

Happy Mommy Happy Daddy Chapter 221

Chapter 221 Morning Kiss

Early the next morning, Alora was wakened up by Anne. "Get up. From today onwards, I will teach you how to cook."

"Why are you so energetic?" Alora yawned as she changed her clothes and got out of bed.

Last night, the two friends had been lying on the bed, chatting about life, ideals, and love as before.

Alora's mind was still groggy and she had not woken up yet.

However, Anne seemed to be in high spirits, as if she could still go out and jog for two hours.

"Because money talks!"

"That's a lot of money, Alora!" Anne's eyes lit up.

"For the money, let's go!"

After saying that, the woman directly pulled Alora and rushed downstairs.

Alora helplessly looked at the woman who was busy with her in the kitchen and sighed lightly.

"Alora, don't just stand there. Come and help me beat the eggs!"

Anne frowned and ordered.

Alora nodded and searched around the fridge but could not find any eggs.

"I might have left them at the door and forgotten to bring them in."

"Go to the entrance and look again," Anne slapped her forehead.

Alora curled her lips, got up and went to the entrance, and really found the eggs on the cabinet at the entrance.

She carried the eggs and was just about to enter the kitchen when she saw Samir coming down from upstairs.

He was dressed in black, tall and straight, with a cold and proud profile, and his entire person looked handsome and elegant, with some detached indifference.

As he went downstairs, he lowered his head and buttoned up the cuffs of his sleeves

Seemingly aware of her gaze, the man raised his head lightly. Their eyes met

Alora's gaze was a little cramped, while the man's gaze was filled with a smile. He strode in front of her, his chilly aura surrounding her. "You got up so early?" In the face of his deep voice and handsome face, Alora felt that her voice was a little sluggish for a moment.

She took a deep breath and nodded. "Yes, Anne asked me to get up and cook with her."

"Very good."

The man smiled and raised his hand, tucking a strand of hair behind her ear, "Stay at home and cook with her."

"What about you?"

Seeing that he was about to leave, Alora quickly grabbed his sleeve and asked softly,

"You... aren't going to have breakfast at home?"

"No."

"I need to go to the company now," the man gently held her hand.

"I haven't been here for more than five years. There are many things I need to deal with."

"You and the children should stay at home."

"I may be busy until very late. I can't come back for lunch, and I may not be able to come back for dinner either,"

The temperature of the man's palm was so hot that Alora's entire face was flushed red. After a while, he let go of her hand and walked to the entrance. He picked up his coat and put it on before starting to change his shoes.

Alora stood where she was and watched his elegant movements. Her heart was filled with mixed feelings.

In the end, just as he was about to push open the door and leave, the woman rushed forward and held Samir's hand again.

"What's wrong?" Seeing her grab him again, Samir smiled softly and reached out to rub her head. "You can't bear to part with me?"

This question from the man made Alora's face even redder. She took a deep breath and raised her head to stare at his bottomless eyes. "There... There's something! haven't done yet."

"What?" Samir frowned at her.

"This."

The woman took a deep breath, stood on her tiptoes, and planted a shallow kiss on Samir's lips.

After kissing him, she instinctively took a step back as if she had been electrocuted. Then she smiled and tilted her head to look at him. After that, she waved at him. "Drive carefully!"

The woman turned around, carried the eggs, and strode into the kitchen.

Samir stood in place, looking at her delicate back. He subconsciously reached out and touched his lips.

In the end, the man smiled faintly.

He was in a good mood all the way out of the villa. He felt more and more that Alora, after losing her memory, was much more gentle than before. "This must be your illusion." Mathias summed up while driving, "Doctor Smith said that he had almost been strangled to death by Madam." "Butler Shen has also been beaten by Madam." "Before Madam saw you, after being tied up by us, she struggled very fiercely and scolded people very fiercely!"

"Do you call that gentle?" "It is your own feelings that are wrong!"

Samir chuckled and reached out to touch his chin. "Then do you think it's possible..."

"She's only gentle to me?" Mathias trembled.

"It's... it's possible."

"That's pretty good too."

Samir smiled, thinking of the morning kiss. "If she is only gentle to me..."

"Then what right does Leo have to be my love rival?"

"..." Mathias. It seemed that there was no way to refute this.

as

"Don't rush Owen anymore." The man was silent for a long time and ordered lightly.

"Yes..."

After chatting with Alora, Samir picked up the materials and began to study the countermeasures. "We need some time for preparation." Samir lowered his eyes and looked at the information in his hand coldly. "For so many years, Twin Stars Group has allowed the LY Group too much room for development." "Now it is impossible to constrain their development space overnight." "If it is too radical, we might alert the enemy; if it is too slow, the Chapman family can't wait." After that, he flipped through the information again and concluded indifferently, "Let's set it at a week." "A week later, I want LY Group to disappear from the world."

Mathias shuddered.

If others said that LY Group would disappear from the world, Mathias would think that they were bragging. But if Samir said that...

He would only worry about LY Group. After a long silence, Mathias coughed lightly. "Sir, are you really going to do this?" "Joseph... is your second brother after all. Is it appropriate for you to do this?" "When he allowed Nancy to hurt my woman, did he feel inappropriate?" Samir glanced at Mathias coldly. "When he called me a bastard in front of Alexander, he should have thought about how to bear the consequences of angering me." His words were cold without a trace of emotion. The air in the car suddenly dropped below freezing point. "Sorry sir, I said the wrong thing." Mathias quickly shut his mouth. "Don't do it again next time." Samir glanced at him indifferently. Only then did Mathias heave a long sigh of relief. After a long while, he suddenly seemed to have thought of something. "Sir, what do you say..." "Joseph is in Banyan City, while the Chapman family is in Europe. They should mind their own business." "Why is he... targeting the Chapman family like this?"

Happy Mommy Happy Daddy Chapter 222

Chapter 222 You Are My Girl

For the whole day, Alora was busy in the kitchen, trying to learn how to cook from Anne. Although her progress was slow, she could already fry eggs of good color and shape.

After taking care of the three little guys, Alora rushed to the kitchen in a hurry.

"Didn't Mr. Rowan say that he was not sure when he could come back tonight?" Anne was washing the dishes on the side and helplessly looked at her busy appearance.

"Why do you have to fry eggs for him?" "I want him to see me improve," Alora said seriously as she flipped through the eggs in the pot. Samir had not eaten breakfast today and he had been busy all day for the Chapman family. As the eldest daughter of the Chapman family, she could do too little for him. Since he hoped that she could regain her previous cooking skills, she would show him the results of her daily studies! Thinking of this, the woman took a deep breath and continued to struggle with the eggs in the pot.

Anne looked at her helplessly and shook her head silently.

"Sometimes, I really feel like you haven't lost your memory." "By right, you have lost your memory and have forgotten everything related to Samir. Then you should be like a stranger to him."

"Why do I feel like... you like him more than before?"

Alora paused and scratched her head in embarrassment. "I..."

"I didn't say that I like him..." Anne rolled her eyes at her. "You almost carved the words 'I like Samir' on your forehead!"

