

Her Billionaire 756

Chapter 756 Garrick's Girlfriend

When Shirley arrived at Garrick's home, it was already an hour after their conversation at Cyberten Holdings.

Looking at the many luxury cars outside the manor and the crowd that spanned everywhere, she concluded that his home must have some sort of ongoing gathering, so she did not think or ask about it.

After she stopped the car by the entrance, she urged Garrick, "President Brennan, we've arrived. Go on quickly. You wouldn't want your family to wait."

The man seated in the backseat looked out the window and a faint light flashed across his eyes before he looked at his watch and offered, "It's already 11.00AM. You should stay for lunch."

"What? No, no, no. I shouldn't." Since Shirley was sitting in the driver's seat, she turned around and smiled at him. "It'll be just in time for lunch when I head back."

"You just said we were friends. If you reject my appreciation offer to my home for lunch, wouldn't that mean you don't see me as a friend?" He sincerely invited her and threw out a great opportunity.

"That..."

"Stop hesitating and let's go." Without giving her any chance to hesitate, Garrick alighted from the car and stood aside to wait for her.

was, after all, the president of Cyberten Holdings, so Shirley could not offend him or dare to disrespect him. As a result, she could only muster the fresh flowers and balloons that were wrapped in bright and beautiful ribbons. Beside them was a huge poster with where Garrick had told

Destor said 'a couple of days later', they usually meant a few days later, but Shirley did not you're finally home. Oh, my. Is this your girlfriend? She looks still go to work when finally found

It's to find a reason to bring his girlfriend to Sofia's

your father

there was even more and Garrick came in, a few women with heavy makeup and lots of jewelry came and surrounded the two. The women observed both of them while

what they were talking around. This is my looked like he was clearing their names, the nickname 'Shir' was proof of their

her explanation, the crowd had become more welcoming toward her after they heard