

Her Billionaire 604

Chapter 604 She's Silly and Stupid

When Shirley looked at Skyler, he happened to be watching her too. Her heart skipped a beat and nervousness grew. She raised her left hand and propped her elbow on the table to cover half of her face.

"You two know each other?" Wade sensed something wrong. "No, no, no. We don't—"

"Shirley?" Just as she was going to say that they did not know each other, Skyler suddenly came up to them. Unbeknownst to her, Veronica warned Skyler to distance himself with her through a text after she left. Veronica even mentioned about introducing someone new to her and told him not to invade her life anymore.

Hence, he had been feeling cranky since morning, which prompted him to ask someone to look into Shirley's whereabouts.

After he caught wind of her location, he arranged a meeting with his client for a business affair here.

"Huh?" She turned her head in surprise. When she saw Skyler standing right next to her, she sprang to her feet immediately. "Sky—What a coincidence. I didn't know you and your friend are here."

Her heart squeezed as she gulped down her saliva nervously. Her cheeks were flushed red when she thought, Bloomstead is such a small city. I even bumped into him on my blind date? What am I gonna do?

is..." Skyler questioned as he

of how

stood up with

he could finish his words, Skyler interrupted, "Are you

he interrupted Wade intentionally so she did not know how Skyler found out about the

she wouldn't tell him where we are. Did he follow me all preposterous idea popped into her mind and she figured that she was out of her mind for having at Wade. "I'm Shir's friend. She's kinda dense and she's not that smart, so I guess I can be

she was, he nodded in the end.

"Skyler."

the moment he saw him. He had seen Skyler before, but Skyler

How did you know

...