"Although you didn't say you like him, but we are all adults. Who can't tell?"

After saying that, she seemed to think of something again and curled her lips helplessly. "Let alone adults, even the three children can see it."

"Just now at dinner, James was still showing off to me. He said that even if you lost your memory, you still loved his daddy most."

Alora's hand that was frying eggs paused slightly, and her face turned red.

"Is... is that so?"

In fact, she did not know if she liked Samir or not.

But he said that she had fallen in love with him at first sight.

He was her husband.

So she should treat him like this, not letting him worry, letting him feel the gentleness of his wife... Although she hated him before, hated him for having left her in the fire.

But...

She thought of the burn scars on his body and thought of how he had really returned to the fire to find her... Not only did she not hate him, but she also felt a little distressed.

The woman lowered her eyes and continued to struggle with the eggs in the pot.

Anne took a deep look at her and put the washed bowls and chopsticks in the sterilized cabinet. "Go back to your room and sleep after the eggs are done. Don't wait for him."

"Maybe he won't come back tonight."

Alora silently grunted and turned back to turn over the fried eggs in the pot.

After the eggs were done, Alora carefully found a heart-shaped plate and placed it on the table. Then she sat down and waited.

She held her phone and wanted to send a message to Samir countless times, but every time she finished editing the message, she sighed and deleted all the contents.

What if he was in a meeting?

What if he was busy?

Would it affect his work if she sent him a message at this time to urge him to come back?

Would he think that she was insensible?

The woman held her phone and hesitated for a long time, but she still did not send him the message.

At eleven o'clock in the evening.

When Steve went downstairs to pour some water, he immediately saw Alora, who was already asleep on the dining table, with the tempting fried eggs on the heart-shaped plate in front of her.

The little fellow's heart skipped a beat.

He went to the kitchen to pour water. He placed the water on the dining table, got up, took the thin blanket from the sofa, and put it on Alora. Then, he carefully took a photo of her and sent it to Samir.

At this time, the conference room of the Twin Stars Group was overcrowded.

It had been five years.

Ever since Steve and James were born, Samir had never come to S City again.

It had been five years since the managers of the Twin Stars Group had seen the big boss.

The appearance of Samir this time had made everyone in the Twin Stars Group happy.

All the big bosses of the branch companies had gathered.

The meeting had been going on for nearly ten hours.

Samir sat on the main post and frowned as he listened to the reports from the branch companies:

The only sound in the conference room was the voice of the reporting person.

Suddenly, a text message rang.

Samir frowned and took a look at his phone.

It was a picture that Steve had sent him.

The man was a little surprised.

Steve actually sent a message to him, or a picture? One had to know that Steve was not James.

He was originally a little autistic.

After Alora appeared, his autistic symptoms had been relieved.

However, he still did not like to talk, and he did not like to use social media to contact others.

The man opened the photo out of curiosity.

In the photo, a thin woman wearing a thin blanket was lying quietly at the dining table.

Her black hair hung down, and she looked a little lonely in her beauty.

On the dining table in front of her, there was a heart-shaped plate, and inside the plate was a very beautifully fried egg. He frowned and sent a message to Steve, "Is she waiting for me?" "Other than you, will she be waiting for someone else?"

"Mr. Samir Rowan, I hope that you can care about the woman waiting for you at home while you are busy."

His son's words made Samir's heart freeze.

A moment later, the man took a deep breath, turned off his phone, and stood up.

"Everyone, it's getting late." "You all have a family. We should be responsible for the people who are waiting for us at home."

"The meeting is over today. Let's continue tomorrow!"

After saying that, the man stood up first and strode out of the conference room.

Everyone looked at each other. Their iron boss had actually stopped everyone from working hard for the first time

When the man rushed home, the little woman was still sleeping on the dining table.

When she heard the sound of the door, she opened her eyes in a daze. When she saw the man in black, Alora directly jumped up from the chair. "Hubby!" The woman excitedly rushed into Samir's arms: "You're back?" The man helplessly hugged the little woman in his arms and rubbed her head. "Didn't I tell you not to wait for me?" "But I still want to wait for you to come back..."

The woman raised her head, her eyes sparkling. "I want to wait for you."

Her stubborn look made Samir smile. He held her in his arms and walked slowly to the dining table. "Did you prepare it for me?" "En!"

"Try it. Have I made any progress?" Alora nodded seriously. "I asked you to learn how to cook from Anne at home, and you did learn for a whole day?" Samir asked as he sat down at the dining table.

"En..." Alora bit her lips and looked up at him carefully. "I have to listen to my hubby."

Samir's hand that was holding the chopsticks suddenly stopped. He looked at her face in surprise.

"You are my girl."

Happy Mommy Happy Daddy Chapter 223

Chapter 223 Sorry, You Guys Go On!

The man's words made Alora pause for a moment.

She raised her eyes and looked at him in confusion.

"Shouldn't I listen to you?"

Samir looked at her, his eyes deep and serene.

When she was filming Purple City, She needed to kiss Leo, but he had insisted on being kissed by her as Leo's stunt

Then, he held a press conference and told everyone that she was his wife.

He said that they were husband and wife, and she should listen to him as he went to be Leo's stunt man.

But...

Hadn't the current Alora forgotten all the memories related to him back then?

Why did she say that she should listen to him?

Looking at Samir's serious face, Alora raised her hand and patted her face in confusion.

"I... remember that you said it." "You tell others that I should listen to you."

"So you didn't let others kiss me..."

Alora frowned. She was sure that Samir had said this before.

It had been deeply imprinted in her mind.

She had blurted out just now.

After a while, she raised her eyes and looked at Samir's face in surprise. "So, have I remembered something about your past?"

Samir frowned and lowered his head to eat the fried egg. "Sort of."

"That's great!" "If I can remember about you, I should be able to remember how I cooked in the past!" Alora grabbed

Samir's arm excitedly. "Then I can cook delicious food for Steve, James, and Stella!"

Her eyes were sparkling with excitement.

The man's hand, which was holding chopsticks, paused slightly.

For some reason...

He felt that something was wrong.

After this woman knew that she might be able to recover her memories, she was actually not excited about remembering him...

She was excited that she would be able to cook in the future?

"I thought you would be happy because you can remember me," the man said helplessly as he rubbed his heart.

"Of course, I'm happy that I can remember you." Alora said with a smile. "But what makes me happier is that after I recover my memories, I can make delicious food for you and the children."

"I will be a qualified mother!"

Samir looked at her and his eyes froze.

This silly girl...

Even if she had lost her memory, all in her mind were still him and the children.

This was probably something that Butler Shen had not expected, right?

They had injected her with that kind of medicine, to make her lose her memory, to let her forget about Banyan City, and become a tool who married into the Ji family.

But who would have thought...

Alora, who had lost her memory, would be fierce in front of outsiders. But in front of him and the children, she was even more adorable than before.

"Alora."

Suddenly, the man called her name. "What's wrong, hubby?" Alora raised her head and looked at him with sparkling eyes.

The man chuckled and rinsed his mouth with tea. Then, he lifted her chin with his big hand and gently kissed her.

