Chapter 722 He Is Such an Elegant Person

“Second floor, by the window.” “Oh, alright.”

While trying to control her wildly beating heart, Shirley grabbed her bag and went up to the second floor. She looked around and saw Garrick in a sky-blue shirt sitting by the window.

He had his sleeves rolled up around his elbows, revealing his muscled arms. The sapphire Rolex watch on his wrist added to his noble temperament and striking appearance. With that visual, his mature and charming attributes were off the charts.

He’s so handsome. Shirley came to a stop before him and nodded lightly. “Sorry to keep you waiting, President Brennan.” “I’ve only just arrived.”

He then motioned for her to take a seat, indicating that she sat across from him. “What would you like to eat?” “I’m not picky. Anything is fine.”

While sitting in front of him, Shirley revealed a natural yet sweet smile, which was lovely to see. “They serve great filet steak here. I recommend that you try it.”

“Sure.” “Girls do love themselves some desserts, right? Why don’t I order a strawberry mousse for you?” “Thank you, President Brennan.”

She suddenly felt that Garrick was very considerate and he was not as cold as he was yesterday. Instead, she could feel that he was rather happy today and his attitude was kinder than before.
