

Her Billionaire 612

Chapter 612 Stopped From Fetching the Bride

Matthew had just approached the entrance when the huge entourage of family members mobbed the entrance. "The groom's here! Congratulations! Hurry up! Where are the presents?"

"Yes. You can't enter the room without giving us presents."

"Gosh. You're so handsome today." "No matter how handsome he is, he would still have to give us the presents to enter the room."

"Yes. You can't just take the hands of my cousin like that." "Exactly! There are plenty of men after my cousin!"

...

Other than Veronica's family members, some of her classmates and best friends mobbed the door as well.

Matthew was donned in a black tuxedo, looking very flashy and charming. He held a bouquet of flowers in his hand and smiled warmly. "I've definitely prepared presents for everyone, but you guys should voice out your well-wishes too."

"Wishing you two a blissful married life. Here's to everlasting love!"

"You're a match made in heaven."

a blissful

your life be filled with love

you everlasting love and a

...

look at Skyler. Instantly, Skyler reached into the pocket of his trousers and took out with a flourish as he scattered the cards to down and landed on the ground. The crowd scrambled to grab the presents and the entrance was instantly cleared. As a result, Matthew managed in front, Ruka, Larry, and Destiny were the ones guarding the main

"Congratulations, Matthew. It must have been tough for you to keep was in good spirits, so he revealed a great-looking smile. "I'll no one will be allowed in!" Larry walked over and nudged Ruka

"Of course." Ruka nodded.

me, or else, you won't be able to get past me." Destiny lifted “Tony, I reckon that these people here seem quite Matthew’s so wealthy, it’s definitely normal for that.” Daniella nodded and