

Chapter 36

At first, Yvonne was sending Harvey home in her Bentley. But there was a traffic jam on the way.

Hence, Harvey took his electric bike out of the trunk to ride home. But his electric bike broke down, and he fell into the drain. Now he was quite pathetic and awkward. 1

Harvey was about to take a bath and have a change of clothes. But Cecilia had seen him. She laughed coldly and said, “The person appeared as soon as we talked about him. Here comes the good-for-nothing! Harvey, did you fall into the toilet? You stink!”

Harvey did not want to be bothered by her. He put the big plastic bag in his hand at the corner of the living room and was going to take a bath.

“Harvey, how bold of you to come home? Do you think that it’s a hotel here? Do you think that you can come and leave at your own wishes?” At that moment, Lilian heard the noise. When she came out, her facial expression was unpleasant.

‘If it’s not because of this good-for-nothing, how could Mandy’s significant contribution be snatched away by Zack? It’s because of this jinx!’

Xynthia had walked out of the bedroom too. She glared at Harvey and said, “Harvey, how could you be so dirty? Why didn’t you change your shoes when you came in? You even polluted our air! Do you still want to stay here? If not, just get lost!”

Harvey looked at his mother-in-law and sister-in-law calmly. He did not want to say anything. If he ever became infuriated because of them, he would have already been filled with deep wrath during the past three years.

At that moment, he did not want to talk about such nonsense. He walked toward Mandy. At first, he had a straight face. After he saw Mandy’s beautiful face, his heart softened. He said shyly, “Dear, didn’t you say that your company is in need of eight hundred thousand dollars, I..." 1

Cecilia sneered. "Even a useless husband starts to learn to care about his wife. Is that so?" Cecilia interrupted Harvey directly. "You're not only a good-for-nothing, but you're shameless too. You don't even have some self-awareness. How could you bring up such a sore subject! The others' husbands will certainly collect all the money needed when they know that their wives are in need of money even if they have to use up all of their properties. But look at you! You're so poor that you couldn't even take out a single dollar. How could you even bring that up? If I were you, I'd jump off the building from the third floor immediately. What is the meaning of living? What a useless man!"

Hearing how bad Cecilia scolded Harvey, Mandy became soft-hearted. She then said, "Celia, just drop it..."

"No matter what, it's Harvey who rescued me when I was being seized by Don yesterday. I do feel something for him."

“Mandy, you’re just too kind and nice! If I were you, I would have divorced him a long time ago!”

“He sleeps in the study for as long as he’s married to you. You both never even shared a bedroom. I just don’t know how you could stand facing this useless man every day. If I were you, I’d be disgusted even by taking a glance at him. Do you know that? How could you bear it?”

“Yes!” Angel echoed what Cecilia said beside her. “Mandy, don’t tell me that you’re touched because he took your place as the hostage for a short while yesterday. Let me tell you. These b*stards are wicked and cunning. Maybe he had conspired with Don beforehand just to fool you and to gain your affection through deception. If not, why would Don let go of him that easily?”

Chapter 37

“That’s right!” Cecilia quickly echoed what the other said. “It’s quite possible that Harvey would do such a humiliating thing. He’s a good-for-nothing while Don is a bankrupt man. It’s quite possible that the two of them would conspire with each other. If not, how do we explain the situation in which Harvey is safe and fine now?”

“Cecilia! Angel! That’s enough!” At last, Harvey could not hold himself back anymore. He stepped forward and looked at the two women in front of him condescendingly.

Undeniably, both Cecilia and Angel were charming. One of them was sexy and attractive, while the other was cute and lovely. Even though they appeared cold and aloof now, they were still quite charming and adorable.

Noticing that Harvey was looking at her, Cecilia was filled with disgust. ‘This useless man! How bold of him to have his eyes on his wife's best friend! He's such a b*stard!'

"I remember that I've told you before. My wife's company is in need of eight hundred thousand dollars. If I'm able to provide that amount of money, you'll kneel down in front of me and address me as your father. Is that so?" Harvey smiled happily and looked at Cecilia as he said so.

