

Chapter 2821

Dante was trembling in rage.

“You b*stard! You’re calling everyone here trash?”

“Are you trying to go against all of us here?”

“Do you want to be in the company or not?!”

“Even the CEO won’t dare to provoke us! What right do you have to talk sh*t in front of all of us?!”

“Let me tell you something! Because of CEO York, the Ishikawa Corporation’s business is ruined! This isn’t over!”

“Let me tell...”

Slap, slap!

Harvey swung his palm across Dante’s face twice, resolutely aloof all the way.

“This isn’t over, you say?”

“You think I can’t go against everyone here?”

“You think I’m talking sh*t?”

“What? Are you angry at me? Or are you questioning CEO York’s arrangements?”

Harvey calmly brought out a document and flipped through the pages before slamming it on the table.

“The marketing department’s job is to find business partners and make deals.”

“Since Loxus Consortium is such a huge company, the CEO’s job is to keep everything under control.”

“If we can’t even make a deal with a mediocre company from the Island Nations, what’s the use of having a marketing department if you want the CEO to show up for you?!”

“Why don’t you just get out of the company?”

“Being able to make the deal shows your skills. You’re entitled to the bonuses you get.”

“You can have whatever rewards you were promised.”

“But if you can’t do that, then that means you’re completely useless! Don’t try to drag anyone else into the mud with you!”

“You look for the CEO because of the failed deal? What’s next? You want her to deal with the finance department’s problem when the company runs out of money?!”

“I’m only telling you one thing: do your damn job, or get out of here!”

“Since you’re acting all high and mighty, why don’t you just get up and leave? I’ll give you three whole months of your pay as compensation!”

“Well? Are you leaving or not?”

The entire meeting room was dead silent at Harvey’s words.

‘He’s chasing Dante away?!’

‘Does he have a death wish?!’

Many people instinctively looked at Dante. They wanted to see how the son of the number two’s butler in the company...

...Would deal with this situation.

Queenie glanced at Dante as well, interested to see his reaction.

‘Would he even leave at this point?’

‘There’s just no way!’

‘The high pay and social status aside, there’s another reason for him to be here. Cody wanted a loyal servant to hold me back.’

Cory was the head of the head house, and he was Queenie’s uncle in name.

Since Cory wanted Queenie to take the position as the company’s CEO, he definitely wouldn’t lay his hands on her on the surface.

His best bet was to force Queenie out of the company using his subordinates.

Dante was the best pawn to do the job, hence his arrogant demeanor.

Dante’s plan was to show his strength to Queenie.

He only needed a few more days to kick Queenie out of the company.

However, he didn’t expect her to bring Harvey along.

The second he clashed with Harvey, Dante sank into helplessness.

Not only was he slapped in the face a few times, he was even told to leave the company.

No one could come back to their senses at that moment.

Rather than making a show of his strength, Dante's purpose that day was to be Queenie's punching bag.

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2822

“I’ve seen the documents. The Ishikawa Corporation isn’t even in the Island Nations’ top three companies. It’s just an ordinary company selling household appliances. What’s there to even boast about?”

“As members of Loxus Consortium, you represent the Yorks of Hong Kong and Country H as a whole. Yet here you are, running your mouth when you can’t even deal with a bunch of Islanders. Despite that, you still want CEO York to deal with your damn mess?!”

“How can you say something like that and stay in the company?”

“What’s the point of giving you people hundreds and thousands of dollars worth of yearly salaries when you’re just slacking off?!”

Harvey walked forward and tapped Dante mockingly on the face.

“If you think you’re not capable enough to do your damn job, then get out of here! Stop blaming others for your incompetence!”

“Do you understand me?!”

Dante’s eyes kept twitching after being tapped in the face constantly...

However, he dared not challenge Harvey’s words.

He knew that if he continued, he’d probably get another slap and be driven out of the company.

He wouldn’t dare leave his hefty yearly salary behind.

Queenie observed the turn of events in silence, amused. She admired Harvey’s show of force.

She had stood out too much. Since Dante challenged her, her position would be stripped away in an instant if she wasn't able to deal with him.

Harvey's actions happened to align with her intentions.

In any case, it was right for Queenie to get Harvey involved.

“Enough!”

Dante couldn't hold in his ire after being tapped in the face for so long.

