

HBH Chapter 774

Chapter 774 Disgrace

“Za—Argh!” A desperate Tiffany ran toward Zac, but she had only made two steps before Veronica hurled the fork with deadly accuracy and pierced her calf with it. It was so painful that Tiffany crashed on the floor in a mess of tangled limbs, gripped her calf, and wailed miserably.

The hostile Veronica slowly walked up to Tiffany, stepped on her calf mercilessly, leaned down, and pulled out the fork brutally. Her action was swift and ruthless, and the cutlery’s removal succeeded in tugging Tiffany’s flesh, which resulted in another round of piercing screeches from Tiffany. Her agonized cries echoed across the sky.

The guards not far away didn’t dare to step forward despite the horrifying scene because they did not receive any orders from Liam to interfere.

Finally, Veronica moved away and stepped forcefully on Tiffany’s abdomen. She leaned down, propped her left elbow on her knee, and played with the blood-stained fork with her right hand. Then, she gently brushed the fork on Tiffany’s fair face, leaving a bright red smear across her cheek.

Finally, she rested the fork on Tiffany’s neck, and her face gradually turned sullen. “Tiffany, you brought this on yourself. Remember to be a good person in your next life!”

With that, Veronica raised her hand and decisively stabbed the fork down. At that moment, Tiffany’s eyes widened with horror. It was as if she saw the Grim Reaper approaching and felt Death itself brushing against her skin with its hands.

“Stop!”

great force right in the nick of time. The power behind that throw made her hand numb. Regardless, it managed to redirect her course over. They were dressed in the Hidden Clan’s traditional costume. They murder outside our palace! How dare you fact that the man spoke in English, he who spoke turned his gaze at Liam and spoke in the language of the Hidden Clan, “Liam, you’re allow this to go so far?” the woman sister, do you think I can stop them? They are so up and spared Tiffany. Tiffany, who sensed that she was given a new lease on life, hastily crawled to Zac’s side and hid behind him, trembling he smelled something out of place and immediately identified it as a stench of urine. His face twisted in disgust,