His mouth was full of the slightly sweet taste of the tea. Alora widened her eyes and was a little flustered by his sudden kiss.

But a moment later, she obediently closed her eyes and even wrapped her arms around his strong waist.

She was very much into it.

Samir originally only wanted to kiss her lightly and let go of her.

But the woman's actions made his hands unable to let go of her no matter what.

The man held the back of her head with one hand and held her slender waist with the other. The deeper they kissed, the more intimate they became...

Until the sound of a cup falling to the ground came from the stairs.

Only then did Alora wake up and push Samir away with a flushed face.

The man smiled faintly and raised his eyes to look in the direction of the stairs. Anne was squatting on the ground picking up her cup. Seeing the two people downstairs looking at her, she coughed a little embarrassedly. "Um... why don't you go on?" "... I didn't mean to disturb you." "I just woke up. Seeing that Alora didn't go back to sleep, I wanted to come downstairs to get some water..." Anne coughed lightly. She directly picked up the glass and went upstairs. "I'm sorry, you guys go on!" Looking at the woman's back, Alora's face was as red as an apple that had just been plucked. But Samir was very calm. The man stood up, took the plate and chopsticks, and put them into the sink in the kitchen. Then he took a disposable cup, took a glass of water, and handed it to Alora. "Go upstairs and sleep."

"It's getting late." Alora quickly nodded, blushed, picked up the glass of water, and ran upstairs in a hurry. Looking at her delicate back, the man smiled helplessly. "Slow down," he said.

"Right."

"What's wrong?" Alora stopped in her tracks.

"You..."

"If you're bored from learning how to cook tomorrow, you can go to the hospital to visit your mother." Samir chuckled.

"The information that Mathias has investigated today shows that..."

"She has actually never given up on looking for you." Alora's body suddenly stiffened. A moment later, she bit her lips. "I understand." With that, the woman strode upstairs.

Standing where he was, Samir looked in the direction she had left and sighed deeply.

Justin had told him before that if not for him, Liu Ruyan would have killed Alora directly. Because she said that she didn't want her daughter to live and didn't want her to accept the fate that had been arranged by others. "If she can't act on her own after she is born, then I might as well let her die now." When Justin said this, he always felt that Liu Ruyan was a cruel woman. However, the information that Mathias had investigated today... It had subverted Samir's understanding. It turned out that Liu Ruyan had always known that Alora was alive. Her people had also been secretly protecting her. Otherwise, how could Justin have been able to take away a woman from the fire five years ago? On the surface, Liu Ruyan did not want Alora to live, but in the dark... She had always hoped that Alora would live a good life. Back then, she had deliberately said that many times in front of Justin because she knew that Justin was soft-hearted and that he would take her away. In order to prevent Alora from being disturbed by the Chapman family, she had endured for more than twenty years and never met her biological daughter. Samir did not know what kind of obsession this was. However, he knew that this mother was worthy of. Alora's good treatment.

Happy Mommy Happy Daddy Chapter 224

Chapter 224 Who Are You?

When Alora returned upstairs, Anne was playing a game with her phone.

Seeing her come in, the woman guiltily buried her head in the quilt and looked at Alora's face with two embarrassed eyes. "Um... Did I disturb you?"

Alora glanced at her indifferently and handed her the disposable cup in her hand. "Didn't you go downstairs to drink water?"

"Why did you run away without drinking water?"

"..." Anne swallowed her saliva guiltily.

"I didn't do it on purpose."

"I know you didn't do it on purpose." "I seem to have remembered something about the past." Alora curled her lips and sat down on the edge of the bed.

"What have you remembered?" Anne asked as she took a sip of water.

The woman tilted her head and thought for a while. "I remember he said that I should listen to him."

"And..."

She closed her eyes.

Samir's handsome face appeared in front of her eyes.

He looked at her with an elegant and indifferent smile. "Be a good Mrs. Rowan," he said.

The woman frowned. "Huh?" "I think... I remember something more." "It seems that we just got married."

"He told me that he wanted me to be a good Mrs. Rowan."

Anne widened her eyes. "Samir has indeed said this to you."

When Alora and Samir first got together, Samir's attitude toward her had indeed been cold.

Alora had once complained to her.

Thinking of this, Anne looked at Alora's face with some excitement. "It seems that you really remembered some of the past." "Is there anything else?"

Alora frowned and continued to search in her mind about Samir.

Her head hurt more and more.

Finally, she rubbed her head and shook her head desperately. "I can't remember more..."

"My head hurts..."

"It doesn't matter. Take your time." Anne sighed when she saw her painful expression. After a long time, Anne frowned and said seriously, "Alora, think about this carefully. What did you do today?" "What reminded you of these memories?"

"Before I came to S City, I asked a psychiatrist doctor. He said that the brain selectively makes one forget something for certain reasons."

"But the memories that you have forgotten are actually still there in your brain. You just need to find the key that can open your memories."

"This key may be an action, or an object, or a person or a matter."

"Think about it carefully. What led to part of your memories retrieved?"

"I can't remember." Alora frowned and bit her lips silently. Today, she had actually lived a very simple day. Other than eating with the three little fellows, she had been learning how to cook and fry eggs with Anne.

She spent almost the entire day in the kitchen, her mind filled with fried eggs.

She did not notice when she had had these memories.

But...

The woman looked up. "Before Samir came back..."

"I didn't remember the part where he asked me to be a good Mrs. Rowan."

Anne was stunned for a moment. After a while, she took a deep breath. "How about we check the surveillance camera tomorrow and see what you and Samir have done after he came back. Then, we will carefully analyze what exactly can turn on the switch in your memory."

Alora bit her lips and was silent for a while.

"You want to see the surveillance camera that I am with my husband...?"

"Yes." Anne nodded.

How could she know what they had done without looking at the surveillance camera? Without knowing what they did, how could she know what exactly had made Alora think of the past?

Alora bit her lips and lowered her head silently. "Then are you going to see the scene of me kissing my husband just now again..."

Anne, "..."

It seemed... Yes. The woman's face fell.

"I really shouldn't have listened to Samir and come to S City with him."

This place was indeed S City.

A place where things were starting to get more and more embarrassing.

"Anne."

"Thank you for your hard work."

"You can watch the surveillance footage tomorrow yourself." Alora looked at Anne with a little embarrassment.

"I'm too embarrassed to watch the scene of me kissing my husband..."

Anne rolled her eyes and directly pulled her hand away. She turned over and lay on the bed. "Sleep!"

"Anne."

Alora took a deep breath and changed to a comfortable position to lie next to Anne.

She turned off the light and looked at the dark ceiling with bright eyes. "I want to go to the hospital to see my mother tomorrow." "I was downstairs just now. My husband said that my mother has never given up on me for so many years." "Do you believe it?" "Your mother was so powerful. If she had really wanted to find you, would she have been unable to find you for twenty years?"

Anne closed her eyes, her voice much calmer. "You have experienced so many bad things over the years." "If she had found you earlier, you might not have been like this." Alora's hands silently clenched into fists by her side.

After a while, she took a deep breath. "But..."

After saying that, she suddenly did not know what to say.

