

Her Billionaire 634

Chapter 634 What Happened to Matt

Veronica was frozen as she held the phone, her pale lips gaping, but her throat was so tight that she was unable to say a word, as if she had lost her voice.

“Huh... What did you say? What happened to Matt?” Finally, Veronica roared, her voice as hoarse as a crow. On the other end of the phone, the man paused. “Who are you?”

“Answer me! I’m asking you, what happened to Matt? Answer me now!”

In that instant, Veronica’s emotions crumbled, and she stood up in a flash, her tears streaming down her face like a river. She did not look pained, but instead, her pale face was robotic, as if she were a puppet, and only her open eyes kept streaming with tears, like a trickling fountain.

are you with Xavier?” “Hendrey, answer and he had no idea what shouted a few times, but she did not out of her hand and dropping to the ground, bouncing a few times before it heart, which had been tense and restless all afternoon, instantly eased up. As if knowing the result and that everything numbly on the edge of the bed, and her eyes, which had been flowing with tears, gradually dried up.

Raising her hand to brush away the tear marks on her cheeks, Veronica quickly gathered her emotions and as she passed by the railing. When those few people saw her, walked to her room and changed into a casual outfit, carrying her cell phone with her, before she opened the back window and hill, she looked at the cars parked on the roadside