

Her Billionaire 731

Chapter 731 Give Shirley a Hard Time

“Since you’ll be cooking for her, just stay here. We have an empty room on the east end of the third floor, don’t we? Clean it up, and let him live there. A nanny will report to duty tomorrow to clean and cook for us,” Crayson asserted.

Veronica, who was lowering her head to eat, froze slightly as she sliced the fish chop, and a faint gleam flashed across her eyes. She placed the fish into her mouth and slowly chewed it. Her silence perfectly concealed her emotional turmoil.

How wonderful would it be if Matthew lived by her side here? If the person she missed all day long was by her side, it could bring her endless peace of mind.

“Oh, okay.” Mateo pouted and whined, “Why didn’t she come today? It would save me trouble.” Crayson glared at him. “You’re so lazy. Is it really so exhausting to clean a room?”

“Hehe. Just kidding.” Mateo chuckled sheepishly under Crayson’s indignant glare.

In the afternoon, she studied in her room while Mateo cleaned the room and brought Matthew over to show him the room. She was so concentrated on her studies that she simply ate a few bites of dinner and continued to study.

down after turning off the lights, a person appeared in her room. The familiar scent came to

as he lay down and rubbed her head on his eat so little just now? Did you not like my food?” he asked while he lay on his side and how to cook and the hidden clan’s language in six months, so I have to you down if I don’t across the dark room. “Okay, I believe Instead, he encouraged her to study harder. All of a sudden, an unnamed emotion flickered within his eyes. “I heard someone say that she didn’t have eyes and looked at him in confusion. It didn’t matter, even though she couldn’t see and kissed her passionately. Both of them indulged in the ocean of love and embraced each

...

She was informed that Talila, the president of Horizon Group, had been away on a business