

Her Billionaire 725

Chapter 725 Warning Garrick

“Sir, what would you like to order?” The waiter placed the menu on the table. Without looking through it, Skyler randomly ordered a steak, a salad, and another bottle of wine. After the waiter left, he looked at Garrick. “Did Sofia tell you to come look for Shirley?”

He went straight to the point. Shirley, who had just managed to calm down her pounding heart, instantly felt her head buzzing. “President Brennan is—”

Just as she was about to explain the situation, she heard Garrick’s gentle voice. “I’m here to discuss our partnership with Miss Willson.”

“Partnership? What partnership?” This time, it was Skyler’s turn to feel confused.

Although Shirley did not want Skyler to know too much about her affairs, she knew that if she kept quiet, he would investigate them himself. By then, he would discover the relationship between Vincere Games and Veronica.

After contemplating the situation, she could only explain, “I’m here on behalf of my company to discuss our partnership with President Brennan. Young Master Skyler, this matter involves our companies, so we have to keep it confidential. Please don’t ask too much about it.”

“Which company?” asked Skyler.

Shirley kept quiet, not wanting to answer.

In the end, it was Garrick who responded, “Vincere Games. You like playing games, so you must know quite a lot about this industry. Do you know Vincere Games?”

“Vincere Games?”
