pointed at Sean as he yelled.

Instead of getting mad, Sean laughed.

Felix only knew that Zander was strong, but he had no idea that Zander was once also aggressive. Zander loyally followed Sean after Sean defeated him.

However, Sean rarely did anything when Zander was around.

Was that why many people thought Sean was weak?

How could he be a nine-star commander and defeat ten other commanders if he was not a strong fighter?

How could others call him the invincible god of war?

“What are you?”

“How dare you say that to me?”

Sean pulled Willow behind him and slowly folded his cuffs.

His movement was calm, while his tone was arrogant.

“Haha, I’m not only not afraid, but I will also f*cking do it!”

“I’ll break your legs today and take Willow with me.

“I’ll see how you’ll continue to act arrogantly.”

Felix yelled as he pointed at Sean’s nose.

Swoosh!

Sean lowered his arms slowly after folding his cuffs.

“I’d like to see if you can stop me if I want to leave.”

Sean grabbed Willow’s hand as he spoke.

“What... what do you want to do?”

Seeing Sean’s calm demeanor, Felix and the others were a little perturbed.

“I’m going out now.

“Try to stop me if you dare.”

Sean walked right out after finishing.

“Beat him up!”

Felix sneered and stepped aside.

Over twenty young men gathered in one place and blocked Sean’s path.

Swoosh!

A young man with tattooed arms swung his fist at Sean.

Slap! i

Sean slapped him in the face without looking.

There was a large sound, and the young man was slapped until he began retreating while bleeding from his mouth and nose.

Sean did not stop. He grabbed Willow with one hand and walked outside.

It became a one-man show for Sean.

With one hand, he kept slapping them with a calm expression.

He was fast and strong.

Slap! i

Slap! i

There was a loud slap after another.

Every young man he slapped covered their faces as they stepped back.

Some were even knocked to the ground by his slap. Their heads buzzed, and they could not even stand up.

In a blink of an eye, Sean swiftly knocked down ten tattooed young men.

Felix and the rest froze.

The women in the store widened their eyes and looked at Sean with admiration.

Chapter 787

“What is it like to feel secure? This is what it feels like!”

“A-amazing. Are you sure they’re not filming a movie?”

Countless pretty young girls said as they looked at Sean’s back.

The lean body was like a most solid mountain.

He gave off a great sense of security by standing in front of Willow.

Heroes had a weakness for the charms of beautiful women. However, beautiful women loved heroes too!

Sean’s incomparable fighting power impressed the customers in the store.

Willow slowly walked forward like an obedient kitten as Sean took her hand.

Willow had already known Sean was strong even before he recovered.

Now that Sean had recovered, he was several times more powerful.

That gave Willow a great sense of security.

“Tell me. How are you going to stop me?”

Sean backhanded another young man and looked at Felix with disdain.

Felix widened his eyes as he stepped back slowly. Fear filled his eyes.

All he knew was that Zander was tough and not easy to mess with.

It was why he came to seek revenge on Sean when Zander was not around today.

He never expected Sean to teach him a good lesson with only one hand.

“Get down on your knees, and I’ll let you live.”

Sean’s voice was calm, but it contained an overwhelming authority.

It was as if he were a natural-born king. He was awe-inspiring and terrifying.

“You! You! You’re dreaming!”

Felix clenched his teeth and backed away.

“I’m just scared that you’ll soon never be able to dream.”

Sean looked at all with disdain as he stepped out of the store.

The remaining young men slowly stepped back and walked down the steps.

Sean walked out of the store, holding Willow's hand.

Dozens of young men lay behind him, while the people in front of him seemed nervous as they swallowed nervously.

Sean was fast. He knocked one man over with one slap. How were they going to fight him?

"Get him!

"F*cking get him! Kill him, and I'll give you a million dollars!"

Felix yelled again as he retreated to the back of the crowd.

There would be brave men when there was a handsome reward. The one-million-dollar reward immediately shook the young men.

Deadbeats like them could never earn one million dollars!

Now, who could resist one million dollars when the condition was to knock Sean down?

The power of money succeeded in dispelling their fear.

Courage came with evilness. Their eyes showed a look of greed.

The next moment, everyone looked at Sean as if Sean were one million dollars.

"Get him!

"We'll be rich if we kill him!"

A tattooed young man gritted his teeth and yelled. Then he grabbed a trash can from the side and rushed at Sean.

"Wait for me for a while. It won't be long."

