

Her Billionaire 601

Chapter 601 A Mysterious Crayson

“You’re such an annoying geezer!” As someone who was born with a silver spoon, Sofia felt her pride being tampered by Crayson in front of the public. Thus, why would she be worried if he was hurt?

She raised her leg to kick him. “Step aside, you old thing.”

As she attempted to deliver the kick, he grabbed her ankle and pushed her away while holding the electric baton with one hand. Exasperated, Sofia released Shirley’s hair before performing a flying kick midair at his head.

Remaining firm on his spot steadily, he parried her advance with the baton. “Tsk... Ugh...”

Although Crayson made use of it as his defense, anyone could tell that that was one strong kick from Sofia. However, the baton did not budge an inch as it was unbothered like a riveted steel.

When she exclaimed in pain, he released his grip and she almost fell. She barely gained a purchase after taking a few steps back. It was not until then did she realize that he was not an ordinary old man.

Screech—

sound of a car jarred into everyone’s ears, drawing their attention. They saw someone running over from the

for Shirley once he caught roared, “Hey, young guilty Skyler was aware that he was at fault. “Master

Veronica. After he found out that Crayson—the tutor as well. Hence, Skyler

“Get outta my house. I’m not playing with your games anymore. I don’t want any of the money you scarce from the scene without the

“What? What game?”

does she

Shirley is not the mistress, but she was paid to put

“Who knows?”

...

looked at Skyler in confusion,