"Go see her if you want to." After a long time, Anne sighed, "You are now the mother of three children. Maybe you can understand your mother's decision more." "I will check the surveillance camera for you tomorrow. You can go see her yourself." Alora pursed her lips and nodded. Finally, the woman turned around and gently shook Anne's shoulder. "Check the surveillance camera tomorrow alone, okay?" "I don't want others to see me kissing my husband." "... It's a little embarrassing." Anne, "... "Don't you feel ashamed in front of me?" "You are okay because you have seen it on the spot."

Anne, "..."

What nonsense?

The next morning, Alora got up and went downstairs to make fried eggs for Samir. However, she waited until eight o'clock and did not see him coming down from upstairs. After asking the servants at home, she found out that Samir had been called to work overtime in the middle of the night and had not returned yet.

Alora was a little disappointed. But she knew that he was busy, so she made a few fried eggs and called Steve, James, and Stella to come downstairs to eat. After settling the children, she changed her clothes and went to the hospital. She had followed Butler Shen to visit Liu Ruyan once. The woman arrived at the door of Liu Ruyan's ward with ease. "Sorry, strangers are not allowed in." Alora raised her eyebrows and rolled her eyes at the bodyguard. "Who do you think I am?" "Am I a stranger?" "I am the eldest young miss of the Chapman family!" The bodyguard glanced at her and smiled, "The real eldest young miss is now visiting Ms. Liu." "Who are you?"

Happy Mommy Happy Daddy Chapter 225

Chapter 225 I Didn't Say Anything About You Two

"The real young miss of the Chapman family?" Alora asked in confusion.

Why did she not understand the guard's words?

The eldest young miss of the Chapman family... wasn't she?

A week ago, it was Butler Shen who had brought her back and injected her with the medicine for amnesia, so that she, the eldest young miss, could return to her position and marry the young master of the Ji family.

It had only been three days since she left the Chapman family, and she was no longer the eldest young miss of the family now?

And someone else had become the eldest young miss? They were the ones who had said she was the eldest young miss.

But now they said she was not?

What the hell was going on?

The woman frowned and looked at the guard coldly. "I want to go in."

The guard's attitude was still tyrannical, and there was a trace of contempt in his manner. "I already said, you are not allowed to enter." "Moreover, our eldest young miss is currently reuniting with Ms. Liu, so we can't let an unrelated person like you enter." "Are you sure you want to stop me?" Alora narrowed her eyes and began to rub her hands together.

"I'll give you a chance to let me in now."

"If you still don't know what's good for you, I'll force my way in."

"Tsk tsk, you really know how to boast." "Just you?" The guard rolled his eyes at Alora. After saying that, the guard looked Alora up and down. This woman was thin and short, and she looked delicate. She did not have the strength to break in at all! "You asked for this!" Alora smiled. After saying that, the woman rushed up and punched and kicked the guard.

Although the tall and straight guard had better physical fitness than Alora, he was no match.

Alora beat the guard to the ground in a few rounds.

The woman gracefully rubbed her hurting hands and looked down at the guard lying on the ground. "I said I would break in." "You were looking for trouble."

After that, the woman pushed open the door and went in.

In the ward, Aria was holding Liu Ruyan's hand, crying like a pear blossom.

Beside her, Butler Shen was also wiping his tears. "Young miss, please restrain your grief."

"She will get better."

"Butler Shen, I know she will wake up." Aria sniffed and cried.

"My mother is such a strong woman. She must be blessed by the heavens."

She wiped her tears and looked at Butler Shen's face seriously. "Before my mother wakes up, I have to bear the responsibility of the eldest daughter of the Chapman family."

"If my marriage can bring benefits to our family and allow our family to walk through difficulties, I won't hesitate."

Looking at the woman in front of him, Butler Shen heaved a sigh of relief and held Aria's hand in relief. "With your words, I am relieved!"

"The women of our Chapman family are always so responsible!"

"Today, when we go back, we will go to the Ji family and discuss the marriage."

"It is best to get married this week. When the crisis in our family is over, you will be the most respected person in our family!"

"Yes, I will." Aria nodded.

"Aria Brown, no, Aria Chapman, will take the responsibility for the Chapman family."

When Butler Shen heard her say this, he was even more excited.

This was the bearing and responsibility of the people of the Chapman family!

As soon as she returned to the Chapman family, she directly changed her surname to the Chapman. Unlike the fake one from before, making her change her surname was simply like taking her life! Just as the two people in the ward were moved by each other, the door of the ward was kicked open.

At the door, Alora stood there, frowning as she looked at Butler Shen and the woman beside him. "What is going on?"

"What are you doing here?" Seeing that Alora had come, Butler Shen quickly put away his tears and looked at her coldly.

“Aren’t you in love with your children and your husband?” “I am indeed in love with my husband and children, but this does not stop me from coming to see my mother.” Alora smiled. “Who is your mother?” Butler Shen frowned. “The eldest daughter of the Chapman family is Aria Chapman. You are just an impostor!”

Alora was slightly stunned.

Was she an impostor?

The woman directly pulled a chair to the side and sat down. She gracefully crossed her legs. “It was you who caught me back and indiscriminately said that I am the eldest young miss of the Chapman family.”

“Now you are saying that I am an impostor?”

“Why are you so shameless?”

The woman’s words instantly made Butler Shen’s face turn red with anger.

“It was Justin who lied to us before. We made a mistake!” He gritted his teeth.

“You made a mistake. That is also your fault. How did I become an impostor?” Alora shrugged.

“You make it sound like I begged you to let me be the eldest daughter of the Chapman family.”

The woman shrugged. “Besides. I look so similar to this Liu Ruvan. She should

“It is impossible to conclude that you are her daughter just because you look like her.”

“Maybe it’s just a coincidence?”

Aria smiled and walked slowly to Alora, “Alora, I can take out all the evidence that I am the eldest daughter of the Chapman family. Do you have any?”

“We have known each other for so long. Although our relationship has always been bad, you can’t take my identity away, right?”

“Who are you? Do I know you?” Alora frowned her eyebrows and asked.

Aria’s following words were all stuck in her throat.

Her eyes were sinister.

This woman!

Yesterday, she had ridiculed her in her Moments. Today, she was pretending not to know her!

Ah, she wanted to see how long this woman could hold up! Aria took a deep breath and took out a bunch of photos and a DNA test report from her bag. “This is the birthmark on Miss Chapman’s waist.” “Butler Shen has already examined it. Whether in terms of size or shape, it is exactly the same as the one on my body.” Alora glanced at the photo and looked up at Butler Shen. “Don’t I have it on me too? Didn’t the servant help you to look at it before?”

“I wasn’t careful enough before. After the maid looked at it, I easily concluded that it was you.” “But this time, Miss Brown said that outsiders might be bribed and she asked me to examine her myself.” “I have personally examined her birthmark! It’s exactly the same as the photo!” “You personally examined it, Butler Shen?” Alora frowned. “If I remember correctly... this birthmark is at the bottom of my waist...” After saying that, she looked at Aria thoughtfully, “He did it himself?” Aria paused for a moment, and then instantly understood the meaning of Alora’s words. She was so angry that her face turned red, “Alora, don’t be so dirty!” “I didn’t say anything about you and Butler Shen,” Alora said with a mocking smile.

