

Her Billionaire 648

Chapter 648 The Baby's Gone

Hensen looked old and sorrowful. There was unspeakable agony in his eyes as he brought that tragic story up. He was starting to sob, so his wife explained, "He blackmailed us with the video and demanded money from us. And it didn't stop after one time, no. He kept demanding more and more. Yvonne almost killed herself a few times when she found out what was happening."

Mrs. Spencer started crying at that point as well. Veronica pulled out some tissues and handed them to her. The lady wiped her tears with them and continued, "She's our only daughter, and we love her. We couldn't stand by when someone was trying to humiliate her. In the end, we had to give him everything we had before he finally let us go."

Castron was a liberal country that wouldn't stop anyone from uploading pornography. If Zac did upload that video, he definitely would not censor Yvonne's face, and the video would go viral and turn Yvonne into the butt of everyone's joke. She was born in Castron. If the video made its way to the internet, everyone would start throwing slurs and bullying her whenever they saw her.

The Spencers were old school, and they loved Yvonne. There was no way they would let Zac spread that video.

Zac had been eyeing the Spencers' wealth for a while. So, he exploited their love for Yvonne and set her up just to get his hands on all their money. Now that they had lost everything, Zac had no more use for them or the video, so he deleted everything.

"That b*stard."

where he got the funds to invest in Spinfluence. He wrung the Spencers dry and go against the royalty. You made the right choice, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer. When push the youngest prince of Castron royalty, and he was spoiled rotten. A we're all still alive." Mrs. Spencer heaved a long, long around the grieving woman and hugged her. "Don't worry, Mrs. Spencer. They'll pay for what they couldn't bear to see her in that state, so we sent her away. She's going to start over in a new place. Please, forget about her, Miss for what the young lady did for his daughter, but now all he wanted to do was protect the last sliver of innocence Yvonne had in could see why they were doing this. "What a mark of humiliation for the Spencers, and they were worried that he might brows furrowed. "Does stared at the ground

...

