

HBH Chapter 783

Chapter 783 Get-Out-Of-Jail-Free Card

“Is that so?” Matthew raised his well-defined eyebrows slightly, and his lips curled upward into a small smirk.

Eleanor lifted her elbow and propped it on his shoulder boldly. “I sensed an abnormality in your face from the first time I saw you. You are extremely well-disguised, and I applaud you for it. But even if you can hide it from everyone, you can’t hide it from me.”

Disguises were what Eleanor excelled at, which was also her favorite hobby.

When she was young, she couldn’t leave the palace because of her status as the Young Lord, so she had to dress up to sneak out of the castle. As a result, after some time, she managed to fool the soldiers and leave the palace successfully. Since then, she would disguise herself from time to time. As the adage would say, ‘practice makes perfect’. Therefore, over time, she became a master of disguise. She wouldn’t have thought that her hobby would inadvertently help her one day.

“I’m impressed, Young Lord. You’re wise and intelligent. You certainly managed to fool everyone with your naive and innocent mask.”

his identity so many times out of irritation due to his love rivals that were constantly making a nuisance of though. That’s because the

it. Then, she sauntered to Matthew, slowly raised her hand, and presented the item to him. “I think this is your person in the photo

he knew Eleanor was brilliant, he couldn’t help but be slightly astonished take your silence as a manly, and your appearance is exactly my type. Fortunately,

Finally, she tilted her head and stared at his face. “I want to see what you look like in person. So, do me he stared at her icily, his expression stone cold. Then, Eleanor added, quickly assuming that he would refuse, “In he demanded. Her unusual tactic confused him, and