Happy Mommy Happy Daddy Chapter 226

Chapter 226 Compensation

The conversation between the two women made Butler Shen frown.

He snorted coldly and glanced coldly at Alora's face. "Miss Van, I know you may not be able to accept the fact that you are not the eldest daughter of the Chapman family."

"In fact, I can understand it. After all, the Chapman family is the largest family in S City except the Ji family. You must yearn to be the heir of this family.."

"But."

"This morning, we took out the hair provided by Ms. Liu and Miss Aria Brown to do a DNA test." "The result shows that Ms. Liu is her biological mother. There is a real relationship between them." "Moreover, Miss Brown has the jade pendant that Ms. Liu used to put on her."

"All the evidence proves that Miss Brown is the eldest daughter of the Chapman family!"

With these words, he looked at Aria. "Miss, don't worry. As long as you are a real member of the Chapman Family, I will protect you to the end!" Aria bit her lips and nodded with red eyes, "Thank you, Butler Shen." "It is the Chapman family's good fortune to have a butler like you." "I will definitely live up to the expectations of the Chapman Family and become the young lady worthy of the pride of the family!"

Their conversation made Alora unable to help but frown. She looks at Aria and then looks at Butler Shen, "Back then, you said that I was the young miss of the Chapman family, so you caught me and made me lose my memory."

"Now you are saying that I am not the young miss of the Chapman family..." "OK"

The woman lowered her eyes and fiddled with her slender fingers. "I will go back and think about how you should compensate for me." "I lost my memory, I missed a week with my family, and my whole family came to S City to find me..." "Oh right, my friend came to S City too." "And I lost my precious cooking skills."

"It isn't too much for the Chapman family to compensate me with twenty million dollars, is it?" Alora lowered her head and fiddled with her fingers.

Yels,

The woman's words made Butler Shen's face turn livid.

"Dream on!"

He was so angry that his whole face turned red. "Although we made a mistake, you have enjoyed the treatment of Miss Chapman for half a month!"

"Is that so?" "Keep in mind that half of my time has been spent in being imprisoned,"

Alora said with a scornful smile. "You injected me with the medicine, making me lose my memory."

"Is this the treatment the eldest daughter of the Chapman family should receive?"

Then she looked up at Aria, "Why doesn't she have to lose her memory and be imprisoned?"

Butler Shen was so angry that his face was red.

He stretched out his finger and pointed at Alora, "Because she is the real Miss of the Chapman family, and you are not!"

"Really?"

"So, the Chapman family knew from the beginning that I was not the eldest daughter and she was?" Alora raised her long legs and elegantly rested them on the edge of the chair.

“Then why did the Chapman family come to me? To cheat? To kidnap?”

The face of the butler turned from red to crimson-purple.

When did this woman become so eloquent?

Aria narrowed her eyes.

If Alora had not said it, she would not have known.

It turned out that the current Alora had already lost her memory. No wonder she had said that she did not know her.

“Miss Van, I know that you must be unhappy about suddenly falling from your status as a member of the Chapman family.” Aria smiled.

“But everyone has their own family and mother. I believe that one day, you will be able to find your own mother.”

Aria’s words made Alora feel disgusted.

She frowned and glanced at Aria’s beautiful face. “Although you have a DNA test, I still do not believe that you are the real Miss of the Chapman family.”

“After all, the mother of the eldest daughter of the Chapman family is the head of the family, a hero among women. A woman who can make a name for herself in a business world dominated by men is definitely not a bitch.”

As she spoke, she glanced at Aria coldly, “But you...” Aria’s face turned ugly.

She did not expect that after Alora lost her memory, she would turn into someone completely different.

In the past, even if Alora had bad feelings for her, she had never said it.

But the Alora in front of her...

She actually dared to openly say that she was a bitch!

“Miss Van, what do you mean by this?” Aria clenched her teeth and coldly fixed her eyes on Alora’s face.

“I know you understand.”

“I don’t like to talk nonsense with people who pretend to be stupid.” After saying this, Alora stood up and stretched. Her cold eyes looked at Butler Shen and Aria again.

“Originally, I wanted to visit my mother today.”

“But since you all say that she is not my mother, but Aria’s mother, I have no need to stay here.”

“But.”

“About whether I am the eldest daughter of the Chapman family or not, it is not up to you.” “I will find it out.”

“Next, I will ask my husband to investigate the ins and outs of it.”

“If I am really the eldest daughter of the Chapman family, then the first thing I have to do when I return to the family is to expel this traitor, Butler Shen.”

“If I really am not the eldest daughter of the family...” “I will make a calculation and ask the Chapman family to compensate me all at once.” After saying that, the woman shrugged and turned to leave “The Chapman family won’t compensate for your loss!” Butler Shen stood in place and stared at Alora’s back.

“Only you and your family know about your loss. As long as the Chapman family does not admit it, no one will believe you!” “If you want compensation, there is no way!” Alora frowned and stopped. A moment later, she turned around with a chuckle and glanced at Butler Shen lightly. “Are you sure you want to provoke me like this?” The woman took out a recording pen from her pocket and said, "From the moment you said that I am not the eldest daughter of the Chapman family, I have already turned on the recording." "Tell me, if I bring this recording to the Ji family..." "Will the Ji family accept the marriage?"

Happy Mommy Happy Daddy Chapter 227

Chapter 227 Thank You for Coming to See Me

As soon as Alora said this, Butler Shen and Aria were both stunned.

They probably had not expected that...

Alora had actually left a backup plan for herself!

The most shocked one was Aria.

If one lost her memory, would she really change her past personality and habits?

Obviously...

In the past, Alora would never do such a thing!

But now...

She looked up at Alora.

The woman in front of her looked the same as before.

But the look in her eyes was different.

She remembered the picture that Butler Shen had shown her before. It was the picture of Liu Ruyan when she was young

At this moment, the look in Alora's eyes seemed to be... exactly the same as that of Liu Ruyan in the photo. Aria took a step back.. The reason why she dared to come over and pretend to be Miss Chapman was actually that she knew Alora's character.

She was a fool.

Not to mention Nancy, even Truett and Celia, those two idiots, could have bullied her for so many years.

Aria concluded that even if Alora's identity as the eldest daughter of the Chapman family was taken away, she would not dare to do anything to her.

But now...

"Alora!"

"If you dare to tell these things to the Ji family, the Chapman family will be irreconcilable with you in the future!" Butler Shen glared at Alora angrily.

"Before, I mistakenly thought that you were the eldest daughter of the family. I brought you back and wanted you to marry the eldest young master of the Ji family." "I didn't expect you to turn the tide in the mall like what Ms. Liu did. I only hoped that you could complete your duty by marrying into the Ji family, and the Chapman would be able to get through this crisis!"

"But what was the result?"

"Not only were you not going to marry him, you even brought your husband and children over."

"You expect Samir to help the Chapman family settle the LY Group?"