Sean touched Willow's hair and said calmly with a smile.

"Okay, be... be careful..."

Willow bit her red lip and nodded.

Sean turned and unbuttoned his buttons as he walked down the steps.

The commotion here had attracted the attention of many onlookers on the street.

With countless people watching, Sean slowly walked down the steps as he unbuttoned his coat.

Swoosh!

Just then, the tattooed young man had already raised the trash can and threw it at Sean.

Bang!

Sean sidestepped it and kicked hard.

Sean kicked that iron trash can out of shape.

Even the tattooed young man was kicked out of the way.

“Are they filming a movie?”

“Are you f*cking kidding me? Movies don’t f*cking do that!”

Countless people around them exclaimed in astonishment.

Sean did not hesitate once he attacked. He pounced hard like a tiger in a flock of sheep.

Bang!

Smack!

Thump!

“Ah!”

Banging, screaming, and footsteps sounded together.

There was also the sound of bones breaking, which sounded terrifying.

When the people around saw a young man’s arm broken and deformed by Sean, they finally realized...

They were not filming a movie.

Who would break people’s bones to film a movie?

After two minutes, Sean slowly withdrew his hand and got up.

He defeated more than a dozen young men alone and swiftly ended the battle.

The onlookers-no matter gender or age showed a look of admiration.

A dozen screaming youths lay at Sean’s feet.

Sean looked at Felix.

Chapter 788

Felix was menacing when he started.

With nearly thirty young men with him, he walked as if he owned the place.

It had only been a few minutes, and Sean had Sean knocked down everyone but him.

Everyone could see that Felix’s face was pale, and his legs were shaking.

“Now, tell me again.

“How are you going to stop me?”

Sean slowly buttoned up his coat without even breathing hard.

His clothes were neat, and not even a hair was out of place.

“I... I...”

Felix was scared. He was scared, so he stammered.

The next second, Felix took a deep breath and turned around to run.

He even abandoned the car they came in and ran away.

“If you run, you will die.”

Suddenly, Felix heard a cold sound behind him.

The voice sounded like it was from h*ll, making his soul shudder.

Felix widened his eyes. Eventually, he failed to resist the voice and slowly turned around.

He finally understood why Quill had not been able to conquer Willow.

He had no idea that Sean could fight like that!

He would have brought more people if he had known.

“I have two things to tell you. Listen carefully.

“You have only three chances.

“Next time, I will destroy the Xavian family.”

Sean folded his cuffs and spoke calmly.

He was not joking.

After all, Felix did not have Quill’s background.

It was why Sean could only deal with the Zimmer family slowly.

However, if Felix dared to follow Quill’s example by picking a fight with Sean, Sean could remove the Xavian family from River City with one word.

“I... I see...”

Felix could only nod in response to Sean’s sword-like gaze.

“Let’s go home.”

Sean turned to Willow and said with a smile.

1/3

He was not even interested in hitting Felix.

“Okay...”

Willow’s eyes were complicated as she looked at the crowd lying on the ground. Then she took Sean’s arm and walked out of sight.

“Whew!”

It was only when Sean left that Felix let out a long breath.

Then he drove right out of here, ignoring the young men.

Felix called Quill in the car.

He needed to ask Quill what was going on with Sean.

“You got someone to attack Sean?”

Quill asked in surprise after Felix told his story.

At the same time, he felt that Felix was a bit of an idiot!

If Sean was that easy to beat, would the Zimmer family not have already attacked him?

“Yes, I didn’t expect him to be so tough,

“More than twenty men couldn’t even get near him. What did he use to do?”

Felix still shuddered at the thought of Sean fighting them.

Quill, who was on the other end of the line, nodded. He was about to tell Felix about Sean’s fighting power, but Jon reached out and stopped him.

Swoosh! Swoosh!

Jon jotted down a few words on a piece of paper and handed it to Quill.

Quill looked at it for two seconds and immediately understood what Jon meant.

“He was an ex-soldier, so he can fight better than most,

“So if you really want to deal with him, you must get more men.

“You don’t have to be afraid of him. No matter how strong he is, he’s still human. Bring more people next time. Let me know if you need help.”

Quill narrowed his eyes slightly as he spoke on the phone.

“Young Master Zimmer, will it work?

“I’m afraid to do anything to him now..

“He said if he’d destroy the Xavian family if I offend him again.” ↑

Felix gritted his teeth slightly, still hesitating.

“Hmph! Why not?