He stumbled back, covering his face. He was gritting his teeth, his face a horrible expression. Yet, he refused to be seen as weak.

“What are you trying to do here, Consultant York?”

“You just got here, and you're already trying to force us hardworking founders' hands?"

"What are you up to?"

"You're not sent here to destroy the company, are you?"

"Surely, you're planning for something malicious!"

"Hardworking?"

Harvey flashed Dante a faint smile before taking out another document which he then began to read out loud.

"January 14th, Hong Kong's Aurea KTV. Three hostesses were hired. Twenty thousand dollars were reimbursed on the next day."

"January 17th, the Island Nations' Everblue Pub. You invited a high school girl to the place. Twenty-five thousand dollars were reimbursed on the next day."

“January 22th, you lost fifty thousand dollars at the Hong Kong Casino -Palace in the name of business expenses and got the finance department to reimburse the money for you...”

Harvey calmly stated every incident Dante went through before throwing a stack of documents in front of the latter.

There, the descriptions and pictures of the incidents were stated in full detail.

The documents further explained how Dante used the company’s expenses for his lavish lifestyle...

“I can’t be bothered to read all of these.”

“But I did tally up the numbers. In January alone, you’ve spent almost a hundred and fifty thousand dollars in the name of business.”

“I understand you’re the marketing manager and that you need to take care of your guests , but you should at least show some progress, right?”

“You can’t even get a single contract , nor did you manage to sign anything in an entire month.”

“You’re telling me that you’re hardworking when you’re out there drinking and fondling girls?!”

“Aren’t you ashamed of yourself?!”

“How do you want the other higher ups to think of you?!”

“You think you’re better than everyone? You think you’re working hard, doing sh*t like that?!”

“Is this your way of contributing?!”

“You must be very busy!”

Chapter 2823

Harvey had both pictures and statements detailing Dante's spendings. His barrage of questions enraged and terrified Dante at the same time.

Dante thought he could hide his wrongdoings , and that no one would find out...

But he didn't think that Harvey would expose him on the spot.

"You receive hundreds and thousands of dollars every single year! That's twice as much money compared to some of the higher ups!"

"Yet, you're not grateful about it at all! You're spending almost a hundred and fifty thousand dollars every single month just to fool around!"

"If you say you're working hard because of this ..."

“I’ll acknowledge it.”

“But don’t tell me you can’t even get a measly contract after working so hard!”

“If you can’t even do such a simple thing, I’m afraid I’ll have to question your so-called hard work.”

“If you can’t do a good job in your position, I’m sure someone else will be more than happy to take your place!”

Not only did Harvey point out Dante’s salary, he even mentioned the latter’s scandalous history.

The eyes of the higher ups lit up immediately at Harvey’s words.

Naturally, they too had a history of abusing the company’s expenses. However, they would at most use up fifteen thousand dollars per month.

After hearing that their hard-earned money every year amounted to no more than Dante's monthly expenses...

They were all in a horrible mood.

'How dare he slack off and still act so high and mighty?!'

'He even got way more than everyone else!'

At that very moment, everyone was boiling with anger.

The higher ups began to glare at Dante, furious.

Some wanted to take Dante's place, while others wanted to capitalize on the situation.

Dante was on the verge of coughing out blood when he realized he was being glared at like a piece of meat.

He didn't understand where and how Harvey got all this information about the skeletons in his closet. Even if he tried to refute them, there were pictures that showed otherwise!

Harvey was just too sly!

“Manager Castro. To put it bluntly, you’re at fault for not getting the Ishikawa Corporation’s contract . How dare you put the blame on CEO York!”

“The CEO’s job is to manage all departments so the company functions as one, not to blindly charge into battle!”

“Apologize already , Manager Castro . If you’re sincere enough , with CEO York and Consultant York’s generosity , they’ll surely forgive you if you continue working for the deal.”

The eyes of the higher ups were frantically twitching . They could feel Harvey’s pressure , especially with the documents in his hand.

If Harvey had information about their misdemeanors as well, what could they do if he decided to point it all out?

None of the people sitting here were completely clean.

They refused to have their dirty laundry aired for everyone to see.

Thus, they chose to stand with Harvey and Queenie, and kept talking against Dante.

“You all...”

Dante’s expression was twisted into something horrible at the sight of those who initially sided with him suddenly betraying him.

He gritted his teeth, bitter.