"Samir's Rowan Group is just a family business in a small city like Banyan City!"

"Rowan Group's assets are still thousands of miles away from the Chapman family. It's a dream to expect him to help the Chapman family get through this crisis!" Butler Shen took a deep breath. "You are not willing to marry, and you are not willing to help the Chapman family. While I was in pain, I received a call from Miss Brown.” “I rushed to Banyan City and took the hair she provided. Finally, I proved that she is the real Miss of the Chapman family!” “While our family is finally saved, you are going to make trouble again!”

“Alora, you just want to watch the Chapman family be finished, don’t you?” He gritted his teeth.

She looked at Butler Shen with hatred in his eyes.

Alora smiled.

“If the one you found is not the real Miss of the Chapman family, then the Chapman family is really finished.”

The woman looked up and glanced at Butler Shen and Aria. “I won’t change my plan.”

“I will continue to investigate. In the end, whether I want you to get lost or ask you to compensate me depends on the results of my investigation.”

After saying that, she shook the recording pen in her hand. “Don’t play tricks.”

After saying this, the woman turned around and gracefully left the ward.

In the ward, Butler Shen and Aria looked at each other silently.

Coming out of the hospital, Alora felt a headache.

These days, with the help of Samir and Justin, she had finally accepted the fact that she was the eldest daughter of the Chapman family.

Suddenly, her mother was no longer hers and her identity was no longer hers.

What was hers?

Taking a deep breath, the woman was about to take a taxi home when she saw the clock opposite her.

It was already past eleven o’clock in the morning.

After hesitating for a while, she walked into a restaurant on the side.

Half an hour later.

Alora appeared downstairs of the Twin Stars Group in S City, carrying a thermostat.

Standing at the door of the group, the woman looked at the towering building above her and couldn’t help but sigh in her heart. The Twin Stars Group was indeed a big group that was second to none in the world. It was grand and magnificent. It was more than a little more luxurious than Rowan Group in Banyan City. The woman took a deep breath and walked in with the thermostat. “Hello, I’m here to look for my friend.”

Standing at the front desk, Alora silently reported Samir’s name, “He said that he is here to talk about cooperation, and you arranged an office for him?” The receptionist was stunned for a whole minute.

OS

After a while, she hesitantly handed the room number card to Alora, “You can go up...”

“Mr. Rowan is waiting for you.”

Alora nodded and took the card to the elevator.

The receptionist stood in place and sighed silently.

Half an hour ago, the assistant of the president, Mathias, had rushed downstairs to make arrangements, saying that a beautiful woman would come to the president within an hour.

He had told her not to say anything, and just give her the door number and let her go up.

Looking at the closed elevator door, the front desk lady shook her head.

Mr. Rowan was just talking about cooperation here? Wasn't Miss Van... too easy to fool?

The elevator arrived on the fifteenth floor.

When Alora came down with a thermal container, she saw a group of sexy women entering the elevator. The women were talking in English.

Alora's English was not very good, but she still understood some.

It seemed that they were discussing the big boss of the Twin Stars Group "The big boss is really rich and handsome!"

"If he hasn't got married, I really want to drag him to the bed!"

"You are right!"

"This kind of rich and handsome man is hard to come by!"

Listening to the words of those women, Alora silently frowned and got out of the elevator. Fortunately, her husband was only here to talk about cooperation. Fortunately, these women were blind and only saw the handsome boss of the Twin Stars Group, but they did not find that the one who had come to talk about cooperation recently was also a handsome man! Thinking of this, Alora was very proud. The woman walked lightly according to the address on the card and found Samir's office.

"Come in."

Alora took a deep breath and pushed the door open.

This was a very big and luxurious office. Although there were not many decorations, each of them was luxurious and cold. "The big boss of Twin Stars Group is really rich. Even the temporary office that he gave you is so luxurious!" She put the thermos on the table and sighed with emotion. Samir's hand, which was writing, paused slightly. ... He had clearly asked Mathias to find the simplest room to be his office. The man stopped writing and looked up at her with a smile! "Welcome to come to see me." "I wanted to tell you something. Seeing that it's time for you to eat, I sent you some food." Alora put down the food in the bucket and opened it. The man looked down at the delicious food on the table. "You cooked it?"

"Yes," Alora nodded and said shamelessly. Samir curled his lips and silently pressed down the take-out tag. He dragged it to the side and said, "Well, you've improved quite a lot." "It's even better than take-out."

Happy Mommy Happy Daddy Chapter 228

Chapter 228 No Room for Turning Things Around

The man's praise made Alora scratch her head in embarrassment and smile.

"Then... Hubby, hurry up and eat!" She shyly stuffed the chopsticks into his hands.

"You sit down and eat too."

The man smiled faintly and gave her some of the food in the bowl. "You must have never tasted such a good meal, right?" Alora hesitated for a while, but still sat down next to him and began to eat carefully.

Actually...

She was really curious about the taste of this restaurant.

Well, the taste was not bad.

After tasting every dish, her gloomy mood had finally slowly improved.

Alora and Samir sat side by side and finished all the food in front of them.

After the meal, Samir cleaned up the bowls and chopsticks swiftly and cleaned them up. Alora held her stomach which was full and lay on the sofa. Looking at the man's busy appearance, she felt a little guilty. "Hubby, these should be done by me."

Samir chuckled and threw the take-out tag that was previously covered under the folder into the trash can. "You've already worked very hard to cook."

After he finished speaking, he curled his lips and glanced at her. "Are you still coming to deliver food to me tomorrow?"

Alora pursed her lips and looked at his smiling eyes. She suddenly understood why she had labeled cooking as a happy matter before she lost her memories.

It was probably because...

Happiness was to look at the person you liked become happy because of you, right?

In the past, she had liked to cook. She had liked to watch her family eat the things she cooked. She would feel happy Now, although she had lost the ability to cook...

She knew how to buy takeout!

Thinking of this, the woman smiled and looked at Samir. "If you like it, I will continue to go to this store tomorrow... No, I will continue to cook it for you tomorrow."

Samir looked up at her red face when she lied and couldn't help but laugh.

After a long time, the man looked at her seriously. "I heard that you went to the hospital to visit Liu Ruyan today?"

When he mentioned Liu Ruyan, Alora remembered what happened in the hospital this morning.

"Hubby, I came here to tell you about this."

She gritted her teeth and looked up at him, her eyes full of grievance. "They found another eldest young miss of the Chapman family."

"They said that I am not the young miss of the Chapman family. Aria is the real eldest young miss."

"They have a lot of evidence and information in their hands. Jade pendant, birthmark, and DNA identification documents..."

"Hubby, I don't know who I am now." Alora looked at Samir with a wronged expression.

"At first, they said that I was the eldest daughter of the Chapman family, so I believed that I was the eldest daughter of the family."

"When I finally accepted this identity, they said that I was not the eldest daughter of the Chapman family. Who am I?"

Samir frowned and slowly walked to her side, pulling her into his arms. "I understand this matter."

"I will investigate it carefully."

"But Alora."

