

Her Billionaire 764

Chapter 764 Telling the Others About the Gathering

During lunch, they gathered around the dining table. Veronica was carefully chewing on the food Matthew had prepared and could not help but notice how much his cooking skills had improved.

Yet, such a perfect man could give his life for her and even willingly become a servant. She took in all of his sacrifices, and the guilt inside her increased as the days passed.

“By the way, I’m going out tonight.” As she stabbed a roasted squash, she took a bite and looked down. “Liam invited me out.”

A second ago, there were still sounds of cutlery hitting porcelain plates, but as soon as her words fell, the dining table was plunged into silence. Even with her head lowered, Veronica could feel burning gazes aimed at her, but she remained calm and continued eating while pretending not to notice them.

Crayson’s expression was as dark as storm clouds as he instinctively looked at Destiny opposite him, meeting her eyes. Before he could say anything, Mateo could not hold back his temper and spoke up, “You’re going out with Liam? Roni, can’t you tell that he’s trying to hook up with you?” His words were very straightforward.

After scooping some baked fish onto her plate, Veronica deboned her piece of fish while replying calmly, “Of course, I can.”

“Yet you’re still going out with him?”

over his face,

the others will be there as well. They are all my acquaintances.” In the end, she explained a little. While speaking, she deliberately glanced at Crayson and noticed at Crayson, waiting for him to chastise her, but Crayson did not

continued to eat his food. “She has her ideas, so there’s then. I’ll go too,”

“No way!”

“No way!”

speaking, Destiny and Crayson’s voices immediately sounded as they mouth was still hanging at his last word as he looked words were futile, he turned to Veronica and pleaded, “Roni, need. I’ll bring Iron Pillar with my husband, so I must bring idiot who can’t translate. How can

Idiot?!