

Her Billionaire 683

Chapter 683 He Is Here

Like a fiery tornado that swept through, the kiss was hot and crazed. The initial neat bed had turned into a mess after a few hours of bedroom warfare.

As the satisfied couple huddled together, Veronica lay against Matthew's chest. "Matt, I feel like I have to tell you this since you were best friends before. I saw Adrian hit Sasha the other day."

Veronica would always remember the slap Sasha had given her in the mourning hall.

However, Veronica had always been someone who could clearly tell apart a grudge from gratitude. She wouldn't harbor hatred for Sasha just for one slap.

"Sasha doesn't love Adrian, but Adrian does come from an unusual background. She..." Matthew paused and continued solemnly, "She brought it upon herself."

He and Skyler had warned Adrian to stay away from Sasha when he laid his hands on her before. Sasha was the one who went looking for Adrian after that.

friends could do anything when Sasha was the one voluntarily stepping into the reason Sasha returned to Adrian again was Adrian's romantic feelings for her to provoke Matthew to let him know about his love for her. And second of all, if Matthew turned out to not love her, she could also attract Matthew's attention by getting into conflicts and getting beaten loved meek women who depended on their men, and men were born to find pitiful women irresistible to not protect. That was what made Sasha think that those were the only ways she could 'awaken' did not have any self-awareness. She had no idea that everything she did

Veronica's tummy

and let

something to eat. I will eat with you," he suggested, to fully immersed in the character of a widow nowadays, after all. Thinking that she had probably convinced Zac and the rest of them, she decided it should be reasonable for her she called the front desk to order

while before

then placed her elbows on the table and looked at Matthew, her eyes full of admiration and love. "Matt, how