Chapter 781 They Fight

Liam tossed away his wine glass and smiled lecherously. “Miss Veronica, I-I like you. C-Can you be my girlfriend? Hehe, I’m the prince of the Hidden Clan. I’ll pamper you with all the money in the world if you become my girlfriend. What do you think?”

The delirious Liam pounced on Veronica and dragged her into his embrace while mumbling incoherently.

Unfortunately, Veronica was currently plagued with an intense headache, as if a sledgehammer was pounding her brain. Hence, she felt dizzy, disoriented, and utterly miserable. Still, when Liam suddenly lunged at her, she suddenly regained her senses.

“Liam, what are you doing?! Let go of me!” She desperately tried to shove him away, but he wouldn’t budge.

“Darling, just be with me. Your husband is dead, and I like you. So, just be my woman, okay?”

“Are you out of your mind? Get lost!” She struggled and tried her best to resist the crazy man. But for some unknown reason, she felt strangely weak.

Not too far away, Matthew noticed that Veronica was no longer where she was, and as soon as he turned around, he was immediately greeted by the scene happening by the bonfire. His face turned sullen and gloomy in a blink of an eye as he rushed toward them. Shortly after, a man’s loud and shrill scream echoed through the venue.