“People like Sean are all talk. He also said he was going to destroy the Zimmer family. Why is he so quiet now?

'Didn't I beat him too?'

Quill snorted coldly and began fooling Felix.

"Really?"

Felix perked up when he heard that.

"Of course.

"I have some things to take care of. I'll call you later and tell you how to deal with him."

Quill spoke to Felix again before slowly hanging up.

Jon slightly nodded in satisfaction as he listened to Quill and Felix's conversation.

The piece of paper he gave Quill was written with the words "Get someone else to do our dirty work."

"Dad, can Felix defeat Sean?"

Quill looked at the words again before asking quietly.

Of course, he knew that Jon wanted Felix to fight Sean while they backed him up in secret.

However, Quill did not think Sean was someone Felix could handle!

"The Xavian family of River City is no match for us, but they're quite famous too.

"We're too busy with land development right now to deal with Sean.

"If we have the Xavian family to help us fight Sean, we can reap the benefits."

Chapter 789

"It's best if we can beat Sean. We've got nothing to lose if we fail anyway. So why not?"

Jon took a puff from his cigar as his face beamed with satisfaction.

A cunning light glimmered in the depths of his eyes.

"Dad, I got it."

Quill nodded his head in understanding.

Jon and his son were depressed when the land development was brought up.

The formalities they had were once again stuck in these two days.

Jon was anxious, of course. He desperately found the connections he had built over the years for help.

However, they were vague in their response. They agreed to help, but their problems were not sorted out after all.

Therefore, a few days had passed, and they still had not completed the formalities.

“What’s going on?”

“Sean doesn’t have that kind of power. Is it Reach For Will Group?”

“Has Reach For Will Group found some strong backer?”

The more Jon thought about it, the more worried he became.

With the current state of things, he was not as confident as he was before.

He had thought that the Zimmer family was still the dominant force in River City even though Reach For Will Group was on the rise.

Reach For Will Group could not compete with the Zimmer family in terms of connections and experience

However, as things progressed, he found that his plans were getting a little out of control.

“Dad, you told me to keep an eye on Reach For Will Group, and I’ve got people watching them.

“They have been quiet these days and aren’t working on any business plans. It’s probably not them.”

Quill frowned. Someone must be after the Zimmer family right now.

However, they did not even know who they were up against.

There were three pieces of land that were auctioned off. The Zimmer family took two while Sean took one.

Reach For Will Group had no chance, unless Sean gave them the land.

However, there was no reason for that.

“Have you sent out everything I asked you to?”

Jon tapped on the table as he asked with a frown.

“Yes.

“And they’ve accepted them.”

Quill nodded and reported to Jon truthfully.

Quill had secretly met with the government departments responsible for handling the formalities for the Zimmer family and given them plenty of money.

They had accepted the money, but nothing was completed, making Jon confused.

“They won’t accept anything if they don’t want to help.

“Since they’ve accepted, they’ll help us.”

Jon touched his chin, thinking about what happened these days.

Knock–knock!

Just then, there was a soft knock on the office door.

Jon's female assistant walked in after getting his permission.

"Mr. Zimmer, Young Master Zimmer, our staff in charge of negotiating with the old residents have run in to a problem.

"The residents of the land won't accept our demolition compensation."

The female assistant immediately reported after walking in.

"What? They won't accept it?"

Jon frowned again.

Every procedure in land development was crucial.

Eventually, negotiating with the residents of the land was of utmost importance.

Stubborn residents gave developers the most problems, but every real estate development had these people.

To keep the development going smoothly, the demolition compensation Jon offered was already more generous than many places.

However, they still had a problem sealing the deal.

"Yes, they all rejected us and are unwilling to sign the contract."

The female assistant nodded, her tone helpless.

"Why did they reject?"

Jon asked with a frown.

"They argue that Golden Dash Residency is offering 10% more than we are for every square meter.

"So they won't accept it."

Jon's eyes widened slightly when the female assistant said that.

"What? 10% more than us?"

"What's wrong with Golden Dash Residency? Are they stupid and rich?"

Jon was a little annoyed. Their price was already high, but the price there was 10% higher.

It was going to cost a lot more to compensate each household.

Was this not a blatant attempt to destroy the entire River City real estate industry?

"Look up the developer and see what they want."

Jon clenched his teeth slightly, his heart full of impatience.

"Mr. Zimmer, Golden Dash Residency is the land that Sean had won."

The female assistant paused for a moment before reporting truthfully.

“Well...”

