

Her Billionaire 727

Chapter 727 Arrival of a New Chef

“He’s from Bloomstead?” Veronica’s eyes lit up as she felt curious. It always felt more reassuring when one could meet a fellow citizen abroad.

“That’s right. Let’s have our meal first. You’ll find out about him later.” Mateo raised the suspense. After heading down, Destiny and Crayson were already waiting for her in the dining room.

When the two saw her coming over, they immediately smiled warmly at her. Perhaps they felt guilty, so they treated her so well that she thought they were flattering her.

Crayson had always been strict with her, but when she saw that he was treating her with more cautiousness, she secretly felt uncomfortable inside.

“Come over and let’s eat. See if the dishes today are to your liking.”

Waving his hand at her, Crayson beckoned her over and pointed at the breakfast dishes.

Then, she walked over and saw meat ravioli, waffles, meatloaf, pancakes, omelets, and nutty banana oatmeal. It was a hearty breakfast that was filled with Bloomstead specialties.

Just smelling it had already made Veronica gulp down her saliva.

“It smells great.”

picked up her fork to stab a piece of ravioli. Biting into the tender pasta, she could taste the food while thinking, Not else.” Destiny pointed at another dish while looking at Veronica with grabbed the bowl of nutty banana oatmeal. She scooped a spoonful of it before gulping only a mouthful, she carefully tasted everything and was suddenly stunned as a faint light flashed across around her looked at her in unison. “What’s the matter? Does it if it doesn’t taste good,

“Sure.”

“But it’s hard to find

while shaking his head because he felt

While saying that, Veronica picked up her spoon again and scooped another mouthful of oatmeal before putting it in her was not long before her bowl became empty and she was so full that in finding me a chef.” She raised her head to look