

Hate To Love You

Chapter 16

The nemesis Judith referred to was none other than Jasper. Feeling down in the dumps, Talla shook her head, and she told Judith everything that she had discovered.

Like a stuffed pig served on a feast table, Judith unexpectedly felt like she was stuffed with juicy secrets. She widened her eyes in shock.

Although she was a little short of confidence, as Talia's best friend, Judith still forced herself to take a strong stance on this matter. "I think... your biological father is the one that should be torn into pieces. Not to mention, Jasper's dad did have feelings for your mom. You have nothing to do with this, so don't let it get into your head."

Feeling anxious from the nursing grievance in her heart, Talia took a swig of her beer. However, the sense of blockage in her heart did not get flushed away at all.

After looking through her mother's relics, Talia still had one thing she needed to do, and that was to find that biological father of hers. Then, on behalf of her mother, she would pass that fickle man the letters that her mother did not send out. She wanted to let that man know how much of a b*stard he was, and how he had disappointed the woman who loved him.

Suddenly, a familiar woman's voice interjected into their conversation.

"Dr. Carey, what a coincidence. I didn't expect that a respectable person in a white coat would show up in a place like this after work."

Mandy appeared out of nowhere. In a daze, Talia looked up, and she saw an amorous-looking Mandy dressed in an unusually less amount of clothes. It was hard for Talia to have a favorable impression of Mandy from the bottom of her heart. Perhaps, it was due to Mandy being Jasper's lover.

Seeing Talia had no intention of responding to her, Mandy then added, "Dr. Carey, it seems you are able to encounter your patients everywhere. Well, who said doctors can't come to such a place, right? After all, every human has to have some fun too."

Not considering herself an outsider, Mandy directly sat down beside Talia. "Dr. Carey, do you have a special relationship with Young Master Jasper?"

Judith could not help but roll her eyes at Mandy's blunt question. "Listen to me, Miss. I'm pretty sure this has nothing to do with you. So, why don't you go back to where you came from?"

Upon hearing that, Mandy pouted. "Last time, what I wanted to tell you in the hospital-was... I accidentally saw your picture on Young Master Jasper's phone."

Slightly startled, Talia asked, "What?" Why would there be a picture of me on Jasper's phone? I thought he detested me.

As if she did it on purpose, Mandy did not utter another word again, and the smile on her face was somewhat ambiguous.

At that moment, Talia could not pick up the meaning behind the words hinted toward her by Mandy. If Mandy really saw my photo on Jasper's phone, shouldn't she regard me as a threat? Why isn't she showing any signs of animosity at all?

However, Talia did not question further about the photo. She sounded Mandy out while dissuading her. "It's not long since you had the abortion surgery, yet you are making yourself available by coming to this club? Does Jasper not care about your whereabouts?"

Upon hearing that, Mandy laughed. "Haha... why would he care? Don't tell me that you honestly thought the child Thad aborted was his."

Once again, Talia was stunned. "I-It wasn't?"

Shrugging her shoulders, Mandy replied, "Certainly not. I wish it were true because if that were the case, I may have a chance to marry into a wealthy family. The father of the baby I conceived is a famous playboy, and being responsible is not his forte, so I guess I consider myself unlucky."

Meanwhile, Talia did not care who the father of Mandy's unborn child was. Currently, her mind was stuffed with several thoughts. Mandy and Jasper have no relation at all? My photo was on Jasper's phone? Can this possibly indicate that Jasper doesn't actually hate me that much? All of a sudden, Talia felt much better. However, her guilt toward Jasper intensified even more at the same time.

Judith publicly expressed her disgust toward Mandy. "This kind of woman is really annoying, and it seems like she's quite good at playing the buddy-buddy role. With just one look, I can tell she's a loose woman."

However, Talia did not answer. Instead, she was thinking silently about Mandy's words. Does Jasper really have my photo on his phone?
