

Her Billionaire 747

Chapter 747 Scum

“Sorry, but 150 million isn’t what I’m after. I’m going after the clan’s ore,” she answered honestly. “If you can give me some of those, I’ll do whatever you say.” Matthew wanted that resource, and she seized the chance to see what Tanya’s policy on that was.

“What?” Tanya’s face fell, and surprise filled her eyes. A while later, she humphed. “Preposterous.”

Nobody translated that, but that didn’t mean Veronica had no idea what she just said. “Fifteen billion. Take it or leave it,” Tanya said for the last time, and she left.

Liam looked at the ladies before he finally left with his mother. When they emerged from the tea shop, Liam had concocted a mischievous little idea. “I have an idea, Mom. Wanna hear it?”

Tanya rolled her eyes and got in the car. “Not a good one, I’m sure.” “Mom, you can’t say that about your son!” Liam gave her a scandalized look.

because you’re my son that I know you can’t come up with sitting beside his mother, and he chortled. “If you want

“What do you mean?”

woo her. She just lost her husband. If I can give her love and companionship, she’s going to fall for me. And if Veronica, he was attracted by her beauty and elegance. He just couldn’t take his had a lot of beauties he could sleep with, but Veronica was different. She came from the city, was beautiful, and had an air of elegance about her. She glare. “Don’t forget who you is a patriarchy. I won’t get to be the leader anyway,

he spent all his time playing around and bedding