“I’m sorry, CEO York, Consultant York. This is all my fault!”

He was resentful; he wanted to choke Harvey to death so badly...

But upon recalling the slaps he received only moments ago, he dared not do anything reckless.

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2824

Everyone grew a little sluggish at the sight. They were in utter disbelief.

The biggest thorn in the entire company, Dante, was taken down by Harvey so easily!

At first, everyone wanted to see how Queenie and Harvey would show their strength...

None of them expected Dante to give in so quickly.

The change was extremely quick, so much that it was shocking.

Some who initially wanted to make a joke out of Queenie were in a confused daze.

“It’s good that you acknowledge your faults,” Harvey said calmly.

“I’ll give you three days.”

“If you can get the contract with Ishikawa Corporation within three days, we’ll reimburse you however you please.”

“You’ll have whatever amount of yearly salary you want.”

“But if you can’t do that, I want you out of the company. Is that fine with you?”

“Of course... If the other higher ups have confidence in this deal, you may go for it as well.”

“Whichever one of you gets the contract will receive the same treatment Manager Castro gets.”

“I’m a man of my word.”

‘What?!’

The crowd went wild at Harvey’s declaration.

Nobody knew about Dante's salary before , so there weren't a lot of people jealous of him.

But now that they knew his salary was way more than even some of the higher ups, why wouldn't they be envious?

Everyone had forgotten their initial goals. They rubbed their palms together , ready to fight for the Ishikawa Corporation's contract.

The show of strength to hamper Queenie was instantly squashed.

Dante's face bore a wretched expression. He gritted his teeth, wanting to rip Harvey to pieces badly.

'This b*stard keeps hitting my weak spots! I've had enough!'

Dante furiously slammed his table and screamed , "Enough with this bullsh*t, you b* stard!”

“You want the contract within three days?!”

“Let me tell you right now! Not a single person here can do such a thing!”

“If you think this is that easy, then I’ll use all my assets and this position to make a bet with you!”

“If you can get the contract with Ishikawa Corporation within three days...”

“I’ll give all of my money to you and grovel as an apology!”

“But if you can’t, you and this puppet of an executive CEO will get the f*ck out of the company!”

“Do you dare?!”

Dante was getting quite desperate at that moment.

He pointed at Harvey's nose, a resentful look on his face.

His mission was to show off his strength to Queenie, not to be made an example.

If he couldn't do such a thing, then he could imagine the terrible fate he would end up in.

The head of the house did not raise him to do nothing the entire time.

Dante had no other choice . He could only fight back and pray that everything would go his way.

“I don't have that much time to play with you.”

“One day is enough.”

“I'm not interested in your money, but I'll have your hands too.”

“If I can't get the contract by tomorrow at the same time, I'll leave this company with CEO York immediately!”

“But if I do, not only will I have all your money, but I also want one of your hands crippled!”

“Are you down to play?”

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2825

“Fine, then!”

Dante’s courage was boosted by his immense hatred.

“We have a deal!”

“If you can get the contract in a single day, I’ll chop off my own hand!”

“But if you can’t, then I do hope that I don’t see your sorry *sses in this office building ever again!”

“Everyone here is a witness!”

“Whoever goes against their word is a useless coward!”

The room was dead silent.

...

Half an hour later , inside the executive CEO's office.

The office wasn't that big, being only a thousand square feet wide. There weren't a lot of decorations inside the room since nobody had used it before. Only a table, a chair, and a couch were inside.

But since the office was facing the ocean, it had quite the refreshing atmosphere . Harvey was quite content with this.

He leaned on the couch while squinting at the horizon, a calm look on his face.

“Thanks for standing up for me.”

Queenie poured a cup of tea and handed it to Harvey.

“If it weren't for you, I would've suffered quite a bit.”

“You would?”

Harvey glanced at Queenie with a faint smile.

“You already thought of a plan to deal with all of those guys at once, haven’t you?”

“I’m only helping you so you can do things legitimately.”

“After all, it’s only a few days before the birthday banquet.”

Queenie smiled as well before pouring herself a cup of tea. Curiosity colored her face.

“According to my information, the Ishikawa family is a tough nut to crack.”

“Not only do they have control of the Ishikawa Corporation and have products shipped all around the world...”

“But many of their members are into politics as well. The lady of the family is now working in Mordu as the representative of the Island Nation Embassy.”