"Yes! I said that!" Cecilia stood up all of a sudden. She almost knocked against Harvey's chest. "Yes! Take the money out now! If you can't, you have to kneel down in front of me and address me as your mother!"

"That's right. If you're able to have that amount of money, I'll address you as my father too!" Angel, who was beside them, could not hold herself back anymore. She stood up and was filled with disdain.

"Fine! I'm definitely going to be addressed as your father now!" Harvey took up the plastic bag at the corner.

After that, he swung his hands, and all the bundles of banknotes fell down on the floor swiftly.

At that moment, the entire villa fell into a dead silence.

The bundles of banknotes were piled up in the living room like bricks. It looked like a small mountain, and it was quite a frightening scene.

“This... This...” Mandy was filled with disbelief. She was so dumbfounded that she could not say anything for a moment.

“These... They are not fake...” Lilian almost threw herself onto the money. She picked up a few bundles and checked them carefully. After a short while, her anger had disappeared slightly.

On the other hand, Xynthia gaped directly.

Although she was born into a large family, the problem was that she had never seen eight hundred thousand dollars being piled up like that in front of her before.

Chapter 38

Both Mandy's best friends—Cecilia and Angel, were so frightened that their legs became shaky. They saw eight hundred thousand dollars in front of them. The strong impact which the scene provided was rather unimaginable.

“My good daughters, can you address me as your father now?” Harvey said while clapping his hands and smiling faintly.

At that moment, Cecilia took a deep breath. She recovered her wits from the great astonishment just now. She then sized Harvey up, and she said contemptuously, “Harvey, don't assume that I'm unaware of it. It's Mandy who gave you your pocket money during these three years. You're such a useless man. How is it possible that you're able to have eight hundred thousand dollars? I'm afraid that you didn't get them through proper and legal means.”

Hearing that, Mandy frowned slightly too. She grabbed Harvey's hand unconsciously and dragged him into the bedroom.

Harvey was puzzled. It was the first time Mandy grabbed his hand out of her own initiative after being married for so many years.

Mandy then closed the door properly. She spoke softly, "Harvey, tell me the truth. Where did you get that amount of money? Don't tell me that you went and stole it?"

"You don't have to worry about it. Even if I wanted to, I wouldn't be so bold as to do such a thing. I borrowed them from one of my classmates."

Harvey sighed and said.

The previous night, he claimed that he was the CEO of York Enterprise, but no one believed him. So now he did not have to say that either.

Besides, Harvey had considered that carefully. If Mandy knew about his true identity, it might not be a good thing. The relationship between them might be much more complicated.

Harvey did not want Mandy to accept him because of his identity. He hoped that Mandy could accept the ordinary man he was one day.

“Classmate? What kind of classmate?” Mandy frowned. “We’ve been married to each other for so long. I never saw any of your classmates give you a call. Don’t assume that I’m unaware of it. You once wanted to borrow money from your friends to go and see the doctor. You made several calls, but nobody bothered about you.”

Harvey was upset. It was true indeed. The moment he lost his identity as the heir of the Yorks, he understood the cruelty of society. Those so-called friends from his past treated him as some kind of diseased person. After they received his call, they were even reluctant to be perfunctory to him. Some of them even blocked his social contact.

Harvey gritted his teeth and forced himself to endure the pain. He walked for a few steps. When he reached the bedroom door, he turned around and said, "It's my university classmate, and he's doing investment. He owed me a favor in the past. Now he lent me the money as a form of compensation. Just take the money and use it!"

"What kind of favor did he own you?" Mandy was filled with disbelief.

Harvey mocked at himself. "Don't you know about my capabilities? When I was studying in the university, I always served the rich heir well who stayed in the same dorm as me. I served them their food, and I even helped them wash their clothes and cook for them. Certainly, those were some kind of hard work even if I didn't take credits for that."

When Harvey said something like that, Mandy believed him. It was because Harvey was indeed quite good at doing the house chores. If he really served the rich heir well, it was reasonable if the rich heir lent him some money.

