

HBH Chapter 779

Chapter 779 Let's Spar

"He's so reserved. I would have thought he was mute if I hadn't heard him speak earlier," Antheena remarked.

Eleanor glanced at Matthew with intrigue. "He looks quite homely, but when he fought with Hendrey just now, I could see that he was quite strong." Then, she turned to Dominik and asked, "Can I spar with him?"

"I heard that Princess Eleanor is highly skilled in terms of martial arts too. I'm interested." "Yes, you guys can spar."

"Eleanor, don't be ridiculous." "Yeah, he irritates me. Eleanor, teach him a lesson for me."

"Princess Eleanor, you should forget it. He's stronger than me. I'm worried he will hurt you by mistake," Hendrey blurted. It didn't sound anything out of the norm, yet it was clear that he seemed to be provoking her.

unfathomable glance at provocation worked on Eleanor. So, she raised her eyebrows and confidently walked poured himself a bottle of wine and replied indifferently, "No." His tone was light and make a move on her had he not stepped in to fight with Hendrey. When she saw this, she immediately said imperiously, "You're just a finished speaking, Matthew and Veronica glared at her in unison, terrifying her would even say that you are defying the Young Lord if word gets out." Zac defense and only one who would take Veronica's side. Unfortunately, he was also a married man. As a result, his remarks drove Antheena up the wall as she retorted, "He should be grateful that the honorable Princess Eleanor is willing to compete with him, yet he rejected her. That's so rude! He's lucky hoping to drive a to protect her beloved man. Then, she pursed her red lips slightly and beamed. "Hendrey said that Iron Pillar's skill is far above his. Princess Eleanor, why don't you spar with Hendrey? You can challenge Iron Pillar after you