“Most concerning is that the family is backed by one of the Five Royal Families, the Mikado family.”

“You should know that the Five Royal Families are far superior compared to the Six Schools of Martial Arts. They’re all branches of the Island Nations’ royalty. Not only do they have strong backgrounds, but they’re also extremely powerful!”

“And we’re supposed to make a deal with them in just a single day...?”

“This is a little rushed, isn’t it?”

Queenie was confident in Harvey’s abilities, but she didn’t believe that he could make a deal with the Ishikawa family in just a single day.

Harvey smiled.

“To be honest, I don’t even care about the Ishikawa Corporation’s deal.”

“Their so-called cheap products were shamelessly copied from technology powerhouses like Europe and America, then turned into industrial waste.”

“They don’t need any research and development expenses. All they need to do is to open up other people’s quality products and make the same thing.”

“How dare they say that their products are cheap and durable after all they’ve done?”

“Do you know why their appliances weren’t able to get inside Country H’s market this entire time?”

“Do you think it’s because they’re looking down on us?”

“No! They wanted to get in for the longest time, but there was just no chance for them to do so.”

“Compared to us, Ishikawa Corporation is in more of a hurry to get in our market.”

“If we want their deal, then I’ll only have one request.”

Harvey remained emotionless as he spoke.

“We’ll get the money, but we’ll make sure the Islanders don’t get anything out of this.”

Chapter 2826

“You mean...?”

Queenie frowned. She didn't know exactly what Harvey was planning.

“Get the folks from Ishikawa Corporation here this afternoon.”

“Tell them to come at exactly three o'clock. If they miss the time, we'll end the deal right there and then,” Harvey explained.

“You're so sure that they'll come?” Queenie asked curiously.

“They will.”

Harvey's face was blank.

“Didn't I tell you? They've been trying to get into Country H's market, but they just couldn't find the chance.”

“Their so-called low-margin products are essentially them dumping their stuff.”

“Both countries and enterprises won't allow them to do such a thing.”

“It'll affect the entire country's market after all.”

“Plus, household appliances are daily necessities. Once they start dumping their products in, the citizens' lives will be affected at best. At worst, there will be civil unrest.”

“Simply put, Ishikawa Corporation does not harbor any good intentions by getting into Country H's market.”

“They know full well that ordinary families or businesses have no courage or power to dump their garbage here.”

“There are only a few families in the entire country that have this kind of authority...”

“That’s why the Ishikawas are laughing their butts off when the Yorks of Hong Kong decided to lend them a hand.”

“They’re only trying to fish for more benefits by stalling the deal.”

“It’s a shame that other than drinking, gambling, and soliciting, Dante has no other talents.”

“Thank goodness that scumbag hasn’t signed the contract yet.”

“If he did, the entire company would be in big trouble.”

“If anything goes wrong, the Yorks of Hong Kong will be treated as a bunch of idiots who paved the way for their enemies and be despised by the people.”

Queenie sighed after hearing Harvey's words .

“If that's the case, are we still signing the contract?” she asked quietly.

“Of course we are.”

Harvey's face was calm.

“Not only are we signing the contract, but we're also going to determine the price of the products.”

“Simply put, we have the final say for the amount of products we're selling in Country H and the overall pricing.”

“Other than providing the necessary supplies , the Ishikawa Corporation isn't allowed to take control of anything.”

“They don't have a say in the pricing , nor can they determine where we sell them.”

“For example : we’ll pay for shipping with our own money, and then dump these products straight to the Island Nations.”

Queenie’s eyes lit up at that.

Bulk purchases would definitely be a lot cheaper than the market unit price. This is the inevitable result of the commodity economy.

The Ishikawa family wanted to destroy Country H’s economy by dumping their products in the country’s market. Harvey’s move to fight fire with fire was pretty interesting , to say the least.

With the Island Nations ’ weakening economy , nobody would suspect that the Island Nations ’ would crumble because of Harvey’s move...

Even so, the Ishikawa family’s pricing system in the Island Nations would definitely be destroyed.

“Right! I’ll get the secretary now.”

Queenie stood up and made a few phone calls .

Soon after, her phone rang.

“CEO York, Ishikawa Corporation informed us that they’ll be here in the afternoon,” the secretary replied respectfully on the other side of the phone.

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>