Her Biliionaire 627

Chapter 627 You Look Beautiful in Your Wedding Dress

Antheena clenched her teeth in pain, but her left hand didn't tremble at all as it held the gun. "You probably don't know that I'm good at shooting with my left hand, do you?" She could shoot with both hands, but she definitely shot with greater accuracy when she shot with her left hand instead of her right.

Veronica was shot in the left arm. The pain of her skin being burned caused her to stagger a step back before she barely managed to steady herself. She pointed her gun at Antheena, who aimed her gun at the former.

Bang! Bang! Without the slightest hesitation, the two fired at each other at great speed. Just then, a cry of alarm suddenly sounded in Veronica's ear. "Watch out!"

Before she could look sideways to see who it was, she was shoved hard and fell over. The instant she fell over, she saw who it was.

took the bullet for her and was shot in the left chest. After he was shot, there was a faint spattering of blood from his wound, and he fell straight

Antheena didn't manage to dodge the bullet across from them, either. The bullet ended up hitting her in she didn't aim at the latter's heart at all. After she was shot, her handgun slipped out of her grasp as though she had instantly lost strength in her left hand. Her face pale with pain, she took a few steps back while staring unblinkingly at the man who showed up all of a sudden as her blue eyes widened in disbelief. Why is he here? How did he come here? Is he even willing to in shock before she quickly got up and rushed to Xavier's side. "Are you crazy? Don't you know that the shot tall, and Antheena's shot was aimed at Veronica's heart, so the bullet hit him several centimeters below his heart. However, a large amount of blood instantly gushed from his wound, soaking his black shirt for day and night and who kept him awake at night.

for a moment. She had changed her clothes and was wearing a