

Her Billionaire 767

Chapter 767 Roni Is a Vixen

Hugging Veronica's waist, Matthew let her sit across his lap and used his fingers to hook her chin while gently running the pads of his fingers across her skin. He sincerely confessed, "If I reveal my identity, will I be able to drive away all your secret admirers?"

"Hey, don't say that as if you don't have any." His words amused her.

However, she could not deny that the way Matthew behaved when he was jealous made him look inexplicably cute and... a tiny bit pitiful.

"Don't change the subject." He pinched her chin a little harder with a trace of punishment in them.

"Gosh, Matt. What were you thinking?"

her arms around his neck before angling her head to lean against his collarbones, rubbing her face against him. "I only have you in my heart. I don't care if it's Liam or Mateo, even if a hundred naked men were standing before me, nobody compares to

"Are you for real?"

"Of course, I am."

looked into his eyes and felt the concern he had for her on his worried face. Feeling distressed, she leaned in and took the initiative to kiss him.

her head, Matthew gently bit and sucked on her lips, getting a good taste of her sweet and soft lips. As if he had taken a drug, he sank into the

not let go of

had exposed his thoughts, but she was embarrassed and nervously looked around, afraid that he might lose control of around here listen to me," he replied in his deep, hoarse voice

no reason to reject him even if she

"I... Matt, I'm scared."

be scared. I'm