Jon froze at that.

Sean quickly understood that Sean was trying to prank the Zimmer family! i

“Inflicting damage on the enemy while suffering a smaller but comparable level of damage himself. Is Sean out of his mind?”

The normally calm Jon could not help but lash out.

The piece of land Sean won was not far from the best land that the Zimmer family had won.

Sean now offered a higher price, and the Zimmer family naturally had to follow Sean’s price.

Otherwise, the old residents here would not accept it.

Chapter 790

“Dad, let’s give him a price war.

“Our stocks are skyrocketing, and we have plenty of money to spend.”

Quill snorted coldly. They had been cashing out of the company’s stocks recently, so they had plenty of money.

“What do you know?

“We have two pieces of land, and it will cost us a lot more if we go at this price.”

Jon clenched his teeth slightly. He still refused to raise the price.

As an old fox who had been in the business world for decades, Jon knew all about the tricks in business competition.

Jon had ruined many companies since Zimmer Corporation’s inception.

He knew one thing well and that was that the more things he had in his hands, the more cautious he would be in making decisions.

Sean had only paid tens of millions for a piece of land.

Even if he paid more for every square meter, it was only the price of a piece of land.

Zimmer Corporation had won two plots of land. Both the developing cost and the size of the land were much higher than Sean’s.

If they followed Sean’s price, they were going to spend countless more money.

“Spending more money was only one thing.

“Most importantly, we wouldn’t be able to hurt him even if we did.

“You see, he could sell that land at any time.

“What if he sells the land and gets away after raising the price?

“He can afford tens of millions of dollars of compensation, but it’ll cost us more than two hundred million!

Jon shook his head slightly, feeling troubled for a moment.

“But we have no other way.

Quill thought for a moment, shook his head, and said, “Dad, what do you propose we should do?”

Jon reached up and rubbed his temples, thinking of a solution.

Sean caught them off guard.

It was like vicious competition in the marketplace, and both sides would end up losing.

However, Sean’s land would only cost tens of millions of dollars.

No matter how he used the land, it would only cost him tens of millions of dollars.

Zimmer Corporation had invested more than two hundred million dollars in the development rights alone, and they could not afford it!

“Let’s give it a day first. We’ll try to think of a solution to settle the matter.

‘I’ll confront him to the end if there’s no other way.’”

Jon clenched his hand and crumpled one of his fancy cigars into crumbs.

He had considered it in his mind that there was no way he would give away the land.

Therefore, he had to accept whatever Sean did.

He could only follow Sean’s price when he had no other choice.

Whoever could not afford it would be out.

“I don’t believe that the Zimmer family can’t defeat that loser Sean when we have been in the business for two generations and has one hundred years of history.

“Forget that he has no background. So what if he knows some River City big shots?

“He’s not afraid of ruining himself by going against the Zimmer family.”

Jon snorted coldly, his face indifferent.

Golden Villa Garden, twin villa area.

Willow and Leah were sitting and talking in the living room.

Sean was strolling in the mansion’s yard with Candy.

Today was the weekend, and Leah rarely had a day off. She hurried to Willow's old place as soon as she got the chance.

However, the gate was closed.

Leah had no idea that Sean and the rest had moved until she saw Fion playing poker with some people.

*Jeez, my mom.

"She said she didn't know anyone here, so she ran back to our old place and played poker with the neighbors whenever she's free."

Willow shook her head in resignation and filled Leah's glass with water.

"Aunt Fion went back to show off, I suppose?"

Leah asked deliberately, suppressing a smile.

Willow froze, but she smiled in resignation anyway.

Fion had always been this way. Besides, she had indeed been looked down upon by their neighbors in the past two years.

They now led a good life because of Sean. Since she wanted to show off, let her be.

"Willow, Candy and I want to move here..."

"As for the money for the house, I have found a job and will pay you back slowly."

Leah was silent for a moment before whispering suddenly.

Willow could not help freezing when she heard this.

She knew what Leah was like. Leah did not want to accept Sean's expensive gift in the first place.

After Sean was kicked out of the Quinn family, she even wanted to return the house to him.

The fact that she was willing to accept it now suggested that something must have happened.

"Leah, did something happen?"

Willow asked Leah, frowning.

Leah gritted her teeth slightly. She opened her mouth to speak but hesitated.

Just then, Sean stepped into the living room with Candy in his arms, looking solemn.

"Sean, what's wrong?"

Willow instantly noticed that something was wrong with Sean.