But hearing that from Harvey, Mandy was slightly upset. After hesitating for a short while, she said, “Don’t worry. When my company is back on its feet, I’ll return the money to you as soon as possible.”

“Alright.” Harvey did not reject her. If he claimed that she did not have to return the money to him, Mandy would get suspicious, and he could not explain that to her.

When he came to the living room, both Angel and Cecilia had left. They might find it hard to bear it if they were to address Harvey as their father.

Xynthia played with the money and threw it here and there excitedly. She seemed to be playing with toys. Lilian had calmed herself down now. She sat down on the sofa properly and drank her tea in composure.

Noticing Harvey returned to the living room, Lilian laughed coldly and said, “Don’t think that you’re able to get the others to listen to you in our family since you got lucky and managed to borrow eight hundred thousand dollars. You lucky b*stard! Let me tell you! Not by a long chalk! If it weren't for such a useless person like you, Mandy wouldn't be bullied in the company today!"

Harvey was stunned. 'I've asked them to give my wife a signed contract. How is it possible that she's being bullied?'

Mandy walked out of the bedroom. She said softly, "Mom, just drop it. It's not Harvey's fault. Grandpa was unfair."

Lilian said coldly, "How could I not blame him? You're clearly the one who brought the fifty-million-dollars contract back today. But what about the consequences? When it came to your grandpa, it became that b*stard—Zack's contribution! He claimed that he endured the humiliation and went through with the hardship for it!"

"You can bear that, but I can't!"

"Harvey, let me tell you. If it's not because of a useless, live-in son-in-law like you, how would Senior Zimmer and Zack's family be so bold to bully Mandy?”

“I’m warning you. If you don’t want to stay here anymore, go and get the divorce procedure done tomorrow. Without you, maybe Mandy’s business could be developed in a smoother and better way. Maybe she could even find herself a better husband.”

Harvey frowned and said, “Mom, you got Mr. Xander for Mandy before. But it seems like he’s not that good either.”

“So how is it any of your business given what kind of son-in-law I found? If you’re capable, go and get Senior Zimmer to change his mind. If you’re really that good, I’ll let you stay in our home!” Lilian sneered. ①

Harvey thought for a moment, ‘I still think that Zack can’t get the contract.’

Chapter 39

“He can’t take that. Will that really happen since you said so? Who the hell do you think you are? Are you the CEO of York Enterprise? Do you think that you’re their relative since you share the same surname as them? There are so many people who have the surname of Marshall. So does it make them the same family?” Lilian was so angry about so many things, and she was filled with deep wrath.

Harvey was about to say something more. Mandy had now come out of the bedroom. She then said, “Mom, Harvey wasn’t there today. We really couldn’t blame him. It’s Zack. He was too shameless.

Besides, Harvey had helped me borrow the eight hundred thousand dollars, and he had helped resolve the emergency at hand. Could you please...”

“What is that? To treat him better? Look at his shabby appearance! He doesn’t look like a prince even if he dresses himself up nicely!” Lilian scolded him. She had now forgotten to mention the divorce. “Hurry up and go cook now! I’m warning you. If you want to stay in our family, you better behave yourself. If not, I’ll slap you vigorously!”

Harvey did not bother about Lilian. He just took a glance at Mandy in confusion. ‘When did she start to care about me?’

“Mom, what would you like to eat? I’ll go and cook now.” Harvey appeared happy.

“To the hell with that!” Lilian scolded him vigorously. ‘Why is there such a useless man? How could he appear happy after being scolded like that?’

The next morning, Zack drove his BMW and went to the York Enterprise smugly. After he revealed his identity to them, the female receptionist led him to the reception room in the company respectfully.

Seeing how the receptionist behaved, Zack almost burst into laughter.

Mandy was clearly the one who got the contract.

But now, the entire contribution was solely his. The Zimmers had signed the contract and prepared it well. As long as he sent it to the York Enterprise, they would be able to get the funds after they worked out some more details with the York Enterprise.

