

Her Billionaire 632

Chapter 632 Betrayed Boss

Unable to suppress the grief from her calm and collected face, she slowly closed her eyes and turned to slump against the wall and resting her forehead against it, her eyes misted with sorrow.

Xavier was now lying unconscious in his room, Antheena had not been gone long, and they said that Conrad was injured and taken away by Anthony, so who else was Matthew's opponent?

"Is it Hendrey?" Skyler, Caleb, and Miguel were all there, so how could they not be Hendrey's opponent? However, there was still no news from Matthew. For Veronica, this was the worst news.

She bit her red lips tightly, her body trembling faintly when she suddenly heard footsteps coming from the stairs. After a quick sniffle, she straightened up and went into Xavier's room, subsequently closing the door.

In the bedroom, the lights were on, and Xavier was still lying unconscious on the bed. Back on the mountain, he had been bleeding excessively and drenched in blood.

looking at the equipment by his bedside and seeing that everything was stable, the bedside and looking at the familiar face, Veronica suddenly felt that it was a little the hall on the first floor, the phone that Thomas placed on the table suddenly rang, almost instantly attracting everyone's eyes almost reflexively grabbed the phone and answered it immediately, "How's it going over there?"

brother has

were like a thunderbolt that instantly shattered all be having difficulty telling the truth, while the person next to him said, "F*ck, give it b*stard, Matt was kind to your family, so why are you doing this? That son of a b*tch, Troy, took 100 million from Anthony and went to Matt, and while Matt was in a fierce battle with someone three shots. Three! You'd better not run away! When I return, I'm going to shred you from the phone, and the few men sitting next to him looked at stood frozen in place, clutching his phone tightly as he asked, "Impossible. What kind of joke is