The man raised her chin and stared at her face seriously. "You actually don't need the identity of the eldest daughter of the Chapman family." "You don't need to doubt who you are." "You are my wife." "You are Steve, James, Stella's mother."

"This is your identity." "They shouldn't determine who you are." The man's words made Alora freeze.

After a while, she felt her heart warm slightly. She reached out and hugged Samir's waist.

"Hubby, thank you."

This morning, although she had always been calm and strong in front of Aria and Butler

Shen.

As a woman, a woman who had lost her memory because of her identity as the eldest daughter of the Chapman family, she could not accept the fact that she was not the eldest daughter of the family.

She had always wondered who she was.

Now, Samir's words enlightened her.

Yes.

Whether she was the eldest daughter of the Chapman family or not, she was his wife and the mother of the children!

Even if there was no Chapman family, she still had value in existence!

Thinking of this, the woman raised her eyes and looked at Samir with sparkling eyes.

"Hubby, I've decided." "What did you decide?"

"I want to investigate with you whether I am the eldest daughter of the Chapman family or not." "Whether I am the eldest daughter of the Chapman family or not, I will go back with you properly to Banyan City. I will find my past memories, and regain my cooking skills!"

The man smiled and raised his hand to pinch her nose.

"Your cooking skills have been found."

Alora paused and then remembered that she had just brought takeout. The woman opened her mouth and wanted to explain, but she was interrupted by Samir.

"They said that they have a DNA report?"

"Yes," Alora nodded.

"But I also have a DNA report."

"When I first arrived in S City, I went to visit Liu Ruyan with you. Do you remember?"

The man smiled and rubbed her head.

Alora nodded.

"That time, I took her hair and yours."

"The result was that you are her daughter, so I was willing to let my friend's Twin Stars Group help the Chapman family."

"Could it be that Liu Ruyan had twins back then?" "Justin said that I was the only daughter of my mother." Alora shook her head. With that, she frowned and looked at Samir. "Then what exactly is going on?" "Aria used to know you. You once filmed in the same film crew." "It's actually not difficult for her to get your hair or nails."

Alora suddenly understood.

"So..." "Aria should have taken my things to do the DNA test." The woman suddenly stood up from the sofa, "I will go to the Chapman family now and expose her!" "I suffered for an entire morning!"

Her hot temper made Samir feel helpless.

The man stood up and pulled her back into his arms. "If you go now, the other party's scheme won't work this time, but they will definitely have other methods in the future."

Alora frowned at him, not understanding. "Let them be arrogant for a while, then they will reveal more flaws." "When the time comes, we will destroy them in one fell swoop. Aria and Butler Shen will never have the chance to turn things around."

Happy Mommy Happy Daddy Chapter 229

Chapter 229 She Is My Wife

Alora pursed her lips and felt that Samir's words made sense.

"I will listen to you." The woman pursed her lips and silently hugged Samir's strong waist.

"And..."

"I also think that I should be Liu Ruyan's daughter." Alora took a deep breath. She didn't know why.

The first time she saw Liu Ruyan, she wanted to cry.

It was as if a voice in her heart was telling her that this woman was the mother that she had missed, loved, and hated for a long time.

Unfortunately, she had become a gork. She could do nothing but help Liu Ruyan protect the Chapman family and wait for her to wake up.

Thinking of this, the woman raised her head and looked at Samir's face. "Now the Chapman family does not admit that I am a member of the family."

"But I think their business crisis..."

The moment she said it, Samir knew what she wanted to say.

The man smiled faintly and held her tightly in his arms. "Don't worry, I will let the Twin Stars Group help them get through the crisis."

"You just need to be at ease."

Alora nodded silently.

After a while, she raised her head and gently pecked his lips while the man was not looking.

"Hubby, you're the best!"

The kiss was like a dragonfly touching the water, but it felt like an electric current, spreading from Samir's lips to his limbs and bones. The man was stunned for a moment, then looked at her helplessly, "Little thing, you've learned how to sneak attack."

Alora's face was as red as a monkey's butt. "I want to thank you," she said, burying her face into his chest. "I was especially unhappy this morning because of them... That's why I bought them... That's why I made delicious food for you."

"I didn't want you to comfort me. I didn't have any relatives. When I encountered something sad, the first person I thought of was you."

"I didn't expect that not only did you not let me continue to be sad, you also gave me a lot of motivation." After saying that, the woman raised her crystal-like eyes and looked at him. "So this is to thank you." Looking at the stars in her eyes, Samir smiled faintly. "You want to send me away with such a small thing?" The man's words made Alora stunned for a moment.

She looked at him in a daze, not understanding what he meant.

"Such a small gift is not sincere at all to thank me."

Alora paused.

"Then... Hubby, tell me, what should I do to show my sincerity?" she asked shyly.

"As long as you say it, I will..." Before the woman could finish speaking, the man's lips kissed her fiercely.

Samir held the back of her head and kissed her fiercely and domineeringly. At the beginning, Alora struggled instinctively.

Later, she stopped struggling.

The woman's hand clung to the man's waist, deepening the kiss.

Samir narrowed his eyes, and his eyes gradually became deep.

This little fool.

He had just said that her gift of thanks was not enough, because she had just stirred up the fire inside him.

But what was she doing now?

Did she continue just to express her sincerity?

The two of them embraced and kissed.

Originally, Samir was only dissatisfied with Alora's light kiss and wanted to kiss her fiercely.

He did not expect that she had misunderstood him and thought that he was saying that she was not passionate enough.

She even deliberately pried open his teeth when they kissed. The originally gentle kiss had been turned into a fiery and alluring move..

The two of them kissed for a long, long time.

Until the door was pushed open.

Sebastian Goodwin had been knocking on the door for a very long time. Thinking that Samir must be asleep, he had directly opened the door.

However, he had not expected that the moment he opened the door, it would be such a scene. The sound of the man opening the door made Samir furrow his brows, silently letting go of Alora and protecting her in his arms. He raised his head, his gaze sweeping coldly over Sebastian. "What's the matter?" Sebastian was so shocked by the scene in front of him that he was speechless. After a long while, he coughed lightly, "I have something to talk to you about." The man frowned, "Go outside and wait first. I'll let you in later." Sebastian, "... "Alright, Mr. Rowan." With that, the man turned and left. When he closed the door, Sebastian also silently rolled his eyes.

The two of them were clearly flirting in the office in broad daylight. Why did Samir's attitude seem like he had done something wrong? Through the frosted glass in the office, he saw the two people inside separate. Samir even gently reached out to rub the woman's head. He frowned.

Could it be that the one inside was his wife who had lost her memory?

Sebastian sighed and found a seat to sit down.

He was the person in charge of Twin Stars Group.

Five years ago, Samir's financial group in Europe had just started off. He was Samir's best partner and friend.

Later, when the two of them were halfway busy with the business, Samir suddenly said that he had two sons, and he was going back to the country.