‘There’s an amount of fifty million dollars!’ When Zack thought about that, there was so much space for him to do some kind of cunning tricks with such an amount of money. The least he could do with that contract was to change his vehicle into a new sports car. He burst into laughter inwardly.

Besides that, he was considered the one with the largest contribution in the third generation of the Zimmers. From then on, the Zimmers would belong to him solely.

As Zack was thinking about that, he saw somebody out of the corner of his eyes. He almost jumped up in excitement. He went to the door of the reception room and scolded, “Harvey, you’re such a loser. Who asked you to come here and humiliate yourself? Don't you know what kind of place this is? Hurry up and get lost! If you dirty this place, you don't even have the means to compensate for it!"

Harvey yawned and looked at Zack in resignation. Zack was indeed quite enthusiastic. He came with the contract so early in the morning. Was he afraid that he would lose the money which they had gained?

Harvey did not want to bother about him. He turned around, and he was about to leave. But Zack grabbed his sleeves vigorously. Zack then scolded him, "Loser! I'm talking to you. Didn't you hear me? You used our Zimmers' money every day. What are you pretending to be now?"

At that moment, the argument between them had attracted quite a lot of the others' attention. After a short while, two security guards came running toward them.

"What is the noise about? Do you know what kind of place this is?" One of the security guards shouted at them from afar.

Hearing that, Zack released his grasp swiftly. He then said shyly, “Misters, this is the useless person from the Zimmers family. I’m afraid that he came here just to create a mess. You came just in time. Hurry up and throw him out of this place! Don’t let him get in the way!”

The two security guards had seen Harvey’s face clearly now. They became quite awkward. ‘Isn’t that our new president?’

‘He fired the leader of the security team in person the day before yesterday. Who is this guy? Did he know what he’s doing right now?’

One of the security guards was about to say something, but Harvey shook his head slightly and stopped him. He then said calmly, “Zack, I came to apply for a job. It’s none of your business.”

“Apply for a job? Just look at you. You’re such a loser. What kind of job are you able to apply for here? I’m sure that no one will want to hire you as their security guard. Aren't I right?" Zack smiled coldly and said.

"Does it concern you?" Harvey said coldly.

"You're just a loser and good-for-nothing. Did you come here to be a cleaner?" Zack was filled with disdain. He heard long ago that Harvey led a pathetic life in the Zimmers. He was just like a servant at home on a daily basis. Zack figured it out now.

Harvey sneered. He then looked at the security guards and said, "Mister, where is the personnel department? Please lead the way for me..."

Although the security guards were shocked, they reacted soon enough. They then said, "Please, this way..."

When they reached the office, Harvey said calmly, "I don't like to see anybody gossiping about me. Do you understand that?"

"Sure, we understand it now. We didn't see anything just now.” The two security guards nodded ceaselessly.

Although they did not know what kind of hobby their CEO had, they were aware of the fact that rich people always had different types of hobbies. They even heard that someone who owned a few million dollars liked to collect odds and ends from the refuse heaps. Certainly, they did not dare to say more about that.

Chapter 40

Yvonne had reached the office for a long time now. She wore a rather transparent white suit that day. When she saw Harvey entering the office, she soon served him a cup of tea. She then said, “CEO, the Zimmers had sent a person called Zack over today to deliver the contract to us. Do you want to take a look at it?”

“No need.” Harvey did not even look up. “Ask him to get lost. If he dares to step into my company in the future, beat him up and break his legs!”

“Alright!” Yvonne did not dare to ask any more about that. It was because Mr. York was always firm in his decision. It was also not the first day she worked for him.

In the reception room. Zack appeared quite gloomy. He felt quite unlucky when he bumped into Harvey just now. Now York Enterprise did not even bother about him, and he was left there for almost half an hour now. He was slightly annoyed and was about to get angry.

“Is anybody there?” He shouted.

After a short while, a receptionist came to him and said softly, “Mister, could you please don’t make so much noise in the company.”

