

Her Billionaire 732

Chapter 732 The Legendary Figure

“Mr. Robins? Do you mean the president of Pinnaclestone Corp?” Jayden looked at Shawn in surprise. “Is he here to see you?” Shawn shook his head with a confused expression. “I know of Skyler, but I have never met him in person.”

Skyler was a legendary figure in Bloomstead. He was brilliant and gifted with medical knowledge, but later, he abandoned his career in medicine for business, which was a source of confusion for many.

“I don’t know him either. Why is he here?” Jayden was baffled. “Whatever. Let’s go.” Shawn closed the file on the table, got up, and walked out with Jayden. Both of them had never thought that Shirley would be acquainted with Skyler.

Shirley, who couldn’t be bothered to leave, leaned back in her seat. This company was Veronica’s. Skyler’s sponsorship would bring the company to the next level, but Shirley wanted to avoid owing Skyler such a big favor because of Veronica. It would be more straightforward if she owed him a monetary debt, but how could she return such a favor?

Shawn and Jarden walked into the reception room and saw Skyler dressed in a yellow suit, a punk hairstyle, and black piercings on his ears. He was sitting on the sofa with his legs crossed and his hands on the couch. He looked like a dashing yet wild man. It was difficult to imagine that he was a medical prodigy just by his looks.

Jayden walked forward and extended his hand with a polite smile as he greeted him, “Hello, Mr. Robins. Welcome to our company.”