As a result, he never returned. For so many years, although the boss behind the Twin Stars Group had always been Samir, as Samir's best friend and subordinate, Sebastian was the publicly recognized great CEO of the Twin Stars Group. Sebastian had originally wanted to return the Twin Stars Group to him when Samir came to S City this time. In the end, Samir said that he would continue to hide the fact that he was the real boss of Twin Stars Group and that Sebastian would have to continue his job. Thinking of this, Sebastian was especially agitated. However, he had vaguely heard others say that the reason why Samir had concealed his identity was for his little wife.

It was the one inside the door.

Thinking of this, Sebastian could not help but look at Alora a few more times. Not long after, the office door was opened. Alora came out of the office with a red face. Walking to the door, the woman glanced at Sebastian timidly, "My... my husband wants you to go in." After saying that, she directly took small steps and ran away as if she was running for her life. Looking at her back, Sebastian could not help but click his tongue twice before pushing the door open and entering. In the office, the man who had just been hugging and kissing a woman with his clothes in disarray had already tidied up and was now leisurely sitting on the main seat, looking at him indifferently, "Remember to knock on the door the next time you come in." Sebastian rolled his eyes, "I thought you were asleep inside. Who would have thought that you were playing a PDA?" "If not for you, she would have stayed here for a while longer." Samir rolled his eyes at him. "So, if I didn't come, you two planned to upgrade to the next level?" "What? We can't?" Samir smiled faintly. "She's my wife." "Whatever we do is reasonable." After saying this, he looked up at Sebastian, "A damned single like you will not understand."

Happy Mommy Happy Daddy Chapter 230

Chapter 230 She Was Nothing

When Alora left Twin Stars Group, the staff at the front desk of the group politely sent her to the gate and even arranged a special car to send her away.

"Miss Van, Mr. Goodwin said that you are an honored guest." When the car arrived at the door of the villa, the driver took out a business card and stuffed it into Alora's hand.

"This is my contact information. Take it well. If you want to go to Twin Stars Group next time, contact me. I will come to pick you up personally." After that, the driver looked up and gave her a deep look. "Miss Van, remember to contact me next time!"

The driver's enthusiasm made Alora feel a little overwhelmed.

"Thank you," she said as she kept the business card.

"With your status, there is no need for you to thank me," the driver said with a smile. Alora frowned.

"If I may ask, are you being so polite to me because I am the eldest daughter of the Chapman family?" "Are you the eldest daughter of the Chapman family?" the driver asked. "They used to say I am." Alora bit her lips. "Today, they said I am not." "But I still think I am."

The driver, "..."

"I am being so polite to you because Mr. Goodwin personally instructed me to." He looked at Alora as if he was looking at a mental patient.

"Mr. Goodwin said that you are very important to the Twin Stars Group. He let us treat you well!"

Alora looked at the driver in confusion. She wanted to say something, but the driver had already gotten into the car and drove away. The woman stood in place, frowned in confusion, and then stepped into the villa. "Leo, try this. I made it myself." "Leo, please wait a moment. Alora will be back soon."

"Yes, I live here with Alora."

As soon as she entered, Alora heard Anne's flattering voice. The woman frowned and was about to go inside, but she had been pulled to the porch from the entrance. The person who pulled her was none other than her youngest daughter, Stella.

"Mommy." The little girl blinked her big eyes and looked at her. "The situation is urgent now. I will make a long story short with you." "Uncle Leo is my foster father who raised me before. He is very good to me." "But he likes you."

"He didn't know that you lost your memory and came here to find you."

"Anne likes him very much." "Mommy, you didn't like him before. You only like Daddy."

"It's best not to let Uncle Leo know that you lost your memory now," said the little girl.

"If he knows that you have lost your memory, he will definitely think that he has another chance."

"Daddy is so busy now. He has no time to deal with his love rival."

"And he is so handsome. Mommy, you can't remember your feelings for Daddy. It's not good to cheat on Daddy when you lose your memory!" Alora paused.

She lowered her head and looked at the little fellow in front of her who was only a little taller than her knees. She could not help but squat down.

She set her eyes on the same level as Stella and looked at her clear eyes seriously.

"Why do you have so many strange thoughts?" "Are you so worried that I will be separated from your daddy?"

Stella bit her lips and nodded silently.

"But your Uncle Leo, didn't you say that he is your adoptive father? Is he very bad to you?"

Stella shook her head. After a while, the little girl sighed, "I have always liked Uncle Leo, and I have always liked Mommy." "Speaking of which, when I didn't know that I was Mommy's child... I also encouraged Uncle Leo to pursue you."

"At that time, I was not sensible. I always felt that the thing I liked was mine. The Mommy I liked must become my Mommy."

"Even after I found out that Mommy and Daddy are husband and wife, I still hoped that Uncle Leo would be able to woo Mommy."

"But then I grew up!"

The little girl bit her lips and timidly looked at Alora's face. "Later, after reuniting with my two brothers, they taught me a lot of principles."

"I know it is wrong to destroy someone else's family."

"It's even more wrong to destroy the relationship between mommy and daddy."

"I like Uncle Leo, and I also like daddy and mommy."

"Uncle Leo deserves a better girl!"

After saying that, the little girl turned her eyes and secretly glanced at Anne, who was standing in the living room and staring at Leo with a smile. "Mommy, what do you think... of Anne and Leo?"

Alora was stunned.

Subconsciously, she looked at the woman in the living room.

The way Anne looked at Leo...

She shivered silently.

In the few memories that Alora still had, she remembered that Anne liked an actor. However, she could not remember the name of the actor. But now, after listening to Anne keep calling her "Leo", Alora probably knew who that person was. This relationship... was a little complicated. Alora took a deep breath and patted Stella on the head. "Don't worry, Mommy knows what to do." After that, the woman stood up and strode into the living room.

The sound of the door made the two people inside turn to look at her.

Alora smiled gently, took off her coat and changed her shoes at the entrance, and walked over gracefully. "Leo is here?"

Anne was stunned.

Didn't Alora forget about Leo?

Why... "Alora." "Are you alright?" Leo stood up excitedly from the sofa and sized her up from head to toe. "I'm fine."

The woman coughed lightly and sat down beside the sofa. "The two of you chat first. I'll go make some tea." Seeing that Alora was the only one in Leo's eyes, Anne bit her lips and turned around in disappointment. She walked towards the kitchen.

"Anne."

"Come over and chat with me for a while." Alora frowned and stopped her. "It's been so long since we last met." "Leo doesn't mind my friend catching up with me for a while, right?" she asked, smiling at Leo. "Not at all," Leo paused Anne frowned and was about to refuse when Alora chuckled. "Leo already said that he doesn't mind. Why aren't you coming over? Are you not going to give Leo face?" "To think that you are his fan for seven years." "Didn't you enter the film city to act as a walker-on for him?" "Are you not going to give him face now?" The woman's words made Anne blush.

She bit her lip and silently sat down beside Alora. Hearing Alora say this, Leo raised his eyebrows and glanced at Anne indifferently. "This friend of yours is such a fan?" "Why didn't you say it before?" He smiled and glanced at Anne. Anne bit her lip. After a while, she carefully squeezed out a few words, "I'm not an important person." Even if she had saved him at the entrance of the film studio seven years ago, he didn't remember her in the slightest sense.

To him, she was nothing.