

HAPPY MOMMY HAPPY DADDY CHAPTER 9

Chapter 9 Be Good and Be Your Mrs. Rowan

Alora's face suddenly flushed red! Her heart felt like it was about to jump out of her chest. She quickly turned her face away, not daring to look at him.

"It tastes good." The man lowered his head and ate the noodles she cooked. "The butler said that you have something to talk to me about?" he asked faintly

Only then did Alora remember that she had something important to tell him,

"Mr. Rowan." "Before marriage, I didn't know that you had two sons." The woman looked up at him. The man raised his eyebrows. "Before marriage, I didn't know that you would secretly drink my wine because of your ex-boyfriend." "... Alora. She thought of the dream she had last night. In the dream, she and the man were in the bathtub... No, maybe it wasn't a dream! "It was my fault for secretly drinking your wine, but didn't you do something quite rude to me later?" she bit her lips. "We're even!"

"Do you think you having a bath with me is worth 5,480,000 yuan?" Samir looked up at her with a pair of bottomless eyes. "Crash!" The phone in Alora's hand fell to the ground. The few bottles of wine she drank yesterday were worth 5,480,000? The woman's face was pale. After a long time, she smiled embarrassedly. "Those bottles of wine..." "They were all limited editions." "Ordinary people can't buy them at all" Samir said indifferently.

But she still argued, "Even if those wines are expensive, yesterday, you and I... didn't just take a bath together!" Samir raised his eyebrows lightly. "Then tell me, what else did you and I do last night?" He put down his chopsticks. Thinking about last night... Alora's face instantly flushed red. "In short, you went too far!" she stammered as she stood up. "How did I go too far?" The man's eyes seemed to have magic. Every inch of her skin that he had swept past was burning. "Which part exactly, hmm?" His voice was too charming. Alora did not dare to look at his face again. She quickly turned her body away. Her throat was tight and she could not speak "If I remember correctly, we got married yesterday." "Everything I did to you was legal," the man behind her said in a low voice. Alora's face was burning hot. After a long while, she finally found her voice. "Then you... What do you want?" "I don't have 5,480,000 yuan."

She only had 548 yuan. "Be a good Mrs. Rowan." "Be good to Steve and James," the man said calmly. "But..." Alora bit her lip. "I think I'm not mature enough to take care of children." "I'm afraid I can't take good care of the two of them." This was also the reason why she had to talk to him tonight. "It doesn't matter." "They are mature enough to take good care of you." Alora, "... "Of course, if you really feel sorry." Samir looked at her slender back, and the image of her lying in the bathtub last night appeared in his mind. His low voice was a bit charming, "You can also pay with your body."

Body... Alora's face was completely red like a monkey's butt. She hurriedly ran upstairs, returned to her bedroom, and closed the door! His words kept echoing in her ears. "We are married" "Everything I did to you was legal." Suddenly, the steady and powerful footsteps of a man came from the corridor outside the door. The footsteps seemed to be coming towards her room. Alora bit her lips tightly, her heart beating wildly Last night in the bathtub, he had tormented her with his fingers. It seemed that even if some of the rumors were false, some of them were true! He had once played with two fiancées to death! Hearing the footsteps, her little face paled and she closed her eyes. The man from five years ago made her instinctively reject matters between men and women This was also the reason why she had loved Truett for so many years but had never even taken a kiss from him. Truett said that she was sick, but he didn't want to spend money to find a doctor for her. Every time, he would let her overcome it herself. She really could not overcome it... The footsteps came to her door. Alora began to tremble. However, the sound of footsteps passed through her bedroom and continued towards the end of the corridor. She heard the sound of the door opening and closing at the end of the corridor. Then, the surroundings were silent. Alora let out a long sigh of relief. He was not planning to torment her tonight? She lay back on the bed tiredly and stared at the ceiling in a daze. All night, Alora woke up and slept. Every time she opened her eyes, she had to see if the glass of water at the door had been kicked down. Fortunately When she woke up in the morning, the door was safe and the glass of water had not been kicked down. Her heart, which had been hanging for the whole night, finally felt relaxed. Alora got out of bed and washed up briefly, then went downstairs to make breakfast. Steve, who was very disciplined, went downstairs early. And James, who liked to sleep in, only ran downstairs when the fragrance of Alora's breakfast drifted upstairs. "Good morning, Mommy." Steve smiled and called out to Alora. He then turned to look at James threateningly. James bit his lips and looked at Alora reluctantly. "Good morning, Mommy." His voice was low. Alora was stunned. After a while, she forced out a smile. "Good morning." After being single for twenty-five years, she was not used to having two five-year-old children suddenly calling her Mommy. For some reason, she thought of the child she had five years ago. When she was involved in a car accident, the child had been eight months old. If she had been a little more careful at that time, the child would not have been born prematurely and died. If the child was alive, he should be as old as Steve and James, right? Alora looked up at the two cute little babies again and smiled. "I will be a good mother." Perhaps this was fate. She lost her child five years ago. Five years later, the heavens made her the mother of Steve and James. It could also be considered to make up for the mistakes she had done before. Thinking of this, she went into the kitchen under Anne's urging and carved two little rabbits with boiled eggs for the two little guys. "Be good and eat. Mommy is going to work!" The woman put the plate on the table, took her coat and backpack, and quickly went out. James looked at the cute little rabbit and frowned slightly. "Brother, she is so childish." "She thinks you're childish." Steve glanced at him. "But she made two. She also thinks you are childish." "You are childish."

"You are childish!" At this time, Samir, who was dressed in a suit, came downstairs.

“Daddy, come quickly!” The two little boys immediately shouted at him. “What’s wrong?” The man raised his leg and walked over when he heard the excited voices of his two sons early in the morning. “Here.” Steve pushed the white boiled eggs in the shape of two little rabbits in front of him. “Daddy, this is the love breakfast that Mommy prepared for you.” James smiled. “For me?” Samir frowned and looked at the cute little rabbit.

“Yes!”

“Mommy said that she is these two little rabbits and wants you to eat her!” James nodded.

The man frowned and looked at the two little rabbits.

“Butler, wrap them up and bring them to the company.”