

Her Billionaire 688

Chapter 688 It's My Fault

The couple proceeded to have another delightful, almost out-of-body session that brought Veronica to one peak after another.

She had to admit that Matthew had great stamina.

After they were done, he carried the exhausted woman and washed her up in the bathroom before taking her back to the bed.

She eventually woke up after a short nap. Arms around his waist, she held him in a tight hold, as though fearing that he would leave as soon as she let him go.

When she felt the warmth from his skin, she rubbed her cheek like a spoiled kitten on his chest.

"Be good."

Matthew suddenly reached out and slapped her on her behind.

His gruff voice sounded so magnetic and attractive she went numb after hearing his low whisper.

she could feel the light vibration as he spoke. This was the happiness

"Aye—"

dragged her reply, making her look both playful and her cheekiness that always fueled the fire in Matthew's loins, but she going to Castron. Is it fine for me to bring Thomas with me, and I leave Yvette and no choice but to make the decision herself because she

for Skyler, Veronica couldn't help thinking how he would be an unreliable person to depend on, even though he had given up on only person she thought was

It will be good to wasn't too worried about the company. He knew that Miguel, power to manage the company to,

and our son is Alan." It was then that Veronica realized Matthew had

Matthew not caring about the children had secretly arranged for their children to be on her forehead. "It has been

was confused by his sudden