“Who the hell are you? How dare you ask me not to make noise here?” Zack stood up. He then looked at the young woman in front of him with interest. He then said lustfully, “Young girl, I think that it’s better if you don’t work as a receptionist here. If you are with me, I can guarantee that it’ll be much more interesting for you rather than being a receptionist...”

“Mister, please behave yourself...”

“You’ve got the character. I like that!” Zack narrowed his eyes. He was always good at dealing with female receptionists like her. As long as he spent some money, he would easily get them.

Besides, he did not have to spend much.

Just when he was about to take action, the reception room's door was opened with a creak all of a sudden.

Yvonne entered the office in her high heels.

“Mr. Zimmer, sorry for making you wait here for such a long time.”

Zack sized Yvonne up. ‘No wonder she’s appointed as the CEO’s secretary. Just look at her appearance and body figure. That CEO has such great fortune.’

But Zack did not dare to offend the CEO’s secretary. He soon smiled and stretched his hand out. He then said, “Miss Xavier, I’m wondering when the CEO is going to meet me. We’ve signed the contract, and I’ve brought it with me today.”

“I’m sorry, Mr. Zimmer,” Yvonne revealed a standard but fake smile. She maintained her composure and avoided his outstretched hand. “

The CEO had told me about it. Please get lost.

Besides, the previous contract is void. Please leave!”

“What?” Zack wanted to jump up and slap Yvonne so badly, but he did not dare to do so.

What place was that? It was York Enterprise. If he dared to do anything out of the line, the people from York Enterprise could undoubtedly ruin him.

It was hard for him to force a smile. He then said, “Miss Xavier, why is that? Haven’t we negotiated well and signed the contract?”

“The CEO didn’t tell me the reason. Maybe he learned about the thing you did just now. You teased and harassed the receptionist just now.” Yvonne made up a reason casually.

As soon as she said that, she waved her hands slightly. The two security guards from earlier, came running toward them and led Zack out of the company.

Miss Xavier said clearly just now. The CEO wanted that man to get lost.

The two security guards did not dare to neglect that. They could finally do something good in front of the CEO. They certainly went all the way for that.

Soon, there was a rather shocking scene in front of the entrance of York Enterprise.

Zack was wearing a suit and a pair of leather shoes at that moment. Indeed, he dressed up smartly. But he was pressed onto the floor by a few security guards. After that, he was kicked out of the door of the company directly. 2

***

At the Zimmer Villa. Senior Zimmer appeared calm while holding a cup of first-rate green tea. But before he could swallow the tea, he spat it all out on Zack's face.

“What did you say just now...” Senior Zimmer coughed vigorously for a few times. He was filled with disbelief.

Zack appeared quite upset and gloomy. He was so sad. He then said, “Grandpa, York Enterprise was over the line. It's fine if they don't want to cooperate with us. How could they ask me to get lost?"

Senior Zimmer frowned and said in a deep voice, "Didn't we get the contract yesterday? Why did they change drastically at the last minute today?"

Zack averted his gaze and said, "Grandpa, is it possible that the contract is fake? York Enterprise doesn't even have the intention to cooperate with us! It's Mandy who pulled such tricks and put on such a show!"

"Yes, that's possible! If not, why would they break their promise today after they signed the contract just yesterday?"

"Grandpa, why don't we call Mandy over. Let's see how she's going to explain it! Maybe it's just a fake contract!"

"Yes! If that's really a fake contract, we'll disown her from the Zimmers! Her husband is such a loser, and she's even more so than her husband!"

“By the way, grandpa. I bumped into Harvey today at York Enterprise!” Suddenly, Zack remembered about something else.

“What do you mean? Why did he go there?” Senior Zimmer frowned as he was slightly puzzled. ‘

Harvey is such a loser. How could he be related to a famous company like York Enterprise?’ 1

“He went to apply for a job as a cleaner there.

Grandpa, I figured it out now. Harvey certainly used the excuse of going there to clean up the place. But in fact, he went to steal a fake contract. That couple conspired with each other to lie to you!”
